REPUBLICANS CONSULTING.

The State Committee to Meet To-Day--Capt. O'Brien's Views.

The Republican state central committee will meet at the Merchants hotel, in St. Paul, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. In addition to arranging the time and place for holding the convention, the matter of an early or late meeting will come up for discussion. It being understood the committee is divided upon that question, it is thought the prohibitory question will be touched upon, and a move made to sit down upon that element so prone to steal into the Republican household in Western states, of late years. A Globe representative called last night upon Hon. H. A. Castle, chairman of the central committee, to learn his views of the early or late meeting, and as to what matters would probably be brought up. In reply to the question as to how he felt as to the time, Mr. Castle replied:

"Personally, I favor a late convention, but I think there are some members who desire an early meeting and a long and thorough campaign. I have seen but few of the members in the past month, but I understand some of the candidates desire an early convention, feeling that, if nominated, they would feel better prepared and better established to go into the campaign early and indulge in a long and hard fight. The matter, however, will be thoroughly discussed to-morrow and a time and place settled upon."

"What other matters will probably be brought up for action by the convention?" asked the reporter. "I know of nothing particular," was the reply. "If we decide upon a late convention the details will be arranged, doubtless, at a future meeting of the committee. But if we conclude to call the convention early, all details will be arranged to-morrow. I understand the candidates who desire an early meeting will be well represented in the committee meeting and that an effort will be made to carry out their wishes."

In reference to the prohibitory demerit of Republican majorities, Mr. Castle stated that an effort would be made this year to keep it out of politics entirely, as far as that party is concerned. The Republicans of Minnesota do not desire to run against such a stumbling block as the Iowa Republicans did when they placed the demerit prohibitory amendment on the statute books of that state, and at the same time drove 20,000 German voters from their ranks, and reduced their majority in that state from 80,000 to 40,000. In Iowa, they lost 20,000 for Blaine, and about 15,000 on the state ticket.

NOT TIME YET.

"It is altogether too early to take up for the committee," remarked Capt. J. D. Wood to a Globe reporter yesterday afternoon. "It will be hot all around when once the pot begins to boil, but it isn't time to start the fires yet. I should say wait a month and a half or two months before saying anything, and then let the fun begin."

A NEW BUILDERS' EXCHANGE.

Completed Organization and Election of Officers Yesterday.

A number of the members and persons interested in the Building Mechanics and Traders' exchange, which was partially organized on the 8th inst., assembled yesterday afternoon at the large room in the basement of the block, corner Third and St. Peter streets. The object of the meeting was to complete the organization and place it upon a permanent footing, the intention of the projectors being to open permanent headquarters and secure in its membership mechanics in the various lines of building. The meeting yesterday was presided over by J. C. Hanley, and F. Forsdahl acted as secretary. The constitution of the union was read by Mr. A. Wanner. The constitution states, as the principal object of the organization, that it will aim to accomplish the promotion of the interests of the building trade; the gradual elevation of the grades of workmanship and manufactured products; the diffusion within the exchange of the latest news of interest to the trade; the peaceful adjustment of differences dividing members, by way of arbitration. It also declares that the proper officers shall procure all the available news relating to the building profession and other improvements, and cause the same to be posted in the exchange hall for the benefit of members. The exchange hall will be kept open daily except Sunday and holidays, and all modern improvements for comfort and convenience of members. The government of the exchange will be vested in a board of directors, consisting of a president, three vice presidents, a treasurer and secretary. Any resident of St. Paul, engaged in one of the professions in the building trade, and of good repute, will be eligible to membership. The meeting then proceeded to receive the initiation fees of members who had not yet paid in, and about fifteen put their names on the list, making a membership on the start of eighty. The election of officers then took place, with the following result: President, A. Wanner; first vice president, Jno. C. Hanley; second vice, R. D. Czekiwski; and third vice, Isaac Morsette; treasurer, Neis J. Ness.

