CHIEF BLACK RE-ELECTED

And His Assistants in the Fire Department Reappointed -- Doings of the Commissioners. Chief Engineer John T. Black, of the St. Paul fire department, was re-elected last night unanimously, upon Commissioner Parker's motion, for the two years commence ing April 1. He then renominated for his ing April I. He then renominated for his assistants John Jackson, first assistant chief, and M. F. Kelliher, second assistant chief, which nominations were unanimously confirmed by the board. On Commissioner Pendergast's motion 1. R. Jenkins was unanimously re-elected superintendent of fire alarm telegraph.

The following bids for the new two-story brick engine house, corner of Ninth and Fort brick engine house, corner of Ninth and Fort streets were received: Dowling & Ruse, $17,200; William Johnston & Bro., $17,950; J. $17,200; William Johnston & Bro., $17,950; J. L. Rood, $17,295; G. H. Fletcher, $18,875; A. Bassford, $17,360; Henry Maitby, $17,392,71; J. F. Hedinger, $17,400; W. O. Erickson, $16,900; Romaine Sheire, $18,365; John H. Donabue, $16,475; M. P. Ryan, $15,700; McSherry & White, $14,700; Dolan Bros., $17,800. The awarding of the contract was postponed until the No. 1 property on St. Peter street is sold. The information was received that Auctioneer Doherty had said the property would bring all the way from $26,000 to $28,000. The board wants to get $30,000. If least figure than that carries off the property. a less figure than that carries off the property it may be necessary to cut down the estimated cost of the new engine house. McSherry & White are the lowest bidders. Only one bid for painting and glazing was received, that of Nesbitt & Co., $472. It also was laid over.

THE INTERUREAN STATIONS.

Architect H. E. Hand's plans (No. 2) for the proposed engine houses at Hamline and Merriam Park were adopted. They represent very substantial and handsome looking buildings in the old English Renaissance style, with double entrance, two stories high, fifty feet wide by 110 feet deen, both to be of fifty feet wide by 110 feet deep, both to be of red brick with cream brick and brown sandstone trimmings.

The new second size Silsby engine, for which the board exchanged the old No. 5 and a "boot" of $3,000 cash, was ordered to be sent here. The March pay roll amounts to $11,887.42. The committee on machinery will report what new fire apparatus will be needed for the year at the next meeting. No sites for new engine houses in West St. Paul have yet been selected by Commissioners Martin, Pendergast and Freeman, so the mut-ter is still in their hands. It being repre-sented that Engine House No. 6 was in a condition of rapid decay, the board decided to condemn it.

When the board adjourned Chief Black celebrated his re-election by doing the handsome with a very palatable lunch in the Ryan cafe. His guests were Commissioners War-ner, Parker, Prendergast, Freeman and Mar-tin, Col. Emerson, Architect Hand, A. Brassford, Assistant Chiefs Jackson and Kelliher, and representatives of the press. Several congratulations were directed at the host, and the night passed pleasantly.

KILLED BY A FALL.

Bert Steenstra, a Mounted Messenger Boy, Thrown From His Pony and Fatally Injured.

Last night, shortly after 7 o'clock, Bert Steenstra, aged about 13 years, a mounted messenger, in the employ of the American District Telegraph company, was riding up Fourth street on his way to deliver his last message, before going to his home on Selby avenue, he collided with a pedestrian and all went down in a heap. The boy struck his head on one of the rails of the street car track and sustained a fracture of the skull near the base of the brain. He was arried into K. P. Cullen's house, corner of Fourth and Franklin streets, and Dr. Metcalf summoned, but he lived only about twenty minutes. His father, a compositor on the GLOBE, was at once notified and he proceeded to break the sad news to the mother, who was at that time attending the meeting of the Congregational club at the Plymouth church. The pedestrian, after sitting on the curbstoner a few minutes, walked away, apparently uninjured. His name could not be learned. The officials of the District Telegraph company, as soon as they learned of the accident, proceeded at once to Mr. Cullen's house, and did everything in their power toward the relief of the grief-stricken The deceased had been in the employ of the company for some months, and the manager and his companions spoke in the highest terms of him.

FROM THE WEST SIDE.

A Town Hall Site Selected for South St. Paul -- Doings of the Sixth Ward Citizens.

