

FROM FOREIGN FIELDS.

A Gang of French Revolutionists Kick Up A Row Which Ends in Serious Rioting.

Trouble of a Similar Nature Experienced With the Irascible Socialists of Leipzig.

A Gloomy Winter's Outlook for the Poor Tenantry of the Green Isle.

Beecher Entertained by English Congregationalists—Quarreling Missionaries.

Rioting French Reds.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—A riot took place today during the unveiling and dedication of the statue of Armand Barbes, the red republican colleague of Blanqui, at Caracosse. The committee having the ceremony in charge were nearly all Moderates. The Revolutionists became provoked at this predominance in the case of such a conspirator as Barbes, whom they regard as one of their creed, and attempted to control the demonstration themselves. In this they were resisted by the police, assisted by the reinforcements and made an open fight for control of the situation. With red flags flying they assailed the incensed site, breaking down the barriers, tramping over women and children, and driving the Moderates and their police allies away from the place.

Trouble at Leipzig.

LEIPZIG, Sept. 28.—Four hundred socialists today made a demonstration by marching through the streets with the expelled socialist leader, Schumann, at their head, waving red flags and denouncing the government. The police attacked the procession and attempted to capture the red flags. The socialists beat the officers back after a stubborn fight, in which men on both sides were wounded. The police got reinforced and returned. This time they succeeded in dispersing the soon, and driving the seven, Schumann included.

IRISH AFFAIRS.

A Gloomy Winter Ahead for Poor Tenants of Grappling Landlords.

DUBLIN, Sept. 28.—Mr. Timothy Farrington announced at the fortnightly meeting of the Irish National league to-day that since the last meeting $15,000 in donations had been received by him as treasurer. He added that an enormous increase in evictions throughout Ireland must now be expected, and said the league would devote all the donations received to the relief of relieving persons evicted. John Dillon said peace in Ireland now depended on the action of the landlords. Two thousand evictions were now under notice of eviction. Winter was coming, and already it was imperative that the Irish people should combine to help one another to resist, within the law, the attempted tyranny of the landlords, final victory being certain if this resistance was maintained. The Ulster Constitutional club, which Lord Idelshel opened with great flourish of trumpets on his famous visit to Belfast in 1883, has failed, and it has been decided to wind up its affairs. Joseph E. Kenny, M. P. for Cork, said the tenants would fight with their backs to the wall against the threatened evictions. Mr. Harrington appealed to the branches of the league to subscribe to the national fund for evicted tenants. Mr. Dillon declared that the commission of inquiry was a fraud and imposture, and that nobody would believe in its honesty and impartiality. If the evictions were not stopped, the tenants must touch the landlords upon their most tender point—their pockets.

The Bulgarian Question.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 28.—It is sensationally announced that no international complications over the Bulgarian question are imminent; that the cabinets controlling the question decidedly favor preserving peace; that Russia recognizes the difficulty the Bulgarians must encounter in electing a successor to Prince Alexander; and that pending this election Russia will occupy her time in carefully watching England's action in Constantinople. SOFIA, Sept. 28.—The Bulgarian ministry are still discussing Russia's proposal that the political prisoners in Bulgaria be released, the state of siege raised, and all parties permitted to vote freely for a general assembly to elect a successor to Prince Alexander, in return for the release of political prisoners. It is understood the ministry will courteously tell Gen. Kaubara that they regret they are unable to comply with Russia's demand, because compliance would involve violations of the constitution.

Quarreling Missionaries.

LONDON, April 28.—Advices from Hong Kong state that there is a dispute between the Methodist and Catholic missionaries in China as to which denomination is responsible for the indignities that excited the recent wholesale massacre of Christians in the province of Shu Chuen. The Catholic bishop of Chungking attributed the outbreak in that city to the indirect conduct of the Methodists. The latter declare that the Chin King massacre of native Christians and the destruction of their church and property was due entirely to popular indignation aroused by the Catholic bishop, who, the Methodists say, persistently used yellow tiles in the construction of his new cathedral in spite of repeated warnings that it was dangerous to do so because it outraged the native faith by making common use of a color venerated as sacred and reserved exclusively for the use of the emperor.

Russian Enterprise.

