The St. Paul Trades Assemby Discussing the Proposed New Hall, to be Dedicated to Labor. A Study of the Minneapolis Election and the Effect the Labor Vote

Had on It.

Aveling to Lecture on Socialism in St. Paul Tuesday Evening -- A Noble Project.

The weightiest matter under consideration at the meeting of the Trades and Labor assembly on Friday evening was the pro-posed new quarters. The initial step had been taken some time ago and the matter progressed so far as setting off a plan for a library, reading and committee rooms, and the general room for the assembly. The certainly have been elected, had the labor purpose is to establish and furnish a hall, accessible and convenient to all trade or-ganizations and local assemblies of the one ticket. McVeagh and Lawler had been Knights of Labor, to be open certain hours of the day and night, furnished with an intelligence office, and accepted as the general the labor vote was alive to its own interest, headquarters for the dissemination of labor news and the molding of labor thought. All prganizations are invited to send a delegate to the Trades Assembly hall next Friday one office in which labor is interested it is ing boom in St. Paul. Though on the threshold of winter, carpenters and stonemasons report business very good and plumbers fair. Printing alone wore a depressed look. Although advertisements are daily inserted in the St. Paul papers inviting men to go to Chicago and take the places of the packing-house strikers a vigilance committee from one of the Knights of Labor assembles reported that the adver-tisers could obtain but one recruit from St.

It has, for some time, been asked by different members of labor organizations in this city, while reviewing the progress made by these bodies in different localities, "Cannot something be done to make these organiza-tions productive of a higher degree of intelli-gence?" Now, let us be honest and fair, free from prejudice and jealousy, guided by one motive—the best interests of all—and look at these organizations as we find them.
First—Take our trade unions and trade assemblies of the Knights of Labor and ask the semblies of the Knights of Labor and ask the question: What impression does each meeting of any one of them make on its members in the direction of making them better husbands, fathers, brothers or friends; purer men, less selfish, and more noble; to deepen their thoughts, expand their reasons and subdue their animal propensities; in a word, to elevate their minds? What is done at each meeting to remedy the great evils that exist? Has anyremedy the great evils that exist? Has any-thing been done to change the land system; is a noble one, and its magnitude should be thing been done to change the land system; appreciated. The working classes, with to obliterate the wage system; to take [allroads, telegraph systems and other great products of toil that should be used for the convenience and welfare of the country, instead of for the enrichment of individuals. out of the hands of corporations and place out of the hands of corporations and place; them in the hands of the government, where they properly belong, or to change our financial system? Have the members yet discussed as to whether those changes are a necessity—what plans have been presented at each meeting for the elevation of mankind—for the complete emanipation of labor? Has a step been taken in this direction? Let each one asswer honestly. this direction? Let each one answer housely for himself each question, and the verdict will be unnimous—that there is but little advancement. All these organizations generally do is to deal with the questions con-cerning their own crafts; and if all are get-ting good wages, and are involved in no diffi-culty, the chances are that the members will pay no attention to the organization until something immediately affecting their interests comes up, and then they will flock to the meetings for aid in settling it. We are not tee—say one or two—from each organization to arrange for joint meetings of all the labor organizations in the city, at stated times, perhaps once a month; select a subject, and say five or six organizations-that each would be expected to formulate its views on the subject, and present them, in a paper or set speech, through one of its members, at the first joint meeting following. Each organization notified could then notify its members to prepare to present their views on the question to their organization at a prticular meeting, either by reading papers or speaking on the subject. The result of this is apparent. The body can then choose from the number one to be presented at the joint meeting, and if no one at the joint meeting, and it no one address is satisfactory it can select a committee from the members presenting the addresses to embody certain parts of each, or make and select any one address, into a paper, and select some one to present it at the joint meeting. After the addresses are presented at the joint meeting they could be referred to the committee, and the best ones published in the different papers. This will bring before the public the crystallized thought of the brightest minds in our organizations, and will encourage others to think for themseives and add to the mass of thought; it will make our organizations schools of thought, be giving to the members of each a stimulus to do all in their power, so that they may not be outdone: it will prevent men from boastng of their individual abilities as speakers written, as well as keep others from lauding those men to the skies for the act, for in this those men to the skies for the act, for in this case the organization gets the credit, and not the individual. No organization will fail to present an address when called upon, for an organization is not like an individual—it cannot get off on the common plea of "I can't" and maintain its dignity as an intelligent body; it would pay a lawyer to prepare an address sonographan offer such a plea. an address sooner than offer such a plea. We cannot here enter into an argument on as they are many: but we have called atten-tion to a few of the good results to come trom such meetings, and fail to see how they could result in anything but good. request that each organization appoint a committee of two—and be sure to appoint only those who can and will attend to the matter—to attend a joint committee meeting K. of L. hall, 371 Jackson street, at in h. of D. dail, on Sunday, Dec. 5, so that we 20 o'clock p. m., on Sunday, Dec. 5, so that we may arrive at a conclusion as to whether the foregoing plan will be adopted or not, and, if adopted, to arrange the details. It would be well for each organization to instruct its

LABOR IN POLITICS.

