

SAINT PAUL MATTERS.

Some Interesting Facts Gleaned From the City Directory, Just Now Being Distributed.

The First Day's Session of the Minnesota Dental Association—Papers and Practical Work.

Brewers and Malsters of the Northwest Organize an Association—Hotel Gossip.

Arrival of Mr. Phelps—Investigating Mr. Starkey—Roundup of Local News.

A BOOK REVIEWED. A Glance Through the New City Directory and the Names.

The new city directory is being distributed and a very neat volume it is, reflecting great credit on the publishers and those who were directly concerned with its compilation. It is larger than the directory of '85 by 153 pages, and the typographical features are greatly improved. The publishers congratulate themselves that it is the nearest directory published in the United States.

In looking through the pages, one can draw an idea of the amount of labor and careful calculation that is necessary in preparing a work of this kind, to which the public look 365 days in a year, for information that is quickly received and which is of the most material value. The Johnson family has the largest number of children, there being six different people of that name mentioned, and among these are several "Andys," but it is not noticed that any of them get their living by colting their legs under their bodies at minstrel shows.

Close on the heels of the Johnsons come the Andersons, fling along 604 strong, which gives them second place, but with no chance to win the pennant. In the column of Andersons there appear seven Marys, but none of them prance around on a twenty-four-foot stage or die three nights in a week for a living. They are all real live, ambitious Marys, with no desire to stand under a box or to be carried with Wausau linen before a parquet of wild-eyed supernumeraries, and low in a baritone voice, "Oh, Pygmalion, Pygmalion, why did you not cut me out with an ax?" for $1,500 per lot.

PASSING ALONG THE COLUMNS come the Olesons, who stand up in line 368 in number, which is more remarkable when it is known that the name of the sister of each of these persons was Ole. It is a fact not generally known that when a child is born in a Swedish family, his or her family name is made up by adding the syllable, common, son, to the father's first name. For illustration: If a son is born to John Egstrom, that child's name becomes Johnson or if the sister's name happens to be Ole his offspring are called Oleson. In this account there appears after the lapse of two generations find it very difficult to trace their genealogy.

Next to the Olesons, the Smith family hold up surrounded by an atmosphere of inevitableness with a force of 307, which gives the interior of the book an air of dignity and a savor of antiquity. There are John Smiths in abundance, but none of them are Indian fighters or make a specialty of laying their heads on chopping blocks to permit large, red Indians to pound their brains out with a base-ball bat, just for the sake of seeing, some star-eyed maid of the forest put the palms of her hands together and fall on one knee, look mad at the north star and yell at her father in attenuated tones, "Father, dear father, spare him; he's the only Smith on the reservation and I wouldn't know where to get another."

As the procession marches by in close order, next to the Smiths come 113 Sullivans, and among them are about twenty-five John L.'s, but the list of their offsprings there does not appear a single John L. who wins his bread by pushing his fists into his fellow beings, so far that they have to be cut out. They are all respectable, honest, hard working Sullivan who attend to their business, and in the opinion of the gentleman in Boston by the same name, whose only ambition is to sink himself up to high water mark in Peiper Heald and whisky, are big men.

There are ninety-eight Joneses with a name in the city, unknown to the publishers of the directory, which is a reasonable excuse for not rounding him up with the rest of the party.

STATE DENTISTS.

First Sessions of the Annual Convention—Interesting Features.

Two sessions of the State Dental Association were held yesterday at the capitol with about thirty-five of the profession in attendance. They met in the main room of the state house, and, in addition to the papers and discussions, had some of the engineers of their profession there and started a series of experiments in their particularly heart rendering, but rather necessary lecture. In opening the morning session an address of welcome was made by Dr. A. J. Stone, in which he took occasion to congratulate the gathering on the standing which the dental profession had reached in the United States, and by way of illustration said that in Europe medical practitioners were not acknowledged to be the peers of the members of the profession in this country, whereas dentists of the United States were regarded as rather the leaders than the followers. He spoke of the work it is possible for dentists to do, not only in the way of repairing and restoring the human teeth, but in successfully helping out the physician in his treatment of disease, and in this connection spoke at some length on the germ theory.

The committee on publication submitted a report in which Chambers & Co. of St. Louis were scored somewhat for having secured the proceedings of the convention two years ago and then having failed to produce any published matter. A committee with power to act in the premises, was appointed.

