

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A Woman Living Near New York Mills Slays Her Helpless Little Girl Baby,

And Then Promptly Expires Her Awful Crime by Taking Her Own Life.

Successful Close of the Big Dakota G. A. R. Encampment at Jamestown.

A Chat With Gov. Church—The Flood on the Missouri—A Swindle.

Special to the Globe. NEW YORK MILLS, Minn., March 24.—At about 8 o'clock a. m., Mrs. Joseph Mattson murdered her little girl about 1 year old by severing the jugular vein with a pair of sharp shears. After committing the horrible deed the mother then took her own life in the same manner. There is no solution to the mystery. Joseph Mattson is a Finlander who lives about six miles south of this place. He was in town and returned to his home at about 8 o'clock, and found his wife and child dead. No further particulars are known at present.

DAKOTA G. A. R. Close of the Jamestown Encampment With a Splendid Banquet.

JAMESTOWN, Dak., March 24.—The annual encampment of the Dakota G. A. R. ended to-night. The veterans did a large amount of business to-day. In the convention this morning the event was the election of Gen. Allen, of Fargo, as department commander for the next year. Gen. Dennis O. Yankton, Wm. A. Selby, of Grand Forks, Judge Palmer, of Sioux Falls, and Gen. Allen received about an equal number of votes on the first ballot. Judge Palmer declined to accept, and Gen. Dennis and Col. Selby not having quite as many votes as necessary, Gen. Selby was elected on the third ballot, and the choice was made unanimous. Gen. Allen is a fluent speaker, a clever gentleman and will make an active and popular commander.

B. F. Campbell, of Sioux Falls, was elected senior vice, and S. N. Boardman, of the latter city, was elected junior vice. The latter traveled all the way from Custer City, some 1,400 miles, to attend the gathering here. Rev. J. H. Hartman, of Jamestown, was elected chaplain. Dr. Smith, of Bismarck, medical director. Judge Palmer, of Sioux Falls, was elected president, and B. A. Carter, of Canton, senior vice. The camp of the Sons of Veterans was increased largely to-day also. The banquet given by the Jamestown citizens to the encampment was probably the most splendid ever given in the territory. Twenty-two tables were profusely decorated with flags, banners and flowers, each seating twenty-one visitors. Bands were stationed on the stage playing patriotic airs. The list of speakers was as follows: The address of welcome was made by Alfred Dickerson, the only private soldier in Dakota. Hon. John Nickles, once a Washington and Union army news boy, followed in an eloquent and humorous address. Gen. Allen made a beautiful appeal to the soldiers' patriotism and strengthened his appeal by his being the finest orator in the territory.

GOV. CHURCH came in last evening on a special and has been getting acquainted with the people to-day. The governor makes a fine impression on the people by his bearing and manly, independent carriage. He spoke at length on "The President of the United States," and made a clear, effective, taking address. He spoke of the president as a man with the courage of his convictions, a man who has high ideas about a party gauge; who looked to the people of a new generation to approve of his management of their affairs. Gov. Church believed that Cleveland was right. He believed that he would succeed—that his backing would stand him in high esteem. The toast, "Veterans of the Press," was assigned to Gov. Pierce, who telegraphed his regrets at the impossibility of his attendance. George Winslow, of Grand Forks, replied to the toast. A few speeches were also made by Judge Palmer, Col. Tyner, the hero of two wars—the Redfield and Turtle Mountain—who spoke of the militia; Jesse Frye, of Jamestown; E. T. Cressey, of Huron; Maj. Barrett, of Aberdeen; N. C. Nash, of Canton, and Gen. Lucas, who was extremely complimentary to the militia. Speeches left at 3 a. m. to carry the veterans and their friends to Yankton and the East.

GOV. CHURCH. He Discusses the Progress of Events Under His Administration.

