

AMES WILL GET IT.

Largely Attended Democratic Primaries Elect Delegates to Nominate Dr. Ames for Mayor.

Rousing Speeches Made in Many of the Wards Sound the Campaign Key Note.

Candidates to the Minneapolis Council Nominated in Four of the Wards.

A Degree of Harmony Manifested That Insures Hard Work and Good Results.

Democratic Caucuses.

For Mayor—A. A. Ames. For Alderman—First Ward—... Second Ward—... Third Ward—... Fourth Ward—... Fifth Ward—... Sixth Ward—... Seventh Ward—... Eighth Ward—...

held in Turner hall and the attendance was so large that the hall was crowded. Matt Gross, as ward chairman, called the meeting to order. Herman Hein was elected chairman and C. O. Lampe secretary. The chairman appointed tellers as follows: H. Westphal, Robert Reed, G. E. Swenson, James Best, Torrence Conroy, Lambert Hayes and Arthur Menard. A brief discussion arose regarding the method of selecting delegates to the city convention. Matt Gross moved that the chair appoint a committee of five one from each precinct, to nominate the names, but the motion was lost. Torrence Conroy's motion to elect delegates viva voce from the floor prevailed almost unanimously. The caucus then proceeded to elect delegates as follows: William McArdle, H. A. Westphal, Lambert Hayes, A. Menard, T. Connelly, C. C. Haslow, C. T. Gray, James Best, Ole Eng, Nicholas Watts, Henry Hein, C. F. Baxter, Daniel Wait, Capt. W. H. Mills, Matt Gross, Hugh Jennings, J. H. Hein, A. B. Cushing, John Forbes, John Alstadt, S. H. Mahla, Charles Ebert, John McCarthy, F. A. Melofsky, G. E. Swenson, J. H. Staher.

Charles Ebert, in a neat speech, made a motion to the effect that the delegation as a unit vote for the nomination of Dr. A. A. Ames for mayor in the city convention next Tuesday. The proposition was greeted with the most enthusiastic cheers and the motion prevailed unanimously. Mr. Sheehan moved that the name of any delegate who would not cast a ballot for Ames be stricken from the list, but the chairman ruled the motion out of order. The delegation was then authorized to fill all vacancies and the list of names was read. Herman Westphal brought up the question of pledging the delegation for Ames, but he too was declared out of order. Charles Ebert moved to proceed to nominate a candidate for alderman and the motion prevailed. C. C. Haslow, George Eberhart, William McArdle, W. H. Mills, C. F. Baxter, Daniel Wait, William Gibbons, Matt Gross and H. S. Johnson were nominated. An informal ballot was next taken, resulting as follows: Dan Wait, 33; C. C. Haslow, 22; C. F. Baxter, 17; William McArdle, 16; Matt Gross, 8; N. H. Mills, 16; George Eberhart, 6; William Gibbons, 1; H. S. Johnson, 4. The total vote cast, 148. The announcement of the vote created cheers for Capt.

from its unsafe condition and the crowd present which would prevent any attempt at a deposit of ballots. At this juncture a member mounted the speaker's desk and succeeded in quieting the crowd, and after a statement as to the unsafe condition of the hall, he announced that an adjournment was made until Monday evening at a place where the committee would name. After considerable urging the crowd dispersed.

SEVENTH WARD. The Democratic caucus of the Seventh ward was held last evening at 2326 Twenty-fifth street. The large room used was hardly sufficient to hold the number of enthusiastic Democrats present. K. W. King called the meeting to order, and was unanimously elected the chairman. An informal ballot for alderman was taken with the following candidates in the field: P. Dwyer, A. J. Noerenberg and F. H. Smith. The ballot box was placed near the door and the voters cast their ballots. The result was as follows: Dwyer 121, Noerenberg 21 and Smith 28. On motion the assembly then proceeded to a formal ballot, the person having a majority over all the other candidates being elected alderman, and the six gentlemen receiving the highest number of votes were elected as delegates to the city convention. The following were the formal vote Dwyer 119, Noerenberg 90 and Smith 66. There being no majority the chairman called for another ballot. At this juncture Mr. Smith withdrew as a candidate and authorized his friends to vote for their choice. Messrs. King and Loomis each received 14 votes. The final ballot for alderman and the balance of the delegates was taken and resulted as follows: Dwyer 151, Noerenberg 21, Smith 66. The delegates elected to the city convention and were instructed to vote in the convention for Dr. Ames. Three cheers were given for Dr. Ames and Mr. Dwyer acted as caucus chairman.

