This order in any capacity, either as general master workman or as grand master, is not to be elected by general sentiment or sympathy, but by the interests of God's suffering poor, and the cause of unfeeling labor. I believe it to be my duty that I talk thus plainly, and here face to face with labor's representative men and women is the place to say it.

GERONIMO'S SURRENDER. The Manner in Which it Was Brought About Still Criticized by Washington Coffee Coolers. WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—It is stated officially by the war department that nothing has been determined upon in regard to the surrender of Geronimo, and that the department is still looking for information upon which to base any action. Gen. Miles' want of frankness in avowing at the outset that he had granted liberal terms to the captives is severely criticized. It is understood that the instructions given to Gen. Miles on October 1st, were to capture Geronimo and his band, and to bring them to the reservation at Fort Huachuca. The instructions were to be carried out as far as possible, but if it was found that the Indians were not to be captured, then they were to be kept in the hands of the Apaches unless they came without their weapons, and then they were to be released. THOUGHT THEY SAW A GHOST. Atlanta Constitution. One of the strangest things about the Beck murder case was that a gentleman from Rabun, "has not been told. Beck has a physique which would do honor to an athlete, and his immaculate shirt front marks him from afar. When he was put in jail for the murder of his wife and sister he was always to be seen in the recreation yard, where the reflection of the sun in the afternoon blinded every one to all but the shirt front. Finally he was removed to Ganeyville. One afternoon shortly after a company was gathered in the front porch of Duncan's hotel, among them a well-known preacher. "I see something over in that window," remarked the preacher. "I don't see anything," replied the people huddled close together as they looked upon the light. "It must be Beck's haunt," suggested one. "Sure I'm born," said the preacher, "I do look like a ghost."
