

ST. PAUL MATTERS.

The Trial of August Towsky for Attempted Murder Begun in the District Court.

Inquests and Post Mortems on the Victims of the Two Late Shooting Affrays.

Citizens of the Fifth Ward in Council - Numerous Public Improvements Ordered.

A Condemned Man's Case - The End of the Fair-Fire-Commissioners.

TOWSKY'S TRIAL.

Towsky Says He Shot His Wife by Accident.

The case of A. Towsky, charged with an attempt to murder his wife by shooting her, was taken up in the district court, and nearly all the testimony was put in yesterday.

Officer Gibbon testified that he was a policeman in St. Paul; that he went up to the place where the shooting occurred with the patrol wagon and arrested the prisoner, and took him to the city hall.

The insurance papers figured largely in the case. Mrs. W. Foster testified as to the relationship of the parties. This closed the testimony on the part of the state, and the defense was immediately commenced.

Mrs. Ellen Josoy was the first witness. She keeps a boarding house and her husband a saloon in Minneapolis. This witness' testimony was confined to the relations existing between Towsky and his wife.

but that the bridge can be placed wherever the people on the bluff wish to have it.

The matter of Mr. Wagner being allowed to erect a building on the Seventh street fill was talked over at length. Finally to test the matter Mr. Lemon moved that he be allowed to erect two-story frame buildings along the fill.

Mr. Lawrence opposed this. Mr. Middleton argued in favor of the motion. Mr. Lawrence said that the fill cost the city $15,000 more than it otherwise would have cost.

Mr. Pugh said the matter presented a troublesome question. It did not seem practicable to erect good buildings along the fill.

Mr. Lawrence was told that he must build two-story buildings, it would be practically prohibitory. On a vote being taken Mr. Lemon's motion was lost.

Mr. Lawrence then made the motion that the union is in favor of the fire limits remaining where they now are, and this was carried by a strong vote, after which the secretary was directed to communicate the action of the union upon this subject.

A CONDEMNED MAN'S CASE.

Supreme Court Arguments on the Monticello Murder.

In the supreme court yesterday morning the case of The State against Granville L. Spaulding took up the time of the judges. Spaulding shot and killed Charles A. Washburn, a constable at Monticello, on Oct. 19, 1884.

Mr. J. C. Tarbox of Minneapolis, who were before the supreme court yesterday. Deputy Attorney General William W. G. Miller, appearing for the State.

THE TWO INQUESTS.

Post Mortem Examinations of Gammengrger and Palmer.

At 12 o'clock yesterday coroner Quinn held an inquest at Gross' undertaking rooms over the remains of Neik Gammengrger, the victim of the West Seventh street shooting affray Saturday night.

Both Horne's and Gammengrger were dressed and that he was struck by the latter with a club and he knocked him through the window, then the gang ran away, while Horne's rushed out of the alley and fired two shots, probably at the retreat- ing figures, one of which took effect in the dead man's side.

IN A DUNGEON.

A motion was also made yesterday before the court by Judge Lochren for solitary confinement of the condemned man be suspended. The prisoner has been confined in the Hennepin county jail.

AMUSEMENTS.

Coucouck at the Grand in the Drama "Willow Copse" - Notes.

The veteran actor, C. W. Coucouck opened to not a very big house at the Grand last evening in the famous play of "Willow Copse," one of the best examples of the school of English drama, a play with a distinct and a most original and interesting plot, which does not have any bearing on the story. Mr. Coucouck exhibits a fine picture of old age without senility, a typical sturdy old English farmer. Those who saw him a century or so ago, when he began to play the part, say that he is a better man in it now than then. He has a very good, evenly-balanced company with him, none of them stars, but all capable of sustaining their individual roles. The audience was not as large as such a play ought to attract. It was reported to close to-morrow night and to-morrow afternoon.

The advance sale of seats for the "Mikado" will begin this morning. The company presenting it scored a success last night in Minneapolis and it should receive good patronage here.

Interest in the performances at the museum continues, both playing to good houses last night.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

Yes, if Judiciously Placed in the Globe.

To the Editor of the Globe: REDFIELD, Dak., Oct. 22.—The question, "Does Advertising Pay?" is a constant one among business men, and they find that indiscriminate advertising does not pay, while judicious advertising brings an ample reward.

As an instance of the latter I inserted an advertisement in the GLOBE a few days ago, "A Rare Chance," etc., and have received more inquiries from it than I have from any other advertisement in the paper.
