RICH MINES.

Mr. E. V. Smalley's Picture of a New

The richest mining region that has been discovered for years is said to be the Colville valley in the northern part of Washington ist in the region, but it was not until the past summer and fall that any attention was attracted to it, when a very rich lead was discovered by Spokane parties, and named the Old Dominion. Since then a great many paying claims have been located. A reporter of the Globe met E. V. Smalley, editor and publisher of the Northwest, yesterday, who has just refers to the second grade of the Humboldt. He said he found that many rich bearing leads had been discovered, a great many claims located, and the indications strong that the region would probably become one of the richest camps of recent years. Mr. Smalley said his trip was one of great interest. After leaving the railroad at Spokane Falls he traveled a distance of some two hundred and fifty miles by wagon, going as far north as the Little Dalles of the Columbia river. The Colville valley is located about eighty-five miles north of Spokane Falls, and is about forty miles long and from one to three miles in width, and is a rich strip of bottom land, already well settled by a population composed to a great extent of former Hudson Bay company employes and their half-breed descendants.

THE FIRST DISCOVERY in the region, The Old Dominion, is located near the summit of a mountain, about seven miles from the town of Colville, a bustling place of 500 inhabitants, the county seat of Steele county and the center of the district. The ore is very rich and is a mixture of chlorides, galena and black sulphates, and ranges in value from Notorious Prisoner. $100 to $1,000 per ton, the average going about $300. The ore at present is selected, and, after being sacked, is hauled to Spokane Falls and then shipped to Omaha for reduction, the total expense of mining, hauling and freight being about $50 per ton. The owners are the locator, a young man named Benoist, and the two Kearney brothers of Spokane Falls. They have already taken out about $25,000 since Sept. 1, and are now ranked as bonanza kings, although a few months ago they were elected in Spokane Falls. clerks in Spokane Falls.

Supt. Wright Says New School Buildings are Needed.

The board of education held a regular meeting last evening and as it commenced late it ended late, though there was but little business transacted. The finance committee was instructed to negotiate a loan of $25,000, at 6 per cent. per annum, for the purpose of paying the school supplies, fuel, etc., provided for in the school tax levy of the year 1885; also $17,500 at 6 per cent. for the purpose of paying the school salaries for the month of December, 1885.

The superintendent made his monthly report, showing the number of pupils admit-ted in September to be 7,278; in October, 1,174; in November, 431; total, 9,887. The total enrollment for the past month was 8,588, an increase of 1,096 pupils over the enrollment of November, 1884. AAKED TO THEIR UTMOST, and the necessity of erecting an addition is apparent. A four-room addition to the Jackson school was recommended, as it will be difficult to accommodate the pupils of that district unless this improvement is made. The Webster school should be enlarged, masmuch' as a large number of pupils have been refused admission and are waiting for vacant seats. The classes in the upper grades are too large for effective teaching and the teachers are overworked. The original plan of the Webster school provided for a twelve-room building exactly like the Van Buren. The completion of the Webster by the erection of a wing containing four rooms should be included in taining four rooms should be included in the improvements of next year, the report says. The erection of a school house on the lots recently purchased by the board in Brown & Jackson's addition, in the Sixth ward, the enlargement of the Rice school so as to make it a full grade school, and the erection of a six-room addition to the Jeffeason, will in the near future be necessary, but the need of the additions to the Jackson and Webster is immediate and imperative. Each case has been reported to the health officer and the residence of each pupil has been properly placagded and quarantined. Mr. Wright mentions the fact that the school authorities of Bangor, Me., have published a series of instructions to teachers in regard to contagious diseases that seem to be, in his opinion, very judicious.
The superintendent presented the instructions for the consideration of the board.

The same officer reported that in all school buildings the principals have had fire-alarm drills, in accordance with rule 29, and that the time occupied in emptying the several school buildings has varied from fifty seconds to two and one-half minutes.

EXECUTIVE SESSION. At this point Mr. Minor commenced an oration about treating Minneapolis with high and lofty consideration, and informing the people of St. Paul that they ought to be above any little petty jealousies, and soar to a more elevated plane. As the inspector climbed higher and higher, he let a word or two days about gathed backs, when the state of the control of the con two drop about school books, when the board immediately went into executive session and everybody was excluded from the room. When the doors were opened it was learned that some one desired to say something about Merrill's school books, and that the result was that the board ordered 200 copies of the book known as Miles' Elementary Geography, whom he represents.

"BULL DOG" KELLY'S TRIAL.

Yesterday Edward, or "Bull Dog," Kelly, charged by the authorities of British Columbia with having murdered Robert McGregor Baird on the 27th of November. 1884, and who was brought here from Crookston on an order of the United States commis sioner at that place, afterwards discharged by Judge Nelson and immediately rearrested on another complaint, was yesterday taken before United States Commissioner Spencer for a hearing.

The first witness was M. Dainard, who testified that on the 27th of November, 1884, he was traveling from Johnson's ranch, twenty-four miles south of the Canadian Pacific road, in British Columbia, Robert McGregor Baird and Harvey Meyers, he said, were traveling with him on horseback. "I was first," said he, "Baird second and Meyers third. The trail being but one and one-half feet wide we travore. When the question was put to him as to whether or not he sold whisky within twenty miles of the Canadian Pacific road the witness resolutely declined to answer. THE WINTER CARNIVAL.