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—The ship Petrolia, of St. Petersburg, designed to supply Lubeck, Sweden, Denmark, Norway and Holland with Russian petroleum, has arrived at Lubeck with its first cargo. She has sixteen hermetically closed reservoirs, with a capacity of 50,000 quintals. The cargo can be loaded or unloaded in twenty-four hours. The Russian government intends to establish a tobacco monopoly in the Russian empire. Foreign cigars thereby will be greatly cheapened, as the present enormous duty will be abolished.

Beecher Entertained.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The Congregational board of ministers formally entertained Rev. H. W. Beecher and his wife this afternoon in Memorial hall in Farrington street. The entertainment was opened with a "tea" and concluded with a "meeting." Rev. John Nunn, president of the board, presided, and presented Mr. Beecher with an address of welcome in behalf of the Congregationalists, to which the American clergyman responded in an eloquent and characteristic manner.

There is No Treaty.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The foreign office and United States legation authorize the statement that the report telegraphed from Ottawa that a new fishery treaty had been effected between the United States and Canada is an entire fabrication, and that no such treaty had been proposed by either government.

Thinks He is Koko.

VIENNA, Sept. 28.—An actor named Fisher, who was playing the part of "Koko" in a Mikado company performing here, ruptured a blood vessel while acting his part. He has since shown symptoms of insanity, believing himself to be "Koko" in reality. The company has gone to Stuttgart.

Woolen Underclothes for Women.

London Truth. Every one must have noticed how suddenly and frequently the temperature has changed all through this last spring and summer. Maud and I were continually having colds, faeache, and toothache, until some one told us that by wearing underclothing with some proportion of undyed wool in it we should completely counteract this tendency to cold-catching. It was excessively disagreeable to be constantly subject to faeache, which is not only painful but disfiguring. I tried the new plan first, and it succeeded so well that Maud soon followed suit, and we really feel immense benefit from wearing it. The sort we have adopted is called Gunthorpe, and is wholly undyed, dyes having been found to be very injurious in garments that come in contact with the skin. As it is not wool but a mixture of that and cotton, there is not the disagreeable, fluffy sensation that attends ordinary woolen underclothing. It is made into articles for men's wear, as well as for women's and children's. I wish you would try it. It is not at all expensive, and as we have derived great benefit from it, I am sure you would too.

BARTLEY CAMPBELL. The Playwright Hopelessly Insane and Financially Bankrupt.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Commissioner Matthew Chalmers and a sheriff's jury heard testimony to-day in regard to the mental condition of Bartley Campbell, the playwright who is now confined in Bloomingdale asylum. Dr. C. E. Nichols, the superintendent of the Bloomingdale asylum, testified that Mr. Campbell was admitted to the asylum as a patient May 17. In his opinion the patient was insane. His specific complaint was general paresis. It was a typical case, and manifested itself in a paralysis of the lower limbs. Mr. Campbell was able to talk so far as to be understood, and could walk with assistance. His digestion was good and appetite normal. His weight was the same as when admitted to the asylum. Mr. Campbell was subject to delusions of the most common kind. "His fancies," continued the doctor, "vary greatly. This afternoon I saw him and asked him how his head was." He replied his head was excellent; that he should live forever and had lived from the foundation of the world. This suggested the name of Adam, and he branched off on the subject of the celebrated members of the Adamite family in this country. Mr. Campbell believed that he received specific communications from Shakespeare, Alexander, Bismarck and King Humbert. He imagined that he frequently conversed with Queen Victoria, and that he had visited heaven and saw great men there. The doctor said Mr. Campbell would never again be able to attend to business or to recover his senses. Jesse Larabee, attorney for Mr. Campbell in his business, testified that his client had a leasehold interest in the Fourteenth Street theater, which was in litigation. He also owned two houses on Eighty-first street valued at $45,000, which were mortgaged for $30,000, and unpaid losses and interest had accumulated until the equity on foreclosure proceedings was almost valueless. Mr. Campbell's plays were in litigation also for the benefit of his creditors. The failure of the play for Mrs. Campbell's support, as the creditors had seized everything. The jury after consultation returned a verdict that Mr. Campbell was mentally incapable of attending to his affairs.

