

SAINT PAUL MATTERS.

After a Short Illness F. R. Delano, One of St. Paul's Oldest Citizens, Dies of Pneumonia.

The Ramsey County Bar Association Will Again Discuss the Need for a New District Judge.

Declaration of Principles of the New Independent Political Party of This City.

Gov. Church Talks of His Future as Dakota's Chief Executive--Sunday Summary.

DEATH OF F. R. DELANO.

Francis R. Delano, one of the best known and oldest residents of St. Paul, and president of the board of fire commissioners, died at his residence, 244 East Tenth street, at 10 o'clock last night, after an illness of but a few days, with typhoid pneumonia. The funeral will take place Tuesday at 2 o'clock from the house.

One of the Best Known and Oldest Residents of St. Paul Dies After a Short Illness.

Francis R. Delano, one of the best known and oldest residents of St. Paul, and president of the board of fire commissioners, died at his residence, 244 East Tenth street, at 10 o'clock last night, after an illness of but a few days, with typhoid pneumonia. The funeral will take place Tuesday at 2 o'clock from the house.

Gov. Church Talks of His Future as Dakota's Chief Executive--Sunday Summary.

Gov. Church, who was elected to the governorship of Dakota, is expected to leave for that state in a few days. He has been very active and efficient in his duties as governor of Minnesota.

NEED OF A NEW JUDGE.

The Ramsey County Bar Association Will Consider This Question Again--Work Enough for Four.

The Ramsey County Bar Association will meet this evening in its new rooms in Union street, and will further consider the question of having a fourth judge in this district. A bill providing for an additional judge is already before the legislature.

THEY CAUGHT THE MAJOR.

A pair of automatic scales that weigh people at a nickel a head in hotel corridors. These scales that are placed in so many of the hotel lobbies now a days, on which for a nickel you may ascertain your weight, are a whole show in themselves sometimes.

HOW THE BUSINESS GROWS.

Inquiry at the office of the clerk of the courts developed some figures that are astonishing. During the year ended Feb. 1, there were 124 civil actions begun, the first of which were of record in the clerk's office, nor does this number include the personal tax or real estate cases, or street assessment cases.

UNJUST DISCRIMINATION.

Rev. Bird Wilkin says the High License Bill is not a Fair Deal to All Concerned. Rev. Bird Wilkin preached one of his characteristic sermons last night at Pilgrim church. Before beginning the regular sermon he said:

A NEW POLITICAL PARTY.

Declaration of Principles by the Independent Political Club--Is it a Workmen's Party? A circular has been published and circulated quite extensively in St. Paul addressed to the voters of Minnesota, setting forth the platform of the St. Paul Independent Political Club.

prize the heritage of our free institutions, made possible by their wisdom and sacrifice--to unite upon a common platform embodying the needs and demands of our common humanity. We hereby invite all who love their country, all who believe in the common brotherhood of man, regardless of nationality or color, all who believe in the golden rule of the founder of our civilization should apply in the affairs of life--who believe in the Fatherhood of a common God, and have faith in the ultimate triumph of right over wrong, and who are equally united with us in independent political action, untrammelled by party affiliation or prejudice, in the great work of purification and regeneration of the people.

The platform contains twenty-three articles calling for a change in the general election laws, to divest the primaries of corrupt influences, for a law limiting immigration, for the establishment of a bureau of education, for the reservation of public lands for actual settlers, for equal pay for equal work by both sexes, for the incorporation of labor organizations, that a lien exist on all labor products, except in case of farmers, to the extent of their little stores, to prohibit children under 15 years of age from working in shops, mines and factories, abolition of convict labor, enacting of laws in the interest of farmers, to protect them from grasping monopolies, establishment of a monetary system in which the circulating medium shall issue direct to the people, taxing of railroad lands like any other land, purchase by the government of all telegraph, telephone and railroad systems, redress of all wrongful laws by direct action of the people, levying of a graduated income tax, and establishment of co-operative systems tending to supersede the wage system. A concluding paragraph says: "This party organization will not under any circumstances assess its candidates."