The South St. Paul council met Saturday afternoon in the McClung school house After routine business sites were selected for school houses as follows: First ward, in South Park addition; Second ward, on Ald. Wentworth's farm on Oakdale avenue; Third ward, near the junction of Sunfish lake and ward, near the junction of Sunnsh lake and Dodd road: Fourth ward, on Ald. Minea's farm on the Sunish lake road; Fifth ward, in South St. Paul proper. Three lots have been donated by the present owners for each of these school lands. The city hall was located on the north line of section 20, between Eaton and Oakdale averages. nues. An acre, clear of streets, has been set apart for this building. Patrick Brennen was appointed street commissioner. The ordinance providing for the appointment of police officers and other city officials was laid upon the table and will be acted upon at a future meeting. A city marshal will prob-ably be appointed at the next meeting and the police force increased as occasion de-mands. The next meeting will be held next Saturday at 2 o'clock.

He said that though the committee does not approve of the establishment here of a mere thining exchange, it believes, however, that this is the place, and probably the time for the establishment under the best and most conservative influences of a general stock exchange, including, of course, mining stocks for the Northwest, and that the need of such an exchange is a growing one. A number of corporate stocks originated in St. Paul, and others are largly owned and controlled here. St. Paul is the financial and commercial capital of the Northwest and the only place in it for such an exchange. While the chamber of commerce cannot take the initiative in the matter, the establishment of a conservative and general stock exchange in St. Paul will mater its bearing and material stock of the state meet its hearty approval. The report was adopted. The Trades and Labor Assembly of St. Paul sent in a communication asking in substance that the St. Paul chamber of commerce should use its influence to have the contracts for the plumbing, gas-fitting and steam apparatus for the new court house done in St. Paul, and the same was referred to the committee on court house. "RIENZI."

A Grand Production of Miss Mitford's Tragedy by Lawrence Barrett and His Efficient Company --A Superb Stage Setting -- The Audience Large, Critical and Enthusiastic.

Both as regards its dramatic and its spectacular effects Lawrence Barrett's production of "Rienzi" is the acme of stage art. The drama itself is a masterpiece of tragic work, deserving to stand alongside with Shakespeare's productions, and in some respects superior to "Richelieu" and "Francesca." In his revival of "Rienzi' Mr. Barspects superior to "Richelieu" and "Francesca." In his revival of "Rienzi' Mr. Barrett has paid due regard to the modern taste for scenic display. The play is beautifully mounted, being the most gorgeous stage setting that has ever been seen in this city. The chief scenes are a view of Roman ruins in the first act, the Tribune's palace in the second, and the banquet hall and the cathedral in the third and fourth acts. In his impersonnation of "Rienzi" the Tribune, Mr. Barrett has a part which is unquestionably his crowning achievement. It is a complex character, which requires the highest ability to give a successful interpretation, but is so admiradapted to Mr. Barrett's methods he seems to have been born into it. It was a large and critical audience that Mr. Barrett played to last night. With the characteristic caution of a St. Paul audience, there was nothing demonstrative until the convincing proof of genuine merit in both the play and the actor was given. There was ample demonstration of this before the first act was concluded, and when the curtain dropped the first time there was an ovation. From that time on until the conclusion of the performance there was an enthusiasm which is seldom seen in a St. Paul theater, and which was not exceeded even during Edwin Booth's engagement in this city. Mr. Barrett was called before the curtain twice at the conclusion of each act, and as many as four times at the end of the third act. Miss Gale, whose impersonation of Claudia is a charming piece of dramatic work, and Mr. Weiles, who plays Angejo with an intelligent conception of the part, were the recipients of frequent ap-plause. The other members of the company did good work. The music, both in the magnificent bridal scene and in the equally su-perb cathedral setting, was well rendered. The supernumeries and the madrigal boys acquitted themselves with credit, and it is seloff as smoothly as the one last evening. The costuming was magnificent. The same performance to-night. Don Cameron, the midget, appeared before crowds at the Seventh street museum last night. In the theaters Bobly Newcomb in his specialty, McIntyre and Heath in their funny act, the quartette and the after piece. "St. Paul Bakery," kept the audience in a roar. Friday every lady and little girl attending the museum will be given a bottle of perfumery.

Symonds & Hughes' Sunny South company opened at the Olympic last night before a good audience. Hits were made by the Dillons, Symonds and Hughes, the Nester brothers and Etta Melnotte. The latter lady, who does mind reading, is really a wonder, doing some exceedingly difficult tricks.

CONGREGATIONAL CLUB.

An Evening Devoted to the Discussion of Renting Church Pews.

