Pasteur's Scientific Prowess.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The Boston Globe representative has cabled to-night as follows: Your correspondent yesterday followed M. Pasteur's travels in Paris. M. Pasteur was too busy to do more than extend a cordial greeting to the reporter, and refer him to his chief assistant, Dr. Grancher, for information in regard to the details of the treatment for rabies. Of these you are doubtless already well informed by the general press dispatches. M. Pasteur's little corps of assistants regard their chief with the devotion inspired by a great leader. I was somewhat amused when M. Grancher showed me a newspaper which had been sent him, containing a communication by Henry Bergh, championing the cause of the Newark dogs, and describing Pasteur as an "obscure druggist, snarling under his obscurity, and seeking notoriety."

Guide in Scientific Matters.

This assurance somewhat appeased the doctor's indignation. "I suspected as much," he rejoined, "but since we have so long known M. Pasteur as the man who has so long and so successfully benefited mankind, we would hardly regard him as a safe guide in scientific matters." I assured the offended gentleman that while the American people might esteem Mr. Bergh for certain humane intentions, they would hardly regard him as a safe guide in scientific matters.

General Mexican Uprising.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 30.—The Laredo, Texas, correspondent of the Globe-Democrat says: A sergeant of the United States army, stationed at Ringgold barracks, some sixty miles distant, on the Rio Grande, arrived to-night and reports that a general uprising is taking place in all the small Mexican towns along the river between here and Brownsville.

Bismarck Ill Again.

Will Remain a Day or Two.

Foreign Flashes.

Count Bismarck is recovering from his recent attack of neuralgia. The cabinet ministers will meet to-day to discuss the new year. The French government will send a state engineer to the United States to look after the resources of the country, and to try to obtain a concession from the Chinese government for railways and other works.

Whipped the Rebels.

CAIRO, Dec. 30.—A dispatch from Koseh says: Lieut. Gen. Stephenson, commander of the British forces in Egypt, who recently arrived here with large reinforcements, attacked the rebels who had been besieging the garrison for several weeks. A three hours' fight ensued, resulting in the British troops capturing Ginnis, a village near Koseh. The rebels were completely routed.

The Egyptian Question.

If the English retire on Wady Halfa they must retire on Assouan, and if on Assouan then on Cairo. Every pace in advance gives the English friends of every race in retreating gives them 200 enemies—half in front, half in rear. England may gain victory after victory, if they are followed by retreat the English government has uselessly wasted blood. There is not one in ten who will not believe in England's defeat. I say that a retreat now would be fatal.

Want Increased Pensions.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 30.—At a meeting of ex-soldiers held at Terro-Haute a preamble and resolutions were adopted, demanding the passage of a law granting pensions to all surviving soldiers, sailors and marines of the war of the rebellion who served sixty days or more at the rate of $3 per month. The proposition is not to effect pensions who now receive more than $8 per month. Widows of soldiers, sailors and marines, the act demands, shall be pensioned at the rate of $12 per month, and children at the rate of $15 per month up to the age of 16 years, and physically disabled children receive pension without limit as to age. An act embodying these demands will be introduced and advocated by James F. Johnston, representative from the Eighth district.

Mormonism on the Wane.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Judge Carleton of the Utah commission, who is here, says his observation leads him to believe that polygamy is gradually disappearing among the Mormons. Only a small proportion of the Mormons are polygamists. A polygamist Mormon in Utah to-day would make a poor showing in comparing the number of his wives with those of Joseph Smith or Brigham Young. The late Bishop Lee, who had only nineteen wives, including one very old and ugly one, whom he married just to save her soul, would beat three or four of the best families to-day.

For a Lee Monument.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The secretary of the treasury has instructed the collector of customs at Georgetown, S. C., to admit free of duty certain plaster models imported by the Ladies' Monument association. The designs which a selection is to be made for a monument to General Robert E. Lee. The authority for the exemption from duty is found in the statute providing for the free importation of works of art imported for the purpose of erecting public monuments.

Beck Banqueted.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 30.—A complimentary banquet was given to Senator Beck to-night at the Phoenix house by representative men of the blue-grass region without regard to party lines. Gen. William M. Preston presided. The responses to toasts showed that a strong hold the senator had upon the esteem of his fellow citizens, and his remarks, made with much feeling, indicated a warm appreciation of the honors received at home.

Will Take Charge.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Treasurer Aldrich expects to go to New York on the 31st inst. to assume charge of the United States sub-treasury there. He says he knows of no reason why he should not discharge the duties of the position, as it is simply a matter of the performance of a superior officer of certain duties heretofore discharged by a subordinate.

