HER FIRST APPEARANCE AT THE OPERA HOUSE IN TWO YEARS.

Mme. Modjeska has always been able to count St. Paul as one of the cities which is especially loyal to her. A favorite, as she is in all parts of the country, she can count on no stronger friendship than that she finds in St. Paul.

Her first appearance at the opera house in two years. She is rather reserved, however, in manifesting a reciprocity of this affection, and it has been no less than two years since she has given us a chance of wooing her.

Her last night's appearance was greeted by an audience which filled with the opera house, and the play was "As You Like It," with the star of course as Rosalind, which is a favorite with a large number of her admirers.

The committee on the Foundlings' home met in the council chamber last night. Chairman Starkey, Health Officer Jones, County Physician Ancker, Supt. Wright of the board of control and Ald. Kerr, Dowlan and Sanborn were present.

The attendance at the French fair last night was larger than on Wednesday evening and the people present seemed disposed to spend their money. The managers of the booths and stands had a quiet and easy time compared with the energetic ladies who sold tickets on the various prizes.

aided that the mayor has no right to revoke an auctioneer's license, and that his action in assuming to do so is neither judicial nor quasi-judicial.

The history of the case is a rather interesting one. During the early part of the present month, on complaint that had been made, Mayor Rice revoked the license of Moses Fridell, an auctioneer selling goods at the store of J. K. Mansfield, 149 East Third street. Fridell continued to sell, and Nov. 5, was arrested for selling goods without a license.

JOHN McCULLOUGH'S FUNERAL

Impressive Religious Ceremonies Over the Deceased Tragedian.

Over Eight Thousand People Flock for a Farewell Look.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—A guard of honor composed of members of the Philadelphia section of the Benevolent Order of Elks watched over the remains of John McCullough during the night, and this morning at 8 o'clock the doors of St. George's hall giving entrance to the spacious room in which the body lay were thrown open and the public admitted.

Among the throng were many faces familiar to the patrons of the theater. But there were enough men in other walks of life to demonstrate that John McCullough counted as many friends out of his profession as he did in it.

The small stage was hidden almost by the throng of people, and the coffin rested upon a catafalque immediately in front of the stage. Several floral pieces rested upon the casket lid, the emblem of which was a simple bunch of white flowers and smilax left by a little girl whom no one pressed to know. This was the inscription on the casket lid:

JOHN H. McCULLOUGH, Nov. 8, 1855, in his 53d year.

On the outside of the hall on Thirteenth street such a crowd was collected that the steady stream of people which circulated through the hall did not seem to diminish it. It is estimated that 8,000 persons looked upon the face of the dead actor, and that fully 10,000 failed to gain admission.

The family of the dead actor occupied a bench at the head of the hall nearest the coffin. It was after 11 o'clock when the solemn services began. The Rev. Dr. Robert Hunter read sections from the Holy Scripture. The portions selected were two chapters from the Ninetieth Psalm and the fifteenth chapter of Fifth Corinthians. Then the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," was sung by Mrs. Bertha Rice. When the last strains of the sweet music died away Rev. Dr. John S. MacIntosh made a touching prayer.

When this was over W. H. Morton sang a solo, "After Tolling Cometh Rest." The Rev. Robert Hunter of the Kensington Presbyterian church made the first address. Upon the conclusion of the exercises at the hall the remains were given in charge of the Philadelphia sections of the B. P. O. Elks, who, in conjunction with their brethren from New York, St. Louis, Chicago and other cities, escorted them to Monument cemetery, where, after performing the impressive rites of the order, the remains were consigned to the vault, where they will be kept for the present.

Sale of Convict Manufactures. AUBURN, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Warden Lane Hart of the Auburn prison, in an interview, says:

In every instance the goods manufactured by the convicts under the state account system meet with ready sale to wholesale dealers. One thing which is especially pleasing to me is that on no occasion have I been obliged to sell below the market price. The system is better for the workmen than the contract system.

SOUR BREAD.

Sour bread is caused by poor yeast, or an excessive fermentation in the dough. Sour biscuits are caused by the use of an adulterated, impure, or improperly compounded baking powder. Both are unwholesome, producing intestinal derangements, indigestion, etc.

The sour or alkaline taste attending the use of cheap, low-grade baking powders is due to the fact that such powders are not properly combined, and that the ingredients used in them are impure. The cream of tartar of the market used by their manufacturers is adulterated from five to twenty per cent. They do not know how much lime it contains, and hence are unable to mix it with the alkali or soda in proper proportions. As high as 11.85 per cent of lime has been found by the chemists in some of these powders, due to these causes. The result is an imperfect action which renders the bread, biscuit, or pastry heavy, sour, and disagreeable, or a residuum of lime and dirt, imparting a bitter taste to the food. Any baking powder that does this is unfit for use.

There can be no heavy or sour bread, biscuit, or cake where a perfectly made pure baking powder, like the "Royal," is used. In the use of the Royal no residuum is left, and the loaf raised by it is always sweet, light, and wholesome, and noticeably free from the peculiar tastes complained of. This is because it is composed of nothing but absolutely pure materials, scientifically combined in exactly the proper proportions of acid and alkali to act upon and destroy each other, while producing the largest amount of raising power. We are justified in this assertion by the unqualified statements of the Government Chemists, who, after thorough and exhaustive tests, recommended the "Royal" for Government use because of its superiority over all others in purity, strength, and wholesomeness. There is no danger of sour or bitter bread or biscuit where the Royal Baking Powder alone is used.
