Smith, F. E. Garbido, I. F. Prentise, Will J. Eyens, H. H. ide. J. E. Prentiss, Will J. Evans, H. H. were instructed to use their influence for the nator, and for David Fakler for treasurer. The other wards are understood to also favor the same candidates. Toe Republicans are all at sea regarding the other nominations. Waseca County Farmers.

Special to the Globe. WASECA, Minn., Oct. 2.-The Farmers' County alliance held its quarterly meeting here to-day, and Hon. A. Bullis was called on for remarks. He said: I came to make your acquaintance, and not to make a speech. I stand before you as a farmer's and Democratic candidate for congress, and I regret that I am not more worthy to fill the position, but what I have and am I give unto thee. If the farmers stand together, they will elect their men, but if they don't work, they may hold their Peace.

Powell Gers Nominated. Special to the Globe.

La CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 2.—The labor party of this county met in convention at West Salem to-day. The delegates were Knights of Labor workingmen and dissatisfied Republi-cans. All the towns in the county were rep-resented except four. The Powell "White Beaver" element captured the delegates and the present mayor of this city and head of the labor movement in this county, Dr. Frank Knutzon, of Burns, was nominated for the assembly. Barlow, who was thrown over-board by the late Republican convention, was nominated for treasurer, and James Fullmer, a river pilot, for sheriff. The Democrats make nominations Wednesday. Dr. Powell will make a bitter fight for the senate and hopes to be elected to show the labor be self-supporting.

People's Nominations. Special to the Globe. SAUK CENTRE, M'nn., Oct. 2 .- At the peo ple's convention, held at Mevers' Grove to-day, Kittle Halverson, of North Fork, was nominated as representative of the Fourth legislative district, and A. A. Whitney, of Melrose, for county comm Fifth district.

Royally Received. Special to the Globe.

WOONSOCKET, Oct. 2.—The Sanborn county delegation, consisting of Messrs. Dunn, Nave, Ramsey, Carpenter, Smith and Anderson, to the Democratic convention at Aberdeen, on their return received a grand ovation. publicans and Democrats alike turning out to receive them. Handshaking and con-gratulations from all sides were the order of the evening. As a unit our delegation stood for the Democratic principles, that the people rule, and the resolutions submitting the questions of division, admission, prohibition, etc., received the hearty support of the convention. The nomination of Hon. M. H. Day for delegate in congress is a fair notice to congress that the people of all Dakota, regardless of party, are unanimously in favor of admission. Mr. Day will receive a large vote in South Dakota.

The lown of Oakes.

ELLENDALE, Dak., Oct. 2 .- An excursion train, containing over two hundred persons, mostly business men from the various towns along the Northwestern road between Huron and Columbia, were at the new town site of Oakes recently. Posters had been freely distributed through the principal towns along the main line of the railway, announcing the sale of lots in Oakes on Sept. 29. Consequently quite a number of persons from Huron, Redfield, Columbia and other towns were present to invest in the enterprise. Business lots were sold at prices ranging from $1.75 to $350, and residence lots from $150 to $225 each. The town of Oakes is located at the junction of the Northern Pacific and the Northwestern roads, about sixty miles southeast of Jamestown. It is about three-quarters of a mile from the James river, and situated in a beautiful Lacher, John Latsche, Enoch Stott, George F. agricultural country. A union depot 30x140 Flint, W. C. Pierce, H. Why, I left my sulky-plow out in ther field last winter, an' when I went ter get it in ther spring, it had grown so big that it took four horses ter draw it out ov ther ground. I sold ther plow fur old iron, an' it cum ter enough ter raise ther mort-gage on my farm. It's great land, my boy!"

One day last winter the passenger train on the Devil's Lake branch of the Manitoba road got stuck in a snow drift about the bank on account of logs being packed twenty miles from the station and the passengers had to while their time away as best they could. There were several traveling men on board and among them was a man by the name of Isaac Hensheimer, representing a New York clothing house. He was not popular with the boys, but as had never put in much time practicing log he was a fair story teller, they allowed him running, and after getting about half way to stay in the gang. They were busily en- to the shore, he struck one that rolled with gaged in swapping lies when the conductor

"What's the matter with marrying them," said the New York drummer, with a grin4 "How'll you do it?" came the inquiry. "Why, I'll go back there and make them show up their license and pass myself off as a minister and tie them. See? That'll pacify them till we get into Devil's Lake, and when

"Great scheme," said John Grimshaw, a

"Great scheme," said John Grimshaw, a soap man, with a wink at the boys, "Go in, Pants, and splice them."

Isaac wandered back into the car. Pretty soon he came back and said: "It's all right, boys, I hitched them. They're as happy as a couple of dogs with a fresh bone. I did the job in great shape. But the best of it was, I kissed the bride. Ha! ha! ha! You bet, and it wasn't bad, either. She's a pretty slick girl. Just thing of me back there kissing a woman and you fellows up here trying to keep your feet warm, kicking the side of the car. Oh ho! ha! he!"

"You're a lucky dog, Ike," said a cigar The conversation kept up for awhile, when John Grimshaw and the conductor left the car. Getting outside John said to the conductor: It would do the boys good to see him stepped on. Now I want you to go back there and explain the trick to that farmer and tell him if he don't thump the barley corn out of that chap he's no good. Send him into the smoker and let him bang him around to his neart's content. I'll warrant you there'll be no in-terference."

The conductor agreed to do it and John went back to the bags and took his seat. In about lifteen minutes the door opened and a fellow six feet three in his socks, with hands on him like a pair of hay forks and a mysteriously wild look about his orbs

"Whar's thet air minister?" he roared. "Here I am, my dear tellow," answered the New Yorker with a side wink at the crowd, "What can I do for you?"