Mr. Wanner reported that he had canvassed the city for painters and plumbers, to secure their membership in the exchange, and stated that a number of them had signified their willingness to become members. The report was received and the committee continued. Mr. Morsette, of the Plasterers' association, reported on the progress of the yet. Committee on soliciting stonecutters was given further time, as was also the committee to consult with carpenters. The meeting then adjourned, to convene again at the hall at 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon next. Monday the hall will be formally opened for the benefit of members, the exhibition of specimens of the work of the various crafts or manufacturers. Mr. F. W. Barrett, of the Northwestern permanent exhibit of building material and improvements at Minneapolis, was in attendance yesterday, being in the city on business for his exhibit.

WHO IS THE FORGER?

Murphy Not Yet Positively Identified--Minor Criminal Cases.

In the municipal court yesterday the case against John J. Murphy, accused of wholesale forgery by passing checks signed by D. D. Doyle, whose name was forged, upon several business men in the city, was continued until to-day, in order to allow interested parties time to procure evidence. There seems still to be some doubt as to whether or not the victim of the forgery will be able to positively identify Murphy as the giver of the checks. An employe in Moore's shop, where a check for $300.00 was passed, feels positive that Murphy is the right man. Two of the victims, however, are uncertain about it. They say the fellow's face was black and covered with dirt when he called, and they are unable to say positively as to his identity. Two business men of Minneapolis visited the city yesterday, accompanied by Lieut. Hill, who stated they had been swindled in the same manner. They visited the county jail and looked Murphy over, but could not identify him positively. It is thought by the police that there is an organized gang of foraging sharpers, who are working both cities, and who pose as laboring men only to avoid suspicion. The man and meat purchased by the sharper of Fred J. Hank were thrown away and recovered by the latter, showing that the fellow's only object was to purchase something in order to get his check cashed.

In court yesterday Thomas Hozney was fined $10 for disorderly conduct, as was Edward McCoy. Conrad Hemman and John Kelley were sent to the workhouse for ninety days for disorderly conduct. Joseph Frohntzoper, accused of larceny, was discharged. The case against C. D. Gerellian, violation of Ordinance 618, was argued and submitted. Many alleged offenders had their cases continued.

WITH THE TOURISTS.

The Strike and State Politics Under Discussion.

N. P. Clarke, St. Cloud, was in the city yesterday. He said that the impression was quite general in the Fifth congressional district that Hon. Knute Nelson, the present member, would not only be a candidate for re-nomination but would be re-nominated and re-elected. This impression, he said, was so general that it had become a many would-be candidates from announcing themselves. He was of the opinion that even if Nelson did not get the nomination, many would-be candidates as there were several Republicans in the district who would suffer themselves to serve the people at Washington.

Mr. Clark said that he thought the Northwest would suffer, and in fact are suffering at the present time, from the effects of the labor troubles. The outlook at the beginning of the season was most promising, and there was every indication that the Northwest would experience a most prosperous season. The labor troubles had changed things, and capital, being most conservative, had decided not to invest in buildings and enterprises of like character when labor was most intimately associated with the successful carrying out of the same. He said that if the demand for eight hours' labor was generally agreed to that it would soon be next to an impossibility to get men out for the farms, where labor for twelve and fourteen hours a day is required, and then not the most satisfactory results are obtained.

D. Grant, an extensive railroad contractor of Faribault, has constructed many miles of the Milwaukee and the Canadian Pacific roads, remarked at the Merchants, that he did not think the labor troubles would have any effect on the railroad connection of the present season. The agitation, he said, might have an effect on the building in the Northwest, but he was not so sure that it would have no effect on the construction of railroads where any laborer could be taught to do the work. If a railroad line was decided on or deemed necessary, it would be pushed right through without any thoughts of the recent and pending strikes.