He Will Not Appear Non-Residents to Dakota Offices--His Course Will Not be Partisan.

The moon train from Bismarck yesterday brought in Gov. Church, of Dakota. He was en route to his home at Haddon, and remained in the city only a short time. To a Globe reporter Gov. Church said: "I shall assume charge of the office as soon as the official announcement of my confirmation arrives--probably in three or four days."

Temperance and Bethel Rooms.

The song service at the Temperance and Bethel rooms yesterday afternoon was largely attended. Messrs. Swift and St. Clair, assisted by Mrs. Brinkneroff and Mr. Sansone, conducted the singing. An address was given by Rev. F. W. Fuller from the words, "Fools making mock at sin."

Adam Stahlman's Death.

At his home, on the corner of Ninth and St. Peter streets, Adam Stahlman, after a painful illness, quietly expired shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. Mr. Stahlman was 53 years of age, an early settler in St. Paul, and a well-known and popular citizen. He was interested in the business of the Stahlman Brewery, which he owned with his brother, Christian Stahlman, who died two years ago, was the founder and head.

Mencheror Singing Society.

This evening the Mencheror Singing society of this city will come before the public in concert at Turner hall. Prof. Mencher the director, has made every effort to surpass all former attempts, and promises a concert of rare excellence. Seibert's orchestra of sixteen musicians will furnish the instrumental part of the concert and hop.

Killed Under Falling Earth.

Two Scandinavian laborers named Ole Sevensson and John Peterson were buried by a falling embankment at the South side stock yards yesterday morning and were taken out dead. They were blasting in the side of the bluff and failed to get out of the way in time. A fellow laborer was slightly injured.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Pirates of Penzance" will be presented at the Grand Friday and Saturday evenings by a Minneapolis company composed of excellent artists. The show will begin their engagement at the opera house to-night in the "Queen's Favorite." The Nushka and Wakouto Tobogran club will attend in uniform.

GLORIOUS.

Not one solitary prisoner was taken to the station from Saturday noon up to 12 o'clock yesterday. A small fire in a shed on Fillmore avenue yesterday noon called out the department but it was quickly extinguished.

PERSONALS.

G. L. Gray, Fargo, is at the Merchants. P. J. Costello, Duluth, is at the Merchants. Gorman O. Wyatt, Omaha, is at the Merchants. Grant Thomas, Madison, is at the Merchants. R. Kerr and H. Y. Bell, Winnipeg, are at the Ryan. A. J. Valentine, a Chicago capitalist, is a guest at the Ryan. Lieut. F. B. McCoy, U. S. A. and family are guests at the Ryan. John F. Gunkle and wife and Fred Hoyer and wife, of Casselton, Dak., are at the Merchants. G. T. McTavish, Arthur McTavish and Gordon McTavish, of Neche, Dak., are at the Merchants. Arthur E. Miller, representing Miss Minnie Madden, soon to appear at the Grand, is a guest at the Ryan. C. S. Woodruff, F. D. Banning, Walter Ayers, Harry Heth, Jr., and James A. Boggs, all of Duluth, are at the Ryan.

STILLWATER NEWS.

Rev. J. B. Freeman, of Red Wing, preached a very interesting sermon at the First Presbyterian church yesterday. He was accompanied by a Gospel Temperance union service which was addressed by Mesdames Smith and Woodruff.

GRISWOLD. JAY.

It must be confessed, however, that E. de V. Vermont's book will contain some very pretty coloring. All the coats of arms are beautifully engraved and printed. Thus in the Jay design the bird is dark blue, the wings and submargin are in the richest gold. The Griswold coat of arms is a gold border, a silver field, while center, and also the bounds, are in black.

THEY CAUGHT THE MAJOR.

