Huron, Dak., Feb. 3.—The weather yesterday and last night was the most disagreeable experienced here for years. The velocity of the wind was twenty-five miles an hour. It blew from the northwest, piling the snow in high drifts. Trains were all suspended and no mails were sent out yesterday. The wind ceased during the night, and the temperature rose to the mark of 25° below zero. Trains were sent out on the various lines to-day, but none except one from the west arrived. They will be through to-morrow. No reports of suffering by settlers on the prairies have been received, but it will be surprising if any have escaped the severity of the past thirty-six hours. Fortunately plenty of fuel can be had at all the stations west and north, where the storm is reported more severe than here or further east.

AT SIOUX FALLS.

SIOUX FALLS, Dak., Feb. 3.—All the trains on the several roads leading to Sioux Falls, excepting the Burlington, were knocked out-day. The Sioux City train failed to reach here on account of a derailed freight engine below Canton. It is thought all the lines will be open to-morrow. The weather is very cold but there is no wind. The thermometer registered a temperature of 22° below zero at 10 o'clock to-night, and still sinking.

AT SIOUX CITY.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Feb. 3.—Sioux City is again in the midst of a blockade. There have been no trains on the Illinois Central, Chicago & Northwestern or Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha roads to-day. All trains on the other lines are behind time.

GOVERNORS AT FARGO.

FARGO, Dak., Feb. 3.—Gov. Church, Hon. M. H. Day and many other notables on their way to Bismarck, reached this city this forenoon, and have been detained here all day on account of the snow blockades between Fargo and Bismarck. The road was opened this evening and the train went west. Gov. Church was in the council and said he had word from the East that there would be no further trouble about his confirmation. He will sit with the supreme court on the trial of one or two cases. Gov. Pierce reached here at 7 p. m., being twenty-two hours on the road from Bismarck, and has gone east.

THE BISMARCK SOLONS.

They Modestly Wait the Departure of Two Women Before Passing a Bill on the Senate Subject.

Special to the Globe.

Bismarck, Dak., Feb. 3.—The mercury to-night has dropped down to 30° below zero, but the blizzard has died out and there are promises of tolerable weather. The train from the east is fifteen hours late and it is not known when the one from the west will be here. Business is almost at a standstill, and were it not for the legislature and supreme court, the town would be dead. To-day the business transacted by both houses of the legislature was light. The rooms were cold and an early adjournment was taken. A splendid exhibition of the latest models of the average Dakota citizen was given in the council to-day, when the house bill raising the age of consent in females from 10 to 12 years came up for consideration. There were two ladies in the room at the time, and one of them, a young girl, could not stand the pressure and sought refuge in the cloak room. The bill was dropped for a time, but it finally became necessary to take it up, when, blushing deeply, Mr. Cumber arose and moved the bill to be taken up by the senate. When he could discuss it as he saw fit. The ladies finally left, and the bill was taken up and passed.

FIXING THE AGE OF CONSENT.

Another bill asking for the location of a school for the deaf and dumb to-day. It asks that the home be set down near the enterprising town of Frankfort. There are so many bills of this nature now before the two bodies that the committee on bills passed an assurance that it will provide only for location and will have to go begging for an appropriation. Business in the house was terribly dull and the members were blue in the face. Their feet chattered and their hands were principally disposed of by the repeal of some law of but little importance. A council bill providing for the burial of soldiers and sailors who served in the late war was passed. This with several bills and the reference of several bills completed the business transacted in this body. The council bill authorizing and empowering the organized counties of Dakota to issue and distribute bonds to provide for the payment of outstanding indebtedness and to provide for the payment of the principal and interest thereof, passed the house. There is a jealousy growing up between the house and senate over the fact that the council gives but little attention to house bills sent to that body for passage. They are usually referred to various committees that neglect to report them back, and the house charges that they examine bills, get the points and introduce bills themselves, covering the same points and perhaps others. The house has got an idea that the council should pass every bill just as they sent it to them, and the council reserves the right to amend as it sees fit.

Between the members of the two bodies that may break out in bad shape before the session closes. Mrs. Packard, the well-known philanthropist and advocate of woman suffrage, is here from Chicago, and has announced her intention of taking part in the law making before the session closes. She has a bill with her which she proposes to introduce. It provides for the removal of insane asylums. She has pitched her tent in the field and given it out that she proposes to stay with the gang awhile. It is expected she will be granted the privilege of the floor and given a chance to cut a swath for herself. Petitions yards in length are being received by different members from the rural districts asking for such legislation as will give the whisky traffic a black eye. One came up to-day, to J. V. White, of Clay county, signed by 160 residents of that part of the country, and an accompanying letter regretted that lack of time had prevented the list being swelled to thousands. Unless the temperance issue is here from Chicago, and the session of the legislature will pass very quietly and in strong contrast to the riotous session two years ago.

Norriah and Church. Special to the Globe. WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Survivor General Norriah was confirmed this afternoon by the senate without opposition. Probably another session will be held Saturday, when Church's confirmation will doubtless take place.

