

MINNEAPOLIS EVENTS.

Rain Causes a Small Attendance at the Exposition--A Reception to Sergt. Brainerd.

A Grand Pageant to Appear in the Streets of the City on Thursday Night of Next Week.

The Head Millers to Take a Hand--Programme of the Races to Occur To-Day.

An Insane Girl Creates a Sensation--The Bonita Wins the Minnesota Race.

PEOPLES DAY.

The Directors to Tender a Reception to Sergt. Brainerd, the Arctic Hero.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

The rain again intercepted a rush to the Exposition, although the attendance was a third larger than that of Monday.

Hennepin and to Sixth street, down Sixth to Nicollet and down Nicollet to Bridge square. Then the visitors would be given the courtesies of the Industrial exposition.

Programme for To-day's Meeting at the Old Fair Grounds.

The races of the Minneapolis Driving club were yesterday postponed on account of the rain, but will take place to-day weather permitting.

THE RACES.

2:30 pace, Mountain Boy, W. H. Gay, St. Paul; Timmie, F. G. Barford, Minneapolis; Harry West, Lewis Hinkley, Stillwater; Teaser D, Ben Stanley, Detroit.

Half-mile heats, running, Ollie Becker, C. S. Deacon, St. Paul; Madalaine, John Bradford, Big Lake; Bootjack, E. W. Wilson, Minneapolis; Little Joe, Fred Miller.

2:30 pace, Mountain Boy, W. H. Gay, St. Paul; Timmie, F. G. Barford, Minneapolis; Harry West, Lewis Hinkley, Stillwater; Teaser D, Ben Stanley, Detroit.

THE DIRECTORS.

met in the morning for one of those councils of war in the secret chamber behind the scenes in the main business office from which reporters are carefully excluded.

Another important item on the future was the appointment of Messrs. W. M. Reetz, O. A. Pray, H. F. Brown, V. G. Hush and D. M. Gilmore as a committee to visit the fat stock and cetera shows at Chicago, and to make arrangements to have Minneapolis selected for the next place of meeting, if possible.

President Washburn led the letter of greeting from the Cincinnati exposition; also his telegram of reply, which is as follows:

Edwin Stearns, President Cincinnati Exposition, Cincinnati, O.: The board of directors of the Minneapolis exposition join me in conveying to you their most hearty thanks for your kind message of congratulation of Aug. 4. May continued success follow the efforts of your grand enterprise in Cincinnati. We beg to extend to you a most cordial invitation to visit our Exposition during the present season and at your convenience. W. D. Washburn, President.

THIS IS MINNESOTA FARMERS' DAY, and the musical programme has been made especially attractive in its nature. The Mexican band will play the following selections this afternoon and evening:

Minneapolis Exposition March...T. P. Brooke La Lac aux Fees--Gavotte de bon ton...Sheridan La Contesse--Gavotte de march...Sheridan Thirty minutes intermission.

PRESTISSIMO--Gloppie...Waldteufel Les Amourettes--Waltz...Gounon! Beautiful Sarah--Mazurka...Lamotte Thirty minutes intermission.

VERDI--Siciliana--Fenestella...Verdi A Minnie--Polka...Tejadin III. Que lo sepan no importa...Tejadin III. A qui fresco tan sabroso...Tejadin III. Mexican waltz intermission.

THE ORGAN RECITAL.

will include the following: Rigoleto and Trovatore, Postlude by C. H. Kinck, Gloria from Mozart's Mass No. 13. Voluntary by V. Klans, My Country 'tis of Thee.

MILLERS' DAYS.

will be plentiful next week. The milling exhibit is the finest ever given by any exposition, and next week seems to have been settled upon by those engaged in that line of manufacturing for a visit of inspection.

Members of the State Millers' Association to the number of seventy-five will leave Harrisburg on Tuesday next for Minneapolis, expecting to arrive Friday.

The local millers and mill-furnishers expect to entertain them royally, and an excursion to the lakes and other suburban points of interest will be given. The Northwestern Miller will also furnish tickets to the Grand opera house on Saturday evening, and expects to give the entire crowd of dusty millers front seats, from which they can witness Lotta's fascinating little kicks without the aid of opera glasses.