Special to the Globe. FARGO, D. T., March 24.—The editor of the Argus at the encampment at Jamestown last night sought an interview with Gov. Church, and will publish a lengthy report to-morrow. The governor gives very full explanations of the various bills that are of interest to all Dakota readers. The following are extracts: "I don't intend to approve of the militia going to Washington at the expense of the territory. It is that sort of a militia appointment that the governor said: 'I've done nothing, made no promises, have not considered the matter; probably shall not until I return from the East, where I go early next week to be elected to the militia appointments.'"

When asked if he had tendered Gen. Harris, of Aberdeen, the position of brigadier general commanding the Dakota National guards, the governor said: "I never thought of such a thing. Gen. Harris is a friend of mine, but he is a Confederate brigadier general and a gallant fellow. I like him, but I would not think of offering him the command of the militia, nor would he for a moment consider such a proposition. He is too much of a gentleman; but no such offer has been made."

"I have not thought of superseding Gen. Tyner, who seems to be doing very well here. I have done nothing in the way of changing the staff."

Dr. King, who was appointed superintendent of the board of health, qualified and then resigned, and the governor don't know who will be appointed. He can't give Dr. Darrow, because Fargo has so many appointments, although he had heard much that was favorable to Dr. Darrow and would like much to appoint him. Said he: "It is reported that I have decided to appoint Lewis, my court clerk at Aberdeen, to be territorial treasurer. I never thought of such a thing. I have the resignation of Col. Benton on my hands, and also that of Treasurer Raymond."

PERFECTLY FREE TO SAY that I can change at any time, but I have not as yet. In my heart I have committed some errors. I do not propose to repeat them in the future. It has been charged that he had acted unfairly in the matter of the notary public bill, which has become a law, making the fee $5 instead of $2. He was not the one to be blamed for the governor, as reported. Now the bill was drawn by Secretary McCormack and when submitted to me I objected and had the bill altered to pay the $3 to the auditor instead of the governor. This money will go to pay for clerk hire in my office, or as much as is necessary. Heretofore the clerk hire was paid by the auditor and the governor's share was carried upon his pay rolls, but I prefer to DO THINGS OPENLY and above board. I don't want any subterfuges, and it is a saving to the people. I refer to the appropriations the governor said: "I see some attacks upon me but you may say that in many instances these appropriations were for necessities which were handed over by my predecessor, Gov. Pierce. Now in Jamestown there was some $29,000 deficiency, at Grand Forks, and other places, but perhaps $12,000, and other institutions were overdrawn. Deduct the items and contingent appropriations not to be expended by my approval, and they do not so much greater than the last ones. My idea was to build up all the institutions now in operation and put them on solid foundations before we charter any new ones. I've been charged with making a mistake. I have no enemy for Day, nor for any one."

THE FLOOD. A Report From Bismarck Says Mandan is Still Under Water—Difficult Traveling.

BISMARCK, Dak., March 24.—During the night and forenoon the water had fallen two feet, but another break somewhere above brought down another volume of water sufficient to cause a rise of eight inches or more. Aside from this, no material changes have occurred. A sensation was caused in court to-day when the case of E. M. Bennett against D. M. Kennedy was reached. It was stated by the counsel for the defendant that the last heard of the defendant he was on Sibley island in the family of a man who was one week ago. The island is covered with several feet of water, and fears are entertained that the family has been drowned. Some romance and much discomfort occurred last night. A Pullman conductor and his family, and S. N. Boardman, the side were unable to get aboard the Helena on the flat top. They procured a yawl and started to "paddle their own canoe." When about half way over a heavy gale from the northwest struck them and the brush and bushes below, where they were obliged to remain all night in the boat. The night was stormy. A heavy lake was blowing, and rain, snow and sleet falling continuously. The parties arrived in the city this morning at 8 o'clock, thoroughly drenched, tired, sleepy and mad. Mandan is still fishing for future with grab-hooks. The entire town is still under water, and the Heart river is yet to break up. When that river opens it may be expected the Mandanites will have to find a new home, and it is feared they will fish their little town out of the bottom of the Missouri. The train from the east was five hours late, and was loaded down with thirteen carloads of emigrants.