EIGHTH WARD DEMOCRATS. The Eighth ward Democrats elected Dr. H. N. Avery, R. F. Isler and W. H. Norris delegates to the city convention. Dr. Ames is endorsed for mayor. C. Wilson, Chris Miller and John Ludlum were appointed a ward committee. No nomination was made for alderman.

The Labor Party. The Seventh ward labor party met last night at 2424 First street in David's cooper shop. The candidates were Capt. John P. Wright, W. W. Ehle, A. B. Corser and O. P. Faither. It was agreed that an informal ballot should be taken, then a formal one until only two candidates were left. The vote stood as follows: Ehle 148, Faither 129. Capt. Wright did not insist on his right to have another ballot, and to save time withdrew. The successful candidate was Mr. Ehle, who is a grocer at 3502 Lake street, and was formerly a miller. He made a short address advising the workmen to be harmonious and united, and they would be successful.

A BURSTED BUBBLE.

Incipient Millionaires Created by an Innocent Globe Paragraph.

Untold Wealth to Be Realized Through the New Orleans Lottery.

Later News Pricks the Bubble and Four suicides are Threatened.

I care not, Fortune, what you me deny, You cannot rob me of free nature.

Can wealth give happiness? Look about and see, What gay distress, what splendid misery.

The California gold fever of '49 is still vividly remembered by many gray-haired patriarchs. Then, some eight or ten years later, came the Pike's Peak excitement, which is remembered by younger men of the day. It was a veritable craze. Fortunes were made and fortunes were lost in he scramble for the treasures which for ages had been clasped in the bosom of the earth. In later years there have been fortunes made and lost in the Blaine Bill excitement on "chaure in every American city that had striking resemblance. Men have become millionaires in a day, and millionaires like "Coal Oil Johnny," in the same length of time had been rendered penniless. Yes; happy the man who has not been deceived by the results of the lottery. He has been the result of realty deals, but sometimes they have been the result of a wheat or a pork deal, perchance.

On Thursday the Louisiana lottery was the occasion of the most intense excitement at the Vendome. The game of that morning contained the following paragraph: "Who is the lucky man? Who holds ticket No. 97,590 in the Louisiana lottery? That is the question of the kind. Usually they have been the result of realty deals, but sometimes they have been the result of a wheat or a pork deal, perchance.

The Fifth ward Democrats were called to order at 7:30, and Col. M. W. Glenn was appointed the first business. The chair announced the first business to be the election of twenty delegates to the city convention. S. J. Barlow moved that the chair appoint a committee of five to select delegates. Orville Rinehart immediately amended that the vote be taken by ballot. The result was as follows: Barlow 120, Rinehart 120, F. J. Egan 120, P. J. Egan 120, P. J. Egan 120. The result was as follows: Barlow 120, Rinehart 120, F. J. Egan 120, P. J. Egan 120, P. J. Egan 120.

MARY SAYS FAREWELL.

The Peerless Queen of the American Stage as Rosalind.

Attractions That Will Follow the Star-Amusement Notes.

Another crowded house greeted Mary Anderson last night despite the wild wind that blew and the world of snow that filled the street. She appeared in "As You Like It," taking the role of Rosalind. To those who had witnessed her superb playing in "Lady of Lyons," her acting last night was comparatively farcical, yet she carried her characters well, and the audience was ready to applaud her at every turn. Her season here has been one of great success and the gross receipts of the house for the three nights and matinee were $7,028, a large percentage of which goes into the coffers of the fair tragedienne.

If Mary could see herself as others see her she would never allow herself to appear before an audience of civilians in bisected raiment. As Galatea on her pedestal in the clinging folds of spotted drapery she is an angel, but in close-fitting doublet, close-fitting hose and light-tipped boots, she has a tendency to put a man to shame, to think that possibly he sees in her a counterpart of himself. It is no less an impossibility for Mary to be a man in appearance than it is for her to be a man in reality. Nature has done about as much to head her off from the former achievement as it has to place beyond her reach the latter honor.

The contour of Mary's head and the graceful curve of her neck, which people are quite as charmed above the northern extremity of a doublet as they are above a V-shaped corsage, but from the upper boundary of the doublet to the ankle of the boot there is a tiresome stretch of animation that brings no joy to the naked eye. Of foot, Mary has all that is necessary for the well-balancing of anybody, but should she essay to balance herself upon the tips of her toes after the fashion of a ballet dancer, her classic features would be hidden in the foliage of the trees, whose dark people are darkened the green upon which she so coyly makes love to unsuspecting Orlando. But for this no blame should be attached to Mary; had she governed the molding of her pedal extremities, she would certainly have renounced against such a waste of material. Unfortunately, she was not the author of her own being, and she is destined to tramp through life leaving large-sized foot-prints in the sands of time.

