Explosion of the Steam Whaler Mary and Helen--Two Men Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—At 2:30 this morning the whaling bark Atlantic was driven ashore a mile and a half below the Cliff house and went to pieces in a few minutes, not a spar remaining standing.

The wreck was strewn along the beach for three or four miles. About twenty-five men are believed to be lost. The captain and mate, with eight of the crew, were the only ones who survived.

The vessel was valued at $10,000, her outfit at $15,000, and the insurance was $5,000. The captain and crew numbered forty-two persons, and up to now only eleven are known to have been saved.

ONLY ONE BODY. It is rumored that a large portion of the crew were intoxicated, and that twenty-five were below sleeping off the liquor when the vessel struck, and thus met their deaths.

THEY WERE SWAMPED. The sea carried them in till they touched bottom, when they dragged themselves ashore. They made no signs of distress.