REAR FORTS FALLS. The Red river rose rapidly last night, and this morning was the highest ever known. The cause of this sudden rise is not known, as the ice is still solid. In this writing the water is running over the banks, and is cutting a channel between Wright's Beach and the cable tower, and is cutting a protecting the dams along the river. E. J. Nelson, head miller at the Park mills, had a narrow escape from drowning while opening the flush boards on the Guttenburg dam. He was carried part way over, but was seized before he went under the ice.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE. The Lawmakers at Madison Still Engaged in Earning Their Per Diem.

MADISON, Wis., March 24.—The senate to-day passed what is known as the Merrill bill, detaching the counties of Ashland, Bayfield, Burnett, Taylor and Oneida from the judicial circuit, and has provided and constituting them a new circuit to be known as the Fifteenth. The object of the bill is practically the same as that of the Cunningham bill reported favorably upon by the assembly judiciary committee yesterday, and which was passed by the house to-day under suspension of the rules. The object is to divide the territory into two overworked circuits as they now exist. The essential difference between the bills is that the Cunningham bill provides for two new circuits instead of one. The Cunningham bill is understood to most heartily receive the support of the people, and is a direct affect, although the only opposition being on the part of corporations, which, as they are generally defendants in actions, are not over anxious for any change which will expedite proceedings. It is probable that the Cunningham bill will receive the concurrence of the senate, with some slight amendments. R. D. Marshall, a NOTED LAWYER of Chippewa Falls, has been in the city for several days in the interest of the Merrill bill. In this connection it may be interesting to state that this same gentleman is also a member of the legislature, and is providing that corporations formed for the improvement of streams forming the boundaries between this and other states may acquire stock in other companies of the same sort in other states, and that the Wisconsin corporation in this state can better be effected thereby. The real intention of the bill is claimed to be a scheme whereby the Mississippi Logging company may gain a controlling interest in a Stillwater, Minn., corporation which has a franchise on the St. Croix river. This afternoon the committee on railroads from both houses

MEET IN JOINT SESSION and listened to arguments from General Manager Miller, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and General Solicitor Wm. C. Winslow, central, on the bill making railroad companies liable for accidents to employees through the negligence of the company's employees. The assembly concurred in senate bills: Punishing carnal knowledge of females under 14 years of age; and the imprisonment permitting common councils of village boards to forbid the sale of intoxicating liquor for six months to any person convicted of drunkenness a year previous; and bills were passed: Requiring the state pension board to have public time to the office and to pay one visit annually to each county in the state to enable old soldiers to present their cases; prohibiting municipal subscriptions to railway stock; and a memorial to congress was entered in praying for the restriction of the immigration of vicious and dependent foreigners. Bills were indefinitely postponed: Prohibiting the use of dangerous illuminations of railroad cars; compelling railroads to guard all crossings in cities and towns. The senate passed a resolution proposing to amend the state constitution raising the school age to 6 years. Committees have been instructed to report all bills by next Tuesday. A large number of bills are yet in the hands of the various committees and it is likely they will be some hasty legislation in the scramble to get through.

THREATENED DISBARMENT. Special to the Globe. FARGO, Dak., March 24.—In the district court to-day M. W. Greene, of the Cass county bar, was instructed by Judge McConnell to present an accusation against C. W. Buttz, district attorney of Ransom county, presenting him for disbarment. The charges in this proceeding is the allegation that after furnishing the names of Bradley letters to the St. Paul Globe, when the Hughes allegation case was on trial here in January last, Judge McConnell denounced the publication in vigorous terms with justice, and that he would ferret the matter to the bottom. Subpoenas were issued for Court Stenographer Bishop, Assistant Stenographer Mabey, W. F. Ellis, reporter of the Argus, and H. M.

Kimball, correspondent of the GLOBE. Mr. Kimball is of mature judgment and ripe years, and is a stroll to Moorhead, just inside the jurisdiction of the court, where he learned that a subpoena was issued. He successfully evaded the deputy sheriff, and avoided service. The matter will come up in about two weeks and will be probed to the bottom. Ellis is alleged to have secured the letters and Mabey to have copied them. They are both understood to be quaking for fear that when the line is drawn to some chips may strike their heads.