In a Lead Coffin.

NEWBERY'S BODY TRANSPORTED TO AMERICA IN THE USUAL WAY. NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Regarding the story of the burial of Walter L. Newberry of Chicago in a cask of spirits, the Tribune says: On Oct. 30, 1883, Mr. Newberry sailed on the steamship Pereire, and was found dead in his berth on the morning of Nov. 7. The captain was making preparations to bury the body at sea when a passenger, who knew of the dead man's social position, intervened and succeeded in having the body kept until the vessel arrived at Havre. A day or two afterward the body was placed in one of the quarter boats which hung over the side, and a tarpaulin was lashed across the boat. This disposition of the body was well known to all the passengers, one of whom is authority for the statement. On Jan. 6, 1889, the health department of the city of New York, issued a transfer permit to W. L. Morris for the body from Pier No. 50, North river, the pier of the French line, to Chicago. When asked yesterday if he had received Mr. Newberry's body in a cask of rum as reported, Mr. Morris laughed derisively.

The Little Fellows Bother Him.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Speaker Carlisle still waddling with his standing committee. He finds more difficulty in the assignment to the places of the many of minor reputation than to the few leading men who are to be the heads of the great committees. It is pretty well settled that Mr. Randall will be chairman of the appropriations committee; Mr. Morrison, the committee on the judiciary; Mr. Chandler, the head of the judiciary; Mr. Willis, the river and harbor; Mr. Reagan, the commerce; Mr. Hewitt, naval affairs; Mr. Belmont, foreign affairs, and so on. It is to distribute the 500 men unknown to fame, rather than the thirty-six of national reputation, that the speakers find difficult. All the old members think they are entitled to chairmanships, and one Mr. Ballantyne of Tennessee, even goes so far as to say that he does not want one, but these are exceptions. Probably nine-tenths, at least, of the old members want chairmanships, and there are perhaps 25 per cent. of the new members who think they would be quite well fitted for such positions. So the speaker is having anything but a good time in holding recess.

Favors Land in Severalty.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The Star says that in his report upon the work of the special Indian committee, who visited the various reservations during the summer recess, Mr. Holman is going to recommend the appointment of a commission to take the matter in charge, giving land in severalty to such of the Indians as are far enough advanced in civilization to warrant such action, and assembling the rest in one locality as far as practicable. At present the reservations are scattered all over the country, and their lands are useless to the Indians in many cases. Some of these lands should be sold in their interest, and such of the Indians as are friendly should be put upon the reservation in certain cases, and kept there until ultimately they have reached that state of civilization that would warrant their having land in severalty and becoming citizens. There are some cases where it would not do to move the Indians from their present location or to interfere with them, as their attachment to their homes is very strong. In most such cases land in severalty should be given them.

Rapid Hand-Shaking.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Four hundred and forty-eight persons waited patiently in the east room of the White house to-day to pay their respects to the president. The crowd was almost twice as large as at any preceding reception of this kind. The president appeared just before 2 o'clock and entered upon his task with expedition that the entire room was cleared in sixteen minutes. Several persons tried to engage the president's attention with private matters, but they were told to call again. Mr. Holman says the reservations are scattered all over the country, and their lands are useless to the Indians in many cases. Some of these lands should be sold in their interest, and such of the Indians as are friendly should be put upon the reservation in certain cases, and kept there until ultimately they have reached that state of civilization that would warrant their having land in severalty and becoming citizens. There are some cases where it would not do to move the Indians from their present location or to interfere with them, as their attachment to their homes is very strong. In most such cases land in severalty should be given them.

Aggricultural Statistics.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The estimates of the statistician of the department of agriculture for the principal cereal crops of the year are computed, and the aggregate bushels are as follows: Corn, 1,936,000,000; wheat, 357,000,000; oats, 639,000,000. The area of corn is 73,000,000 acres; of wheat, 34,000,000; of oats, 23,000,000. The value of corn averages nearly 33 cents per bushel, and makes an aggregate of $625,000,000, $5,000,000 less than the value of the last crop. The decrease in the product of wheat is 30 per cent. and only 17 per cent. in valuation, which is $275,000,000. The valuation of oats is $180,000,000. The reduction in wheat is mostly in the valleys of the Ohio and in Indiana. The states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas last year produced 170,000,000 bushels, this year 80,000,000, or a reduction of 50,000,000 bushels. The production of all cereals is fifty-three bushels to each inhabitant, and the aggregate volume is larger than in former years.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 30.—Luther Cline, a druggist at Broad Ripple, a station two miles out on the Chicago air line, succeeded after a desperate contest in killing to-night one of two desperadoes who had attacked himself and his wife just after closing his store for the night. After gaining admittance one decoyed him into his store and the other passed to the family room where his wife was sitting. Cline, as he reached the store, looked back and saw his wife struggling with Villain No. 2, who was apparently choking her to death and as Cline attempted to go to her assistance, Villain No. 1 shot him in the head and then closed with him, grabbing him around the neck and shooting a second time which fortunately missed. The contest then grew hot and desperate, each trying for mastery until Cline succeeded in securing the pistol. He then shot his assailant through the head, killing him instantly. His accomplice fled. The dead man was identified as Robert Farlow, perhaps 28 years old. The people are aroused and scouring the neighborhood for the escaped scoundrel. Cline is shot in the lower part of the head, the ball passing in under the mouth.

