POLITICAL POTHEE. Police Commission all Fixed—Partisan Nominations—Democratic Committee—Small Notes.

On Monday evening the trouble growing out of the police commission will all be over, as it has been virtually settled that on that night the election will take place. It is believed that such another struggle for place was never known to the city's political annals, and yet the salary is but a paltry $100 a month. Candidates on both sides number at least a score, and there will be over a dozen each of disappointed Democrats and Republicans when the smoke clears away. There is a conviction that the four men have been agreed upon, and that they are George W. Cooley and W. W. Sly, Republicans, and Michael Hoy and Lars M. Rand, Democrats. That Cooley and Sly will be chosen seems beyond doubt, and it is safe to say they will receive favorable consideration by the people at large. Capt. M. Hoy's election seems also conceded, except the ill-tempered editorial in a morning contemporary. L. M. Rand's friends say he has also been agreed upon, while others believe the fourth Democrat has yet to be selected. There were all sorts of stories current yesterday of the combinations that have been formed to bring about the above result. There are fourteen Republicans and ten Democrats in the council. If Ald. Sly and Cooley decline to vote on the ground of being candidates this will leave the body standing 12 to 10, and the absence of Ald. Clough reduces it to 11 to 10. Ald. Fleetham is connected with Capt. Hoy by marriage, and will support him, giving the combination the strength of 11 to 10.

A great deal of bad feeling is loose on both sides. Quite a number of the Democratic supporters of Mayor Ames think he should throw his influence in their direction in this matter, and as but two can be elected in any event the result will necessarily make somebody sore. Monday will close the story.

THEY WILL NOT CONFER. "Non-Partisan Nominations" at an End—A Buzz Created.

The announcement in yesterday's GLOBE that the Democrats had decided to enter no schemes or conferences looking to non-partisan nominations created quite a breeze in certain quarters. It was heard of in various ways yesterday, and on investigation showed that it came largely from those interested in the park commission. The retiring commissioners are W. S. King, George E. Blandin, C. M. Loring and Dorilus Morrison, who were among those named in the bill creating the commission. If left to the tender mercies of a nominating convention, no one of these four would stand much chance, unless it is President Loring, whose good work for the park is generally known. All of the interest would certainly go, or in any event would be defeated at the polls. If a conference were held and a non-partisan ticket placed in the field, two of the four would undoubtedly find themselves on it. It is the almost certain belief of those that has raised the howl. There is little doubt, however, that in the next Democratic city convention a motion to confer would be voted down by an overwhelming majority. At the last meeting of the Democrats the feeling was very strong, and if, as now seems probable, Gov. McGill should appoint Col. Hicks the fourth judge, indignation will know no bounds. Trusting to a sense of fair play, the Democrats induced Judge Rea and accepted the Republican promise that the next judge should be a Democrat. If McGill redeems their promise, well and good; but if not, "non-partisan nominations" will end.

In the Fatal Fifth. There is no ward situation in the city that presents as many points of interest as that in the Fifth on the Republican side of the fence. With the party lines closely drawn the ward has about 900 Republican majority, yet last spring Aid. Phillips, Democrat, carried it by 996 majority. There is now every indication of a close and bloody fight for the Republican nomination and plenty of bitterness to be left behind. For three years the Republicans who carried the caucuses finally failed to get the nomination. In 1884 J. C. Williams elected a majority of the delegates, but Calvin W. Clark was nominated; in 1885 J. M. Parker elected the delegates, but Thomas Downs scooped the nomination, and last spring C. D. Hammond went into the convention with a majority, and saw S. C. Cutter carry off the nomination. Cutter was met by a perfect Waterloo at the polls, but he looked up serenely again this time. Hammond is again in the field, Greenleaf wants a little chance, and Clark would like to go back. Two Republicans will in any event be independent candidates. On the Democratic side the invitation to be a candidate, and will make the canvass. He will run far ahead of his ticket, and would make an alderman of whom the Fifth ward would be proud.

The Democratic City Committee. The Democratic city committee had a meeting on Thursday evening at the city hall, and discussed a date for the convention and the holding of caucuses. The matter of ward or precinct caucuses has not yet been definitely settled. The next day's convention was left open. The committee will meet again next Thursday evening and probably decide all questions. The increase of the number of wards made additions to the members necessary, and the body now is as follows: Chairman, M. W. Glenn; secretary, John P. Fitzgerald; first ward, H. M. Burke; second ward, Jacob Becker; third ward, Herman West; fourth ward, F. B. Johnston; fifth ward, T. W. Scott; sixth ward, J. P. Fitzgerald; seventh ward, J. J. Henry; eighth ward, Robert E. Bader; ninth ward, John B. Flanagan; tenth ward, F. Bader; eleventh ward, Michael Shay; twelfth ward, Charles Tutts; thirteenth ward, vacant at present.

Political Points. Claus Johnson, whose real name is Clarence Johnson, says he is a Democrat and has been such for eighteen years, in which time he voted but one Republican ticket, and that was when he was a brewer. He says he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for alderman in the Sixth ward, and if he fails to get it will support the nominee. He also enters any political alliance with Aid. Haugan, as suggested.

