GILMORE'S CONCERTS! TO THE PUBLIC OF ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS:

As many inquiries are being made regarding the exact details of the series of popular concerts to be inaugurated at the Leland (the Old) Opera House, Nov. 7, and in Minneapolis, Nov. 9, by P. S. Gilmore and his wonderful band, this occasion is taken to explain their scope and purpose.

- 1. The series will consist of not to exceed three concerts in each city, in addition to the Gilmore concerts.
2. The price of first-class reserved seats will not average more than $1 each per concert; the second-class 75 cents and the third-class 50 cents.
3. Every seat of whichever class will represent a comfortable, slightly and desirable reserved sitting, without extra cost for reservation.
4. Subscribers to the series will have the advantage of selecting their seats in advance of those who prefer to take seats only for single concerts.
5. Subscribers have the further advantage of retaining the seats selected for the first concert, through the entire series, without further trouble of selection.
6. Subscribers will not, however, be asked to pay for but one concert at a time, and when it occurs.
7. Subscribers constitute any and all of the public, who take sufficient interest in this popular scheme, to come to the box-office at times stated below, and take the number of seats they desire for the Gilmore concerts and agree to take seats for the succeeding concerts to be given by Nevada and her grand concert company, by Emma Thursby and her equally worthy assistants, and by one more company not yet positively determined, but equally brilliant in Eastern cities during or subsequent to the war. These letters invariably allege that the physician addressed had at some time attended the petitioner for a pension for some disease brought about during the war.

For All the People.

Of course those of our citizens who are able to attend high-price concerts will subscribe for the Popular Series. Large numbers of them have already handed in their names.

Children under 12 will be admitted to the Gilmore matinee at half the advertised prices, with reserved seat. Bear that in mind.

The St. Louis papers have fairly gone wild over the playing of Gilmore and his band during the recent exposition. We present two or three choice extracts from the papers of that city.

From the Post-Dispatch, Sept. 28: "Gilmore's band yesterday gave concerts yesterday to crowded audiences in the Music hall. Afternoon and evening the chairs in the circle were filled, and ladies and children thronged the galleries and the corridors and balconies. Exhibitors have been complaining that the band seems to have monopolized the attention of visitors to the Exposition. But the report of the excellent musical organization presided over by Gilmore, who succeeds in packing the great music hall to its utmost capacity during every part of the day, is a sufficient answer to those who would band their due, we have simply to say that it is the finest organization on earth."
