

Daily Globe

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR. LEWIS BAKER. ST. PAUL, SUNDAY, JULY 25, 1892. ST. PAUL GLOBE SUBSCRIPTION RATES. DAILY (NOT INCLUDING SUNDAY). Daily, in advance, $3 00; 3 mos., in advance, $8 00; 6 mos., in advance, $15 00; 1 year, in advance, $28 00. One month, 70c.

THE ST. PAUL GLOBE Was a Larger Circulation than that of Any Other Newspaper Printed in the City of St. Paul. It is Steadily and Rapidly Increasing, Keeping Pace with the Growth of the Great City of which the GLOBE is Admittedly the Journalistic Representative.

It is the Best Advertising Medium for Those who Desire to Reach all Classes of Newspaper Readers in the Great Northwest, and Especially in Minnesota and Dakota.

THE MINNEAPOLIS EXPOSITION. The directors of the Minneapolis Industrial exposition announce that the opening will take place on the 23d of August, and that without fail. That is the way to talk. The Exposition is a strong proof of the energy of the people of our sister city, and we congratulate them upon the marvelous enterprise they have displayed in this matter.

CABLE LINES. The city of Brooklyn is like the city of St. Paul in one respect. Just at this time it is in the throes of a rapid transit agitation. But unlike St. Paul it is not taking kindly to the cable system.

NATIONAL AUCTION MART. The present session of the United States senate is remarkable for the personal character of its discussions. The theory is that the senate is the embodiment of our national dignity.

BEER AND MILK. In the current number of the Medical Journal is a paper written by Dr. BARTLEY of Brooklyn relative to the adulteration of food, in which are thrown out some hints regarding the use of beer and milk in hot weather, which may be of service to those who are in the habit of using these liquids.

It may be wondered what hot weather has to do with the adulteration of beer. Dr. BARTLEY explains that the very great demand for beer in the summer is one of the strongest reasons for partaking sparingly.

TRIAL OF THE ANARCHISTS. There has never been a trial in which more general interest outside of the locality where the crime was committed was manifested than in the trial of the anarchists in Chicago. The reason for this widespread interest is plain enough.

Has a Good Thing Now. A number of papers in this state have mentioned the name of Judge J. L. MacDonald of Shakopee as the Democratic candidate for congress from the Third district.

IN DESPERATE STRAITS. Faribault Democrat. B. B. Herbers officed Wing has concluded to be the Republican nominee for congress from this district.

an auction mart. It has come to be an exchange where each senator seems to think that he is entitled to as much in dollars and cents for his influence or for his services. The fact that the New York Tribune went into this senatorial mart and bought, as it is alleged, a copy of the secret session business for purely speculative purposes.

THE DILKE SCANDAL. There is one good thing about the DILKE scandal. It is over. The case is out of court and Sir CHARLES is packing up his traps to bid his native land a long farewell.

BATHS IN PULLMAN CARS. The American public has become so accustomed to meeting with every luxury in traveling, and in fact, has got into such a habit of expecting every possible provision for its comfort, that the latest suggestion, that of a bath-room in Pullman sleeping cars, will doubtless meet with its approval at once.

CHICAGO WOMEN might be in a better position than presenting flowers to the anarchists on trial, but the English, in spite of us, have begun to build up a small town, and have already a fine church.

YESTERDAY MINNEAPOLIS had her drowning accident, two little children being the victims. Though so often repeated, the lesson of the dangers lurking by river or lake side is never learned. It probably never will be.

SENATOR PAYNE'S colleagues have decided that no standard oil was poured on the troubled waters of Ohio politics at the time of his election, and he can do as he pleases in several goodly baskets of champagne.

SENATOR WINDOM says he does not intend to run for governor or senator, but it is safe to say if a delegate wants to tender the ex-senator his vote, the sagacious gentleman will not say him nay.

SENATOR JOYNS of Florida and Detroit has gone off on a solitary Arctic expedition. His frigid reception in the base ball city would qualify him for the trip.

