HE ATTENDS PRAYER MEETING The Mayor Put on the Rack by His Brother-in-Law.

It chanced most inopportunistically that the theme at the conference after last evening's prayer meeting was: "And he stood the test." The mayor was again overcome and will stand. This is official.

The Mayor's Veto.

Last fall a number of the leading citizens, taxpayers and property owners of the city presented to the city council an ordinance granting to certain parties the right to lay mains from Glenwood Springs, along Western avenue to Seventh street, and thence to the West hotel for the purpose of supplying people with pure water for culinary and other domestic purposes. The projectors of the plan offered to lay the mains at their own expense, and, furthermore, to supply Glenwood Springs with water at the rates established by the city committee. The river water was considered by the residents in that section as far inferior to the Glenwood or Ingleswood springs water. Therefore they were all particularly anxious to get the springs water, and they urged it as their right and privilege.

The city council considered the matter carefully, and even held conferences with the water board and interested citizens. The city council agreed that the petitioners should be granted the privileges asked. In other words, the ordinance was passed. It was then that his honor the mayor rose up in his official dignity and said: "These things shall not be!" He vetoed the measure. His reason, which he assigned, was that the Glenwood springs water would come into competition with the river water, and the mayor thought that the river water was good enough for the West hotel and the Western avenue people.

At one of the public meetings held the mayor assented to the ordinance with certain amendments, which he would have made and as so amended was passed by the council. The veto was made after a long delay. An attempt to pass the ordinance over the head of the mayor proved fruitless and it died.

Since then the water board, of which Mayor Pillsbury is president, ordered mains laid in the locality where Glenwood springs water was wanted, and the citizens must not only pay for laying the mains but must pay also for the water used. The water board is so far from being satisfied with the water that the citizens are putting it mildly. Had not the Mayor said he would assent to an ordinance confining the use of the water to Western avenue and then called to keep faith, it would have been different. The West hotel has solved the problem by sinking an artesian well, but the poorer residents who cannot sink artesian wells must use the river water.

The Coopers and the Campaign.

A committee, sent by the directors of the North Star and Co-operative barrel companies, yesterday visited the GLOBE office and requested the publication of a statement, to the effect that "none of the members or directors of either company have been intimidated, or coerced, or influenced in any manner, by either Mr. Pillsbury or his so-called henchmen." This is in contradiction to the report published in the GLOBE, that the Pillsburys were resorting to "the tactics so persistently carried out two years ago of intimating to the coopers that, unless they promptly stopped working for Dr. Ames that their barrels would go begging for a market."

The GLOBE sincerely hopes that the coopers are correct in this instance, and further that no efforts will be made to intimidate them or to unduly influence their votes by either party. The statement composed of came from what is even now deemed reliable authority. The managers of Mr. Pillsbury and his campaign two years ago did resort to just such disgraceful tactics, and if the same course is to be pursued this year, the GLOBE intends to let the public know all about it—in advance if possible. All that is asked is that the wageworker shall have the privilege of casting his vote for whichever candidate he chooses, undisturbed by the fact that any disinterested employer is going to take from him an opportunity of earning his daily bread because he dares to say that his soul is his own or to feel that he has an interest in the administration of the affairs of the city government.

Rustling in the Seventh Ward.

Charles A. Pillsbury and a select hackload of friends yesterday made a tour of the Second precinct of the Seventh ward, commonly called "the hub." Among those interviewed were several saloonkeepers and G. A. P. Mr. Flatten is a Scandinavian and said to have a strong Democratic following. Hence it is important that his ticket be headed by the name of Pillsbury. Among the saloonkeepers visited were several Scandinavians, but just what promises have been given them has not yet been made public. Yet it is to be presumed that the promises were similar to those made two years ago. The public knows what they were.

Said one saloonkeeper in the Seventh ward: "When Pillsbury gives me my $100 I don't care a rap for Doc Ames. That will pay my license."

Democratic Precinct Committees.

H. M. Burke, member of the executive committee of the First ward, yesterday appointed the following precinct committees: First Precinct—J. Marek, chairman; G. J. Dolan, E. J. L'Heraut. Second Precinct—Jacob Kosler, chairman; M. Lyons, Frank Hovland. Third Precinct—R. Ervine, chairman; Louis Kuntson, John Mingo. Fourth Precinct—H. Graham, chairman; M. Bredimus, Frank O'Brien. Fifth Precinct—C. W. Brown, chairman; Adam Gillis, Gus Linn. Sixth Precinct—R. Butler, chairman; Peter Ous, W. H. Donahue. N. W. King, at the Democratic executive committee yesterday, appointed the following precinct committees for the Seventh ward: First precinct—John Henderson, W. A. Parr, John Henry. Second precinct—Peter King, Joseph Baltez, James McCall.

