Mr. C. N. Nelson Gives His Side of the Case in the Injunction Suit of Treasurer M. M. Darr.

MR. NELSON'S SIDE, in the Action of Mr. Darr, to Retain His Official Position.

Mr. Marcus M. Darr of this city brought suit on the 29th day of December last against Charles N. Nelson, C. P. Cogswell, Maurice Auerbach and W. P. Allen, directors of the C. N. Nelson Lumber company, to prevent them from discharging Mr. Darr from being treasurer of that company, and as a ground for such relief, the complaint was published at the time. At that time Mr. Darr got out and had served a temporary restraining order. The matter came up at special term yesterday before Judge Wilkin, when the other side of the case made its appearance. Mr. Darr is now out of the pressure of his business, the judge adjourned the hearing until Monday evening at his chambers, where it is presumed the matter will be disposed of. The answer in the case has been served, and flatly contradicts every charge that Mr. Darr has made, and is under oath of Mr. Nelson, as the president of the company, and Mr. Auerbach, as one of the directors. At the time Mr. Darr obtained his restraining order, he made an affidavit concerning his charges, which are contradicted under oath by the affidavit of Mr. Nelson and one by Mr. James Smith, Jr., of this city, late president of the St. Paul & Duluth railroad and counsel of that company; also by Mr. Allen and Mr. Cogswell, and by Mr. Maurice Auerbach and Mr. W. S. Cullinan, who were elected to the office of directors of the company in May last to St. Paul heard for the first time of these proceedings on the part of Mr. Darr, and became exceedingly angry against him, and immediately called a meeting of the board of directors of the company, and called Mr. Darr to appear before them and stand an investigation as to the truth of what he had said, and that upon the investigation so had, Mr. Darr's statements were shown to be unquestionably groundless and frivolous, and that Mr. Nelson, fully and completely exonerated. It further appears from these affidavits that Mr. Nelson was willing to overlook Mr. Darr's statements and CONTINUE HIM AS TREASURER of the company during the following season, in case the other parties in interest and directors were willing to do so, and that Mr. Darr was appointed treasurer of the company under an amendment of its by-laws such as would withdraw him as far as practicable from contact with the company's customers, all conceding that the statement made by Mr. Darr in his affidavits with men. The directors in their affidavits claim that they did this with the expectation that Mr. Darr, on his part, would heartily co-operate in carrying on the company's business, and that his unfortunate break would prove a lesson to him. But the affidavits say that from that time down to the commencement of this action Mr. Darr had been completely successful in securing the personal will of substantially all the employees of the corporation, and that his relations with them had become so unpleasant as to prove a serious detriment to the interests of the company; and that for that reason, and that alone, Mr. Nelson had asked him to resign, sometime in the early part of December last and that upon Mr. Darr's refusal a meeting of the board of directors had been called for Dec. 29 for the purpose of determining what was best to be done, and that Mr. Darr having become satisfied that his ultimate action would result in his discharge brought this action to prevent their so doing.

This is the sum and substance of the controversy from the standpoint of the board of directors, as it appears in the affidavits. In talking about the matter of adjustment and the directors' counsel suggested that Mr. Darr could not have placed much confidence in his statements, or else he would have asked for a receiver instead of merely asking to be kept in the employ of the company at a fat salary, against the wishes of all concerned.

THE CARNIVAL APPROACHES. Big Meeting Last Night--An Impending Celebration Thursday Night.

The ice palace and winter carnival is booming at a pace that has never been equaled, since the recent arctic wave has settled upon the city. The laying of the corner block Thursday evening will be an immense demonstration. All classes of citizens have entered into the spirit of the occasion and are coming forward to the assistance of the carnival association with their aid. The meeting held at the Ryan last night was a large and enthusiastic one, and was attended by many of St. Paul's most prominent and representative citizens. Dr. Macdonald presided as usual, and called upon the committee that had been appointed to report upon Gov. Hubbard, Mayor Rice and Gen. Sanborn, for their report. Mr. Finch, chairman of that committee, stated that Gov. Hubbard and Mayor Rice had favorably responded and would participate in the celebration. They had, also, called upon Gen. John B. Sanborn, and that gentleman was present to answer for himself. Gen. Sanborn stated that he was deeply interested in the success of the carnival, and was of the opinion that the laying of the corner block of the palace, with imposing ceremonies, was a wise move, and would do more to insure the success of the carnival than anything else. His personal business, however, was such that it would be impossible for him to accept the position of honor tendered him, a fact that he regretted.