The executive committee of the Millers' National association will also put in an appearance on Monday, it is expected, and it is anticipated that hundreds of millers from Minnesota, Dakota, Wisconsin and Iowa will also be present.

YESTERDAY'S FINDINGS.

H. Jay Smith, superintendent of the art department, yesterday celebrated the fifth anniversary of his wedding.

St. Joseph's academy, of St. Paul, makes an interesting display of needlework of the young ladies.

Germany's day will be next Monday, when the Milwaukee Liederkranz will attend in a body.

Strange as it may seem, the ladies go into ecstasies over the brick-making machines.

Next Thursday night has been selected for the pageant.

The cold water has paralyzed the lemonade industry.

An excursion from Mexico is said to be on the way.

The Irish flag now floats proudly in the breeze.

The elevator improves upon acquaintance.

A GRAND PAGEANT.

A formidable parade next week--A Scene of Glory.

Last night the various military and civic organizations were represented at the conference held in the mayor's office, and it was decided to have a grand parade on Thursday night of next week, as per Mayor Ames' suggestion a week ago in the GLOBE.

The societies represented were the First regiment by Col. Bend and others, the Turners society, the French society, the Society Dania, Gustavus Adolphus society, Norwegian Turners, Scandia lodge Knights of Pythias, Chase post, Plummer post and George N. Morgan post, G. A. R., Patriarchal Circle I. O. O. F., the Head Millers' association, chamber of commerce, and each representative favored the gigantic project.

Mayor Ames stated that the Masonic lodge of the session upon calling the meeting to order, and he was chosen chairman and Adjutant Ward secretary. Col. Bend, who was present, asked for information. The mayor stated in response that he would take pleasure on the part of the city to promise a detail of mounted police and four companies of foot police. Col. Bend thought six companies, three in Minneapolis and three in St. Paul, would participate. He thought it impossible to get the Stillwater company because of the difficulty in returning home after the parade. Ed A. Stevens stated that no one was authorized as yet to speak for the Odd Fellows of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will meet in Minneapolis on the 14th for a two or three days session, and he suggested that the parade might be swelled from that source. It was also stated that the Masonic lodge of the city could secure dispensations. On motion the time for the grand parade was fixed for Thursday night of next week. Mayor Ames, in answer to a question propounded by Col. Bend, said that his idea would be to form on Bridge square, and that the line of march should be up

BOUND AND GAGGED.

As many people were present who he knew he fixes his damages at $500. C. A. Swanson has commenced an action against Joel G. Jackson, Elan G. Smith and Henry E. Baxter, comprising the firm of Jackson, Smith & Co., alleging that they, in a malicious and seditious manner, had conspired to break him up in business and ruin him, caused an action to be commenced against him in the circuit court when there was no ground for such action. He demands $1,000 damages.

John A. Nordun, who was married Oct. 10, 1885, to Ida C. Peterson, is placed in a very unpleasant position by a suit commenced against him by Emma C. Sanell, who sues for $8,000 for breach of promise. She alleges that at Burlington, Ia., Dec. 15, 1882, the defendant proposed marriage to her and she accepted him. She has remained unmarried ever since, in anticipation that the gray John would make good his promise of a nation's joy.

Papers in the suit of Ole O. Melness against Wyman, Mullin & Van Dyke and George H. Partridge to recover $11,000 for alleged false imprisonment, were filed in the district court yesterday afternoon. The suits were published in the GLOBE three weeks ago.

Suit has been commenced by Ingram, Olson & Co. against Falk & Langreth and O. R. Setness to recover $10,000, which is alleged to have been fraudulently obtained. The plaintiffs claim that Setness obtained the goods, turned them over to Falk & Langreth, and then left for parts unknown.

Joseph L. Knecht is made defendant in an action against the Pillsbury Co. and Brown, who seek to have set aside a real estate transfer, alleging that the land was sold to them by the defendant under false and fraudulent representations. The land in question is in section 14, town 20, range 24, and is valued at $6,000.

