CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—When Sheriff Matson, about two weeks ago, issued an order to the officials of the county jail not to admit Miss Nina Van Zandt to her lover, Spies, nor let any of the unauthorized people in, it was thought that the matter was settled, and the couple would have to wait until Spies was given his liberty, if he should get it, before they could be married. Miss Van Zandt, however, remembered the sheriff's remark that if she were Spies' wife she might be allowed the same privileges that were given to the wives of the other prisoners. She did not want to submit to separation from her lover, and finally determined that...

SHE MUST BE MARRIED. To him. The law about marrying by letter or by proxy was looked up and Justice Engelhardt, in the town of Jefferson, whose name figured in the papers during the last months of the past year as denouncing the verdict of the anarchist trial, was consulted. He gave it as his opinion that a marriage by proxy would be binding in law, if the proxy was made out in legal form. He was commissioned to draw up the form of proxy and spent considerable time in making it conform to what he thought was the law in the case. The document was not ready until Friday evening. Early on Saturday Mrs. Van Zandt and Gretche Spies, sister of August, went out to Jefferson and called on Justice Engelhardt to get the proxy and having procured the document went down to the county jail with it. They met the wife of Spies' brother, Henry, and Mr. Wendland and these ladies witnessed the signature of Spies to the document by which he gave...

FULL AUTHORITY TO HIS BROTHER. Henry W. Spies, to represent him at the time. Mrs. F. Spies, sister of August Spies, signed the paper to witness the signature. Then the whole party went down town and Mrs. F. Spies called on her husband at his office. She told him about the affair and asked him to accompany them to the town of Jefferson to Justice Engelhardt's office on Milwaukee avenue. As was surprised, but seeing that the matter had gone too far to be stopped, consented to go along. The party was reinforced by Miss Van Zandt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Zandt. They went on foot the whole distance to Milwaukee avenue and beyond the limits of Justice Engelhardt's office. Henry Spies answered to the name of August Vincent Theodore Spies and under this name he was married to Nina Van Zandt. It is said by one very intimately related to the contracting parties that the ceremony was performed at the earnest and pressing desire of Miss Van Zandt and that August Spies simply let her...

THE MAIN OBJECT WAS TO BE ABLE TO SEE HER LOVER, OR RATHER HER HUSBAND. The same person is authority for the statement that Mrs. Van Zandt is very well satisfied and that Mr. Van Zandt thinks very highly of Spies, but is too shy to say so. He and nervously excited just at present to give any opinion of the matter. Mrs. Spies, the mother of August, is well satisfied, inasmuch as she has a very high opinion of Miss Van Zandt. She is said to be the best of feeling between the Spies and Van Zandt families, and the Van Zandts and Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Spies frequently interchange visits. The same informant is authority for the statement that...

THE WEDDING CEREMONY DOES NOT THINK THE MARRIAGE LEGAL, AND WAS OPPOSED TO THE WHOLE THING. So were some of Spies' relatives. They objected to the engagement while Spies was in jail, and feel very ill-satisfied over this marriage. They object to the proceedings. They did not object to the match, but to the marriage under the existing circumstances. The marriage by proxy is something new and gives rise to a number of questions which the first party did not touch upon. If people can be so married it would seem that it opens the gates to marvelous complications. Take the view of the question that a man can be married by proxy, it would require the most abundant of witnesses, and if he is being married, the proxy committee as bailee, it is difficult to say what recourse the presumptive owner of the bride would have to recover his property, or if...

THE BRIDE SHOULD CHANGE HER MIND AND PREFER THE PROXY TO THE ORIGINAL, IT THEN PLACES BOTH THE PROXY AND THE ORIGINAL IN EMBARRASSING POSITIONS, AS IT WOULD BE DIFFICULT TO TELL WHOSE WIFE SHE ACTUALLY WAS. If the bridegroom failed to consent to the marriage, the whole would hold true, and the bride would be in doubt whose widow she really was, in case the bridegroom did not come to time. Another consideration is the fact that Henry Spies is married. Should the highly dejected and dejected bride hold that the man and not the name was married, as has been held in cases where men tried to deceive women by marrying them under an assumed name and shirk their responsibilities, the action of the proxy committee would be seen that the fact established last Saturday opens the flood-gates of uncertainty and gives to the novelist a field that has been little dreamt of, and which will give him most vivid material for his pen. The license for the marriage was issued about three weeks ago. It has not been returned to the county clerk yet with a certificate that the ceremony has been performed. The law requires the license to be returned within thirty days after the ceremony.