Mary's lower half was not built for tight-fitting garments. It is too consumptive in its proportions. It is too apt to drive people to drink. It is a shallow delusion, an enervating disappointment. It is like a vague fancy. An Eridon. A wavering wealth that attracts the eye, but chills the blood. Mary should study her own interests by wearing garments peculiar to her own sex, with a long train.

THE PAST AND FUTURE.

Attractions Promised at the Grand and Olympic This Week. The attractions at the Grand the past week have been first-class and the business has been such as to put Manager Scott in an extremely happy mood. To-morrow night Murray & Murphy, the two rattling Irish comedians, open an engagement of three nights and Wednesday matinee in a three act absurdity entitled "Our Irish Visitors." The play is said to be jammed full of fun and from the time the curtain goes up until it falls there is an unbroken sound of button-bursting laughter. The company carries its own brass band and the music is of the finest quality.

Opening Thursday night and playing the remainder of the week with Saturday matinee comes that ambitious and highly successful young actor, W. J. Scanlon, in his new play, "Shanara Lawn," for which the Eastern critics have nothing but the highest praise. Mr. Scanlon will introduce many of his original songs that have made him famous. Thursday night every lady in the audience will be presented with a beautiful souvenir, a photograph of Tom Moore's harp. Each Catholic society in the city has been presented with one of these beautiful souvenirs.

THE OLYMPIC.

Business for the past week has been exceptionally good. Bannon and Williams in their Irish impersonations and burlesque sparring being far above the average. Mary Smith made the bit of the week in her Irish songs and dances. For the week of March 22 is announced the Four Star Athletes and their own company, consisting in part of the following well-known artists: Kenyon, Jerome, King Sisters, Gerry Hopner, Carrie Hall, Fields and Burdell, Mamie Dillon, Mlle. Cordelia and a fine ballet corps.

AT THE MUSEUM.

Next week at Sackett & Wiggins' museum will be presented the most extensive display of natural history that has been given to the public lately. He is called Jo Jo, the dog-faced boy, and was presented by Mr. Barnum in the principal cities of the union. Jo Jo, it is said, was captured in the forest of Kostroma in Russia and created a sensation even in the frontier provinces. Afterwards he was brought before the czar and awarded by royal ukase to be exhibited.

WILL DEFEND MARTIN.

Arrival in St. Paul of D. P. Stubbs, Fairfield, Ia.

Last night a gentleman arrived in the city who went to the Mechanics hotel and wrote in a bold chirography, "D. P. Stubbs, Fairfield, Ia." Later he called at the station house, and under escort of Officer Schaeffer went to the county jail and had an interview of length with Martin, accused of murdering Buck Moore. A reporter called upon him and was granted an audience. Mr. Stubbs said: "I do not know anything about the antecedents of Martin. I have seen him but had no acquaintance with him. He does not live in my neighborhood, his home being about thirty miles from Fairfield. Among his neighbors Martin bears a good reputation. I have seen several from his section and they say he stands well. His occupation, I think, has been that of a general trader, and perhaps he has been something of a farmer. He has wife and child. I have come to the city after his case. The first time I have been in St. Paul, I have not been retained by his friends to conduct the case, and came at Martin's solicitation alone. I have had an extensive practice in that section from which business I have derived by trying to withdraw—and I presume Martin has heard of me."

Magie Mitchell.

Smiles when she sees the yellow label on Fleischmann's yeast.

Many Smiths Taken.

Sergt. Rouleau last night conducted a raid on a house on Fifth street near Jackson and captured three women and two men for violating Ordinance No. 10. They all gave the name of Smith at the station, where they spent the night.

"Man's Inhumanity to man makes countless numbers mourn," but Fleischmann's yeast makes every woman smile. Ask for the yellow label, take none other.

Assessment for Sewer on Bluff and Martin Streets.

The Board of Public Works in and for the corporation of the City of St. Paul, Minn., will meet at the office in said city at 2 p. m. on the 29th day of March, A. D. 1886, to consider and determine upon the expenses arising from the construction of a sewer on Bluff street, from Wabasha street to Martin street; and on Martin street to St. Peter street, in said city, on the property of the line of said sewer and benefited thereby amounting in the aggregate to $1,588.55.

Official: WILLIAM BARRETT, President.

R. L. GORMAN, Clerk Board of Public Works.

75-79

DUROCHER & WESSEL

Dry Goods and Notions! 33 EAST SEVENTH, BETWEEN WABASHA AND CEDAR STS.

