ENTICED AWAY. A Young Girl Falls into the Clutches of a Notorious Gang.

A Mrs. Goodnough, who lives at the corner of Ninth and Exchange streets, called at the central station yesterday afternoon and asked that an officer be allowed to accompany her to a place on Seventh street, where her daughter, Amy Hosper, was detained, and which she (Mrs. Goodnough) was afraid to enter on account of the threats of the man of the house. Officer Pomeroy accompanied her to the stairs, portion of No. 24 West Seventh street and secured the girl, a rather pretty black-eyed miss of 17. To a reporter Mrs. Goodnough said the inmates of the place, which she said was a house of assignation, run by a man known as John Wilson, had enticed the girl away under pretext of hiring her as a servant at $3 per week. Mrs. Goodnough left home on Saturday, the day on which the girl had mentioned the offer, and had not returned since. Her daughter had not returned to her home yesterday, and she was met by the man with curses and threats and driven away. She thereupon appeared to be dazed and stupefied and said she had no recollection of what had happened during the time she had been at the house. She said Wilson induced her to take a glass of beer and since that time she did not know what had occurred. It was said that the girl was inclined to be wayward and there are some doubts as to whether she was detained against her will. The girl has a brother who last night threatened to sift the affair to the bottom and seek legal redress if possible.

STATES OF THE STRIKE. Both Sides of the Questions Among the Stonecutters.

Work is moving on at the court house with over twenty stonecutters at work, and the men employed are satisfied with their wages, hours and employer. The strikers are watching the situation and are relying on the boycott for the success of their kick. Both sides gave statements to the GLOBE yesterday. Members of the Limestone Cutters' union, which is composed of the working stonecutters, said:

"We want to correct the assertion made by some of the strikers yesterday, who said that our union was only a temporary one and would not be recognized. We have the same right to organize a union that the other men have, and ours is likely to prove the largest in the city. We all believe in labor unions and don't want the antagonism or interference any working class, but we don't propose to follow a lot of men who want to kick up trouble. A similar union is being organized at Kasota. There is no reason why our union should not receive the same recognition that the other one does."

Four of the strikers say very emphatically that the new union is not legitimate and will not be recognized. They say that most of these men were members of the regular union and that they have deserted and betrayed it. They deny that any of their number will go back to work until the trouble is settled and say that the new union is being organized at Kasota and that no men have gone to work there.

BIRDS OF PASSAGE. People Passing Through St. Paul—Their Looks and Comments.

The Marquis de Mores departed for his ranch at Medina, Dakota, yesterday. He and his wife and children put up at the Ryan. His stay was prolonged on account of the sickness of one of his children. He was more stylishly arrayed than when he passed through this city last fall on his way to Paris. He then came from his ranch. During his absence he has perfected arrangements whereby the cattle killed at Medina can be taken to New York in refrigerated cars and placed on the market. He naturally feels quite jubilant over the new company, for it is a stock association which he has got interested in the scheme, and anticipates that not a little money can be made out of the business.

Conrad Kohrs, Deer Lodge, Montana, registered at the Merchants. He is the cattle king of that cattle-raising territory. Associated with Bellberg, he owns not less than 15,000 cattle in various parts of the territory. These are valued at $22, the average for a single head, would bring up his herds to something like $470,000. He ships over 4,000 head every year to Chicago and is en route to that city, at the present time, to attend to business connected with the shipment of cattle.

R. C. Judson, Farmington, talked fair at the hotels. He is secretary of the State Agricultural society. Discussing the success of the coming meeting, he said that indications were to the effect that it would be the greatest fair ever held in the Northwest. He announced as a fact that there was no difficulty in getting all the exhibitors desirable, and the outlook was most flattering for a large and successful meeting.

Isaac Staples, the extensive dealer in lumber and pine lard of Stillwater, chatted and talked with friends and acquaintances throughout the state at the St. Paul hotels. He said that he thought the lumber camps in and about the St. Croix valley would cut up to the average number of logs and that the sum total would not be far from 210,000,000 feet.