Non-Partisan Nominations.

The conference committee of Democrats and Republicans appointed to select a non-partisan ticket for four members of the park commission, was called to meet yesterday morning at the city hall. Only eleven of the eighteen members assembled and it was decided to postpone action until a full meeting could be obtained. The conference accordingly adjourned until tomorrow morning at the same place and hour.

The conference committee to select two candidates for members of the library board met at 4 p. m. at the city hall and chose R. B. Langdon chairman and W. H. Donahue secretary. Thomas Lowry, Republican, and John B. Atwater, Democrat, are the retiring members, and they were renominated by acclamation.

The conference on school board will meet at 4 p. m. to-morrow.

pendent candidate for alderman at a meeting held on Bloomington avenue. He has come to run, and his friends claim that he will make Mr. Graham's chances for election look sick.

A Democratic meeting was last night held at Avery hall, in the Eighth ward. R. E. Bader, member of the city committee, announced his precinct committees. John Ludlum was nominated for alderman. This last was a matter of some surprise, as the general opinion was that the Democrats would endorse Filteau. At the meeting it was decided to go on a purely party basis.

pure reform administration, but Traylor, with his good clothes and staturesque figure, must go, and upon his arrival from St. Paul he was invited to leave at his earliest opportunity. Speaking of this circumstance the disconsolate Traylor hoarsely whispered last evening:

"Where am I to go?" The reporter did not know, but vaguely suggested "somewhere."

"Yes," wearily returned Traylor, "it's all some where. I'm sick, and perhaps I'd say I'm liable to drop off. I've told them that, but that don't make any difference. I couldn't do it now if I wanted to, for I'm broken down physically. Still, I suppose I'll have to move on, but I wish they'd give me a chance to get well first."

It is to be noted, rather hard, but perhaps it's not quite so ostentatious, and had cultivated reform methods more carefully, he still would be allowed the freedom of the city.

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the Young Men's Democratic club on Monday evening at 7:30, sharp, for the purpose of making arrangements for a public meeting for the following evening to consider and discuss the new rules adopted at the last Democratic city convention.

The Republicans are getting their silver-tongued orators, like Hicks and Gordon, ready to dole out to vote. Gordon will put in his best "check" and Col. Hicks will keep a weather eye on the city attorneyship.

The French Democratic club will meet on Monday evening at Voss' hall, Marshall street and Eighth avenue northeast. The club has secured Market hall for the grand mass meeting next Saturday night.

A Democratic meeting will be held Monday night at 243 Bloomington avenue, which will be addressed by Dr. Ames, Col. M. W. Glenn and other prominent speakers.

We venture to say that more young men are being ruined by the example set them of speculating in what options than in all the poker chips ever handled.

The Republican speakers who expect to take the stump will please explain how high license and patrol limits are going to even up the losses on "options."

The French Democratic club will meet on Monday evening at Voss' hall, Marshall street and Eighth avenue northeast. The club has secured Market hall for the grand mass meeting next Saturday night.

A Democratic meeting will be held Monday evening at the corner of Western avenue and Twelfth street.

Permanent Democratic headquarters have been established at 218 Hennepin avenue.

RETRIBUTION.

No Place for a "Con" Man to Rest His Weary Head.

W. W. Traylor, the sportive "con" man whose presence in the city seems to attract as much attention as if he was some foreign dignitary, seems to be finding out the truth of the Biblical saying that the way of the transgressor is hard. He is no longer gay and festive, and his appearance is slightly similar to that of a bird of paradise shorn of its tail. He is evidently suffering from some pulmonary disease, not being able to speak above a whisper, and looks and acts like a very sick man. At this stage of the game he finds himself hampered with what some business men would consider a valuable acquisition—notoriety. He has been written up so often in the newspapers, has attracted so much attention by his numerous episodes, that his life has become a burden. The hungry police reporter no sooner sees him on the street than he rushes off to write a sensational article to the effect that the prince of confidence men is in the city. His appearance and movements are described with a painful attention to details, and he is made the hero of half the stories of some steers and skin-zambars that have appeared during the past ten years in the different newspapers of the country. The result is that Mr. Traylor finds himself an object of interest wherever he goes. The stupidest policeman will recognize him a block away; the boot-lickers stare at him as though he was a curiosity. The fly young men who are onto everything all point at him. If he goes to a theater he is the cynosure of a hundred eyes. If he enters a hotel the clerk asks as though held there have the small-pox come into the house. Brace faw dealers, steers, "sure-thing" men, "dips," and people who make their living by robbing drunken men and others who have the city "dead to rights," have been allowed to drink in the city and to flourish under the benign influence of a simon-and a "bean" supper the evening will be given over to dancing. In connection with the refreshments it is desired that every member contribute any edible but coffee, sugar, milk or beans, which are already provided.