MINNESOTA DAIRYMEN.

E. G. Potter Elected President--Interesting Discussions--The Evening's Banquet.

Albert Lea, Feb. 3.—The morning session opened at 10 a. m. with a good attendance. The report of the committee recommending the consolidation of the two associations was unanimously adopted. The committee on essays reported that essays of Mrs. M. H. Lamb and Mrs. V. C. Holmes were both so good that they recommended that the committee equalize divided between the two. The officers elected were E. G. Potter, president; Frank Gifford, first vice president; C. E. Marion, second vice president; T. D. Holmes, secretary; M. Johnson, North; L. C. Howard, South; J. T. Ames, Northfield, executive committee.

Mr. Levescote read a paper on "Dairying on the Island of Jersey," reviewing the history of the industry. The superiority of the Jersey cow was pointed out, and a resolution was adopted thanking President Northrop for explaining the work of the agricultural college, expressing confidence in the management and recommending a committee from this association to consult with management about dairy matters, the committee to consist of John T. Ames, Northfield; Mart Tonsley, Le Sueur; and L. H. Stanton, Morris.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

was called to order by President Potter. Mr. C. E. Marion, of Wabasha, City, made an address on the subject of "Dairies and Their Products." He said the word had gone forth that he was especially a creamery man, but that while he had proven the value of creameries, he was not an advocate of them. He was speaking for a special purpose. The characteristic of the business was uniformity of the product. Mr. Cherry, of Cedar Rapids, gave a practical system of testing milk, exhibiting instruments and explaining them. A resolution was adopted thanking President Northrop for explaining the work of the agricultural college, expressing confidence in the management and recommending a committee from this association to consult with management about dairy matters, the committee to consist of John T. Ames, Northfield; Mart Tonsley, Le Sueur; and L. H. Stanton, Morris.

The Supposed Murdered Wife Said to Be Quietly Residing in Wyoming Territory.

A New Orleans Woman Who Picked the Pockets of Funeral Attendants.

A Saloon Fight at Chicago, Which Ended Seriously For Several Persons.

Special to the Globe.

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—The Globe to-morrow will print an article signed by one of its staff correspondents, disclosing the details of what is one of the most heartless conspiracies in the annals of crime, and which immeasurably strengthens the old adage that fiction stands no chance when truth is up, dressed and ready for business. The information comes direct from relations, who have been for months at work on the plot. Some months ago the news was flashed over the country that Mrs. Malloy, the noted temperance apostle, known and loved by thousands, had been accused of the most immoral practices, had been the associate of social lepers and an accomplice of prison convicts and a witness in a work. Throughout the case Mrs. Malloy went bravely through institutions, exerting a salutary influence, and was prone to speak of her prison boys with whom she regularly corresponded. One of them was George Graham, serving a sentence for the purpose of time she secured a pardon and placed him on a farm at Springfield, which property was left her by friends. During Graham's incarceration his wife had procured a divorce. At the farm Graham met, wooed and won Cora Lee. Mrs. Malloy was notified of the marriage and soon learned that prior to his meeting with Cora Lee he had re-entered into a MATRIMONIAL ALLIANCE with his divorced wife. The latter soon appeared on the field and consternation seized upon her, for she disappeared and there was no trace of her. A badly decomposed body was found in a well on the Malloy farm. This body was identified by the clothing as Graham's first wife, George Graham, Cora Lee and Mrs. Malloy were all tried for the murder. Graham's testimony implicated himself and the two women. He also testified that he had been on terms of undue intimacy with Mrs. Malloy. The latter proved a partial alibi and was ultimately acquitted. Graham was taken from jail by a mob and lynched. Mrs. Malloy employed detectives upon the case, and after months of labor, they now assert that Mrs. Graham is alive and the body found in the well was exhumed and placed in the hands of a physician. The case is now being re-tried. When Sarah Graham was first missed it was given out that she had gone to the Pacific slope to see a brother named Gorham, who is a soldier in the regular army. Detectives were sent to the West to search for her. Gorham was located and Mrs. Malloy is stationed with communication and gave the officers important aid. It was found a woman answering the description of Sarah Graham in regular correspondence with Gorham.

CHARGED WITH BRIBERY.

KNOCKED SENSELESS.

TWO SLUGGERS FIGHT TWELVE ROUNDS TO A FINISH NEAR CHICAGO. Special to the Globe. CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The most desperate fight which has taken place in these parts for years came off at an early hour this morning in an old distillery at Hammond. The principals were Ed Berry, of New Haven, Conn., and John Murphy, of the stock yards. Twelve rounds were fought, and they were decidedly bloody. Murphy, the defeated man, being pounded into an almost unrecognizable mass. The men wore kid gloves with the fingers cut off. The battle was for a purse, and as all witnesses the mill were assessed, the victor retained a neat sum. The men stripped it was apparent that they lacked training. Berry weighed 153 pounds and Murphy 155. From the start the men meted business. Berry quickly showed his superiority, but each time responded before time was called. When time was called for the twelfth and last round Murphy suffered a terrible sight. He was awfully disfigured about the face, and blood flowed from his nostrils in torrents. He made several ineffectual lunges at Berry, who in turn struck Murphy a left-hand under the ear, knocking him senseless. He failed to respond and Berry was given the stakes. The crowd reached the city at daylight.

