Father Vaudry's Case.

Special to the Globe.
BRainerd, Minn., Oct. 18.—The case of Father T. A. Vaudry, charged with committing adultery with Mrs. Nathalie Turgeon, came up for trial in the district court today and attracted a crowd of spectators. The court house being filled to its utmost capacity. The entire morning session was taken up in getting a jury, and immediately after dinner Mrs. Turgeon, the prosecuting witness, took the stand. She swore that she boarded at Father Vaudry's house in Terrebonne for over two months, during which time they occupied a bed together, she being induced to do so by Vaudry, who represented to her that it would be no sin before God for two persons who loved each other to live together as man and wife. She also testified that they had committed adultery in the priest's house in Brainerd in September, 1885. Letters from Vaudry to witness were produced in evidence, going to show the relations existing between them, and also the active part taken by defendant in securing the annulment by the bishop of the marriage of Mrs. Turgeon and her husband. The examination of this witness, which was held for two days, was continued today. The cross-examination was commenced by W. W. Irwin, of the counsel for the defense, who is assisted by T. F. Fleming, of this city. The prosecution is being conducted by Prosecuting Attorney Sleeper and Mr. Baxter, of Minneapolis. The defense will be that of conspiracy and forgery. The trial has attracted a large number of the Catholic clergy from all parts of the state to the city.

Charged With Adultery.
Special to the Globe.
EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Oct. 18.—Some months ago Albert Russell, a young unmarried man of this city became acquainted in Stillwater, Minn., with Elizabeth Hines, wife of Thomas Hines, a substantial citizen of that place, and the following Hines, Russell eloped with Mrs. Hines. The pair came to this city and lived together here. After Hines' return to Stillwater he spent some time in tracing the runaways and finally discovered them here. Saturday night they were arrested together in a house in the Sixth ward. Upon arraignment before Justice Marshall on a charge of adultery both pleaded not guilty, but after examination this afternoon they were held for trial and failed in default of bail. The woman is in a delicate condition.

Clear Field for Rust.

Special to the Globe.
EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Oct. 18.—The omission of the Democracy of the Twenty-first senatorial district to nominate a candidate for state senator, in opposition to William A. Rust, the Republican candidate, who is one of the leading half-breeds of the Northwest, and is known to favor the re-election of Philetus Sawyer to the United States senate, has never been explained in print. It has been said to be due to the fact that the Democrats are ambitious men, making his first bid in politics, would, if the Democracy opposed him, knock the head out of the inextinguishable barrel, which it is well known he can command, and not only sweep the senatorial district for himself, but down out the Democratic county ticket as well. Such is not the reason. More than ordinary interest attaches to Mr. Rust's candidacy from the fact that he is aiming at high things; that he has a seat in the national house of representatives, distinctly, but vividly, in his eye, and that he is seeking to place the Democracy in power to have the embarrasment to the lumber industry which has arisen from the present location of the logging works of the DeLis company, and to use his utmost efforts for the development of the magnificent water-power at the DeLis. The leaders of the Democracy in this county have conscientiously refrained from opposition to Mr. Rust because of his apparently well-spirited attitude, and the Democrats of Poplin and Pierce counties have no candidates whom they would desire to present against him.

His Farewell Sermon.

Special to the Globe.
LANCASTER, Wis., Oct. 18.—Rev. Samuel W. Eaton, father of the present DeLis college, preached his farewell sermon in the Congregational church in this city last night to an immense throng of people. He has preached in this city forty years, with only a single interruption of three years, when acting as chaplain in the late war, and is one of the oldest preachers in the state. The sermon moved both audience and speaker to tears many times during its delivery, and it was a committee presented the aged clergyman with a set of well-worded resolutions of regret on behalf of the church. In the audience was Eaton's father-in-law, Rev. Demorest, from New York, over 90 years old and still an effective preacher.

Saw Mills Shut Down.

Special to the Globe.
EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Oct. 19.—The Empire Lumber company shut down its saw mills here for the season. This is the first company to suspend operations. The other saw mills will probably keep running till late in the season and will stop by cold weather. The Empire has employed three or four hundred men. It is reported that the company will remove two of its three saw mills from this locality this fall, one to Wisconsin and one to Lake Itasca. This is supposed to be one reason for the early suspension.

Seven Years at Waupun.

Special to the Globe.
CHIPPewa FALLS, Wis., Oct. 18.—Judge Clough today sentenced Albert Swellbucker and Mathias Wallach, whom the jury found guilty of manslaughter, to seven years at Waupun. The facts of the murder, which occurred in the town of Tilden last June, are as follows: The murder took place at a social party, or rather at its close. The murdered man, Peter Bovie, started home with a young lady, which seemed to excite the wrath of Albert Swellbucker, who, accompanied by Mathias Wallach, started in pursuit. Overtaking the man and woman they commenced an assault on the former, beating him with a club until he was dead. The assault was entirely unprovoked, and was a cold-blooded murder.

The census remains about the same as it has for the past five years. The contract for supplying Fort Bennett with coal was let to-day to the Ohio Coal company. There will be about 500 tons of hard coal furnished.

The Hancock Case.

Special to the Globe.
STROUX CITY, Ia., Oct. 18.—The return of Cismarck and the city officers yesterday, and the probable testimony of the prisoner are discussed everywhere here to-day. He will have a preliminary trial tomorrow morning and tell his story. Before being brought here Cismarck was taken to Des Moines, where he made a statement before the governor and attorney general. A request was made for executive clemency, but it is understood the governor refused to promise this, not being favorably impressed with the appearance of the man. The question now is: Who will be named as the murderer? There is much to indicate that he will substantiate the essential points of Leavitt's confession.

Accidentally Shot.