Dr. A. C. Wedge, the present mayor of Albert Lea and ex-collector of internal revenue for that district of the state, came up on city business. He has, in connection with a member of the council, been inspecting the electric lights of St. Paul and Minneapolis, with a view of recommending the adoption of such illumination for Albert Lea. As a resident of the county seat of Freeborn county, from which he is ex-speaker Gibbs, the candidate for governor, he said that there would be no question about getting a solid delegation for Gibbs in that county at the next Republican convention. He said that Gibbs seemed to feel very confident of the nomination and election as governor. He counted, "said Dr. Wedge," on the farmers throughout the state. He thinks that he is the granger's choice for governor and so he doesn't bother ourselves much about it, as he is positive of getting the nomination."

Leopard Johnson, East Castleton, was a guest at the hotels. He is on his way to France, where he will buy a large number of heavy French horses. He has quite an assortment of heavy horseflesh at his farm, and goes abroad to perfect his stock. He acts as buyer for several large horse farms in Illinois, and is regarded as one of the best judges of horses in the Northwest.

P. Heatwole, the editor and proprietor of the Northfield News, was apparently happy as he strolled through the corridors of the local hotels. He had been awarded the contract for printing 10,000 pamphlets containing the state fair premium list. The lucky editor had copies of red, white, blue and yellow pamphlets sticking out of his pockets, and it was evident that he had struck something better than a cord of wood for his paper.

Judson La Motre, Kenyon, Dak., shook hands with his Dakota party associates at the Merchants. He is said to be one of the best posted politicians in the territory, knows everybody and has everybody with him. He is a Republican, and so is Dakota. His name was mentioned in connection with the election of a so-called United States senator by the provisional legislature last fall, but he failed to develop any strength in the caucus, and hence was not voted for.

at all. He is a thin, thoughtful-looking man, and is well along in years.

A. Leech, A. Leech, Jr., and W. F. Leech formed a wealthy party at the Merchants last night. They are members of one family and reside at Erie, Pa. During the summer they devote their attention to the cultivation of an immense wheat farm on the line of the Northern Pacific road in Dakota, to which point they are now on their way. They intend to put in 4,000 acres of grain this season, which will place them next to Oliver Dalrymple in the line of bonanza farmers.

Hugh Murray, sheriff of Steele county, this state, was at the Merchants yesterday passing the time pleasantly with his friends. He said politics in his part of the country were quiet at present, but he anticipated an awakening before the summer was past at the opening of the fall campaign.

A. R. Macfarland, cashier of the American Exchange bank of Duluth, was noticed in the rounds of the Merchants yesterday. He denied that he was here with a railroad scheme in his mind and devoted talk with the ever-affable R. C. Judson.

Judge Buckham of Faribault was at the Merchants yesterday, hob-nobbing with several of his old acquaintances. He is one of the oldest and most prominent followers of Blackstone in the state, and although he always declares that he is not in politics, he usually keeps an eye on the drift of the political bark. He denied yesterday that he could give any tips on the political situation that would be of benefit to the public.

F. M. Malone, Western agent for the Milwaukee road, and a man who is deeply interested in cattle raising, was at the Merchants yesterday discussing the cattle question in monotonous with his intimate friend, Kohrs. Mr. Malone insisted that he had no news, but said that he had just arrived from the East and was on route West for the purpose of attending the cattlemen's convention at Miles City, "which," he said, with a side long smile, "will be a dandy in every respect."

BEATEN WITH A POKER. Ernest Born Seriously Hurt in a Fight at the Cannery.

About 9:30 last night Ernest Born was brought into the central station badly cut about the head and covered with blood. Drs. Abbott and Baker were sent for and found four serious cuts, of from an inch-and-a-half to two inches in length, on the top and side of his head. The wounds were dressed and the injured man taken to the city hospital. The physicians pronounced the hurts not necessarily dangerous, as the skull had not been fractured, and unless inflammation set in they thought serious results need not be feared. Born is barkeeper at the "cannery," No. 301 Eagle street, and became involved in a quarrel with Charles Niblong. Niblong refused to pay for beer which he had ordered and drank. He became abusive and upon Born ordering him from the house he seized an iron poker and made a murderous assault on the barkeeper. Some time ago Niblong was arrested for the theft of a watch and chain and he attributed his arrest to Born, which is supposed to be the real motive of the attack, as he has been heard to threaten Born. Niblong was arrested and locked up on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Ohio Street Social Club. There was a large attendance at the Ohio Street Social and Literary club at their hall on Ohio and George streets, in West St. Paul last night. A musical program was rendered consisting of Beethoven, instrumental by Miss DeBour, song by Frank McLaughlin, "Only as Far as the Gate," song by William E. Brown, "Reveling," song by P. McLaughlin, Jr., "A Pious's Chorus," a number of other pieces, instrumental and vocal were rendered. Mr. W. B. Ladd delivered an interesting lecture to young men who were present that was full of practical ideas, expressed in an entertaining manner. A vote of thanks was tendered him at its close. The following ladies and gentlemen took part in the musical and literary part of the entertainment:

Misses Somers, McDonnell, Angel, Thomas, Dixon, Mamic and Maggie Jobst, Misses Iton, Smeedon, Shipperly, Kilest, Arlt, Mrs. O'Rourke, Mrs. W. P. Pieper, Mrs. Henry Pieper, Mrs. Prof. Kleist, Mrs. Charles Meyers, and Misses Agnew and Cora. D. D. Donnell, Emmet O'Rourke, Samuel Agnew, Messrs. McLaughlin, Prof. Fales, Dr. Dail-Forg, Prof. Minto, W. E. Brown, W. Pieper, Henry Pieper, Thomas Sullivan, John Tippler, Thomas Somers, Frank Tippler and others.

He Says He Was Wronged. At the city hall yesterday there came a German named Bernhard Wilsenger, who related a story of ill-treatment on the part of his brother William, which confirms the theory that brotherly love is sometimes but a poetical figure. Bernhard came to America six years ago at his brother's solicitation and worked for William on his arrival. He accumulated during that period a goodly amount of money and was invited to invest in two adjoining lots in Stinson's division in the Fourth ward. Bernhard had begun the erection of a house on the corner of 2nd and 4th, as William's solicitation tore it down and rebuilt on the lots on Blair street, which they mutually purchased. The deeds were made in William's name and he had received advanced his savings without a receipt. Now William demands that Bernhard remove the house, he having sold one of the lots and designing to build on the other. Likewise he refuses to make restitution to his too confiding brother. Bernhard was advised to seek redress through the courts, but he has determined to avoid a lawsuit at all hazards.

McFarland on Trial. The trial of Samuel McFarland for the murder of Jack Wade at the negro house of prostitution on Cedar street a few months since, was begun in the district court yesterday. County Attorney J. J. Egan appeared for the state and defendant was represented by Messrs. O'Brien and Lamb. Nearly the whole day was taken in selecting a jury, seventy-six men being called as jurors before the requisite twelve were obtained. Those who tried the case were: E. W. Moyle, William M. Myers, George H. Nesbit, A. V. Nelson, William Newton, L. E. Newport, George Murphy, J. Cavanagh, J. M. Cole, George Montoye, D. C. Curran, George L. Haas, and the jury had been secured Judge Egan opened the case for the prosecution, which occupied the rest of the day, the court adjourning until 10 o'clock this morning, when Mr. Egan closed.

That Plumbing Ordinance. The council committee on plumbing, upwards of thirty plumbers, Henry C. O'Brien, Jones, City Engineer Murray, Building Inspector Johnson and City Engineer Randlett met in the attorney's office yesterday and discussed pro and con the proposed plumbing ordinance. The plumbers objected to the use of extra heavy pipe, which adds 25 per cent. to the cost of putting in, and also to the plan of taking out permits for proposed work and the furnishing of plans therefor. Several gentlemen objected to the pipe generally used, specimens of which showed that in places it was as thin as water. No decision was reached and an adjournment was taken until to-day at 3 o'clock. The committee will be reduced to three representative plumbers, as the number yesterday was so large as to make an early conclusion almost an impossibility.

Canceling a Note. Monday afternoon Christ and Robert Gifford entered the wholesale liquor house of W. Schmitt & Co., at the corner of Seventh and Cedar streets, and asked to see a promissory note which the first mentioned Gifford had given the firm to secure them for liquor sold to them by the firm. The promissory note bookkeeper placed the note in Christ's hands, the latter handing it to his brother. Robert Gifford put the paper in his pocket and walked out, followed by Christ, remarking that he guessed the note belonged to him now. Warrants were procured for their arrest on a charge of larceny. Officer Pottinger brought them in. The note is for $150, Christ being a saloonkeeper and having secured liquor to that amount from the firm. Robert is a butcher, but is not in business. The case will come before Judge Cory this morning.