It was not dead but only sleeping. The story of a possible Indian Arctic expedition. The far-Western correspondent is becoming more enterprising.

IF DORNSHEIMER and FULTZER fight a duel and meet with reasonable success it will at least put a stop to a disgraceful form of personal journalism.

THIRD DISTRICT Democrats are not in the least discouraged. It is only necessary to select some speedy dark horse to win the congressional race.

THE ONLY kind of release Minnesota will be content to see given to the YOUNGER brothers is the kind that has a hangman's noose attached.

ANY strangers in St. Paul, and not a few of the late residents, were gathered on the corner of Exchange and Fifth streets. They were not there to do anything, but to see and be seen.

THE HOUSE OF HOPE Presbyterian church was founded by Rev. Edwin D. Neill, who came to St. Paul in April, 1849, from instruction issued by the presbytery of Galena, Ill., in which the territory of Minnesota was ecclesiastically associated.

THE delegates to the Milwaukee temperance large numbers are dropping into St. Paul. They are intelligently engaged in their duties, and are doing so with a great deal of pleasure.

EASTERN girls are becoming more hopeful. An elopement and matrimonial epidemic has begun to rage, and each recognizing the possibility of the lightning striking her at any time, she seeks correspondence for a present with Western matrimonial agencies.

PEOPLE in the Northwest undoubtedly like a good game of ball. They very rarely have an opportunity to see one. Why couldn't the Minneapolis exhibition managers induce the Chicago and Detroit clubs to play a series in that city.

SIR CHARLES DILKE will now leave England forever. England is to be congratulated; but wouldn't it be well for the country which he has so long served to furnish him free lodging in one of its reformatory institutions.

AMONG those whose prospect for a warmer future in a future world even truly Christian people might wish to see, is the present person who in such weather as the present goes about asking "is it hot enough for you?"

THE information that the number of female immigrants to Dakota this season exceeds any previous year, is cheering. What Dakota needs is more homes, and a bachelor establishment is never a loss.

WHEN it comes to a matter of gubernatorial qualifications such as though Candidate GILMAN'S agricultural knowledge, Chevalier's bountiful mustache were nip and tuck.

IF DORNSHEIMER and FULTZER fight a duel and meet with reasonable success it will at least put a stop to a disgraceful form of personal journalism.

MIDST THE MADDING THROG.

MRS. BEECHER'S LETTER

Her Charming Trip Across the Atlantic and Arrival in Dear Old England. Attending a Gladstone Meeting at Liverpool—Enthusiasm and Tumult, Beyond Description.

The Grand Old Man's Sublime Eloquence and Wonderful Power—His Worshipers. The Trip Through a Veritable Garden of Eden From Liverpool to London.

Written by Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher for the St. Paul Globe.

HAMPSTEAD, LONDON, N. W., July 10, 1892.—The anticipation of a visit to England was to us as years ago the announcement of our yearly visit "to see grandmother" would cause our childish heart to leap with unutterable joy.

And now, past the allotted three-score years and ten of mortal life we were roused to an enthusiasm and joyousness experienced in days of childhood. We were going to see a country whose people and institutions we had so often pictured in our mind, but had never personally beheld.

The mighty ocean has been crossed with less fear than when the too-much pampered horses defied the master's strong hand and attempted a wild stampede down the rocky descent of the "Rocky Road."

Among the number who came as much to see the president as to listen to the papers read before the conference, was an English officer. The latter looked long and intently at the late occupant of the executive mansion.

"That's the man," said the military man. "He looks it, too." "Looks what?" inquired a bystander. "Looks like a man who would see another fellow suffer for his own shortcomings and never say a word in his defense."

On one of these visits the president took more than he could hold and the result was that he became tipsy; so much so, in fact, that he was obliged to resort to a bottle of water.

It was not dead but only sleeping. The story of a possible Indian Arctic expedition. The far-Western correspondent is becoming more enterprising.

IF DORNSHEIMER and FULTZER fight a duel and meet with reasonable success it will at least put a stop to a disgraceful form of personal journalism.