POLITICS IN EAU CLAIRE. Senator Rust Figuring For Two or Three Nominations. Special to the Globe. EAU CLAIRE, March 24.—The Prohibitionist city convention has been called to meet at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon to nominate candidates for city offices. The Union Labor party city convention has been called to meet Saturday evening at 8 o'clock for the same purpose. The result of the latter convention will probably be controlled by the choice of candidates already made by the Knights of Labor. State Senator William A. Rusk, who is industriously trimming his sails to catch every political breeze which springs up, is having himself boomed as a friend of labor in a local paper, and will try to get the Union Labor nomination for mayor. He can have the Republican nomination for mayor whenever he wants it, and will be able to carry the Union Labor position if he can capture the Union Labor nomination Saturday night, which is quite likely, as Senator Rust has shown himself wonderfully expert in pulling the wool over the eyes of the laboring man. If the schemes of the senator materialize, there will be stable conditions which will leave but two city tickets in the field.

The Haddock Murder Case. Special to the Globe. ST. CROIX, Ia., March 24.—On the opening of court this morning the work of securing a jury in the Haddock case was continued, and shortly after 10 o'clock the panel was filled. The jury, as selected, are all farmers but one, and that one is John Adair, an employe of the Boogie Packing company of this city. At 10:30 court was adjourned until 2 p. m., and the afternoon was occupied with the selection of attorneys, Henry J. Taylor talking for the state and G. W. Argo for the defense. From Argo's talk it is evident that the defense expects to prove an alibi, and to break down the testimony of Leavitt, the principal witness for the state. The contract price for the street is free that no conviction will be had with the jury selected. The state exhausted its twenty peremptory challenges and the last man called was passed without examination by the defense. At 3:30 an adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock tomorrow, when the introduction of evidence will begin. It is again rumored that George Treber is in this country, and that he will here before the evidence is all in. The reliability of the rumor cannot be established.

Millions in It. RED WING, March 24.—Pierce county, across the river from this city in Wisconsin, expects some rival the famous regions of Northern Minnesota, and Wisconsin in mineral resources and the inhabitants accordingly considerably worked up over the subject. Near Knapp a fine bed of kaolin has been discovered and also veins of mineral paints and iron, ranging in thickness from one to nearly thirty feet. The kaolin is being sold on an open market for $200 to $800 per acre, and is worthless land. Experts will be put to work at once to thoroughly examine all the neighboring tracts.

Pine County Oil. Special to the Globe. PINE CITY, March 24.—It would no doubt surprise the people of Minnesota that they were to wake up some morning and find pipe lines running into the Twin Cities from Pine county and the state lighted with native oil. At Rock creek, in Pine county, there has long been quantities of crude oil floating on the top of the dead water at different points of the creek. Capt. Enoch Horton, a gentleman who has long resided there, has observed it for the past fifteen years, and has at different times called the attention of visitors to the fact. The oil has the same appearance as that which is known in the West as being on the surface of Oil creek, Pa., and there is no doubt there are millions of barrels of oil buried beneath the rugged soil of Pine county.

Accidentally Shot. Special to the Globe. BENSON, Minn., March 24.—M. L. Sherwood, one of our most prominent citizens, by occupation a collector, accidentally shot himself at about 12:30 p. m. to-day. He had a .32 caliber revolver in his pants pocket which he was carrying for the purpose of shooting a dog. While giving a pair of water to a horse in a stall in his stable, the horse backed up against him, and in some unaccountable manner the revolver was discharged, the bullet entering him an inch or two below and to the right of the navel and thence passing upward. The location of the bullet has not as yet been discovered.

Can't Buy Everything. Special to the Globe. LA CROSSE, Wis., March 24.—Last Tuesday duobus parties placed attacks on the stocks of C. Lytle & Co., of Desota. This becoming noisy about, others followed and placed Mr. Lytle in a close and awkward position. Reports that he had made an assignment were circulated, but were incorrect. Capt. P. S. Davidson, of this city, a partner in the firm, has purchased the entire business and pays all debts. The liabilities are about $12,000, and the assets fully $30,000. The firm did a large business in general merchandise, lumber and stock.