Return from Winnipeg of the Executive Committee.

The directors of the ice palace and winter carnival returned yesterday morning from Winnipeg, where they went for the purpose of meeting the citizens of that place and members of the Snowshoe and and other clubs, and ascertaining the number who would probably attend and participate in the sports of the winter carnival. They met with a royal reception at the hands of some of Winnipeg's most prominent citizens, especially the members of St. George's Snowshoe club. They were met at the depot and escorted to their quarters at the Leland hotel, from whence, after a brief rest, they were introduced to a round of entertainments provided by the Manitoba of entertainments provided by the Manitoba club, St. George's, Snowshoe club and others. WILL INTEREST DRUGGISTS.

An Interpretation of the Much-De-bated Pharmacy Law. What was known last winter as "the pharmacy bill," which provoked unusual gists to St. Paul, and was fought by sev eral members as hotly as any of the new state laws, was the subject of an interest ing opinion by the attorney general yester day. In reply to a communication from Wilmont S. Getty, a member of the state board of pharmacy, as to the right of the board to refuse certificates of registration to graduates of pharmacy or graduates of medicine, as defined in the law regulating the practice of medicine in the state, and as to the privilege of the board to disapprove all colleges of pharmacy and medicine and refuse certificates of registration to graduates of such colleges, the attorney general says:

I think both of your questions, in the broad sense indicated by them, must be answered in the negative. Of course, if a man is simply a graduate in pharmacy without the four year's practical experience required by section 3, he is not to be deemed a graduate within the intent of the act. But if the board is satisfied that an applicant for registration as a graduate of pharmacy board of pharmacy. as to the right of the

if the board is satisfied that an applicant for registration as a graduate of pharmacy has had 'four years practical experience in drug stores where prescriptions of medical practioners are compounded,' and has 'obtained a diploma from such college or school of pharmacy, as shall be approved by the board of pharmacy as sufficient guarantee of their attainments and proficiency, then it is the duty of the board to register such applicant and issue to him a certificate thereof. The act SEEMS TO PRESUPPOSE that there are, or at least may be, colleges whose diplomas, coupled with the four years'

practical experience, should entitle the holder to registration, and the duty of examining into and passing upon the character of colleges devoted to this subject is cast by the law upon the board.

This necessitates the exercise of judgment
and discrimination on the part of the board relative to any and all colleges whose diplomas are presented to them for approval or disapproval, and this duty cannot be shirked
by a sweeping resolution in the first instance that no diploma from any college will be received or considered by it, unless it be true in the deliberate judgment of the board that there are no colleges now in existence whose diploma and the four years referred to is a sufficient guarantee, etc. It is clearly the duty of the board, either in the first instance, by resolution to designate the colleges (if lating thereto.

The foregoing applies only to graduates in pharmacy. As far as graduates in medicine are concerned there does not seem to be any discretion vested in the board as to the character of the medical college from which the physician has graduated, but perhaps (no opinion on this point) it might be construed as embracing only such physicians as are authorized to practice their profession in this state.

THE CIGARMAKERS.

Action in St. Paul in Accord With

A meeting of the St. Paul branch of the Cigarmakers' union was held last night at which resolutions of approval of the action of the San Francisco Knights of Labor were adopted, and it was decided to advance the fare of any local member who desired to go to that city. It is expected that about thirty-five will go from this city. It was explained that in San Francisco the Knights of Labor have just gained an important vicnent cigar manufacturing firms on the Pacific coast, to discharge their Chinese labor. An Old Settler Dead.

News was received in the city yesterday | Hayne of the death, Dec. 3, in New Orleans, of Capt. Lucius B. Martin, well known here as a settler whose interests were identified with Minnesota and St. Paul away back before the fifties. At the time of his death he was 53 years old. During the war, through which he gallantly fought from beginning to end, he was a member of the Fourth Minnesota regiment and was on Gen. Sanborn's staff, being promoted to the rank of adjutant general before the war closed. He was a warm friend of Gen. Sanborn and Surgeon General Murphy, and both speak in the highest terms of his vali-ant deportment during the Rebellion. At the close of the war he returned to this city but finally went to reside in New Orleans, where he died. He was a well-known steamboat captain on the Mississippi river n the early days.

Winisters' Meeting. The attendance was smaller than usual at the ministers' meeting yesterday owing to the cold and the weariness induced by Sunday's numerous services. The interest was, however, exceptional, the discussion of the subject The Churches and the Working Classes being the best yet had. Rabbi Wechsler introduced the matter by an admirable paper and the remarks by those present, while indicating a great variety of opinion as to the causes for the estrangement between the churches and laboring classes, revealed a uniform feeling that never before were the churches more eager to reach and interest the classes in question. It was voted to continue the subject at the next meeting, Dec. 21, and Dr. Thomas and Rev. Mr. Herriot were appointed to open.

The librarian's report for November showed 4,962 volumes issued, the average number of Sunday visitors 68 and the total registration 4,720. The amount received from delinquent book borrowers was $53.94, and $4.50 was received for three lost books. Fifteen volumes of the Congressional Globe have been received from the department of the interior.