The committee announces among its list of prominent speakers, Gov. Hubbard, Judge Severance, Mankato; Col. Meyers of St. Cloud and Gen. Thomas, commander-in-chief of the state, of Mankato.

The Popular Concerts.

The last of the Minneapolis Philharmonic and St. Paul Exposition populars will occur on the 26th and 27th of April, with a change of program which will meet with decided popular favor. The war-song feature will be postponed until the Gilmore festival in May, and three of the greatest living artists have been engaged for the last of the populars. These are Lill Lehmann, the prima donna of the Imperial opera at Berlin and court singer to the emperor; Franz Ruml, a pianist of marvelous power and facility, and Orida Mustu, the famous Belgian violinist. We shall have more to say of these great artists hereafter. The Philharmonic chorus takes up new work for this great concert to-morrow night, and every member desiring to sing at the concert is expected.

FOR DEMOCRATIC ALDERMEN.

Something of the Men Nominated for Council Seats.

The result in the First ward last night makes E. J. L'Heraut the nominee of the party for alderman. The ward has been torn up pretty badly in its vigorous fight. The selection of Mr. L'Heraut last night created a good deal of enthusiasm among the French citizens, who will give him their unqualified support. He is one of the prominent men of his nationality and there is little doubt of his receiving the full vote of his party.

The Second ward has made no selection as yet, though it is almost conceded that the best candidate must infallibly go down before the heavy Republican majority of the ward. If an angel from heaven were to run on the Democratic ticket he would be scratched by the Republicans of the Second ward and snowed under an overwhelming majority.

In all human probability Capt. W. H. Mills will represent the Third ward to succeed C. C. Hallow. As a soldier he had an honorable career in two wars and stands today with an unimpaired reputation. Twice he represented Carver county in the state legislature and once was sent as senator from the district. No better man can be found in the ward and his election is almost and should be entirely certain.

Bernard Cloutier, nominee for alderman in the Fourth ward, substituted on the Democratic ticket in place of E. B. Clement, and is located at a light house, resides at 2633 Western avenue. He is a manufacturer of machinery, and has lived here continuously since 1848, with the exception of four years' residence in Fargo, Dak. He is well educated, a thorough Democrat and a bright business man. He was elected alderman in Fargo and served one and one-half years, when he resigned to return to Minneapolis. His record there was clean and unblemished, and he was a bitter opponent to jobberies and money-making schemes among the Fargo council. The news of his nomination brought the following in the Fargo Republican:

"Fargosians always get to the front. The Democratic nominee for alderman from the Fourth ward of Minneapolis is B. Cloutier, ex-alderman of this city. Cloutier is an old-time Democrat and a good man wherever you put him."

Alonso Phillips, the nominee of the Fifth ward, is a heavy Republican council ward, but this is offset by the weakness of the Republican ticket.

Without Fire Protection.

A new frame dwelling on Second avenue south, between Thirty-first and Thirty-second streets, and belonging to H. Gale, was partially consumed by fire yesterday morning. The blaze was the result of overheating by salamanders, placed to dry the plaster. Loss, $500; no insurance. This fire called special attention to the fact that this large territory, now rapidly building up, is absolutely without fire protection. Hundreds of thousands of dollars in property is at the mercy of the flames. A water main should be laid out First avenue without delay.

Happy Again in His Possession.

It was about seven months ago that Edward Miner, a wooden-legged man, came to Minneapolis from Nashua, Ia. Three days later Mrs. H. G. Gleason of that place joined him here, and since the two have been living as man and wife on the East side. When she came she brought with her an infant, who died shortly after. A week ago Gleason himself appeared. He found the unfaithful spouse, and yesterday she returned to her home. A reconciliation was brought about, and man and wife will return to Iowa as happy as ever.
