The lumber trade since 1884 has been less profitable than any industry which requires large capital invested and involves many risks of loss. For the first two years the banks have been the custodians of the surplus capital of the whole country, but at present the financial tide flows in the direction of disturbances, a sure indication of increasing business.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Inquiry was made at the treasury department to-day in regard to the published statement that the national banks are being greatly disturbed by the calling in of the 3 per cent. bonds, which are the principal basis of their circulation.

REFERRED TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Until this decision is rendered the department must of course adhere to its practice. In many cases, however, the banks whose bonds have been called are deferring their replacement, expecting, apparently, a decision allowing those bonds to remain.

A SICK MAN ABLE TO FORETELL THE EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS. COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 23.—Dr. B. F. Wiman, of Aiken county, makes the following statement concerning the singular effects of the earthquake on the night of August 31 upon the Rev. W. N. Mosely, a Methodist minister of that county:

Between 12 and 1 o'clock on the night of August 31, I was called upon to visit the Rev. Mr. Mosely, who had been taken suddenly sick during the first shock. I found him in bed talking cheerfully. He told me at once that he was not sick; that he never felt better in his life; that just preceding the shock of the earthquake he would be seized with peculiar tingling sensations, beginning in his feet and legs and gradually extending to the limbs and whole body.

Why She Disliked Him.

Chicago Girl—Mr. Smith is first-class company, isn't he? He is just full of puns and witty remarks. Boston Girl—I am really unable to say, truthfully, that I find enjoyment in his society. Chicago Girl—Why not? Boston Girl—Oh, his remarks are too—too—paranormalistic, as it were. The Chicago girl didn't dispute the assertion.

No Chance for the Small Boy.

Danville, Va. A new Western invention is a dog which climbs trees. There is a point beyond which even inventors ought not to go, and it seems to us this wretch of an inventor has crossed that border. What show does it leave the small boy in the watermelon patch? What chance of refuge is left the "fired out" lover as he finds himself fleeing from the house of his fair one, if even the tree tops afford him no protection from the mouthful of organized ivory that pursues him? Yes, the canine climber must go.

If all so-called remedies have failed, Dr. Sage's catarrh remedy cures.