A pair of automatic scales that weigh people at a nickel a head in hotel corridors. These scales that are placed in so many of the hotel lobbies now a days, on which for a nickel you may ascertain your weight, are a whole show in themselves sometimes. They are automatic and are so adjusted that the pointer on the face of the indicator moves only in response to a nickel put within the little slit up near the top of the machine. A little card at the top of the machine says to the one anxious to learn his or her weight, "step on the platform and pay for your weight by placing a nickel in the slit to hear your weight." It is a very ingenious contrivance whereby the nickel unlimbers the machinery and the pointer goes around until it stops at the figure representing the number of pounds you weigh. A pair of gentlemen were sitting near the scales in the Merchants hotel the other evening when Maj. Wilson came up and suggested that they weigh themselves.

COATS OF ARMS FOR ALL

Establishing Some Very Lofty Pedigrees in a Very Elaborate Work Catering to the

New York Craze for Rank and Title --What Are the Americans Coming To?

Enterprise of E. de V. Vermont and His Novel Publication, the American Heraldica.

The ultra fashionables of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, or at least those of them with whom pride of ancestry is a creed and belief in blue blood a religion, will at least have something to instruct and amuse them. Something to tell them as if by pure chance upon their parlor tables. A gentleman rejecting in the high-sounding name of E. de V. Vermont is getting out a gloriously illuminated work entitled America Heraldica, which is a compilation of coats of arms, crests and mottoes of prominent American families who settled in this country before the year 1800.

The first installment, which is just out, is certainly upon a marvel of the printer's art. It has two plates, each containing a list of arms of two of the distinguished families of America. The drawings are brilliantly illuminated and the accompanying letter press is printed in two colors on the very best and heaviest of unpeeled paper. The whole appearance of the publication is redolent of aristocracy. Nothing quite so rich in the way of typography as the American Heraldica has issued from any press in many a season. Unfortunately the literary character of the publication is not quite so brilliant as the mechanical part, but E. de V. Vermont manages to convey to his readers some idea of what he intends. He proposes to prove to a certainty that every family name that appears in the Heraldica and is ornamented with a coat of arms should be a real sinon-pure article, and in this connection he makes a statement which, it is feared, may hurt the sale of the book. He says, for instance, that "besides the few heraldic emblems brought over from the old country, there are a few which are not there to be found in America thousands of armorial devices used without a twinge of conscience by families with absolutely no right to bear any coat-of-arms and knowing the fact to be such."

HOMAGE TO BOSTON BEAUTY.

The occasion was that of a fashionable wedding in a fashionable church. The bride was the patrician daughter of a house that dates its proud name back, possibly to Charlemagne or farther, and the bridegroom no whit less distinguished in ancestry. The solemn knot had been tied amid a throng of the haute noblesse of the city, all friends, relatives and acquaintances of the happy pair, who were attended by card, and the procession took up the line of march to their carriages. As is usual on such occasions, the striped awning drew an eager crowd to catch a passing glance of the bride and her attendants, and such a goodly crowd had collected on this day that the muscular police had a hard time in keeping the curious ones at a respectful distance from the bidden wedding guests. Among those unbidden onlookers was one of those irrepressible New England maidens of Irish parentage, who are ever ready to take in every situation, without losing any of the attendant details. As the last carriage drove up in front of the awning for its owner, the irrepressible, who was on one side of the openings in the awnings, called across to a friend of the same age on the opposite side, that "that was the last of 'em."

ADAM STAHLMAN'S DEATH.

At his home, on the corner of Ninth and St. Peter streets, Adam Stahlman, after a painful illness, quietly expired shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. Mr. Stahlman was 53 years of age, an early settler in St. Paul, and a well-known and popular citizen. He was interested in the business of the Stahlman Brewery, which he owned with his brother, Christian Stahlman, who died two years ago, was the founder and head.

THEY CAUGHT THE MAJOR.

