IRELAND'S OWN DAY.

Observance of St. Patrick's Day in St. Paul.

St. Patrick's day was not celebrated yesterday with the usual street parades on account of the approaching biennial convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians to be held here in May, when a grand demonstration will be made by the Irish-Americans of this city and the attendant delegates from all parts of the United States.

On account of this celebration, the Irishmen of this city repressed their enthusiasm yesterday and are saving their strength for it. The day did not pass without a number of gatherings in its honors and the green ribbon and sprig of shamrock adorned the lapels of loyal sons of Erin.

In the morning a large number were celebrated the cathedral, where high mass was celebrated by Father Shanley, and an eloquent sermon was preached by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Ireland.

At the conclusion of the services at the cathedral the Father Matthew society paid a visit to the bishop at his residence. On arriving, Capt. M. J. O'Connor made remarks as follows, which were listened to by a throng which blocked the sidewalks:

ADDRESS TO BISHOP IRELAND. Rt. Rev. Bishop Ireland: In the absence of a general demonstration the Father Matthew society and the people of the cathedral parish feel that they would be doing their duty were they to allow St. Patrick's day to pass without paying their respects to you as our spiritual guide.

As deputies of an eminent apostle of the church he who prayed that the faith of the children of Erin might never fail, I am glad to have you here, and to have you here so favorably answered, we celebrate today the anniversary of our glorious patron, St. Patrick, I find it difficult to mention the name of Erin or her sons without allowing their present hopes and aspirations to absorb all other thoughts.

And why not, as an act of justice? For hundreds of years, wherever England has been successful on land or sea, Irishmen have been the impetus to their success, and all liberty-loving people will unite with us in our prayer for another anniversary of this day may not roll around without seeing the Irish people in Ireland enjoying equal privileges with other British subjects.

In reply Bishop Ireland thanked his visitors, and assured them that he had hopes for a glorious era yet to come for Ireland. In the struggle for Irish independence Irish Americans play an important part, and had rendered great assistance to their brethren, who should thank their fellow Americans, for no other nation had been so loyal.

MOORE TELEGRAMS. The following telegram was received by Chief Clark from Burlington last night: Burlington, Ia., March 17, 1886.—Have received the Moore telegram, and know of Moore's value except old clothes. The man here who can positively identify the man that was here with Martin and went by the name of Buck is now in Iowa.

LOOKS LIKE FIREBUGS. It looks very much as though there was a gang of firebugs in the city. There have been a number of small stable fires during the past few weeks, and the police have the opinion that a gang of boys are the cause of them.

THANKS TO PARNELL. At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the Ancient Order of Hibernians to the number of nearly 500 assembled in their hall, corner of Third and Jackson streets, to celebrate St. Patrick's day.

AT TURNER HALL. Turner hall was crowded last evening at the St. Patrick's celebration given for the benefit of St. Joseph's church, under the management of J. H. Donohue. After an overture of Irish airs by Selbert's orchestra, John W. Willis delivered a stirring address on Irish affairs, which was frequently interrupted by applause.

REMOVING HIS HAT. A young man, a slouch hat, salt and pepper clothes, and colored shirt collar and cuffs, arrived at the Merchants early yesterday morning. He carried an overcoat on his arm and a traveling bag.

F. Gehan; soprano solo, "Nevada Star"; Mitz Song; "Gloria, Miss Agnes E. Mulline." At this point loud calls were made for "Donohue," and that gentleman was finally got on the stage and sang a song, much to the delight of the audience.

AT MARKET HALL. The musical and literary entertainment at Market hall last evening, given by the Crusaders for the benefit of the Cathedral parish, was so well attended that standing room was at a premium.

THE LIBERTY BELL. A St. Patrick's day entertainment was given at the Liedertafel hall on the West Side last evening for the benefit of St. Michael's church and school.

AT HAMILTON. Messrs. T. D. O'Brien, J. F. Kelly and J. F. Carrere of the Crusaders went to Hamilton, Dakota county, yesterday and assisted in the celebration of St. Patrick's day by making addresses.

A WEAK SPAN. The Wabasha Street Bridge to Be Guarded by Policemen. It is generally understood that the north span of the Wabasha street bridge is very weak and considered an unsafe structure.

THE PROBABLE MURDERER OF "BUCK" MOORE DOES NOT WEAKEN. There was nothing particularly new in the Moore murder case yesterday.

QUEEN OF TRAGEDY. Mary Anderson Opens at the Grand To-Night. Mary Anderson, the queen of tragedy, makes her first appearance in St. Paul at the Grand to-night.

STREET SAVINGS. "If you are tired of opposing that little court-martial scheme we had last summer and want to come back and be colonel of the First regiment again, I'm listening to you."

down they would not do down; at the same time they would not do anything to-day that would possibly be put off till to-morrow. It is a very slow country, and he expressed himself as very much rejoiced to get back to St. Paul.

While in conversation with Mr. Johnson he smilingly referred to the lengthy resolutions passed by the council last Tuesday night regarding the construction of over a mile of sewers in his district and said he didn't hear the resolutions when they were read yesterday morning about fifty citizens called on him to explain certain matters regarding the proposed improvement and he wouldn't do it until he had the resolutions. "It kind of knocked the dignity out of me as chairman of the committee on streets," he said, "and I ain't sure but the council put it upon me as a joke."

Several politicians around the city are betting tall hats on the possibility of O. O. Cullen getting the nomination for city treasurer. Mr. Cullen has served his term in the council from the Third ward with a faithful record, and has great credit on him, and if there is destined to be a change in the treasury no better man to watch the interests of that department could probably be found. It is not yet announced that he wants it.

Baillif Rouse of the municipal court is lifting up his voice with a strong and lofty lift against the crowd of toughs that pour into the municipal court-room every morning to listen to the proceedings. "There are over 1,000 men passed that door to-day," said he yesterday, pointing to the entrance from the hall. The crowd is made up of a shiftless class of men, the height of whose ambition is to stand up against a building and squirt tobacco-juice on passers-by.

The signal service announces a cold wave for to-day, word to that effect having been sent out from Washington. Sergt. Lyova said yesterday that the cold wave first appeared at Winnipeg and extended south to the north line of this state, the temperature there yesterday morning being from 3° to 7° below zero.

Considerable progress was made yesterday in the Bulldog Kelly case, and there is now some prospect of its being completed before next winter. Harrigan and Behan were on the stand in the forenoon for the purpose of impeaching Duggan, and also testifying concerning the alibi. Collins and Bender, two residents of British Columbia, testified to the alibi, and the latter also as to conversation with Dainard. Sheffer was recalled for the impeachment of Duggan.