What Was and Was Not Accomplished at the Last Election in Labor made its first effort at politics in Minneapoils this fall, and the result is being canvassed with considerable interest. The Trades assembly indorsed a number of men for various offices and presented their names to the Democratic and Republican conventions. About all of them were taken up and placed on the respective tickets, but not all were elected. The only indorsement for the county ticket was for Dr. M. Finnegan for coroner, the Democrats ratifying it and placing the name on the ticket. But Dr. Finnegan was defeated, and by about a strict party vote. What is the inference? If the solid labor vote had been given him his election would have been insured, and the natural conclusion is that he failed to receive it. Labor has placed great stress on the life and limb law, and the assembly made the office of coroner a special point, indorsing no other, yet its candidate, running with the Democrati ticket, was defeated. The conclusion seems inevitable that the workingmens' one. The sales and manufacture of barrels last week were both heavy, but fell considerable two political parties, paying no attention to its own candidate. It was either when, for the corresponding week, 99,000 seems inevitable that the workingmens'

The question that labor has to ask itself is, what is the use suggesting men to the two political parties and then deserting them at the polls? It looks very much as though Miller. this was a rebuke to the Democratic party for pondering to the supposed labor vote. This vote on a county office is particularly suggestive, for it affords the opportunity of comparing the entire vote.

The Trades assembly also indorsed candidates for the legislature and again a straight party vote prevailed. In the Thirtieth district, where the Democracy triumphed, the entire ticket was elected, while the Repub licans swept the Twenty-ninth district.

There is every evidence that the labor vote made no effort to concentrate on the men it had indorsed. With the preponderance of labor votes in the lower district, a mixed legislative ticket would

A free lecture on "Socialism and the Labor Question" will be given at Turner

hall on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the socialists of St. Paul, by Dr. Edward Aveling, the well-known English man, and was born in London in 1851. He is author of many remarkable books on philoso phy, botany and social economy, and has as one of the most talented and most enthusiastic disciples of the great Charles Darwin, a very high reputation in the scientific world. Be sides that world-wide known excellent poet, William Norris (the millionaire), besides Hyndman and others, Dr. Aveling is one of the most prominent socialistic workingmen

of England. His wife, Mrs. Eleanor Marx-

Aveling, who also will address the audience, is the daughter of the great Social-Economist Carl Marx, who found the scientific basis for modern socialism and whose life-long labor and studies are contained in his great work, "Das Kapital" ("The Capital"). The growing conflict between capital and labor; the accumulation of enormous wealth in the hands of the few; the impoverishment of the laboring masses; the innumerable strikes and lockouts; the increasing power and arrogance of the rich class, etc., etc., must naturally lead to the ruin of the present system of private capiment of a new system of production and distribution, a more just social order, can prevent the approaching crisis. There is and has been much talk about social ism, but its ains are not understood by many. The people ought to be enlightened about this great question, and now there is a good op-portunity on next Tuesday evening.

MINNEA OLIS COOPERS.

The Minnesota shop is running with a re-luced force.

The one-stave barrel shop is working eighteen coopers.

The Hennepin shop has added several journeymen to its force.

The Hard Wood Storage company is selling its barrels as fast as it can turn them out.

The Auld shop was closed down indefinitely Monday, the proprietor giving as a reason that he could not afford to pay 15 cents for making barrels, and sell them to the mills at 34 cents. He employed toirty to thirty-five coopers, and at last accounts they had not manifested any disposition to work for less than the standard price.

The co-operative store, an institution which owes its existence largely to the fostering care of the co-operative coopers, is a year old, and a good, lusty infant. The annual meeting was held last week, and officers were elected as follows: President, M. J. Gill; secretary, George Clement; treasurer, Frank Gagacki. G. J. Matt, of the Sixth street shop, was made one of the directors. While the store did not make large dividends, the showing for the

The West Side Sewer.

Work on the gigantic West St. Paul sewer has practically come to a standstill for thewinter, except that part which is to be a sand rock tunnel and which is espe cially adapted to winter work. Few who have not particularly inquired into the matter have any idea of the magnitude of the work which is being done by Contractor appreciated. The working classes, with F.S. Which can only be done by educating their members on the questions with which the toilers, the world over, have to deal. With the object in view of advancing a step in this direction, we present the following plan for your consideration: It is to have a committee—say one or two—from each organization.

The Eirement of the individual. It is directly and tenders the condition of labor through the intellectual improvement of the individual. If the response is as hearty as can be safely anticipated, the site will be selected and the ground broken this fall, and that when the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor visits Minneapolis next October, that its meetings will be held in the new building, erected as a tribute and a monument to labor.

A Remarkable Cure.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has cured me of as bad a case of Abscess of the Liver as any human being could be afflicted with and live. I was confined to the house for two years, and, for the last three months of that time, was unable to leave my bed. Four physicians treated me without giving relief, and, in fact, nothing helped me, until I tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After using a quarter of a bottle of this medi-cine I began to feel better, and every cine I began to feel better, and every additional dose seemed to bring new health and strength. I used three bottles, and am now able to attend to my business. I walk to town—one mile distant—and return, without difficulty. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has accomplished all this for me.—W. S.