A pair of automatic scales that weigh people at a nickel a head in hotel corridors. These scales that are placed in so many of the hotel lobbies now a days, on which for a nickel you may ascertain your weight, are a whole show in themselves sometimes. They are automatic and are so adjusted that the pointer on the face of the indicator moves only in response to a nickel put within the little slit up near the top of the machine. A little card at the top of the machine says to the one anxious to learn his or her weight, "step on the platform and pay for your weight by placing a nickel in the slit to hear your weight." It is a very ingenious contrivance whereby the nickel unlimbers the machinery and the pointer goes around until it stops at the figure representing the number of pounds you weigh. A pair of gentlemen were sitting near the scales in the Merchants hotel the other evening when Maj. Wilson came up and suggested that they weigh themselves.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Pirates of Penzance" will be presented at the Grand Friday and Saturday evenings by a Minneapolis company composed of excellent artists. The show will begin their engagement at the opera house to-night in the "Queen's Favorite." The Nushka and Wakouto Tobogran club will attend in uniform.

GLORIOUS.

Not one solitary prisoner was taken to the station from Saturday noon up to 12 o'clock yesterday. A small fire in a shed on Fillmore avenue yesterday noon called out the department but it was quickly extinguished.

PERSONALS.

G. L. Gray, Fargo, is at the Merchants. P. J. Costello, Duluth, is at the Merchants. Gorman O. Wyatt, Omaha, is at the Merchants. Grant Thomas, Madison, is at the Merchants. R. Kerr and H. Y. Bell, Winnipeg, are at the Ryan. A. J. Valentine, a Chicago capitalist, is a guest at the Ryan. Lieut. F. B. McCoy, U. S. A. and family are guests at the Ryan. John F. Gunkle and wife and Fred Hoyer and wife, of Casselton, Dak., are at the Merchants. G. T. McTavish, Arthur McTavish and Gordon McTavish, of Neche, Dak., are at the Merchants. Arthur E. Miller, representing Miss Minnie Madden, soon to appear at the Grand, is a guest at the Ryan. C. S. Woodruff, F. D. Banning, Walter Ayers, Harry Heth, Jr., and James A. Boggs, all of Duluth, are at the Ryan.

STILLWATER NEWS.

Rev. J. B. Freeman, of Red Wing, preached a very interesting sermon at the First Presbyterian church yesterday. He was accompanied by a Gospel Temperance union service which was addressed by Mesdames Smith and Woodruff.

GRISWOLD. JAY.

It must be confessed, however, that E. de V. Vermont's book will contain some very pretty coloring. All the coats of arms are beautifully engraved and printed. Thus in the Jay design the bird is dark blue, the wings and submargin are in the richest gold. The Griswold coat of arms is a gold border, a silver field, while center, and also the bounds, are in black.

THEY CAUGHT THE MAJOR.

A pair of automatic scales that weigh people at a nickel a head in hotel corridors. These scales that are placed in so many of the hotel lobbies now a days, on which for a nickel you may ascertain your weight, are a whole show in themselves sometimes. They are automatic and are so adjusted that the pointer on the face of the indicator moves only in response to a nickel put within the little slit up near the top of the machine. A little card at the top of the machine says to the one anxious to learn his or her weight, "step on the platform and pay for your weight by placing a nickel in the slit to hear your weight." It is a very ingenious contrivance whereby the nickel unlimbers the machinery and the pointer goes around until it stops at the figure representing the number of pounds you weigh. A pair of gentlemen were sitting near the scales in the Merchants hotel the other evening when Maj. Wilson came up and suggested that they weigh themselves.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Pirates of Penzance" will be presented at the Grand Friday and Saturday evenings by a Minneapolis company composed of excellent artists. The show will begin their engagement at the opera house to-night in the "Queen's Favorite." The Nushka and Wakouto Tobogran club will attend in uniform.

GLORIOUS.