To-Morrow Morning

WE SHALL PLACE ON SALE New Dress Goods! New Dress Goods! New Dress Goods! New Dress Goods! Every lady contemplating a Dress Goods purchase should, without doubt, consider this sale, as we offer all the latest novelties and spring styles of Foreign and Domestic Dress Fabrics, at much lower prices than ever were offered heretofore and invite your attention especially to these goods.

French Tricot

50c Per Yard! Many of our customers were disappointed the past week on account of our French Tricot giving out and had no more to sell, but are glad to say that we received a new lot and we are able to supply you with all the new shades again.

New Sanglies Cloth, 60c

In Fifteen different shades and the best imported Fabrics that has been offered this season.

Home Spun Serge! 65c

Permelle Cloth! 72 1/2c

Etamine Cloth! 77 1/2c

TRIMMINGS! TRIMMINGS! TRIMMINGS!

CHENILLE VELVETS! CHENILLE VELVETS!

NEW GINGHAMS! NEW PERCALES! NEW SEERSUCKER! NEW PARIS CLOTH!

WHITE GOODS. WHITE GOODS. WHITE GOODS.

BATISTE CLAIRE, INDIA LINEN, VICTORIALAWN, PRIMROSE LAWNS, LACES AND EMBROIDERIES

BARGAINS! BARGAINS! BARGAINS!

200 Dozen of Brilliant Lisle Hose, Only 25 cts.

JERSEYS! SPRING JACKETS! MANTLES! JERSEYS! SPRING JACKETS! MANTLES! JERSEYS! SPRING JACKETS! MANTLES!

P. T. Kavanagh & CO., AUCTIONEERS,

DUROCHER & WESSEL

33 E. Seventh St., St. Paul.

REMOVED!

P. T. Kavanagh & CO. Have removed their stock to their

NEW QUARTERS,

422 Wabasha St., Where they can be found after this date.

Monday, March 22

They will show one of the best assorted stocks of

Men's & Boys' Clothing,

Gents' Furnishing Goods, Etc.,

In the city. The goods are all new and selected with a view of giving our customers the most for the money. It will pay you to inspect our stock before purchasing elsewhere, as we will guarantee that we can not be undersold.

The Ladies will also find a SILK and DRY GOODS Department, in which competition is out of the question.

The Auction business will hereafter be strictly confined to outside sales of Merchandise, Household Furniture, Real Estate, etc., to which strict personal attention will be given and satisfaction guaranteed. Those desirous of employing competent auctioneers, with a long practical experience among St. Paul people, will find it to their advantage to call on us.

P. T. Kavanagh & CO.,

422 Wabasha Street.

REMOVED!

They will show one of the best assorted stocks of

Men's & Boys' Clothing,

Gents' Furnishing Goods, Etc.,

In the city. The goods are all new and selected with a view of giving our customers the most for the money. It will pay you to inspect our stock before purchasing elsewhere, as we will guarantee that we can not be undersold.

The Ladies will also find a SILK and DRY GOODS Department, in which competition is out of the question.

The Auction business will hereafter be strictly confined to outside sales of Merchandise, Household Furniture, Real Estate, etc., to which strict personal attention will be given and satisfaction guaranteed. Those desirous of employing competent auctioneers, with a long practical experience among St. Paul people, will find it to their advantage to call on us.

P. T. Kavanagh & CO.,

422 Wabasha Street.

REMOVED!

They will show one of the best assorted stocks of

Men's & Boys' Clothing,

Gents' Furnishing Goods, Etc.,

In the city. The goods are all new and selected with a view of giving our customers the most for the money. It will pay you to inspect our stock before purchasing elsewhere, as we will guarantee that we can not be undersold.

The Ladies will also find a SILK and DRY GOODS Department, in which competition is out of the question.

The Auction business will hereafter be strictly confined to outside sales of Merchandise, Household Furniture, Real Estate, etc., to which strict personal attention will be given and satisfaction guaranteed. Those desirous of employing competent auctioneers, with a long practical experience among St. Paul people, will find it to their advantage to call on us.

P. T. Kavanagh & CO.,

422 Wabasha Street.

INDORSER LAST NIGHT.

Every section he was hailed as next mayor of Minneapolis. There was no expression of sentiment in regard to comptroller, but Capt. P. H. Swenson will undoubtedly be chosen. The Democracy has nothing to regret in the pronounced expression it has made. It has in every case named winners, as the people will verify at the polls.

THE FIRST WARD.