SPIES DECLINES TO SPEAK OF THE CEREMONY, AND MISS VAN ZANDT REFUSES TO BE INTERVIEWED, OR EVEN TO BE SEEN. Her father also declines to talk, but does not deny the fact of the ceremony. She had expressed great surprise, and then promptly said: "I would not consider a farce like that a marriage unless pronounced so by competent authority." The alleged ceremony will not, in my judgment, change the relations of the parties. If this action was taken for the purpose of compelling the return of the license to Miss Van Zandt to the jail, it is a mistake course, and will not avail. There is no obligation, even if she were his lawful wife, to let her visit Spies, who is a prisoner. Allowing wives to visit their imprisoned husbands is merely a matter of courtesy.

THE CURSE OF ROME. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 1.—The facts in a case which illustrates the rigid rules of the Catholic church concerning divorced people, have just been made public here. Michael McCoy, a grocer of this city, has been excommunicated from St. Patrick's Catholic church owing to his marriage with Miss Emma Long, after having secured a divorce from his wife. Miss Long lived next door to the McCoy family and Michael became infatuated with her, so much so that he neglected his wife and children, and that he is accused by his neighbors of having treated his wife in order to compel her to secure a legal separation from him. On the night of the nuptials with Miss Long, the neighbors and his former church associates surrounded the house and threatened him with violence which was resisted. In reading McCoy out of the church, Father Lawler denounced him and the marriage and declared that he would not toler-

ROME, Feb. 1.—Premier Depetis informed the Italian chamber of deputies today that there had recently been severe fighting in that part of the Soudan whose occupation was being attempted by Italy in an understanding with England. He said fighting had resulted in almost complete disaster to the Italian forces engaged, in conjunction with the Abyssinian troops, in the work of attempting to relieve Kassala, which has been besieged by hostile Arabs ever since the beginning of the Soudanese war by the late El Mahdi.

GOING INTO DETAILS, the premier said that Ras Aloula, the general commanding the Abyssinian troops, accompanied by a small number of Italian soldiers, reached the Soudan on Jan. 29 last. A hotly-fought battle ensued. It lasted three hours, and the army of Ras Aloula was repulsed. The Italian loss was trifling, and that of the Abyssinians was unknown. Next day three companies of Italian troops were sent to reinforce the Italian forces. The Abyssinians again made an attack, and a desperate battle was waged. The Abyssinians were defeated, and the Italian troops were simply annihilated. But ninety wounded invaders were left to tell the tale of the battle. This statement made in the chamber, Premier Depetis then added that the Italian commander had recalled the troops for the advance and cancelled them at Massawah. The Radicals in the chamber, however, are not content with the report of the Italian reinforcements to Massawah. The chamber at once approved the bill by a unanimous vote. Some Radicals have been charged with the intention of bringing a bill for the purpose of Italian reinforcements to Massawah. The chamber at once approved the bill by a unanimous vote. A STOCK PANIC. LONDON, Feb. 1.—A panic prevailed on the stock exchange to-day, slightly abating toward the close. Throughout the day orders to sell poured in from the continent, and only buying by English operators prevented an extreme fall in rates. Business after the office close was active. The market was excited over reports of impending failures of many large concerns which would involve English houses. The latest quotations showed a decline for the day of 3 1/2 in Hungarian securities, 1 1/2 in Italian 5s, 1 1/2 in Spanish 4s, and 1 1/2 in Turkish. ORDERED TO LEAVE. The Gambling House of Chin & Morgan Closed Up. And Its Proprietors Ordered to Leave Minneapolis.

The efforts of Chin & Morgan to establish a gambling house in Minneapolis within the past week have attracted considerable attention among the people of sporting proclivities. The policy of the municipal administration has been to confine the gambling to the district of establishments that have been allowed to run under police surveillance, the small fry places at which brace games were operated with the aid of cappers being weeded out.