Not one solitary prisoner was taken to the station from Saturday noon up to 12 o'clock yesterday. A small fire in a shed on Fillmore avenue yesterday noon called out the department but it was quickly extinguished.

PERSONALS.

G. L. Gray, Fargo, is at the Merchants. P. J. Costello, Duluth, is at the Merchants. Gorman O. Wyatt, Omaha, is at the Merchants. Grant Thomas, Madison, is at the Merchants. R. Kerr and H. Y. Bell, Winnipeg, are at the Ryan. A. J. Valentine, a Chicago capitalist, is a guest at the Ryan. Lieut. F. B. McCoy, U. S. A. and family are guests at the Ryan. John F. Gunkle and wife and Fred Hoyer and wife, of Casselton, Dak., are at the Merchants. G. T. McTavish, Arthur McTavish and Gordon McTavish, of Neche, Dak., are at the Merchants. Arthur E. Miller, representing Miss Minnie Madden, soon to appear at the Grand, is a guest at the Ryan. C. S. Woodruff, F. D. Banning, Walter Ayers, Harry Heth, Jr., and James A. Boggs, all of Duluth, are at the Ryan.

COATS OF ARMS FOR ALL

Establishing Some Very Lofty Pedigrees in a Very Elaborate Work Catering to the

New York Craze for Rank and Title --What Are the Americans Coming To?

Enterprise of E. de V. Vermont and His Novel Publication, the American Heraldica.

The ultra fashionables of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, or at least those of them with whom pride of ancestry is a creed and belief in blue blood a religion, will at least have something to instruct and amuse them. Something to tell them as if by pure chance upon their parlor tables. A gentleman rejecting in the high-sounding name of E. de V. Vermont is getting out a gloriously illuminated work entitled America Heraldica, which is a compilation of coats of arms, crests and mottoes of prominent American families who settled in this country before the year 1800.

The first installment, which is just out, is certainly upon a marvel of the printer's art. It has two plates, each containing a list of arms of two of the distinguished families of America. The drawings are brilliantly illuminated and the accompanying letter press is printed in two colors on the very best and heaviest of unpeeled paper. The whole appearance of the publication is redolent of aristocracy. Nothing quite so rich in the way of typography as the American Heraldica has issued from any press in many a season. Unfortunately the literary character of the publication is not quite so brilliant as the mechanical part, but E. de V. Vermont manages to convey to his readers some idea of what he intends. He proposes to prove to a certainty that every family name that appears in the Heraldica and is ornamented with a coat of arms should be a real sinon-pure article, and in this connection he makes a statement which, it is feared, may hurt the sale of the book. He says, for instance, that "besides the few heraldic emblems brought over from the old country, there are a few which are not there to be found in America thousands of armorial devices used without a twinge of conscience by families with absolutely no right to bear any coat-of-arms and knowing the fact to be such."

HOMAGE TO BOSTON BEAUTY.

The occasion was that of a fashionable wedding in a fashionable church. The bride was the patrician daughter of a house that dates its proud name back, possibly to Charlemagne or farther, and the bridegroom no whit less distinguished in ancestry. The solemn knot had been tied amid a throng of the haute noblesse of the city, all friends, relatives and acquaintances of the happy pair, who were attended by card, and the procession took up the line of march to their carriages. As is usual on such occasions, the striped awning drew an eager crowd to catch a passing glance of the bride and her attendants, and such a goodly crowd had collected on this day that the muscular police had a hard time in keeping the curious ones at a respectful distance from the bidden wedding guests. Among those unbidden onlookers was one of those irrepressible New England maidens of Irish parentage, who are ever ready to take in every situation, without losing any of the attendant details. As the last carriage drove up in front of the awning for its owner, the irrepressible, who was on one side of the openings in the awnings, called across to a friend of the same age on the opposite side, that "that was the last of 'em."

ADAM STAHLMAN'S DEATH.