George Payette has sued James W. Day for $5,000 damages. The plaintiff alleges that May 15 the defendant, in the presence of numerous persons, called him a thief. William S. King and Valentine G. Hush, as survivors of the old Minnesota Agricultural and Mechanical association, are sued for $208 by Lazarus Tillyson, who claims that amount was paid him in premiums at a fair held in September, 1881.

The Moine-Milburn company has brought an action against Lesser Franklin to recover $1,010.50. The plaintiff alleges that on July 1, 1886, the defendant purchased of them a number of bugs and paid for them with a promissory note drawn by S. E. Hart & Co., which turned out to be worthless.

Papers in the case of Minnie A. Peterson against Charles Sjlander, in which she sues him for $5,000 damages for slander, were filed yesterday. The particulars were printed at length some time ago.

William L. Gilman has brought an action against William S. King and Valentine G. Hush, of the old Minnesota Agricultural and Mechanical association, to recover $290 awarded in premiums on stock in September, 1881.

Elbert J. Adams sues Cyrus E. Brown to recover $1,000, which he paid on real estate. He paid $8,000 for the property, but now claims that it was worth but $7,000.

The Closing Regatta.

The last regatta of the Minnesota Yacht club for the season of 1886 was sailed yesterday under very depressing circumstances and in the presence of a very small party.

The rainy weather conveyed the general impression the week would be postponed, but as it cleared a little toward 10 o'clock and a fresh breeze sprang up, the judges decided to start the boats. Seven of them spread their sails, five cat rigs and two spruce.

The regatta was a success, and the prizes were won by the club, but as the wind was from the northwest the start was reversed and led from Point Lookout to the buoy at Hotel St. Louis. The sloops were the Bonita and Pearl, the J. A. Hanks, J. A. Catherine, Eleanor, Modesty, Princess and Curlew. E. M. Wilson, W. E. Haskell and S. A. Harris were judges. The yachts finished in the following order: Bonita, J. A. Hanks, Princess, Modesty, Eleanor and Pearl. The sloops Bonita and Pearl made the quickest time, the former winning for that class and the Pearl for the cat rigs.

MINNEAPOLIS GLOBES.

Bank clearings yesterday amounted to $62,555.87.

Four trucks were yesterday consigned to the workhouse.

The new Bank of Excelsior is almost ready to begin business.

The estate of the late William Brockway is estimated at $10,000.

W. E. Gooding has been named Minneapolis ticket agent of the Burlington & Northern railroad.

A still larger audience at the Grand last night enjoyed Lotta's winning presentation of "Nittouchee."

Hooly's Gigantic minstrel are packing the dime museum and night with their excellent programme.

J. G. Gordon, a Monocomee butcher, was taken in by jewelry auctioneers, paying $30 for a watch not worth $5.

Goway & Oert, doing a druggist business at 125 Washington avenue south, assigned yesterday to W. A. Rankins.

Emma Woodcock, who died at the North-western hospital Monday, was buried from Connolly's morgue yesterday.

There will be a meeting at the mayor's office Friday evening to make arrangements for a grand military and civic parade.

The jobbers' association has found it impossible to attend the state fair at Huron, Dak., but may attend the North Dakota fair.

H. J. Muehlen, of Cleveland, has been made superintendent of the Brush Electric Light company, in place of William S. King.

A workman employed at the Pillsbury mill got a severe fall on the platform yesterday, breaking several ribs and bruising him badly.

T. E. Whitmore, retiring assistant passenger agent of the Minneapolis & St. Louis road, has been presented with a handsome gold watch by the men of the freight department.

Republican caucuses will be held in city and county this evening, to select delegates to the county convention on Monday. Tomorrow will be held a delegation to the state convention.

William Koenig, of the Northeast side, complained to the police that a man had crept with his wife and gone to Chicago, the fleeing wife taking $250 of her husband's money.