The Knights of Labor.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—Messrs. William Welbo, of Pittsburgh, J. F. McGuire, of Cleveland, Adolph Strasser, of Buffalo, Christopher Evans, of New Straightsville, O., and P. J. Fitzpatrick, of Cincinnati, comprising the standing committee of the national and international unions selected at the convention of the body held in this city in May last, were in conference here to-day with the members of the general executive board of the Knights of Labor. The committee had presented to the general assembly of the Knights of Labor at Cleveland the treaty proposed by the trades unions, and the conference with the Knights of Labor to-day was for the purpose of taking steps towards securing some decisive action at the hands of the forthcoming general assembly at Richmond. The committee received from Grand Master Workman Powderly and the other members of the executive board the most positive assurances that they would use every endeavor at Richmond to establish proper and satisfactory relations with the trades unions. The committee this morning issued an address to the trades unions upon the subject.

A Negro Assassin.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28.—A special from Sedan, Kan., says: Yesterday morning about 9:30 o'clock at a religious gathering of colored people at Cascade school house, Little Chany township, this (Clay) county, Simon Smith shot Benjamin Williams and William Andrews, killing Williams instantly and it is thought, mortally wounding Andrews, who is shot through the stomach. The affair was the culmination of a misunderstanding between Smith and Andrews at Independence, and the shot which killed Williams was doubtless intended for Andrews. All the parties to the tragedy are colored. Smith was arrested.

Boycoaters Indicted.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 28.—The grand jury of the Sessions court to-day, found indictments against the boycott committee of the Richmond Typographical union and the editors, proprietors and publishers of the Labor Herald. The firm boycotted these parties is Broughman Bros., wholesale stationers and job printers.

Another Widow Turns Up.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 28.—In the orphan's court here to-day a petition for assignment of dower was presented from one Martha Courtney, of England, who claims to be the lawful widow of the late Henry B. Courtney, of the Diamond Watch company, and entitled to a share of his large estate. Mr. Courtney also left a widow and a family here.

To-Day's Weather.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29, 1 a. m.—Indications for Iowa: Fair, slightly warmer weather, northerly winds becoming variable. For Michigan and Wisconsin: Fair, slightly warmer weather, westerly winds becoming variable. For Nebraska: Fair, slightly warmer weather, winds shifting to west. For Minnesota and Eastern Dakota: Fair, slightly warmer weather, winds shifting to southerly.

Worth Over Three Billions.

ALBANY, Sept. 29.—The report of the state board of equalization fixes the assessed valuation of the real and personal property in the state of New York at $3,224,082,343 against $3,094,731,457 in 1885, and that of New York city and county at $1,439,220,250 against $1,413,415,029 in 1885.

Forty-Fifth District Democrats.

CROOKSTON, Minn., Sept. 28.—The Democratic convention of the Forty-fifth legislative district held here to-day nominated William Kelso, of Crookston, for senator and W. F. Kelso, of Hallock, for representative.

Just for Fun.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 28.—Two boys named Brown and Wood, aged 12 and 14 years, respectively, have been arrested in Sevaule county charged with murdering a Mexican hender and then killing sixty sheep. The boys were aged 12 and 14 years, an accomplice, who stood on the watch while the boys were engaged in the bloody work, confessed the crime. The boys have been jailed at Muela.

Now it is Her Turn.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 28.—Miss Mamie Gannon, the young woman who cowhided Reporter Lenhart last night, was arrested for assault and battery on his complaint to-day and held to await the action of the grand jury.

Phil Armour's Find.

Chicago Mail. There is a negro student down at Oberlin who is known as Phil Armour's nigger. The packer believed to send him there, as he heard it is that Armour met him at a palace-car going down East. He dusted off the passengers, shined up their boots and lugged the old ladies' parcels. When the boys were long between stations and got in the back part of the coach, take out a thumb reader and try to spell out the words, Armour got so much interested that he offered him $25 if he'd spell out six lines before the train reached New York. The darkey "got that." Now he's at college. A photograph of him is on Armour's desk in the La Salle street office. He's a typical "Virginia nig," black as the ace of spades, but decked out in all the magnificence of Solomon, with the regalia of some society, and with numerous badges, stars, rosettes, and other paraphernalia on his manly bosom. On the back of the picture, written in an excellent hand, is a light of his own oratory. The last time he was in Chicago he brought with him a manuscript which he read on class day this summer. It was neatly written, and would fill about one side of a newspaper. He was so delighted with it and so grateful to Mr. Armour that he wanted the latter to read it while he was never saw any colored servants down at the Armour household, and so far as I know this is the only Armour "nigger" in existence.