Democracy turned out en masse last evening and had a very lively time. Tobin's rink was the most popular room in the ward, was crowded at an early hour, and still they came. Every nook and corner was more than filled and when the room could contain no more several hundred were accommodated on the outside. The crowd was variously estimated from 1,200 to 1,500. There was no money out and but for about 8 o'clock Chairman Hoy called the meeting to order, read the call and announced the choice of a chairman in order. The crowd responded with a score of names, among which that of Michael Hoy was prominent. A. J. Dolan mounted the platform and put the motion making Hoy chairman. There was a storm of "Ayes" followed by a similar one of "Noes." Mr. Dolan declared the motion carried. There was considerable cheering over this ruling, but Mr. Hoy assumed the chair and called for order and a secretary. There was another volley of nominations for the office of secretary, and the excitement ran high. Mr. L'Herauld was declared elected on a vote similar to the Dolan-Hoy vote, but he declined to serve, not fancying the method of procedure. After considerable more skirmishing Ambrose Lennon was made secretary. The choice of tellers caused a good deal of commotion and resulted in the naming of one by each candidate in the field as follows: Ed McNulty, George Smith, M. Tobin, Patrick Boland, Frank Ayer and P. J. Ryan. It was arranged that the crowd pass out and deposit their ballots en route. One of the gentlemen protested that there were many outsiders in the room who should not be allowed to vote. It was voted that a committee of one from each precinct be appointed to supervise the balloting, and the gentlemen were carried through by main force, the crowd maintaining a deafening roar which the chairman made a desperate but only partially successful effort to quell. The nomination of aldermanic candidates. The tumult increased at this juncture to mammoth proportions. Every lady was good natured, but the friends of each candidate were bound to make the most noise and they all succeeded. The secretary managed to make out the following list of names: Con Loenehan, Michael Lyons, E. J. Herrauld, John Olson, John Norton, C. W. Brown, Hugh Butler. While the tellers were preparing the ballots, the crowd called for speeches. W. H. Donaghe made a conciliatory and conservative speech and was followed by several of the nominees; Hugh Butler, E. J. L'Herauld, C. Loenehan, John Norton, M. Lyons and C. W. Brown. The candidates all expressed a desire that their friends maintain quiet and a peaceable and honest method in the contest. Fair play was the burden of all their songs, and they were respectfully listened to and loudly applauded. At the conclusion of the speeches balloting was begun. It was made a formal ballot, and in a quiet, orderly way the crowd filed out into the storm-tossed hall. About an hour and a half to clear the room and another hour to count the ballots. The result was announced as follows: J. L. Herrauld, 308; Hugh Butler, 161; M. Lyons, 162; John Norton, 163; C. W. Brown, 82; M. C. Leuehan, 30; total, 834. None of the candidates having received a majority, a second ballot was necessary. It was nearly midnight and the excitement considerably diminished. Messrs. Loenehan and Brown withdrew without instructing their friends. Mr. Norton withdrew in favor of Mr. L'Herauld amid a storm of applause. Balloting was then resumed.

THE DELEGATION.

The following committee was appointed to select the delegation to the convention: Titus Warek, A. J. Dolan, John Flannigan, W. F. Hills, Patrick Boland. They recommended the following: C. Loenehan, John Norton, M. Lyons and C. W. Brown. Hills, George Eastman, C. Loenehan, Robert Irwin, M. Lyons, E. J. L'Herauld, H. Butler, H. Bredimus, John Flannigan, J. Keeler, Mulcahy, John Shirlen, A. J. Dolan, Harry Burke, Patrick Boland, Martin King, John Zienkowsky, W. H. Donaghe, John Flannigan, A. C. Mueller, John Mingo. It was understood that the delegation was practically sold for Ames, but an attempt was made to instruct them. There was so much confusion that it was impossible to tell what was carried.

The second ballot was announced about 2 a. m. as follows: L'Herauld, 258; Butler, 150; Lyons 102, Norton 6, total 528. Still there was no majority and the caucus adjourned to Monday evening to complete its work.

The Democrats of the Second ward held their caucus at the old Johnson store on Union street. The caucus was presided over by Prof. John G. Moore secretary. Delegates were elected as follows: Solon Lustroug chairman, H. P. Herring, Jacob Becker, O. C. Merriman, D. E. Pickett and Charles Stawitz. The delegation was instructed to use their discretion in selecting an alderman. There was no vote, but the names of B. E. Nelson and P. Herring were prominently mentioned. No instructions were given the delegation in regard to mayor. They will all, however, support Ames. The caucus adjourned at 11 o'clock. The third ward Democratic caucus was