The Minneapolis Typographical union has adopted resolutions expressive of its appreciation of the kindness of G. W. Childs and J. J. Drexel in donating $10,000 to the International Typographical union.

Sergt. Coffin, who is in charge of the police detailed for duty at the Exposition, wishes to see the mendacious reporter publishing an evening paper, to the effect that pickpockets had depredated the Exposition.

Mrs. Laura Campbell, who was reported to have committed suicide as an employe in a domestic in a family in this city, and says she has no desire to kill herself. She says she left her husband because he will not or is not able to support her.

Hattie Herbertson, alias Emma Emmerson, the Eau Claire woman who was arrested by Detective John H. Brown, on charges of passing bills upon the inmates of First street houses, was yesterday taken to St. Paul by United States Deputy Marshal M. Hoy and will be prosecuted in the United States court.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday by William A. Cant and Carrie E. Graham, Peter B. Beecher and Mary Catherine Johnson, H. J. and Dollie A. Fiechtman, Adam Buckham and Ida Cummings, R. W. Barrio and Ella McCausland, C. H. and Mary Anderson, J. J. Nies and May Brodner, John Wintolpe and Nellie Hall.

Articles incorporating the Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska Mutual Live Stock association were filed yesterday by W. E. Herron, C. E. Oldfield, J. H. Herron, F. A. Winchell, O. F. Herron, W. G. Harcourt, Vernon, G. F. Harber, Arthur McFie and S. H. Hall. The company will have offices at Kingsbury, Ia., Minneapolis, Minn., and Lincoln, Neb.

BOUND AND GAGGED.

Hennepin Republicans Handed Over to Messrs. R. B. Langdon and Loren Fletcher.

To be Used in the State Convention in Any Manner They May Dictate.

Langdon to Corral the Legislature and Name Himself United States Senator.

Old Tools Discarded and McGill to Get the Solid Vote of Hennepin County.

All Cut and Dried.

The Hennepin county delegation to the Republican state convention, although nominally to be chosen next Saturday, is in fact already selected, branded, bound and gagged, ready to go to St. Paul and like perfect automata, yield quick obedience to the strings that pull them.

The other ends of these strings are securely tied to the wrists of two men--Loren Fletcher and Robert B. Langdon. The caucus to be held to-night will be the merest formality, either of the distinguished operators named could pull out his note-book and read them off in advance. They might even do it from memory, and if there were gaps A. F. Scott, Sam Hill and Freeman O. R. Setness could readily supply them. So perfect is the ring combination, that although they are as influential as the Pillsburys or as shrewd as Charles W. Johnson, they feel the pressure and write beneath it they can neither resist nor break away. When, two years ago, Loren Fletcher bowed his head before the inevitable and the undying hatred of St. Paul members of his own party, he swore in the name of heaven that his party should yet be felt, and the time has come for the realization of his darling wish. Under the stimulus of the presidential campaign of 1884, and spurred by the necessity of uniting together with the lack of time to perfect the organization, he lost his grip in the county convention which followed, and the candidates who ranged themselves beneath a banner were victorious, electing and perfecting this organization, in which Langdon participated, that the shrewdest opponents of these sagacious leaders are hopeless of breaking or disturbing it.

The FIRST RESULT of this powerful ring will be to hand in the Hennepin contingent at the state convention, to be voted as circumstances and the best interests of Langdon may dictate. McGill will be the first beneficiary of the scheme, for a variety of reasons. Fletcher and Langdon both despise Gilman, the former on a disagreement of long standing and the latter for one reason, that Gilman, being a chronic candidate for the United States senate, crosses his own ambition. Fletcher has several times recently expressed an opinion of Gilman that the latter would never care to have embelozed on his scutcheon and has intimated that the time has arrived for him to be removed, without further ceremony, from the Knute Nelson band wagon. Gilman has always been hostile to Minneapolis, in the first place. In 1877, when both of them were in the legislative hall, the matter of the transfer of the Manitoba system came up, requiring certain legislation from the Hill regime could assume control. Both Gilman and Fletcher were into it, and each strove for the organization of the house. Gilman, by dictating the formation of all committees. Since that time a war cloud has reposed between the two doctry champions and now all the Fletcher strength will be brought to bear against the old friend of McGill. The other and still more potent reason for turning over the bulky vote of Hennepin county to McGill, is SENATORIAL AMBITION OF LANGDOX. LANGDON has formed a political alliance and, though its first terms were violated in the capture by McGill of Ramsey county, it will undoubtedly hold. McGill is to be governor, and Langdon senator, if the scheme does not miscarry. McGill is posing as a Nicollet county man on the strength of his former residence at St. Peter, though his home is in St. Paul and he represented that county in the legislature. Langdon, too, though he is now in St. Paul, and he represented Hennepin county in the legislature. The Langdon scheme is to elect McGill governor and then saddle him on St. Paul. Minneapolis will have no place on the ticket and it would never go to give the Hennepin county vote to the Democrats. It will be shelved and Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