GRAND MARSHAL BEAN. He suggested that Capt. Bean be selected for the position of grand marshal, as he was a gentleman of the executive and military capacity required. The suggestion of Capt. Bean's name was with unanimous approval and commendation by the committee that gentleman was made by Mr. Murphy, city attorney Murray, George R. Finch and others. His selection was unanimous. It was definitely settled that the procession should form on Robert and Sixth streets, and that the march should move promptly at 8:15 o'clock. The line of march, which will be a short one, will be announced by the grand marshal Wednesday.

The question of torches having been brought up, a committee consisting of A. J. Van Slyke, Dr. Denlow and Mr. Beals, were appointed to attend to the matter, and procure the necessary number. Messrs. Maxwell and Burwell were appointed committees to attend to music and carriages for the parade.

Paul, the mayors and city councils of Minneapolis and Stillwater, and all winter sporting clubs in the state.

It was decided to send a special invitation to the German Mannerchor society to be present at the ceremonies and contribute a song. The meeting respectfully requests the merchants and business men to close their places of business at 6 o'clock on Thursday, so their employees may participate in the demonstration.

All civic bodies and societies of every description are invited to participate and requested to send their dames to the secretary, Dr. W. W. Day, at carnival headquarters in the Ryan. The next adjournment to meet again at 8:30 tomorrow night. Citizens generally are invited to be present.

THE SNOWSHOE TRAMP. About seventy-five uniformed snowshoers and tobogganers assembled at the Ryan last evening and joined the St. George Snowshoe club in its run. The president, Dr. Macdonald, was compelled to give his attention to the citizens' meeting held to arrange matters for the corner-stone celebration, and in his absence Mr. J. J. Parker was selected to lead the tramp. The club took one of the longest runs in its history, and the line of march was down Robert street to Fourth, to Jackson, through the Merchants and up Third to Wabasha, thence to College avenue, out to St. Peter, thence to Summit avenue, thence to Western avenue and hence to State street again, and to the look-out and club house. The boys ran all the way out and back, but they all stuck to it and enjoyed it hugely. A gay time was had at the look-out, and Mr. J. F. Carr made a short speech, exhorting them for their long tramp, by stating that the Winnipeg club, of which he was a member, had a run of five miles every Saturday night. The "bouncing" was resorted to and Mr. C. Bartram initiated into its pleasures. After the tramp a hot-coffee lunch was served in headquarters in the Ryan.

CARNIVAL NOTES. The ice for the palace could not be better. A great deal of it already delivered has been mucky and discolored, but that ice was cut near the shore and has only been used in laying the inside foundations. None of it will be used on the outside walls. Messrs. Finch, Ryan, Tallmadge and Noyes went up to the grounds yesterday and at 5 o'clock when they left, the teams were hauled to the shore and the ice was cut. The desirability could not be surpassed. The association will erect a suitable building for restaurant purposes.

The Nushka Toboggan club was formed last week with 100 members composed equally of gentlemen and ladies. The officers elected were: William H. Hindman, president; W. J. Boyle, secretary; Luther Newport, lieutenant; H. W. Peet, secretary and treasurer. The uniform adopted was red with dark blue stripes and trimmings. The order has been given for all the uniforms.

The Carnival association was the recipient yesterday of two miniature toboggans from a gentleman in Escanaba, Mich. They are elaborately made and ornamented with velvet cushions. They were hung up in headquarters.

The committee appointed to secure favorable railroad rates to this city during the carnival are meeting with success. They expect to be able to announce satisfactory rates on all railroads at the meeting Tuesday evening.

The costumes of the lady members of the Windsor Toboggan club will be on exhibition to-morrow in the parlors of the Windsor hotel. The ladies of this city are generally invited to call and see them.

All skaters in the city are requested to meet Mr. A. S. Tallmadge, secretary of the Carnival association, at the Ryan to-morrow evening. It is the intention to organize a club.

A large number of ladies are becoming interested in winter sports and many have joined the different toboggan clubs.

A closely-veiled lady, well dressed and apparently young, was noticed entering the reception room of the Merchants hotel yesterday morning. A moment later the bell boys down stairs were surprised by the violent ringing of the bell of that apartment. One of the boys bounded up the stairway in answer to the summons, but found the reception room vacant. Upon looking about he discovered a small bundle on the sofa, but its contents were not apparent. He picked it up and was startled by an infant's cry that came from the bundle. The investigation of the mysterious package, with its vocal accompaniment. The gentlemen were completely surprised at the result. The removal of the multiplicity of wraps revealed the presence of a pretty little girl baby, who began cooing and smiling as if glad to be released from its unwholesome prison. The surprised trio were in a quandary. What to do with it was the all-absorbing question. A careful investigation failed to show any trace of the mysterious woman that had abandoned the child, and her disappearance, after ringing the bell of the reception room, was fully as mysterious as her identity. The police officials were notified and a thorough search instituted for the woman, meanwhile the infant is receiving careful attention at the hotel, a nurse having been procured. Should nothing be ascertained in regard to its parents it will be sent to the Foundling's home.