THIRD DISTRICT Democrats are not in the least discouraged. It is only necessary to select some speedy dark horse to win the congressional race.

on to the platform. With each fresh arrival that huge assembly broke out into cheers and shouts. We had just passed the ordeal of a British crowd; now we were to learn the strength and endurance of British lungs.

Promptly at the appointed hour Gladstone entered. Mistaken mortal, to suppose that we had heard all that an enthusiastic English audience could accomplish. Words fall in describing the scene.

STRENGTH AND ELOQUENCE. It would be the height of folly to attempt even the faintest description. No such sublime rhetoric and eloquence can be described by pen. It must be seen, and heard, and appreciated.

REGULAR FURROWS. We are ready to despise the patented "mowers" and "reapers," the hay loaders that have driven the merry lads and lasses out from among the sweet, new-cut grass.

Not That Kind of a Man. It does not seem to occur to the officious Republican friends of Jim Hill, who are scouring the president for voting his little scheme to run a railroad through the Montana Indian reservation, contrary to the treaty of '55 and the law of '75.

Happy With Either. Those that claim to know report that Gen. Barrett is not content with his nomination for governor, but that he is not averse to serving on the board of railway commissioners.

From a Milliner's Note-Book. Black and white is a very stylish combination. Pink mull is used for bridesmaid's costumes.

HEAVEN DEFEND US. From being ever so closely wedged in again! No room to take a step; packed so crushingly that the chest and feet were cramped sufficiently to enable us to draw one's feet out from under the seat.

NEEDLES' NESTS. Artificial flowers are used on dresses for garden fetes this season. Neckties of artificial flowers are seen with every variety of color.

WISER THAN THE REST. Hon. A. B. McGill announces formally that he is not a candidate for governor. He has started on a trip to California, and expects to enjoy it much better than most of the candidates of an exciting campaign.

FRIENDLY TO THE CHEVALLER. Zumbrun News. Hon. A. B. McGill is rapidly gaining strength as a candidate for the first place on the Republican state ticket.

MINNESOTA POLITICS.

Diverse Expressions of Opinion From the Molders of Thought on the State Press. Diverse Sentiments About the Governorship With a Leaning Towards A. R. McGill.

Good Wishes for Davis. Workington Advance. The interviews during the recent editorial convention at St. Paul showed that Ex-Gov. C. K. Davis has a larger following for U. S. senator than any other man.

Or After the Election. It looks as though Buckman and Gilman are counting the chickens before they are hatched. Wait till after the nominations, gentlemen.

Another Dark Horse. Schell's withdrawal from the gubernatorial race probably means Capt. Casto for lieutenant-governor.

Another Suggestion. The Democrats of the Third district must make no mistake in selecting a candidate for congress, and they won't if they nominate O. M. Hall.

Hope for "Cush." Glenoe Register. The people of Minnesota can elect a legislature, and we believe they are going to do it, that will send C. K. Davis to the senate.

Not Quite So Solid. The Ferguson Journal opposes Gilman for governor with both feet. It is probable that Gilman's country, and that is not quite as solid in the Fifth district as Mr. Kindred gave assurance of.

The Chevalier's Record. As far as we have been able to learn, A. B. McGill is the choice of this county for governor. Mr. McGill is a man that is of the people and for the people.

A Deep Laid Plot. News Journal. A deep laid plot to down Gilman comes from Ferguson Falls. The wily candidate for governor, it is claimed, has formed combinations with candidates for the minor places in the state ticket from Southern Minnesota.

Favoring Mr. Davis. If the legislature were to select Hon. C. K. Davis of St. Paul as United States senator to succeed McMillan they will accomplish an act highly creditable to Minnesota.

Discord Already. One of our exchanges says the nomination of John Lind is destined to develop a full crop of mugwumps in this congressional district.

John Frank for Governor. Spring Albany Democrat. The movement is on foot to bring forward John Frank of Le Roy as the reform candidate for governor of this state.