Langdon will be elected senator, while McGill, for gratitude, as in duty bound, will lend his powerful influence as governor to secure this end.

said he would wait until he had consulted the nominee and other prominent Republicans of the district, so the committee would be in accord, and the campaign made successful. For this address he received a round of applause, at which he must have smiled inwardly. The members of the committee have been selected but not announced, and the personnel has filled the GLOBE in consequence with wildismy. One of them said yesterday:

Great heaven! what has Fletcher done? Has he appointed a committee that will work for Gilman? Not by a great deal. He has appointed one, though, that will make things solid for himself in two years from now. Just look at them. There's that little interiorer, Frank, from Wright county, who was down here with a poxy. Then there's the Sullivan, of Chicago, who has been nominated for the senate and is threatened with a Republican bolt all over the county. Next, comes Butts, the postmaster of Stillwater, and a Fletcher champion. There's Dave Clouston, the side-shining light who wants to learn parliamentary law in the senate. And there's Ben, of Anoka, and Will Nichols, of St. Paul, and there's E. G. Evans, president of the Union league. Everybody knows where he stands. I forget the rest of them, but that's enough. Now, what's the great question? What? There'll be the greatest fight you ever saw if that committee isn't changed.

Mr. Fletcher means business, evidently. He remembers how two years ago he said: "Draw Gilman out!" But he would not draw. Then he said: "Pull him off." But he wouldn't be pulled. Mr. Fletcher does not desire to defeat the felle, but he wants to see his majority just about 350.

Knocked His Mother Down.

The police were called to the store and residence of John Provost, out on Western avenue and Thirteenth street, where John was raising shool. He had been warned of the approach of the police, and when they arrived could not be found. His mother said that he had been drunk since Friday, but from the looks of the place it seemed as though he had been drunk a year. The door of the store was smashed in, the show cases upset, and the chairs reigned. Early in the evening he had knocked his mother down and cut a huge gash in her head. His sister had come in for her share of the abuse, and had been kicked until she was blue. Blue Provost will be arrested on a warrant to-day.

The Head Millers.

The Head Millers' association met last evening at the office of the Northwestern Miller and elected the following officers: President, Matt Walsh; vice-president, J. W. Tamm; treasurer, J. P. Stephens; secretary, Fred J. Clark; executive committee, Matt Walsh, James McDonald, David Williams.

It was decided to participate in the Exposition pageant next Thursday evening. They will invite the operative millers to participate. M. S. Scheck, of St. Paul, was elected a member.

MINNEAPOLIS PERSONALS.

H. C. Bull and wife, of Cokata, are at the West.

Rev. M. Carter, of Waseca, is at the Nicollet.

Mrs. Frank Stetson gave a pleasant party at the Nicollet.

T. J. Hall, of Arton, was in Minneapolis yesterday.

Col. W. W. Tyner, of Fargo, was in the city yesterday.

H. F. Woodard, of Fergus Falls, was in the city yesterday.

George B. Moore, John T. Moore and a party of ladies, of New Orleans, are guests of the West.

Harry Mott, chief cashier of the Tremont Bank, of Chicago, is at the Nicollet house with his wife.

</