Trouble on the Border. Special to the Globe. GRAND FORKS, Dak., March 24.—It was discovered to-day that the new incorporation act of East Grand Forks, Minn., embraces part of Grand Forks, Dak. Justified by the fact that the firm was distinguished himself by granting a writ of replevin to a young bridegroom for his bride, to-day arrested P. McLaughlin, a Grand Forks constable who had attached a horse belonging in his jurisdiction. This led to an examination to see by what authority the learned justice acted with the above result.

A Minister's House Burned. Special to the Globe. GRAND FORKS, Dak., March 24.—Word reached here to-day from Ernest, in Pembina county, Dak., that the home of Rev. J. C. Healy, a Methodist minister, had been completely destroyed by the main street, Sunday morning while the minister was at Beaulieu to preach. The fire broke out at midnight and Mrs. Healy's son Fred, and Miss Mary Lusk narrowly escaped, being obliged to leap out of a window in their sleeping costume. Presiding Elder Plattette went out to-day to lend assistance.

The Lake City Harbor. Special to the Globe. LAKE CITY, March 24.—Work on the pier for the government harbor of refuge in Lake Pepin at this place will be commenced as soon as the ice goes out. All necessary soundings have been made and a good depth of water has been found. The contracts for the stone have been let and hauling has begun. The whole summer and early fall will be consumed in finishing the pier, and at least seventy-five men will be required to complete it in that time. The pier will be over seven hundred feet long and the appropriation for it is $35,000.

A Woodsman Swindled. Special to the Globe. EAU CLAIRE, Wis., March 24.—A Scandinavian woodsman on the Wisconsin Central train from the woods to-day was showing his money, when a well dressed stranger asked him to change a $100 bill. The woodsman complied with the request, and on arriving at Eau Claire found, when he wanted to make a purchase, that the bill given him by the stranger was an old Confederate shinpaster. There is no clue to the swindler.

County Bonds Sold. Special to the Globe. LA CROSSE, Wis., March 24.—The county of La Crosse sold $36,000 5 percent bonds to-day to S. A. Kean, of Chicago. The issue is for the purpose of building a county insane asylum in accordance with a law passed by the legislature two years ago. The city of La Crosse has been ordered to build and it was expected the sale of the bonds would be enjoyed, but no such action was taken. The contract for building will be let Saturday.

A Bert Lea's Court House. Special to the Globe. ALBERT LEA, March 24.—The contract for building the new court house has finally been awarded jointly to Thomas F. McCord and Albert McNeil, of this city, and they have given the required bonds, a faithful fulfillment of the contract. The former will have entire control of furnishing stone, brick and mason work. The contract price is nearly $700 less than the architect's estimate.

A Timber-Cutting Case. Special to the Globe. FERGUS FALLS, Minn., March 24.—Deputy United States Marshal D. F. Smith left this afternoon for Moorhead with B. Grant, who was arrested last week for cutting timber on railroad lands. The case was tried before E. Corliss, United States commissioner, and the prisoner discharged. He was re-arrested and gave bonds to appear at Moorhead on St. Paul on the 25th. There are about forty cases resting on this one.

Stacy Places Them. Special to the Globe. ALBERT LEA, March 24.—The appointment of Lieut. Durk C. Stacy as postmaster to succeed H. O. Haukness was expected and gives general satisfaction. He was endorsed by the leading Democrats of the county, by the Democratic county, district and state committees and by a majority of the leading Republicans of this city. He was a newspaper editor, and is courteous and affable and popular.

Street Car Franchise. Special to the Globe. SIOUX FALLS, Dak., March 24.—The city council to-night granted a street car franchise to the Sioux Falls Street Railway company. The company is under a $5,000 bond to build and equip at least one mile of road before next October. R. F. Pettigrew, a heavy stockholder in the company, states that at least two miles will be built by that time.