SNATCHED FROM ETERNITY. Henry Frey Essays to Die in the Police Station.

"He's hanging himself," cried City Jailor Spie yesterday afternoon, as he rushed across the room, snatched up his bunch of keys and disappeared among the cells. A half a dozen officers followed him, and the door of Cell No. 3 was thrown open, when the occupant, Henry Frey, was seen with a handkerchief tied around his neck. To this was attached his suspenders, which were fastened to a beam overhead, and he was just in the act of stepping off the bench to which he had climbed, among the cells. He was quickly cut down and stripped to his shirt and pants, while the jailer kept watch over him through the little square hole in the cell door. Frey is a carpenter by trade, and resides on Mississippi street. Yesterday he was arrested on a charge of entering a saloon, imbibed a few times, and when the bartender asked him to pay for the drinks he refused, and was put outside. He soon returned with a revolver and began promiscuous target practice, which had the immediate effect of clearing the room. He was "lord of all he surveyed" until Officer Getchell went in, and collaring him, sent him to the police station, where he attempted to spoli his usefulness as a voter in the manner explained above.

Capt. Kennedy Home. The friends of Capt. Kennedy, having been notified of his expected arrival, met him at the union depot last evening and gave him a hearty welcome on his return from across the water. The captain says that there is no place like home and that he was glad to get back. He states that English detectives dogged him all the time while abroad, but that they were unable to manufacture any case against him.

The Week of Prayer. A union missionary service was held at the chapel of Plymouth church yesterday afternoon. Dr. Dana presided and addresses were made by Rev. Dr. Mable of the First Baptist church and Rev. Hout of the Evangelical Lutheran church, reviewing the work of their churches in the missionary field during the past year. Rev. E. C. Emmons of the Pacific Congregational church will continue the services during a part of the coming week. The ministers express themselves as much encouraged with the results of the week of prayer. During the first part of the week the meetings were full and interesting, the severe weather interfering somewhat with the attendance during the latter part of the week.

THE LUCKY BOY Who Made the Best Record Among the Globe Carriers.

Early last spring the circulator of the GLOBE offered a solid gold badge, a cut of which appears below, to the carrier who would close the year 1885 with the best record. This morning is published a likeness of the winner. His name is Charles T. Lindberg.

THE BADGE. The back of the badge bears the following inscription: For strict attention to business and faithful performance of duty, after a close and vigorous competition, Charles T. Lindberg has closed the year A. D. 1885 with the best record in the Globe delivery force.

The badge was presented yesterday morning with these lines from the circulator: "Attend to all of life's duties as you have to business well connected with the GLOBE delivery force, and we'll hear of you later. Your friend."

The second list of premiums will be awarded on the 10th day of May, four months from to-day, and will consist of six prizes to be presented to the six best carriers. Should any two carriers close with the same record the prizes will be duplicated.

A list of these prizes will be published in the GLOBE in the near future.

Being desirous of perfecting the delivery system and rewarding true merit, I offer these prizes, requesting the assistance of all subscribers. This they can give only by reporting promptly at my office any failure on the part of a carrier to deliver the GLOBE as desired. Creator of the GLOBE.

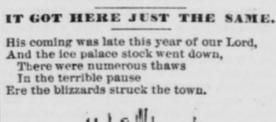

THE END OF LIFE. The total number of deaths for the week is fourteen. Following are the names of the decedents.

SANITARY GOODS. J. J. Dunningan, St. Paul's plumber and gasfitter, 220 East Seventh street, has six of the best makes of closets set up in his store with all water connections, showing them in practical operation. Too much cannot be exercised in the selection of sanitary goods for residences and the strong and weak points of a closet can easily be determined by Mr. Dunningan's method without going to the expense and annoyance of having them placed in your house and then be compelled to tear them out. Mr. Dunningan is also state agent for Mathews & Holt's celebrated gas machine, which is considered by thousands who have used them to be the best, most economical and satisfactory system of house lighting ever used. This machine is automatic and makes a magnificent light from gas. Perfect safety is assured as the gasoline is buried outside of the building and nothing but the pure illuminating gas comes into the house. Mr. Dunningan gives particular attention to plumbing in all its branches and is a gasfitter, and furnishes careful estimates. He is also state agent for the large and well selected assortment of beautiful chandeliers, brackets, hall drops and other gas fixtures, and a complete stock of plumbers' goods.