F. G. Barrows, Fergus Falls, said that there was little or no talk about congressman in the Fifth district, as it was well understood that Knute Nelson would be his own successor. He said that M. E. Clapp of Fergus Falls was an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination of attorney general, and his name would come before the convention. The would-be nominee, he said, had resided in Fergus Falls for five years, and had served as city attorney.

J. P. Williams, Fergus Falls, was an arrival. He is a candidate for associate judge of the Seventh judicial district, and would like to displace L. B. Barber, the present incumbent of that position, who was appointed by Gov. Hubbard. He is a Republican and a lawyer in Fergus Falls, and would consent to serve the people at a certain salary per year by interpreting laws. An avowed candidate he is for the place and is making somewhat of a canvass, or at least is having his party associates know that he is out for the place.

THE MISSING MARY.

The Mother Battering on Insanity Her Exile.

The Globe yesterday morning gave the father's story of the sudden and mysterious disappearance of Mary Tooker, whose parents reside on Alabama street. The father again called on the police yesterday and last night to urge them to find the girl if possible. He told a painful tale of the effect the affair has had upon the girl's mother. He states that she is losing her mind and he fears will soon be insane if the daughter is not found. Her fate made known. The distracted mother can neither eat nor sleep, but is constantly bewailing her daughter's absence and calling in heartrending tones: "Come home, oh, Mary, come home." She insists that the girl has been lured into some den of infamy, where she is being concealed and compelled to remain. The police will probably make a thorough search for her in all the known haunts of the city to-day or to-night.

THE PLUMBERS' STRIKE.

The Journeymen Plumbers Present Their Side of the Case.

The status of the plumbers' strike remains the same. The journeymen plumbers are sticking bravely for their demands, which they consider just and conservative. They assert that the statements of the master plumbers to the effect that their demands include the regulation of the number and work of apprentices, helpers and gasfitters are wholly false, and intended as a play for public sympathy. These demands are a part of the issue in Minneapolis, but not in St. Paul. Here all that is asked is nine hours' work at $3.50 a day and when this is conceded work will be resumed. In support of this assertion they present the following, which was addressed to M. J. Ward under date of April 5, and a committee from the union said to a Globe reporter that that was all the request that had been made since that date: The journeymen plumbers of St. Paul have decided that on and after the first day of May, 1886, nine hours shall constitute a day's work for five days and eight hours on Saturday, with a standard rate of wages at $3.50 per day. Hoping you will give the matter due consideration, we remain yours truly, JOURNEYMEN PLUMBERS' ASSOCIATION.

Where Are Her Brothers?

Mrs. Catherine Cornell, who was taken to the city hospital from a Manitoba passenger train, is considered by the city physician to be in a rather precarious condition. She is suffering from a complication of troubles and is in a near confinement. Her brothers, Lynch by name, has not yet been found. She says one of them is, or has been, working in a foundry in St. Paul. Minneapolis. If any one knows of their whereabouts it would be an act of charity to inform them of their sister's whereabouts and condition.

Signed His Landlady's Name.

A fine looking and neatly dressed young man giving the name of C. Schroeder was arrested by Officer McBride last evening upon the complaint of the son of Mr. Lippy, who charges him with forgery. It is claimed that young Schroeder signed the name of Mr. Lippy, with whom he has been boarding, to an order for a pair of shoes, to the amount of $3.00, and passed the same. The accused insists that he was given the privilege to use his landlady's name, and that he did it with her consent.

Failed to Connect.

Last evening, between 5 and 6 o'clock, a young boy named Tom O'Malley, aged 12 years, who lives on Commercial, near Third street, tried to jump from a moving Northern Pacific passenger train. He was thrown violently to the ground and received a compound fracture of the right arm, and a severe scalp wound. His injuries were dressed by City Physician Ancker.

Light Damages.

No other matters were disposed of. The grand jury is still at work, but returned no indictments yesterday.

Full Over the Bluff.