The Wisconsin Mining Fever. Special to the Globe. CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., March 24.—The Mesabrian Mining Land and Option company was organized here to-day with a capital stock of $2,325,000. Their lands are being bought in the Wisconsin Central road. M. Glucksman, one of our leading merchants, took $5,000 shares in the Manganese Queen mine, on the St. Croix range, to-day.

The Wife of His Benefactor Petted Him, and He Was Beguiled by the Siren. Strange Story Regarding the Whereabouts of a Pretty New York Actress.

A Jilted Ohio Girl Dying, and Her Father and Mother Go Crazy. Special to the Globe. CHICAGO, March 24.—The Maxwell-Deans case caused considerable gossip in insurance circles to-day, where Mrs. Deans and Maxwell are well known. Maxwell is in jail, and to-day Mrs. Deans was scouring about town in search of some one to go on the bond of her young lover. She failed to find anyone. Maxwell was seen in jail by a GLOBE reporter. He said that he was smugged against more than sinning, and that Mrs. Deans was making a purchase, that he lay sick in bed," said Maxwell. "Mrs. Deans would approach me and in the most endearing manner would say I was her baby. She has followed me up for the past two weeks, and that could do up" queried Maxwell two whirling voices.

SAID MR. DEANS TO-DAY: Maxwell came to my office a year ago. He hailed from Pueblo, N. M. He was very bright, and was told the most pitiful tale of poverty I ever heard. He looked like a bright, intelligent young fellow, and I had so much sympathy for him that I got him a place in the office at $25 a month. After a while I saw my influence and had his salary raised to $40 a month. I was living at 284 West Congress street and we had a spare room. His liver was laid bare, and often told me how sick he was of rooming down town and eating at restaurants that I felt sorry for him. He was very young, only 19 years of age, and he was very fond of his home and his comforts. So I took him up to my house. He still dressed shabby and I introduced him to my tailor, who gave him a suit and ten more money. Then he began to look presentable. My wife

TOOK A FANCY TO HIM from the start. He was intelligent and bright, and you know his good looking, and the captivation was mutual. I began to pay attention to her, and I grew suspicious. Along in the winter I went to reach the floor below, where he was with the young fellow. She said there was something wrong, but my suspicions did not cease. I finally discovered what I considered plain in her eyes, and she confessed all. I ordered Maxwell from the house and he left. He had previously been discharged from his position in the office. Then I tried to effect a reconciliation with my wife. She seemed averse to me, and really I believe in order that I might not be induced to live with her again, she poured into my ears the most atrocious and untrue concoction of lies. She was not telling the truth, I know, but I could not live with her after that, so I set her up in business on North Clark street and ten more money. I never saw her two years living there, and Sunday morning saw them come out together. Then I had them arrested.

THE MAID OF THE INN. Agnes Folsom, the Actress, the Subject of a Sensational Suit. NEW YORK, March 24.—From the day in September last when Miss Agnes Folsom suddenly resigned her place as Javotte, or the Maid of the Inn, in "Ernie," at the Casino, until yesterday, she was as completely lost to a large and familiar circle of friends as Victoria Morosini is now. Miss Folsom dropped out of sight so quietly and effectually that all trace of her was lost, and old friends who have frequently heard that the disappearance of Miss Folsom as one of the unsolved mysteries of the theatrical world. The first heard of Miss Folsom's whereabouts was yesterday, when it became known that she had applied to Lawyer William H. Mundy, as counsel for Henry M. Folsom, father of Miss Agnes Folsom, Judge Patterson, in supreme court chambers, had granted a writ of habeas corpus requiring Dr. William Cate, of 37 West Forty-second street, to PRODUCE MISS FOLSOM in court at 10 o'clock this morning. The application was made to Judge Patterson on Monday night, and the writ was served on Dr. Cate the following day at his residence at 37 West Forty-second street. The object of the proceedings was to ascertain the mental condition of Miss Agnes, and the writ was granted upon the petition of Mr. Folsom, the father of the young woman, who states that his daughter is retained by Dr. Cate at his house, 385 West Forty-second street, and that he believes she is not in her right mind, and is under duress at the hands of the physician. Mr. Folsom says that the doctor has taken advantage of his relations with the family, and has ruined his daughter and ruined her. He says that he has not permitted to see her, and that the young woman is not permitted to be seen by any person but the physician. It is asserted that if she is brought into court her condition will then readily be ascertained.

