A Satisfactory Showing Special to the Globe.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The regular financial statements continue to be gratifying. The story told in several previous months of reduced expenditures and increased income is told again in the figures for the month just closed.

April, 1888, shows slightly greater receipts from customs and internal revenue and $5,000,000 reduction in expenses, as compared with April, 1887. Comparing ten months of this with ten months of the last fiscal year, there is seen to be an increase of nearly $8,000,000 in customs duties, an increase of $3,000,000 in internal revenue, while the ordinary expenditure of the government has fallen off $20,000,000.

The interest payments are $3,000,000 less and the reduction in pension payments is a little more than $3,000,000. The surplus of receipts over expenditures in ten months of the fiscal year 1888 was $47,739,355. For ten months of the current fiscal year it is $68,098,880.

For some time after the new administration came in, as owing to the brief period of Mr. McCulloch's second secretaryship, redemptions of the public debt were suspended, because with the manufacture of silver dollars under full headway, and with the certainty that no change in the law could be made for many months, it was deemed necessary by Secretary Manning, as it was by Secretary McCulloch, that the treasury should have an ample reserve of gold ready at all times for emergency.

Such a reserve is evident, was secured a few months ago, for during the last four months $40,000,000 of bonds have been called and the further accumulation of reserves has been suspended. Since Dec. 31 the net reserve has ranged between $71,000,000 and $79,000,000, and it is evidently the policy of the treasury department not to allow the reserve to vary much from these figures.

The reserve now is $77,039,999 by the new method of statement, or $313,387,547 by the old method. When the present administration came into office, the treasury was running down at a rapid rate and the silver dollars were just as much accumulating in the vaults.

The coinage of silver could not possibly be stopped till Congress met, and at that time which gold was pouring out of the treasury a year ago, the gold supply would not hold out till the end of the calendar year. The secretary of the treasury had power to get gold into the treasury, if he saw fit to exercise it, and he very early showed, as he has steadily continued to show, a determination to avert the transition from a gold to a silver basis as long as it was possible.

This expression of policy on his part was ample enough to check the drain of gold, for if he was willing to lock up such silver as he could not otherwise circulate, rather than to compel any one to take silver against his will, this would avert the transition from gold to silver for a long time, and there was therefore no especial reason for getting gold out of the treasury and hoarding it.

The outflow of gold was checked early last fall, and later in the season the gold reserve began to grow. It is just now growing faster than the silver reserve has for the last four months the gold reserve has increased $7,878,494, and the silver reserve $11,416,118, but in the past two months the gold reserve has grown by $11,701,373 and the silver reserve only $1,735,825.

The Oswald Trial.

DEVIL'S LAKE, May 1.—The last witness for the prosecution was on the stand to-night when the Oswald case was adjourned. The day was spent in taking the testimony of the men who made the post-mortem. The physicians did not find the ball in the body. Two of them testified that McWeeny died from a gunshot wound. The other said he didn't know. This witness will be put on the stand by the defense. Erwin will attempt to show that the hole in the heart was made by a probe. The defense seems not so hopeful as yesterday. Some sensational doings are promised for Monday.

The grand jury adjourned to-day. It found a large number of indictments. All the local court cases were indicted, also Arthur McGeary for assault with a dangerous weapon, and J. H. McCune, late of Alexandria, Minn., for obtaining money under false pretenses. There were no indictments against the men of the defunct bank at Devil's Lake. The only thing that prevented their indictment was the serious illness of the cashier, who is at the point of death. The grand jury left on the next grand jury can get on to the Oswald case will probably last until Wednesday next.

GOES OUT WITH A BAND. Special to the Globe. BOZEMAN, May 1.—The news of Pollard's rejection cast a gloom over the community, where he has become very popular. He was to go to Madison county to-morrow to hold court. That court has subpoenaed jurymen and witnesses, at a loss of several thousand dollars. Pollard goes East Monday. The trial will be conducted by the train by a profection headed by a lady.

REGRETTED AT MILES CITY. Special to the Globe. MILES CITY, Mont., May 1.—Much dissatisfaction is expressed in this city and elsewhere in the First district in the rejection of Judge Pollard by the senate as judge of this district. During the time he held court in this city he disposed of 137 cases. The committee on the docket, and at the time of the civil court just closed in Bozeman he cleared the docket of 155 cases.

It is the unanimous verdict of both Republicans and Democrats that he is the best judge Montana has ever had. SALOONKEEPERS ON STRIKE. Special to the Globe. CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., May 1.—The saloons, all but three, struck this morning and refused to take out licenses, although fifty applications had been made and fifty bonds filed. The strike is over the license fee, $350, the constitutional provision will be tried in the courts. If the balance of the saloon men take out licenses, it will be secured legal, they will fight the end.