At his home, on the corner of Ninth and St. Peter streets, Adam Stahlman, after a painful illness, quietly expired shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. Mr. Stahlman was 53 years of age, an early settler in St. Paul, and a well-known and popular citizen. He was interested in the business of the Stahlman Brewery, which he owned with his brother, Christian Stahlman, who died two years ago, was the founder and head.

THEY CAUGHT THE MAJOR.

A pair of automatic scales that weigh people at a nickel a head in hotel corridors. These scales that are placed in so many of the hotel lobbies now a days, on which for a nickel you may ascertain your weight, are a whole show in themselves sometimes. They are automatic and are so adjusted that the pointer on the face of the indicator moves only in response to a nickel put within the little slit up near the top of the machine. A little card at the top of the machine says to the one anxious to learn his or her weight, "step on the platform and pay for your weight by placing a nickel in the slit to hear your weight." It is a very ingenious contrivance whereby the nickel unlimbers the machinery and the pointer goes around until it stops at the figure representing the number of pounds you weigh. A pair of gentlemen were sitting near the scales in the Merchants hotel the other evening when Maj. Wilson came up and suggested that they weigh themselves.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Pirates of Penzance" will be presented at the Grand Friday and Saturday evenings by a Minneapolis company composed of excellent artists. The show will begin their engagement at the opera house to-night in the "Queen's Favorite." The Nushka and Wakouto Tobogran club will attend in uniform.

GLORIOUS.

Not one solitary prisoner was taken to the station from Saturday noon up to 12 o'clock yesterday. A small fire in a shed on Fillmore avenue yesterday noon called out the department but it was quickly extinguished.

PERSONALS.

G. L. Gray, Fargo, is at the Merchants. P. J. Costello, Duluth, is at the Merchants. Gorman O. Wyatt, Omaha, is at the Merchants. Grant Thomas, Madison, is at the Merchants. R. Kerr and H. Y. Bell, Winnipeg, are at the Ryan. A. J. Valentine, a Chicago capitalist, is a guest at the Ryan. Lieut. F. B. McCoy, U. S. A. and family are guests at the Ryan. John F. Gunkle and wife and Fred Hoyer and wife, of Casselton, Dak., are at the Merchants. G. T. McTavish, Arthur McTavish and Gordon McTavish, of Neche, Dak., are at the Merchants. Arthur E. Miller, representing Miss Minnie Madden, soon to appear at the Grand, is a guest at the Ryan. C. S. Woodruff, F. D. Banning, Walter Ayers, Harry Heth, Jr., and James A. Boggs, all of Duluth, are at the Ryan.

STILLWATER NEWS.

Rev. J. B. Freeman, of Red Wing, preached a very interesting sermon at the First Presbyterian church yesterday. He was accompanied by a Gospel Temperance union service which was addressed by Mesdames Smith and Woodruff.

GRISWOLD. JAY.

It must be confessed, however, that E. de V. Vermont's book will contain some very pretty coloring. All the coats of arms are beautifully engraved and printed. Thus in the Jay design the bird is dark blue, the wings and submargin are in the richest gold. The Griswold coat of arms is a gold border, a silver field, while center, and also the bounds, are in black.

THEY CAUGHT THE MAJOR.

A pair of automatic scales that weigh people at a nickel a head in hotel corridors. These scales that are placed in so many of the hotel lobbies now a days, on which for a nickel you may ascertain your weight, are a whole show in themselves sometimes. They are automatic and are so adjusted that the pointer on the face of the indicator moves only in response to a nickel put within the little slit up near the top of the machine. A little card at the top of the machine says to the one anxious to learn his or her weight, "step on the platform and pay for your weight by placing a nickel in the slit to hear your weight." It is a very ingenious contrivance whereby the nickel unlimbers the machinery and the pointer goes around until it stops at the figure representing the number of pounds you weigh. A pair of gentlemen were sitting near the scales in the Merchants hotel the other evening when Maj. Wilson came up and suggested that they weigh themselves.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Pirates of Penzance" will be presented at the Grand Friday and Saturday evenings by a Minneapolis company composed of excellent artists. The show will begin their engagement at the opera house to-night in the "Queen's Favorite." The Nushka and Wakouto Tobogran club will attend in uniform.