BEFORE THE COURT. The writ of habeas corpus, ordering Dr. Cate to produce in court Miss Folsom, was made returnable before Judge Patterson to-day. It was alleged that Dr. Cate held Miss Folsom under restraint, that he had ruined her, and that she was insane. The young woman did not appear. Dr. Cate was represented by counsel who, in explaining the non-appearance of Miss Folsom, stated that she was not in the possession of her mind, and claimed the possession of his client, and that she was not insane. The counsel said that the charge that his client had taken advantage of his relations with the family and ruined her and taken her away from her family was false. In relation to the suit of W. J. Baldwin, a former of MISS FOLSOM, against Dr. Cate to recover damages for alleged assault, the defendant said there was no merit in the action, and claimed that it was a conspiracy to injure him in his profession. Miss Folsom's affidavit was produced in court. It states that she is not and never has been under duress by Dr. Cate or any one else. That it is false that she has been seduced and taken away from her mother by Dr. Cate, or that she has been coerced by him in any way. She swears that she is sane and that no one was authorized to take proceedings in her behalf. In conclusion her affidavit states that her relations toward her father forces her to remain silent as to the true reason of the bringing of these proceedings and the fact that she will travel to to-morrow.

THE FATHER'S REPLY. Counsel for Henry M. Folsom filed this afternoon a traverse to the return in the writ of habeas corpus for the production in court of Miss Folsom. Dr. Cate Folsom stated that he expected to show by his wife, Edward Rulon, John A. McCull, William H. Mundy and others that Dr. Cate had been living with Agnes Folsom at 385 West Forty-second street on the same floor, his effects and hers being mingled in the rooms, the doors opening between; that she admitted to her mother, after first denying it, that she had lived with Dr. Cate nearly six months. At that time it is alleged she kissed her mother and told her she loved her still. It is alleged that Miss Folsom's affidavit is not made of her own free will, but that she admitted to her mother that Cate had wronged her and was to induce his life for her, and that even told her mother he would support her, but not the whole family. The rest of the traverse is a repetition of the story already published. THREATENED TO LYNCH HIM. CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., March 24.—The town has been thrown into excitement over an attempted lynching last night, not known until to-day. Frank Guyer, a painter, it is alleged, had forsaken his wife and children and taken up his residence with another woman. Last night a man called him out, and instantly a crowd of masked men surrounded him and commenced beating him. After pounding him both with fists and clubs, they returned to his wife. He refused when they informed him that they would tear him and feather him and hang him from the railroad bridge. They started in that direction, but Guyer fought hard and was finally successful in making his escape. He was seriously injured and is confined in his house. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the deed.

A Faithless Lover's Deed. CLEVELAND, O., March 24.—A special from Canton tells of the terrible results of a broken marriage agreement at Minerva, O. Charles Boemer, a baker and confectioner, loved Lilly Morledge, daughter of a merchant. About two weeks ago his ardent cooled, and he deserted the girl. Mr. and Mrs. Morledge brooded over the affair until both were dead. Her daughter is now lying at the point of death, her illness having been caused by the action of her faithless lover.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT, By Which a Minneapolis Miller Will Lose His Life. At 10:30 o'clock last night Charles McCarthy, an employe of the Crown Roller Flouring mill, Minneapolis, was found on the fifth floor of the mill with nearly every stitch of clothing torn from his body, which was frightfully mangled and torn. He was covered with blood and nearly insensible. Surgical attendance was summoned and it was found that there was a hole in his right side about three by six inches, the twelfth and thirteenth ribs having been broken. His liver was laid bare, and his right arm was fractured between the elbow and shoulder, and he had sustained a lacerated wound of the scalp back of the right ear, probably fracturing the skull. When restored to consciousness McCarthy said that while his liver was laid bare, he fell on the sixth floor when his coat caught in the cog wheels and he was gradually drawn against the machine. He felt as though the life was being crushed out of him and lost consciousness. He tried to call for assistance, but no one came. He felt as though he was in a machine, he knows not how long, but it seemed, he said, like an age. Suddenly he regained his senses and found himself lying on the floor. He crawled to the stairway and managed to reach the floor below, where he was discovered. When found he had only a remnant of his drawers on his left leg and a sock on the right foot, his underclothes, pants, coat and vest having been torn to shreds. The injured man was taken to Dr. Killy's office, where he was operated on at 1 o'clock. It did not seem probable that he would survive the night. He is 33 years of age, is married, and lives at 2805 Twenty-sixth avenue south.