AN OYSTER-EATING HORSE.

He Scoops Them Up With a Shellie From the Half-Shell. The horse is owned by a South Ninth street oyster dealer and daily consumes a large quantity of the toothsome bivalves, invariably taking them upon the half-shell, says the Philadelphia Record. The horse's appetite for oysters is such that when standing in front of the store he has to be held back and all the shell-fish removed from his reach.

When his owner goes to the wharves for a supply of oysters the ringing sound of the knife as the oysters are being opened frightens the horse and he rushes to get to the spot where he can satisfy his unnatural appetite. Pated oysters he does not care for, and when offered to him will hiss his dislike by elevating his nose. When the oysters are offered in the shell, however, he evinces his pleasure by an expression that partakes almost of the nature of a smile as he consumes dozen after dozen of the choicest salts.

A Grant & Ward Victim.

Washington Critic. Among the victims of Ferdinand Ward, who formerly did business in New York as a partner of Gen. Grant, was Thomas B. Medary, a relative of the Grant family and a man well and favorably known in this country. Medary was a civil engineer by profession, and held several paying contracts for the survey of Indian lands under the government. Two years ago he had amassed a comfortable sum, aggregating twenty thousand dollars, and was then that Grant & Ward were doing affairs in a prosperous business. Mr. Medary was induced to place his little fortune in the hands of the thriving firm, and at the end of twenty months he returned with a balance of $1,500, which was reduced to $1,000, and unpaid losses and interest had accumulated until the equity on foreclosure proceedings was almost valueless. Mr. Campbell's plays were in litigation also for the benefit of his creditors. The failure of the play for Mrs. Campbell's support, as the creditors had seized everything. The jury after consultation returned a verdict that Mr. Campbell was mentally incapable of attending to his affairs.

How Some Couples Achieve Fame.

Blackly Hall's New York Letter. One "actress" achieves fame by marrying an effeminate hostler; another is known far and wide because her "protector" is the son of a great wall street king; the third marries a loud-mouthed and noisy gambler, after paying the head usher of the theater $20 to see her in the same house. A true to such fill. If we must have the scandals, and it is quite evident that sensationalism and the lives of certain women of the stage are inevitable—let them concern people of more eminence and position. Miss Tescue is notorious because an earl did love her, and Mile. Fehine became famous because a duke didn't love her. Miss Eastlake has made a reputation among painters, and Miss Tescue has made a reputation as a model for the artist.

At the Evening Session.

The relation on the evening session, as announced by Mr. Hinchman, was adopted, and another resolution offered by Mr. Lyman, instructing the secretary to notify all members of the terms and discount agreed upon, and to request them to meet their best endeavors to have it carried into effect. A resolution urging the drug firms to reduce the number of their traveling salesmen after Jan. 1 was offered. Mr. Burdett moved to refer to the president's address, and the committee on next place of meeting reported in favor of Boston, and the time selected for the next meeting was announced to be the third Tuesday in August, 1887. Mr. Olcott reported that the board of control, in favor of organizing a plan of mutual insurance, and the plan was elaborated upon by Mr. Slosson, Mr. Peters and others. The plan was generally approved, and the resolution was adopted. Although the session lasted until 11 o'clock it was found impossible to dispose of all business, and it was decided to hold a closing session here at Lake Minnetonka to-day or at the Hotel Ryan, St. Paul, to-morrow. This morning the members of the association and their ladies, go to Minnetonka as guests of the Jobber's association. A special train leaves for St. Louis at 10 o'clock, meeting the steamer City of St. Louis at Salber's point. Lunch will be served on board during the tour of the upper and lower lakes up to the evening of the 10th, and will be tendered by the Minneapolis club, at the corner of Seventh street and Sixth avenue south, at 8:30 o'clock. To-morrow the association goes to St. Paul, where a ride about the city will be taken in the afternoon, and banquet given in the evening at the Ryan hotel.