GLORIOUS.

Not one solitary prisoner was taken to the station from Saturday noon up to 12 o'clock yesterday. A small fire in a shed on Fillmore avenue yesterday noon called out the department but it was quickly extinguished.

PERSONALS.

G. L. Gray, Fargo, is at the Merchants. P. J. Costello, Duluth, is at the Merchants. Gorman O. Wyatt, Omaha, is at the Merchants. Grant Thomas, Madison, is at the Merchants. R. Kerr and H. Y. Bell, Winnipeg, are at the Ryan. A. J. Valentine, a Chicago capitalist, is a guest at the Ryan. Lieut. F. B. McCoy, U. S. A. and family are guests at the Ryan. John F. Gunkle and wife and Fred Hoyer and wife, of Casselton, Dak., are at the Merchants. G. T. McTavish, Arthur McTavish and Gordon McTavish, of Neche, Dak., are at the Merchants. Arthur E. Miller, representing Miss Minnie Madden, soon to appear at the Grand, is a guest at the Ryan. C. S. Woodruff, F. D. Banning, Walter Ayers, Harry Heth, Jr., and James A. Boggs, all of Duluth, are at the Ryan.

COATS OF ARMS FOR ALL

Establishing Some Very Lofty Pedigrees in a Very Elaborate Work Catering to the

New York Craze for Rank and Title --What Are the Americans Coming To?

Enterprise of E. de V. Vermont and His Novel Publication, the American Heraldica.

The ultra fashionables of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, or at least those of them with whom pride of ancestry is a creed and belief in blue blood a religion, will at least have something to instruct and amuse them. Something to tell them as if by pure chance upon their parlor tables. A gentleman rejecting in the high-sounding name of E. de V. Vermont is getting out a gloriously illuminated work entitled America Heraldica, which is a compilation of coats of arms, crests and mottoes of prominent American families who settled in this country before the year 1800.

The first installment, which is just out, is certainly upon a marvel of the printer's art. It has two plates, each containing a list of arms of two of the distinguished families of America. The drawings are brilliantly illuminated and the accompanying letter press is printed in two colors on the very best and heaviest of unpeeled paper. The whole appearance of the publication is redolent of aristocracy. Nothing quite so rich in the way of typography as the American Heraldica has issued from any press in many a season. Unfortunately the literary character of the publication is not quite so brilliant as the mechanical part, but E. de V. Vermont manages to convey to his readers some idea of what he intends. He proposes to prove to a certainty that every family name that appears in the Heraldica and is ornamented with a coat of arms should be a real sinon-pure article, and in this connection he makes a statement which, it is feared, may hurt the sale of the book. He says, for instance, that "besides the few heraldic emblems brought over from the old country, there are a few which are not there to be found in America thousands of armorial devices used without a twinge of conscience by families with absolutely no right to bear any coat-of-arms and knowing the fact to be such."

HOMAGE TO BOSTON BEAUTY.

The occasion was that of a fashionable wedding in a fashionable church. The bride was the patrician daughter of a house that dates its proud name back, possibly to Charlemagne or farther, and the bridegroom no whit less distinguished in ancestry. The solemn knot had been tied amid a throng of the haute noblesse of the city, all friends, relatives and acquaintances of the happy pair, who were attended by card, and the procession took up the line of march to their carriages. As is usual on such occasions, the striped awning drew an eager crowd to catch a passing glance of the bride and her attendants, and such a goodly crowd had collected on this day that the muscular police had a hard time in keeping the curious ones at a respectful distance from the bidden wedding guests. Among those unbidden onlookers was one of those irrepressible New England maidens of Irish parentage, who are ever ready to take in every situation, without losing any of the attendant details. As the last carriage drove up in front of the awning for its owner, the irrepressible, who was on one side of the openings in the awnings, called across to a friend of the same age on the opposite side, that "that was the last of 'em."