EAU CLAIRE FOLLOWS SUIT. Special to the Globe. EAU CLAIRE, Wis., May 1.—Saloons here put up their shutters to-day and failed to renew licenses, which expired to-day. They alleged hard times, but a profit increase in license fee as the cause of ceasing. The license the past year has been $200, an increase of $50 over the previous year. Most of the saloons are in the outskirts of the city, but several are on the east, west and north sides of business centers. It is considered probable that none of the closed saloons will renew.

AID FOR THE CYCLONE SUFFERERS. Special to the Globe. SAUK RAPIDS, Wis., May 1.—The state relief committee met last evening at the hotel and received the report and approved the action of the local relief committee, and then adjourned to meet this morning at this place. The first business done was the informal discussion of the location of the second year of the relief fund. The committee reports that the aid so far subscribed to the relief fund does not exceed 20 per cent. of the losses, and unless more aid comes in only the most limited relief can be afforded by building for their shelter. They approved the relief work of the local committee of Sauk Rapids and directed that houses not to exceed $500 in value be built for Mrs. St. Cyr and for Mr. Pappenfuss, and that material to the amount of $200 be furnished to A. Wetzel and H. Beaupre. Several applications for aid were dismissed as not coming under the head of needy and worthy.

STILLWATER BUILDING ASSOCIATION. Special to the Globe. STILLWATER, May 1.—The annual meeting of the Stillwater Building association was held at Music hall last night. The attendance was very large. An auditing committee was appointed for the coming year, consisting of T. E. Fellows, E. A. Phinney and G. M. Prince. The following board of directors was elected: L. Clark, L. Sargent, F. M. Prince, F. H. Ewing, A. C. Hosper, Theodore Jassor, A. Fridberg, J. A. Deramus, J. C. Richards, H. J. Claiborn, W. T. Perrie, E. J. Hugo, Stephen, J. C. Henning and W. K. Wurdeman. The amendment to change by-laws from the old plan to the new was carried by a vote of ninety-seven to two.

ABERDEEN'S ELECTRICS. Special to the Globe. ABERDEEN, May 1.—G. A. Harer, a practical electrician of Chicago, has been for the past two weeks arranging the dynamo and lights and to-night he opened the Aberdeen electric works, a procession consisting of a band, the fire department, citizens' plug had brigade of forty members, and speeches. The plant consists of twenty-five lights. Artesian water power will be used. Aberdeen, Sioux Falls and Fargo are the only cities in Dakota lit by electric light.

Western Michigan and Wisconsin, fair weather, followed by local rains; winds generally northerly. Minnesota and Iowa, light local rains, variable winds. Kansas and Nebraska, light rains followed by fair, slightly cooler weather, except in the western portion of Nebraska; stationary temperature.

No Outbreak Feared. MILES CITY, Mont., May 2.—Ernest Mason has just arrived overland from Canadian Northwest territory, where he has been since the Indian rebellion. He was with the Dominion government there, and says there is no fear of another outbreak. The Indians, he says, are afraid now of the government and are very quiet. The Blackfeet are on the prairie, 120 miles from the mountains, and would not be in position to do any fighting. The Crees are willing to take what the government offers them. They are now scattered and cannot get together. Blood Indians at Macleod are the ones the government is afraid of, but few of them could not last long or do much damage.

The Little Boy and the Germans. TROY TIMES. No little boy can't go to Germans yet. You know too much. When you get a little older you won't "size up" a girl by the muscles on her arms, or ask her if she knows who discovered laughing gas, or tell her all about the best way to preserve white meat. When you are old enough to go to Germans you will be wise enough not to know anything. You will rise to the fact that a girl is not to be judged by her muscle, that she may indulge in laughing gas, but doesn't care who discovered it, that she hates white mice, that, in short, she doesn't want to know anything and doesn't want you to be wiser. No, my boy, when you are old enough to dance the cotillon it will be necessary to think with your toes and talk with your eyes. If you really know anything in those days, for heaven's sake conceal it. A man who knows anything of Plato or remembers who discovered the Pacific ocean should shun the mazes of fashion's dance. Little boy, if you want to be a great man in the cotillon, best to be a cork. Then you will "bob up" serenely, and the girls will say: "Isn't Mr. Empty-head just too sweet for any use?" And you will be "too sweet for any use," and the sweeter you grow the less useful you will become. Now, little boy, bear these words in mind, and we shall expect to see you in a few years a great success socially. To attain your ambition, however, you must begin now to forget all you ever learned. Vale, little boy, and good luck to you.