Wedged in a Chimney.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Dec. 30.—Last night Leander Smith planned to rob the store of Robert Pugh & Co., about nine miles from here. He climbed to the roof of the building and divested himself of all his clothes, and then tried to slip down the chimney. In doing so he became so wedged that he fell into Mr. Pugh's chamber underneath. Mrs. Pugh, alarmed, got up and, as the night was cold, placed a match in the fire place, which was wedged in the chimney ready for kindling. Smith had a narrow escape, got half way down the chimney and there he stuck fast. He was unable to get out. The harder he struggled the tighter he wedged in. Smoke from the fire under the chimney descended, which made his condition unbearable. Thoroughly smoked and careless of detection, he at once yelled loudly for help. His cries brought the whole town out. A windlass was procured and by daybreak, after enduring much suffering, he was got out and landed in jail.

Murder and Suicide.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 30.—At Mt. Pleasant, a village near this city, to-day, a terrible tragedy was enacted. E. N. Gerrit, an Italian, was beating his wife, when his brother, S. Gerrit, and James Columburn, an insurance agent of this city, intervened in the woman's behalf. The wife, with her four little children, escaped from the infuriated husband, who, incensed at the interference, crept up behind Columburn and shot him in the back, wounding the balls lodging in the spine and inflicting what is thought to be a fatal wound. After shooting Columburn, Gerrit fled to his farm about a quarter of a mile distant, pursued by the town marshal and a posse. He locked himself up in his house, and the posse being unarmed, defied them to arrest him. While his pursuers were deliberating Gerrit placed the muzzle of his pistol in his mouth and blew out his brains.

Archer and Craine Arrested.

ST. LOUIS, Ind., Dec. 30.—John B. Archer, who is charged with the murder of John B. Bunche, four years ago, was captured at the farm of Leroy Boyl, five miles south of Vincennes, by a posse of a dozen men, and brought to the Martin county jail Tuesday by Sheriff Podgett. David Craine, another of the gang, was also arrested here and lodged in jail. Both these men state that Bunche was shot in his house, and do not remember the circumstances attending the shipment of Mr. Newberry's body for the reason that I receive a large number of bodies every year from the vessel arriving in the regular way, packed in a lead case as the regular government exacts in the case of the body of a soldier.

MOBILE, Ala., Dec. 30.—A special from Mobile, Miss., says that near Crawford and Monday a crowd of citizens took Thomas Lyde and Thomas Sharp, both colored, from the jail and hanged them. They were caught setting fire to some cotton.

Criminal Cullings.

Lieut. J. G. Wainwright, United States artillery, on duty at Fort Adams, I., overtook his leave of absence about a week. This preyed upon his mind, and rather than spend a time in the hospital he decided to die. Early yesterday morning he arose, dressed himself and reported for duty. He subsequently returned to his quarters and found a note pinned to his door, which was a warning that he had been shot. He was on watch while the rest did the killing. It was the most cold-blooded killing ever committed in this country. A large crowd met Archer at the train, and loud cries of "Hang Him!" were indulged in. Archer and Craine are badly frightened and fear lyching.

Pneuro-Pneumonia in Pennsylvania.

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 30.—Secretary Edge to-day visited the farm of Henry S. Resh, near West Willow, and inspected the herd of cattle suffering from pneuro-pneumonia. Some were killed and the remaining thirty-four were inoculated. A herd of fifty-six on the farm of Perry Wine, in Mannheim township, Cork county, is infected with the disease and has been quarantined. The state authorities have killed three here and one in Adams township, the farm of Ephraim Dubbs in Mannheim township.

Mr. Corrigan when told of the matter said that if the Dwyer Brothers meant business they could get what they wanted as regards money, but he would like to have something to say about time, distance and place. He prefers to have the race in the West.

He was a member from Missouri to the constitutional convention of 1850.