ADAM STAHLMAN'S DEATH.

At his home, on the corner of Ninth and St. Peter streets, Adam Stahlman, after a painful illness, quietly expired shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. Mr. Stahlman was 53 years of age, an early settler in St. Paul, and a well-known and popular citizen. He was interested in the business of the Stahlman Brewery, which he owned with his brother, Christian Stahlman, who died two years ago, was the founder and head.

THEY CAUGHT THE MAJOR.

A pair of automatic scales that weigh people at a nickel a head in hotel corridors. These scales that are placed in so many of the hotel lobbies now a days, on which for a nickel you may ascertain your weight, are a whole show in themselves sometimes. They are automatic and are so adjusted that the pointer on the face of the indicator moves only in response to a nickel put within the little slit up near the top of the machine. A little card at the top of the machine says to the one anxious to learn his or her weight, "step on the platform and pay for your weight by placing a nickel in the slit to hear your weight." It is a very ingenious contrivance whereby the nickel unlimbers the machinery and the pointer goes around until it stops at the figure representing the number of pounds you weigh. A pair of gentlemen were sitting near the scales in the Merchants hotel the other evening when Maj. Wilson came up and suggested that they weigh themselves.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Pirates of Penzance" will be presented at the Grand Friday and Saturday evenings by a Minneapolis company composed of excellent artists. The show will begin their engagement at the opera house to-night in the "Queen's Favorite." The Nushka and Wakouto Tobogran club will attend in uniform.

GLORIOUS.

Not one solitary prisoner was taken to the station from Saturday noon up to 12 o'clock yesterday. A small fire in a shed on Fillmore avenue yesterday noon called out the department but it was quickly extinguished.

PERSONALS.

G. L. Gray, Fargo, is at the Merchants. P. J. Costello, Duluth, is at the Merchants. Gorman O. Wyatt, Omaha, is at the Merchants. Grant Thomas, Madison, is at the Merchants. R. Kerr and H. Y. Bell, Winnipeg, are at the Ryan. A. J. Valentine, a Chicago capitalist, is a guest at the Ryan. Lieut. F. B. McCoy, U. S. A. and family are guests at the Ryan. John F. Gunkle and wife and Fred Hoyer and wife, of Casselton, Dak., are at the Merchants. G. T. McTavish, Arthur McTavish and Gordon McTavish, of Neche, Dak., are at the Merchants. Arthur E. Miller, representing Miss Minnie Madden, soon to appear at the Grand, is a guest at the Ryan. C. S. Woodruff, F. D. Banning, Walter Ayers, Harry Heth, Jr., and James A. Boggs, all of Duluth, are at the Ryan.

STILLWATER NEWS.

Rev. J. B. Freeman, of Red Wing, preached a very interesting sermon at the First Presbyterian church yesterday. He was accompanied by a Gospel Temperance union service which was addressed by Mesdames Smith and Woodruff.

GRISWOLD. JAY.

It must be confessed, however, that E. de V. Vermont's book will contain some very pretty coloring. All the coats of arms are beautifully engraved and printed. Thus in the Jay design the bird is dark blue, the wings and submargin are in the richest gold. The Griswold coat of arms is a gold border, a silver field, while center, and also the bounds, are in black.

THEY CAUGHT THE MAJOR.

A pair of automatic scales that weigh people at a nickel a head in hotel corridors. These scales that are placed in so many of the hotel lobbies now a days, on which for a nickel you may ascertain your weight, are a whole show in themselves sometimes. They are automatic and are so adjusted that the pointer on the face of the indicator moves only in response to a nickel put within the little slit up near the top of the machine. A little card at the top of the machine says to the one anxious to learn his or her weight, "step on