THE ROCHESTER FIRE.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 3.—The loss by the burning of the state industrial school, formerly the Western House of Refuge, is now estimated at $100,000; no insurance. The female department of the building was erected in 1880 and cost $75,000 and was totally destroyed with its contents. A great loss of life was but narrowly averted. Steps will be probably taken to rebuild at once. The remains of Mrs. P. J. Van Horne were discovered in the ruins of the female department. She was 35 years of age and was employed in the laundry department.

BIG FIRE AT ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 3.—The Drummond tobacco warehouse, located on the corner of Seventh and Spruce, burned at 7 o'clock to-night. The fire was first seen in the second story near the front entrance. DISEASED IOWA HOGS.

Special to the Globe.

MASON, CITY, Ia., Feb. 3.—The hog epidemic which has been raging more or less in all northern Iowa for the past few weeks is now somewhat abating. About three weeks ago, Dr. Paaren, United States veterinary inspector, visited this locality and took from a hog that had died from this peculiar disease the spleen and right lung, and the rest of the bureau of animal industry at Washington, for examination. In a private letter received from D. E. Salmon, chief of the bureau, he says: "That he has not yet received Dr. Paaren's detailed report but that the specimens sent him have been examined and found to be a contagious inflammation of the lungs. This disease is different from the hog cholera and has not yet been thoroughly studied in this country. The many large hog dealers in this country are watching with intense interest for the full report from this bureau."

KILLED A LITTLE GIRL.

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 3.—A deplorable accident occurred yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. Beckholdt, seven miles north of Sioux City, which resulted in the death of Flora Lamberton, 12 years old. Monday evening Willie Beckholdt picked up a small child, who was not loaded, and playfully pointed it at the girl, but she was severely reprimanded by her father. Yesterday morning he took up the gun again, and finding it loaded put it down. In the afternoon the same operation was repeated, with the result that the child was killed at the girl and pulled the trigger. A report followed and the girl fell, the charge having taken effect in the head and neck. Death resulted in a few minutes.

The party returned to West Union at 10 o'clock, the evening well loaded with beer, whisky and wine. Hawkeye, Randall, Maynard and Oelwein are being pulled by the officers to-day. It is reported that the state temperance alliance has been working the matter up.

AN EDITOR MISSING.

"HAD SOME OF THE FUNK."

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 3.—The State Agricultural society, now in session, seems to have got itself into something of a predicament because of the action in adopting a resolution favoring a constitutional amendment prohibiting members of the legislature and judges from accepting railroad passes and gratuities, of which were given in the Globe dispatch of yesterday. As stated, a number of solons were very wrathful at the action of the society, claiming that their former constituents were by no means backward about working them in all the passes they could. Moreover,

A Brilliant Scene at the President's Dinner to the Diplomats Last Night.

Doings in the Senate and House--The Interstate Commerce Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Something like a sensation was caused in the district supreme court to-day by the presentation of a petition attacking the civil service commission and asserting the unconstitutionality of the law by virtue of which it exists. The paper is headed: "The President and the Civil Service Commission."

A petition of right, by Morris S. Miller, of Older Creek, Onondaga county, N. Y., for redress in the case where A. Pefferon, J. H. Oberly and Charles Lyman, commissioners, and others trespass upon his civil and political rights and privileges by exercising unlawful authority and power. The petition asks for an order or injunction restraining, enjoining and prohibiting the commissioners and all persons from exercising the illegal and void powers set forth, and for other relief, and further redress as the court shall deem sufficient to vindicate the liberty of the petitioner, and which will adjudge, determine and declare that the people of the United States are not bound by the said laws, and that the government and sovereign citizens, the said petitioner, do hereby protest against the said laws, and the petition forms a printed volume of ninety-four pages, the most of which is devoted to a declaration that the civil service law is unconstitutional and void inasmuch as it is not created by the legislative body, and that the powers of selection and appointment to office expressly reserved to the president by the constitution. Various other reasons are also put in the paper. It is believed that the proceeding taken with a view of testing the legality of the commission's existence. After the petition had been presented the court stated that it would be necessary to consider whether it should be taken up. The court has not yet decided whether the petition or allowed to come up on certiorari from a lower court.

RANGE CATTLE, ALL RIGHT.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 3.—Reports, more or less sensational, have gone abroad that the present winter has been severe on range cattle, and that the losses in Wyoming have been more than the average of past years. The correspondent has taken some pains to ascertain the facts regarding the matter, and has interviewed a number of gentlemen who are largely interested in cattle, and whose herds range at widely divergent portions of Wyoming and Dakota. All reports agree that so far as their territory and "Sonder" Dakota are concerned, the range cattle business has suffered no unusual loss during the present season.