Prof. G. V. Black of Jacksonville, Ill., is in attendance and is conducting a series of investigations that are of interest to those outside the profession. Dr. Black has made an especial study of the germ theory and the dealing of micro organisms. He has with him apparatus for developing from a bit of fungus taken from a tooth a considerable plant, by means of a somewhat complicated process, and yesterday this work was begun.

Immediately on coming together after the recess, Prof. G. V. Black explained the use of a stock of apparatus which he had set up in the room, in dealing with micro organisms. After half an hour of this explanation President Williams delivered his annual address. He expressed his pleasure at being present with the body, and congratulated himself on friendly relations that existed between himself and the members of the state association. He expressed the belief that these meetings were especially valuable in lifting those who attended out of the narrow groove into which they were liable to fall in their home practice. He urged on the profession a more hearty observance of the code of ethics, which he said was more largely subscribed to than elsewhere. Some excellent men, skilled in the profession, will not come into the association on account of the code. This is not so much an indication that they prefer to be free business, as that they want to go to protect themselves from the bushwhacking methods of rivals. The principles of the code were discussed at some length. The speaker dwelt on the necessity of arousing an interest in the meetings, and said he wanted to take every opportunity for complaining the whole association, this seeming state of affairs arising from the fact that it is chiefly here that credit can be obtained who will consent to do the work required by the association.

The doctor regretted that Minnesota had furnished an almost isolated case of disobedience to laws, made with a view to driving from the profession quacks and empirics. Dr. C. M. Bailey of Minneapolis read an essay on "Dental Medicine," which was discussed by several of the dentists, Dr. Black, by request, giving a short talk on the same subject. After several names had been recommended for membership, and some routine business, the meeting adjourned. Three sessions will be held today, in representatives' hall.

BREWERS AND MALSTERS.

An Association Organized by Northwestern Beer Makers.

The brewers of the Northwest met yesterday in Grote's Tivoli in answer to a published call. There were delegates present from the following cities: New Ulm, St. Peter, Winona, Mantorville, Willmar, Crockett, Reed's Landing, St. Cloud, Red Wing, Hastings and Fargo.

Hon. E. St. Julian Cox and a committee from the Columbia society of St. Paul appeared before the meeting and made an eloquent address, asking for co-operation on the part of the brewers with the objects of the Columbia society, which he explained at length. The following officers were elected as the first of the association:

President—Paul Hauser, Sr. of St. Paul. Vice-Presidents—First, William Hauser of St. Paul; second, John Hamenstein of New Ulm; third, William Gilger of Willmar. Financial Secretary—Gustave Heinrich of Minneapolis. Corresponding Secretary—Alex Johnston of St. Paul.

Treasurer—Anthony Xorg Jr. of St. Paul. Executive Committee—John Orth Jr. of Charles Lake, F. D. Noerenburg, Minneapolis; Fred Emmert, St. Paul; Joseph Wolf Stillwater; Percy Anneck, Duluth; Fred Busch, Hastings; Jacob Christ, Red Wing.

The chair appointed the following committee of five to draft a constitution and by-laws: John Orth, Jr., Minneapolis; John Hamenstein, New Ulm; William Cox, St. Paul; William Hamm, St. Paul; Otto Schell, New Ulm.

On motion of Mr. Gilger of Willmar the name of the association was decided upon as the Northwestern Brewers and Malsters' association. William Hamm, Fred Emmert and M. Funk were appointed a committee to confer with the Columbia society of St. Paul with a view of acting in harmony. After adopting a motion that the next meeting should be held in Minneapolis at the call of the president, the meeting adjourned.

HITTING THE WRONG MAN.

A Crippled Newsdealer Defends His Place and Shoots a Passer-By.

Charles Pelwick, a cripple from paralysis keeps a cigar and news stand near the corner of Fourth and Broadway, assisted by a young lady clerk. Yesterday evening a man came along the store and tried to take the clerk and two other girls, who were near the door. They resisted the flirtation whereupon the man began to use bad words and generate a row. The men left and soon returned, whereupon the man who was in the store was half drunk, kicked up a row with Pelwick who was in his chair near his show case and who tried to pacify him and avoid trouble. The man then drew a revolver and fired at Pelwick and his clerk, breaking the show-case and demoralizing things generally. Pelwick drew a revolver and fired at the man, who ran away, and as he passed the open window Pelwick fired again, the bullet slightly wounding Andrew Goldsmith, who was passing in the leg.