Starting Earthquake Theories. Special to the Globe. WASHINGTON, March 24.—Prof. Magee, of the geological survey, who personally visited Charleston to investigate the earthquake and its causes, stated in a lecture last night that its area extended from Canada to Cuba, and from the Mississippi to the Bermudas, or even farther, the most accurate estimate he made for its extent for the ocean over a million and a quarter of square miles. Few of the reliably recorded earthquakes of other countries, he said, have affected so great areas as those of Madrid and Charleston. That of Lisbon was perhaps felt over a much greater area, but the data are uncertain. He added that it seemed evident, as displacement and earthquakes go together, that the eastern United States are in danger, for displacement is now in progress at a rate so astonishingly rapid as to occasion surprise that the earthquakes are not more frequent, and it is a curious and unconscious defiance of the inevitable that the cities of Pittsburgh, Richmond, Fredericksburg, Washington, Baltimore, Port Deposit, Wilmington, Philadelphia and New York, which have all been located on the very line of displacement.

Fatally Assaulted. JERSEY CITY, N. J., March 24.—Five roughs waylaid and assaulted Louise Winkle, a twelve-year-old girl, last Tuesday night, on the outskirts of Granton, in Hudson county. Miss Chasmer frightened them away, but not before she had recognized four of the ruffians. She says that they were James McGrogan, Albert Smith, Robert Montgomery, of West New York, and Andrew Holmer. Miss Chasmer carried the girl home. Phillip Winkler, the father of the girl, who is a machinist, spread the parties and secured the woods but found no traces of the culprits. The little girl has died of her injuries.

A Bank Case. UTICA, N. Y., March 24.—In the case of Edward H. Movius, receiver of the First National bank of Buffalo, vs. Eldridge G. Spalding and others, Judge Wheeler, of Vermont, sitting in the United States court for the northern district of New York, to-day filed a voluminous opinion, in which he dismissed the bill. This is the case which has been pending in the receiver's bank of Buffalo ever since the receiver established their liability for debts of the bank. The bank is the one of which R. Porter Lee was president. Lee was convicted of embezzling the bank's funds, and was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in the Erie county penitentiary. He was pardoned by President Cleveland last year.

Meeting of Coal Miners. NEW YORK, March 24.—A meeting of the coal managers will be held on March 29 to discuss prices and decide on the schedules for the coming season. It is expected that a good number of the coal reduction will be made, the advance in tolls, made necessary by the provisions of the interstate commerce bill, rendering it impossible to make any concessions in the selling price.

A Buffalo Victim. BUFFALO, N. Y., March 24.—There is no longer any doubt that Robert S. Boyd, of Boston, special agent of the American Bell Telephone company, lost his life in the Richmond hotel fire, as a telegraph message was delivered to him here on the night of the fire, and he has not been heard from since.

Thomas Lowry, president of the street car lines, Corporation Attorney Murray and City Engineer Rundlett, returned yesterday from a trip to Kansas City, where they inspected the motor assemblage lines of that city. They are much pleased with the working of the cable lines, which afford rapid transit up the steep hills on which Kansas City is built.