Special to the Globe.
OROVILLE, Minn., Oct. 18.—A case of accidental shooting occurred yesterday near the town of O'Dessa, this county, by which Neil Larson, a young Scandinavian aged 19, lost his life. Prof. McCleary, institute director of the normal school, is visiting at the normal here to-day. Mrs. Charles Bidwell is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerrard, this week. Col. RUMBLE OF THE RAILS.

A Company Organized to Build Fifteen New Lines of Road in Montana Territory.

A Big Scheme That May Give the Northern Pacific Road an Undesirable Competition.

The Pullman Car Company at a Loss to Know What to Do With Its Money.

Travel Settling In Towards the Pacific Coast—Rates Reduced on Stock.

Developing Montana.

Out in the West country the Northern Pacific road is liable to meet strong competition before many months. The Union Pacific road is on the alert, and although it is at present barred from issuing bonds for the purpose of building new lines, its strong financial backers have overcome this difficulty by organizing a joint stock company for the purpose of building several extensions. The company has been incorporated under the title of the Union Pacific & Montana railway, and it declares its intention of building various lines throughout the territory of Montana.

The incorporators are Samuel Ward, C. P. Deussen, George W. Irvine, C. W. Scott and Winthrop Raymond, and the capital stock is fixed at $1,000,000, with power to increase the same if found necessary as the work of construction progresses.

The undertaking of this company is no small matter, as it proposes to build fifteen lines that will cover, at the lowest estimate, 1,000 miles of road. The routes are laid out through the valleys of the central, northern and western part of the territory, and in several instances run parallel with the main line of the Northern Pacific. This creates a competition between the two great railroad companies that may prove unprofitable to them, but will be a great benefit to shippers to and from that country. The building of these lines will at least open up and develop portions of that rich stretch of country that is full of mineral wealth. Work on these lines has not begun, but it is expected that before many months ground will be broken for the construction of more than one of the lines.

The Pullman Surplus.

President Pullman, of the Pullman Palace Car company, says some way has got to be devised for dividing the company's large surplus. The stock is $15,925,000, and to pay the regular 8 per cent dividends thereon requires $1,274,000. The interest on the funded debt amounts to only $171,453 a year, and the net earnings each year are so large as to leave a surplus nearly equal to another $1,000,000.

This surplus now reaches nearly ten million dollars. These figures will prove of more than ordinary interest to the traveling public, and ought to incite railway managers who allow their locomotives to drag the Pullman company's cars round behind them for an exceedingly small portion of the fare, to make contracts in which they will get a more liberal dividend.

As it is, for a middle rest a person is obliged to pay from $1.50 to $2, and for the polish quarter or half a dollar. The company pays for it, he is expected to pay the porter a tip, he sometimes finds on his hands when he the porters $10 per month and the porters board themselves. The company employs them on the basis that they will be fed by their patrons enough to raise their monthly compensation to reasonable figures. When it costs a man nothing to get on to a sleeping car, it costs him from two to several hundred dollars and a bad cold to get off. According to the annual report of the Pullman Palace Car company, it is one of the greatest monopolies that exists.

In many cases, by the contracts of the Pullman company with the railway companies, the former is given all the sleeping car fares and there is no competition, and the lower the rate of transportation given by the railway companies, the larger the business done by the sleeping car company.

Reducing Rates.

Lines interested in Iowa traffic have agreed on a reduction of 35 per cent. in rates on stock, cattle, where the rates are $40 or over per car, valuation not to exceed $100 per head, agents to take release, from Chicago, Milwaukee and points common thereto, on the basis of the Iowa rates, and the agreement. The term "stock" applies only to such shipments of young stock as are intended for feeding purposes, and will not under any circumstances cover shipments of adult stock, which cows or stock intended for butchering. This agreement applies to all points in Iowa except Council Bluffs.

Going to the Occident.

Travel to the Pacific coast has set in unusually early this year, and Southern California seems the point most favored by those westward bound. Travel to the coast promises to be much heavier this year than heretofore, for some unknown reason, but it is quite probable that the low rate of transportation has a great deal to do with it. Round-trip tickets now being sold via Omaha or Kansas City to Los Angeles or San Francisco for $50, the return coupon good for three months, which will give the visitor the benefit of the best season in that charming climate.

For $5 extra the tickets will be made good for returning over any road the excursionist desires, and for $25 additional the tickets will be extended ninety days. Yesterday a party left for Los Angeles via the Minnesota & Northwestern road.

C. B. & N. Railroad.

WINONA, Oct. 18.—Contractors in this city have received orders from the Chicago, Burlington & Northern officials to resume work on the filling for the transfer approach at the east end of the new river bridge. They will doubtless be doing business in this city over its own tracks within the next fifteen days. Their negotiations with the Northwestern railway fell through, and the transfer boat will be brought here to use until the river freezes over, when a temporary bridge will be constructed. A large steel bridge will probably be built here in the near future.

Chips From the Tree.

The Minneapolis & St. Louis rail-line, between St. Paul and Minneapolis, is now ready for business, and tickets have been placed on sale for the transfer of passengers. The Northern Pacific road has published a rate on fare from all points in Minnesota and Dakota to St. Paul and Minneapolis, which is the same as wheat, coal and lumber.

Ninety-nine carloads of cattle, thirty-two cars of sheep and five cars of horses passed over the Northern Pacific road yesterday.

H. C. Davis, assistant general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific road, left last night for St. Louis to attend to business.

W. H. Trith, general northern passenger agent of the Kansas City, St. Joe & Council Bluffs road, is in the city.

J. A. Shepherd, immigration agent for the Northern Pacific road, located at San Francisco, is in the city.

Tommy Denforth, the feather-weight, went east last night over the Wisconsin Central.