The man got away, but Pelwick was arrested by Officer Sullivan on complaint of Goldsmith and charged with an assault with a dangerous weapon. THE FUNERAL POSTPONED. The obsequies of Misses Bend and McKey will occur to-morrow. The funeral of Misses Bend and McKey has been postponed until Friday afternoon, on account of the absence of members of the McKey family. As before announced, the funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Gilbert at Christ church. At the meeting of the class of 187 of the high school yesterday, resolutions were adopted expressing sorrow and sympathy at the death of Miss Edith Bend, who was a member of the class, testifying to her virtues and attractive character, and declaring the intention of the class to attend the funeral in a body.

MR. STARKEY INVESTIGATED.

Evidence For and Against an Official "Being Influenced."

At the meeting of the board of public works last night the assessments for the city sewer pipe were completed, and the secretary was ordered to give notice of confirmation. The rest of the session was devoted to an investigation of the charges of the proprietors of the St. Paul Cement Pipe works against A. R. Starkey, first assistant engineer. The sewer pipe company have been kicking for a good while against the alleged course of Mr. Starkey in using his official position in the interests of the manufacturers of a rival sewer pipe, and have charged that undue influences had got their work in on him, at their expense. They preferred charges against him, and an investigation was set for last evening. Two kinds of sewer pipe are used in the construction of the sewers of the city—cement pipe, supplied by the St. Paul firm, and vitrified pipe, manufactured elsewhere. According to the governing ordinance contractors may use either of their own option, and it was in governing this option that Mr. Starkey was alleged to have gone wrong. Henry Johns conducted the examination in the interests of the complainants and City Attorney Murray for the defendants. A sewer contractor who has been putting in a sewer on Bradley street and who was using the cement pipe, testified that a few weeks ago Starkey had advised him to get a guarantee from the manufacturer if he needed the cement pipe as that pipe had failed in a number of cases and he would be held responsible if a failure occurred in his contract. A short time after he received a letter from Starkey advising the same thing. This note, Mr. Rindlett testified later, was written by his aide and this action was alleged by the company to be prejudicial to their interests, and in support of their charges.

THEIR CHARGES.

William Jones of the Cement company testified that a number of contractors had told him that there were influences at the city hall working against his pipe. When he had a number of pipes, among them the following: On Williams street, 60 feet collapsed; near Fourth and Rosabel, cracked over 200 feet; cracked between Sixth and Seventh, 30 feet cracked a month after put in. His testimony was quite prejudicial to the cement pipe and he said that unless it was properly tested as to its manufacture, and properly seasoned, it was largely an experiment to put it in. The only instance he knew of the cement pipe failing was on Bradley street, and that was owing to the use of condemned pipe. More vitrified pipe was condemned than the other, and that was due to a breakage in transportation. The theory seemed to be upmost in the testimony and discussion that cement pipe if properly manufactured, tested and laid was equal to or superior to the vitrified pipe. The case was taken under advisement by the board.

BIRDS OF PASSAGE.

People Who are Sojourning at the Local Hotels.

Henry Ottner, Austria, was an arrival at the hotel. He comes as a member of the lower branch of the state legislature, and is a Republican of the most pronounced type. He was associated with ex-Gov. Gilman in the proposed Mankato railroad, and is naturally very friendly to the latter and his race for the governorship. It is his opinion that Gilman will carry several of the counties in the northern portion of the state, and that Gibbs will not have a solid majority. While not pretending to be posted on the congressional contest in the First district, he is nevertheless very friendly to the R-publican nomination, he said that White was not out of the race. He gave it out that Lovely had excited the bitter opposition of the other two candidates, and as a result of many combinations was in a better position than the other two and against Lovely. This fact, he thought, would work to the disadvantage of Lovely, and might result in his defeat even though he succeeded in going into the convention with a larger following than that of either of the other two candidates.

REPRESENTATIVES.

R. L. Frazee, Frazee City, came in yesterday. He is one of the time-tried and campaign-veteran Democrats of the Fifth congressional district and has long been a champion of the district into a Democratic stronghold. He said that there never was a better show of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would elect a Democrat in that district, but at the present time, as there was a great deal of opposition, quiet and expressed, than that of the place. The feeling that the Scandinavians were running things to suit themselves, he said, was entertained by all the Americans and representatives of other nationalities throughout the district, and was especially bitter in Duluth. It was his opinion that the Democrats would