At last accounts Col. H. G. Hicks was still expectant of the favor of McGill, but was still waiting. His patience is only to be accounted for by the fact that he has been in the judgeship and will only accept to accommodate the clamor of about 10 per cent. of the members of the bar. The others want somebody else. J. C. Worrall, who lives in the Fifth ward and yet under the jurisdiction of the North side justice, is wondering how and where he can vote. It is rumored he and Joe Hollin will have a little precinct all to themselves. It is scarcely probable that in any event Aid. W. W. Sly will receive the Republican nomination in the Fourth ward. He is entirely too independent in his ideas and liberal in his views to suit the machine.

Ald. L'Herald—I am sorry to say that since the Ninth ward has been cut away from the First will give only 1,300 Democratic majority. The other four or five hundred majority will carry the Ninth all right. Ald. Haugan is reported by several Scandinavians as having said he would not be a candidate, or if he were he would be opposed to the Republican liquor legislation. Ald. J. Ernestine Ward is growing gray under the study he has put in on the new law in an endeavor to ascertain where he will stand under the police commission. Col. M. W. Glenn said the old spirit strong within him, and if Capt. Hoy should be either

HER HANDS ARE TIED.

"More harm has been done in the world by people who meant well than by all others combined." In this category would come Gen. A. B. Nettleton and Ald. E. M. Johnson. They doubtless mean well toward Minneapolis, but just as the city is about carving her name high on the temple of fame, they tie her hands hard and fast with the bands of useless and obstructive legislation.

police commissioner or alderman he would not feel like resigning.

S. S. Farnham, Herman Volk and Charles Brown were chosen as the Republican candidates for the Police Commission. Ald. E. M. Johnson has a proposition to drop Brown and put on a Scandinavian has created a kick among the friends of Brown.

Ald. Haugan denies most strenuously that Claus Johnson, the aspirant for political honors from the Sixth ward, is a henchman of his. Says the alderman: "I have not spoken to Johnson for two years, and do not mingle with the affairs of another ward."

A meeting of Twelfth ward Democrats will be held Wednesday night at the hall, corner of Thirty-seventh and Fort streets. Good speakers will be in attendance.

The Democrats think they are sure to capture two at least of the three justices, viz., the East side and North side men.

Republicans say they have no fear for the Eighth ward and will elect an alderman even with two candidates in the field.

Dr. Collins is once more a candidate for health officer, by way of variety.

Philip Hynes is announced as a Republican candidate from the Tenth.

SEE WENT WRONG. Charles Traeger Gets a Legal Separation From His Evening Wife.

Charles Traeger, a nice-looking young man of 24 years, appeared as plaintiff in a suit for divorce against Olive Traeger. They were married at Minneapolis April 14, 1881, and lived together until Aug. 18, 1885, when Mrs. Traeger left her husband. Mr. Traeger said that some time previous to his wife's leaving him she had acted in a very peculiar manner and had often been out late nights. "When she left me," said Mr. Traeger, "she went to Mauden, Dak., and from there to St. Paul. Hearing that she was there I went down and found her at her room on Seventh street. She told me to go away and mind my own business, as she was tired of me and was living with another man." Mrs. Florence E. Cobb, who rents furnished rooms at 172 Seventh street, St. Paul, swore that Mrs. Traeger came to her place about a month and a half ago with a man she called her husband, and rented rooms. She remained to over a month, receiving many men at her rooms and acting in a loud manner. Ole H. Holman, a St. Paul hack-driver, stated that Mrs. Traeger was known in St. Paul as a woman of loose virtue, and that on numerous occasions he had driven men to her apartments. The divorce was granted.

CONTRACTORS IN TROUBLE. Workmen Filing Leins On the Construction Work of Gates Brothers.

Gates Brothers, the contractors and builders, who are erecting the Hennepin Avenue theater, work upon which has been delayed for some time, are at present involved in a difficulty of no mean proportions, and from appearances it would seem that unless some solution is arrived at in short order, the new theater will not be opened on the date announced. There has been a large force of workmen employed at the building, and for some time past there have been rumors afloat that they had had a hard time in getting their pay. In fact it has been stated that some have received no pay at all. Be this as it may, matters were brought to a climax yesterday morning, when the men, through their attorney, Harlan P. Roberts, began an action against the contractors to recover their sums due them, and in their complaints ask for liens upon the unfinished building. The claims amount to $932.46 in the aggregate, and are as follows: P. H. Glanzer, $29; W. A. Merritt, $22; Martin Peterson, $99.50; William Taylor, $72; W. W. Bradshaw, $31; H. D. Howell, $15.50; W. W. Bradshaw, $31; H. G. Seiden, $35; Henry Bonica, $42.75; John Sandholm, $38; William Anger, $36; H. G. Seiden, second claim, $14; H. W. West, $22; Albert Judson, $6; E. Buschell, $81.63; Oliver Blackford, $33.59; Joseph Fallon, $74.

Embroideries! Embroideries! DOUBLE STOCK.

In the summer of 1886 we placed our regular import order for Embroideries with the representative of a European manufacturer, and were shortly afterwards informed by this manufacturer that, owing to his being overcrowded with orders, he could not possibly fill ours. We of course supplied ourselves from another source and received our regular spring stock some four weeks ago. To our surprise, however, our first order has also been filled, without having received even the slightest notice to this effect, and so, when a few weeks ago another immense stock of Embroideries arrived here we at once wrote the manufacturer's agent to say that we could not, under the circumstances, accept them, unless some great inducements were given us. The response was as speedy as satisfactory; our claim was allowed. This transaction gives us a splendid opportunity, and with these two immense stocks of Embroideries we are in position to offer some unheard of values, and to-morrow will begin
