Rockefeller Thinks He Has a Double Team That Can Beat Anything on the Road.

Some Pretty Sound Advice from the State of Kentucky.

The Live Stock Record, published at Lexington, Ky., has a very sensible article upon how to make farming successful. Of course, the writer speaks from the Kentucky standpoint, which differs in several respects from the conditions that exist here in Minnesota.

The better class of grass lands in these states is just suited for the purpose of grazing and breeding fine stock, and those who are negligent, neglect, over-stocking or want of capital, horses brought better prices the past year than any other class of stock raised in stock raising.

HOW TO FEED.

The writer then expresses the opinion that farmers in Kentucky and Tennessee should make a change and banish to a great extent the feeding of bullocks, sheep and hogs from lands that are so well adapted for breeding a higher and more remunerative class of stock.

National Association of Trotting Horse Breeders.

Mr. L. D. Packer, secretary of the National Association of Trotting Horse Breeders, makes the following presentation of the good work which the association has done.

THE PROFITS THAT ARE IN IT.

The farmer can raise sufficient other stock for home consumption and have a little for sale, and at the same time raise from four to a half dozen thoroughbred yearlings, that will, if the mares are properly selected and mated, pay the entire expense of the farm each year.

OWNER OF SPRING HILL.

Some Pleasant Gossip About Two of the Three Factors.

"I am on the retired list," wrote Mr. Harrison Durkee, "but not so sick as to be unable to see my friends. Should you be at leisure some morning, drop in and have a talk."

Always had great faith in the speed-transmitting power of the brown Bertine.

I always had great faith in the speed-transmitting power of the brown Bertine, but I was so absorbed in business that I could not give the proper attention to my breeding farm in Fushing.

and he remarked that a roadway for fast driving in Central park would prove one of the brightest features of the pleasure domain.

George L. Lorillard.

The will of Mr. George L. Lorillard leaves all his estate, real and personal, to his wife, and under this head we suppose his racing stable and brood stock is included.

Good Double Teams.

At Mr. Rockefeller's elegant and splendidly equipped stables on Fifty-fifth street, New York city, are some of the speediest and best bred trotters in the country.