Some Guilty and Some Innocent.

In the district court yesterday in the case of Edward Overfelt, charged with stealing some clothes, returned a verdict of guilty. Overfelt was sentenced to three months in the county jail. George Vetter, who pleaded not guilty a few days ago to a charge of larceny, withdrew that plea and pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to thirty days. The case of Robert Thompson, charged with the larceny of a watch from Oscar Pearson, attracted a little attention. He was found not guilty and was discharged from the court. He was arrested in connection with the residence of S. S. Small some time ago and stealing a number of things, was tried and discharged, he proving that at the time the offense was committed he was a prisoner in the Omaha jail.

SECOND LADIES' DAY.

What the Ladies Did at the Exposition Yesterday—Notes. Yesterday was second Ladies' day at the Exposition, but from the number of ladies present a stranger would suppose that had never been there before. They came from all quarters of the city, some accompanied by husbands and friends and alone, or in pairs. The attractions of the "big show" are evidently too much for their curiosity, and they have seen ten or fifteen times before they examine with just as much interest as they did the first time they visited the building. The baker, on the third floor, is constantly surrounded by a large and interesting audience, which are the nice little biscuit bakers and then sauntered off to sample the jellies and preserves exhibited at an adjacent booth. It was wonderful how much some of the most delicate looking ladies in the city seemed to enjoy it, however, and in nine cases out of ten the ladies would remain with the baker as long as they would bake biscuits for them. Many of the visitors were as wild as young children just out of school, and clambered around in a manner that was truly refreshing. The day was evidently looked upon as a big party, and all present made the most of it. The attendance at the art gallery was large, and out of 150 persons who entered within a certain time, but two were gentlemen, and both of these were accompanied by ladies.

Why He is Billions.

Arkansas Traveler. (To his husband)—I don't suppose that there is a man in this country whose sayings are repeated more than those of Mr. Talmae. Husband—Yes, and that accounts for the fact that he is always bilious. Wife—Billions! Why, what has that to do with it? Husband—Don't you see? Can't you understand anything? His tongue is "quoted."

His Old Self Again.

Life. Dokey—Why, Robinson, I'm glad to see you. Dokey—You don't look the same man you did two months ago. Robinson—Oh, I'm all right again. By the way, Domy, have you got a couple of dollars about you? Domy (handing him the money)—As I said, Robinson, you don't look the same man, but, by peanut, you are the same man.

ADDITIONAL MINNEAPOLIS NEWS.

NOW FOR PLAY.

The National Wholesale Druggists' association yesterday bucked down to work and held three sessions, morning, afternoon and evening, in the ladies' ordinary of the West hotel. An immense amount of work was gotten out of the way. The reports of the committees, together with the recommendations of the board of control, were thoroughly discussed, the association listening patiently with close attention. There was comparatively little in the debates that is of interest to the general public, most of the board of control were thoughtfully discussed, the association listening patiently with close attention. OLIVER'S REMARKS.

Concerning the Course of Treatment He Gives Danforth. Billy Oliver, Tommy Danforth's backer and trainer, is quite a genius in his way and is well known to Eastern sports as one of the most thorough and intelligent tutors of athletes in the country. He is very confident that Danforth will win the ten-round match with Warren at the Washington rink. Oliver said yesterday: Danforth has trained at my boating establishment on the Hudson river ever since he entered the arena. He is an expert oarsman and swimmer besides being a first-class all-around athlete. He has been in a match with Warren for some time, but he always stuck to the West, and did not come to New York. Finally Pat Sheedy, an Irishman, wrote to Minneapolis and so the match was made at $400 a side. Danforth has already been in training for six weeks. He gets up at 6 in the morning and takes a little walk, and then a light breakfast. After an hour's rest he puts on his heavy sweating bands and goes on a ten-mile journey. The first five miles he walks briskly, and the other five he runs sharply. He is then rubbed down and sponged with rum water. After he gets a good, hearty dinner, with a bottle of Bass, and rests until 2 o'clock, when he runs again for ten miles. At 6 o'clock he punches the ball for an hour, is then rubbed down, gets supper, and at 9 o'clock goes to bed good and tired.