Evolutionary Materialism. Dr. West delivered the third of his series of lectures on Science and Religion at the Central Presbyterian church last evening. He is on former occasions the house was completely filled, showing a wide and somewhat surprising interest in the topics the doctor has chosen to expound. The speaker reads every word from his manuscript, but nevertheless his delivery is interesting and not the least sonorous in effect. His voice has a clear, nasal ring and his words are pronounced with vigor and rapidity. The lecture last evening was on evolutionary materialism, and consisted largely of such theories, views and quotations from the apostles of evolution as could be ridiculed as absurd from the standpoint of the metaphysical school.

Chauntanooga Make Merry. An informal reception was given by the Summit Avenue Chauntanooga circle at the parlors of the First M. E. church last evening to the other nine circles in the city. The parlors were filled and a most enjoyable time was had. Recitations were given by C. Fairchild and Miss Glover, Mr. Knight rendered two vocal selections and an address was delivered by Mr. James Sedan. The rest of the evening was spent in sociability and over the refreshments that were provided.

GLOBULES. Additional St. Paul news on the fourth and eighth pages.

Dr. A. Z. Weige and Col. W. W. Johnson of Albert Lea were at the capital yesterday.

The graduating exercises at the St. Paul Business college, corner Seventh and Jackson streets, will be held this evening. Addresses will be made by prominent speakers.

William D. Ackney was brought before Commissioner Cardozo yesterday charged with selling liquor to the Indians at Elkport Lake, Crow Wing county and held in $200 bail.

Wiloy Downs, the watchman who clubbed a defenseless prisoner whom he had placed under arrest, yesterday had his police powers rebuked by Mayor Rice and he was fined $25 in the municipal court.

The St. Paul Sash and Door company filed articles of incorporation yesterday. The capital is $15,000 and the incorporators are J. S. Giotto of Minneapolis, P. A. Borgsma and E. B. McGowan of St. Paul, G. M. Payne and J. W. Himebaugh of Oshkosh.

Special Orders No. 10 were issued by the adjutant general Monday, mustering the Hastings thirty-two in number, into the reserve militia. The officers are: M. R. Seaman captain, William B. Heath first lieutenant and Charles D. Hilfery second lieutenant.

John Smith, a West St. Paul business man, and Johnnie McCarthy had some dispute about business transactions which resulted in a warrant being taken for Smith on a charge of the larceny of a set of harness.

When the case was called in the municipal court yesterday the parties announced a compromise and the defendant was discharged.

Mayor Rice yesterday referred to F. R. Delano the communication from Acker post, G. A. R. in reference to careless driving on the part of Chief Black's driver, owing to which Comrade Cummings was injured. The mayor sent the letter to the city commissioners to investigate and make such recommendations as the results would warrant.

"A Parlor Match," by Evans and Hoey will be given twice more in St. Paul, the last being to-night. After some changes the repertoire for Salvini's engagement has been fixed as follows: Tuesday night, "The Actor;" Friday night, "The Outlaw;" Saturday matinee, "Home and Juliet;" Saturday night, "Othello."

The Celebrated Brown Case. Special to the Globe. Des Moines, Ia., March 30.—The Brown investigating committee will probably report to the legislature this evening. The report is being delayed by the illness of Representative Rank, a member of the committee. His testimony taken amounts to about 400 printed pages, giving the evidence of every witness who could be found that was desired by Auditor Brown or Gov. Sherman. The committee's report will review each of the charges of the irregularity, illegality and the want of official integrity, and will give the findings as the testimony shows. Being a joint committee, it will make no recommendations, but leave the house to suggest further proceedings, if deemed necessary. The Sweeney bill, requiring corporations to reinstate, to operate if doing business in this state, passed the house to-day. The bill had already passed the senate.

The Bell Not Alarmed. Boston, March 30.—The annual report of the Bell Telephone company was read at the stockholders' meeting to-day. It declares that the Bell Electric suits are of no importance and that the company's management and directors feel no uneasiness as to the result of the government's suit.

"Fools Rush in Where Angels Fear to Tread." So impetuous youth is often given to folly and indiscretions; and as a result nervous, mental and organic debility follow, memory is impaired, self-confidence is lacking; at night bad dreams occur, premature old age seems setting in, ruin is in the track. In confidence you can and should write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the author of a treatise for the cure of such ailments of patients, and describe your home, and will send you full particulars by mail.