Yesterday afternoon at about 4 o'clock a nine-year-old son of P. Richard P. Peeters, while at play on Leech street, fell over the bluff, a distance of fully twenty-five feet. Dr. Faulkner, who attended the lad, pronounced him in a critical condition, though his injuries were not necessarily fatal.

UNIVERSITY APPROVED.

RICHMOND, Ind., May 11.—In the circuit court to-day Judge Constock sentenced Nathaniel S. Bates, the Hagerstown wife murderer, to be hanged on Thursday, August next at 12 m. Bates received his sentence with the same indifference that has characterized the execution of the whole of the trial. He will be the first execution in Wayne county for over fifty years, and as no clemency has yet been shown to the perpetrators of the Wyanimurder, committed in the same town and within two weeks after Bates killed his wife, the sentence meets with universal approbation.

Shot His Wife by Accident.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Another did-not-know-it-was-loaded fatality occurred at 5 p. m. to-day in the rear of No. 502 South Halsted street, the victim being Mrs. Charles Raupp, the wife of a German brewer. Raupp had been at work in Metzger's saloon in front of the above number, and returned to his home with a revolver, which he said he had found in the saloon. He was showing the weapon to his wife, and thinking it empty, pulled the trigger. The pistol was discharged and the bullet, one of Se-curity, entered Mrs. Raupp's abdomen. A doctor pronounced the wound fatal. Raupp was locked in the police station, and waited to await the action of a coroner's jury.

Hydrophobia in Milk.

LITTLE ROCK, May 11.—A dog belonging to Mr. A. J. Hall, a farmer living near Cabot, Ark., was shot and next week among the animals which it wounded was a milk cow. The cow showed no signs of being affected by the wound, and it was thought that hydrophobia would not result. Yesterday, however, the animal began showing the symptoms of the dreaded disease, and at the same time the farmer's two little children, who had been nourished with the cow's milk, exhibited similar symptoms and are in a critical condition.

Died from Fright.

FINDLAY, O., May 11.—A singular death was to-day reported from Blanchard township, this county. Mischievous boys, who have been annoying the family of George Wheeler, last evening threw stones through the window as they were passing. Wheeler and his wife, not knowing what caused the attack, were greatly frightened, and during the fright the latter, aged 65, died of great excitement, suddenly called her husband, stating that she was partially paralyzed, and suddenly died.

Franks of an Electric Storm.

SHELBYVILLE, Ill., May 11.—This section was visited last night by one of the severest electric storms experienced for years. The storm lasted nearly three hours. The lightning was accompanied with torrents of rain, and this morning the fields are flooded. Several buildings and other objects were struck by the electric current.

Valuable Horses Burned.

STANTON, Neb., May 11.—The barn on Stanton's breeding farm, Coy's ranch, was burned to-day. Thirty-eight head of breeding mares, valued at $8,000, and one stallion valued at $2,100 perished. Farm implements and harness were also burned. The loss is placed at $20,000. Marshall Field of Chicago was the principal owner.

The Canton Advocate learns from Hon. M. H. Day that his present mission to the territory is to stir up feeling to be felt at Washington, especially in favor of the Hill bill, which he insists the people are not backing as they should. He would have a relay of letters sent to the Hill bill, viz: central and north Dakota in furtherance of the movement.

Dr. Henry Hutchinson.

Has removed his office from 110 West Third street to Manheim block.

U. S. Clothing Co., Corner Seventh and Jackson streets, opened their store for business to-day. The interior is tastefully and handsomely decorated and the large plate windows on Seventh street afford splendid light for inspecting their goods. These gentlemen are extensive manufacturers of tailor made clothing in Chicago, and in opening this store here they propose to give buyers in St. Paul full value in stylish made and durable clothing.

A close inspection of their stock will convince any one that they are selling excellent goods at very low prices. They carry a full line of imported suitings and have a fine stock of men's furnishing goods that they will sell very close. An invitation is extended to every one in St. Paul to at least call and inspect their clothing and business methods.