The March meeting of the Congregational club was held last evening in the parlors of to order and M. F. Hawley, Esq., of Minneapolis, read the paper of the evening on the subject of "Church Finances." He said one-half the time of most courregations was spent in divising methods to raise the church debt. He discountenanced the system of pew renting as one which gave the renter a feeling of proprietorship, which was embarrassing to strangers. He thought the system of pledges preferable. After the reading of Mr. Hawley's paper, the subject was open for discussion. Judge Woods, of Minneapolis, thought the system of free seats was unsatisfactory. the system of tree seats was unsatisfactory. He was a irm believer in a strict system of bookkeeping, the same as in business life. He looked for co-operation among churches whereby the number of churches would be reduced in small towns. H. H. Hart spoke of the system now in use in one of the churches of Cleveland. There the piedge system had been adopted, and it had proven satisfactory. George R. Dickinson, of the Atlantic Congregational church, was in favor Atlantic Congregational church, was in favor two weeks.

ROTUNDA RIFF-RAFF.

Men Who Were Met in the Corridors and By-Ways of St. Paul Hotels Yesterday.

How Ex-Gov. Gil Pierce Slipped Into a Nice, Little Cosy Nest Lined With Silver.

John D. Lawler, of Mitchell, Stands a Good Show of Being Next Territorial Treasurer.

A New Recipe for Clothing Bleak and Barren Scalps With Luxuriant Raven Locks.

Dr. Collins came in from the East yester day and wrote his name on the Merchants register. Dr. Collins is a citizen of Grand Forks, and was a member of the territorial council during the last session. He has not been home since the legislature adjourned, but has spent his time regaining his strength in the East and in and around St. Paul and Minneapolis. The doctor unbosomed himself residual send that the strength and the strength of Minneapolis. The doctor unbosomed himself regarding things political, and said that while Maj. Edwards was a social king and the prince of good fellows in his opinion, he was not the man who would suit the people for the position of public examiner, and he thought Gov. Church took the right step when he withdrew his name from the council and substituted that of E. S. Tyler. The doctor was the father of the railroad bill that was found to be missing on the last night of doctor was the father of the railroad bill that was found to be missing on the last night of the session, and charges were made on the floor in the heated debate that followed the discovery that he had been induced to withdraw it, and it could be found in the bottom of his wife's trunk. In regard to this the doctor isn't saying a word. Grand Forks got within about $7,000 of the appropriations she asked, and he is comparatively happy. asked, and he is comparatively happy.

During the run of conversation, Dr. Colling save it out that ex-Gov. Gil Pierce was elected president of the Grand Forks university, as intimated by the GLOBE, before the legislature adjourned. The election of the ex-governor had actually taken place by the old board of trustees, and needed only to be ratified by the new, board which would to be ratified by the new board, which would probably do so without a dissenting voice. This will make a very soft nest for the ex-governor to lie down in, as Dr. Collins said when the bill providing for the appropriation for the maintenance of the university was drawn up, it was calculated that $3,000 per year would be devoted to the payment of President Pierce's salary. This was with the understanding that the ex-governor should remove his family from Bismarck to Grand Forks, and this, the doctor says, Pierce had agreed to do. It is intimated that the exgovernor, in connection with his duties as president of the North Dakota university, will perform some newspaper work, and that the neadquarters of the Dakota department of the daily paper that he represents will be taken from Bismarck to Grand Forks, which is a great distance from the news center of is a great distance from the news center of that territory. It is claimed that Mr. Pierce is drawing a salary of $3,000 per annum from the paper he represents, for the column and a quarter of double leaded brevier editorial paragraphs that he furnishes it a week, and this salary, coupled with the emolument of the university president's office, will give him an income president's office, will give him an income that will enable him to live sumptuously. Outside of his regular income, it is hinted that the citizens of Grand Forks will contribnte liberally to his exchequer if he will mak his journalistic headquarters in that city. It is the general impression that the whilom governor of Dakota is bent on laying up treasures for himself on earth and will use his newspaper representation to further his ends financially and politically.

There is much speculation as to who will be the next treasurer of Dakota, among the Dakotans now stopping in the city and among kotans now stopping in the city and among these men the subject is one of interesting discussion. Some have the impression that ex-Treasurer Raymond will be re-appointed, but this is not the opinion of the majority who express themselves on the subject. In conversation with a GLOBE representative yesterday a prominent citizen of the territory said that, in his estimation, the most promising man for the office was most promising man for that office was John D. Lawler, of Mitchell. Mr. Lawler was a member of the last council, and is an active Democrat. He is a banker, represents the interests of the Milwaukee road, in which his father is a heavy stockholder, and is a thorough business man. In the last legislature Mitchell got the cold shoulder. In her attempt to get the United States court from Yankton she was badly defeated, and it was a noticeable fact that whit Mentzer, the Mitchell representative in the house, fought Plaintiff alleges that Mr. Harvey has converted the amount asked for to his own private use. Garnishment proceedings have been commenced against the Second national second n ler sat in the council with no more apparent interest in the issue than that evinced by the most careless spectator in the lobby. In his selection for treasurer, Dakota's new gov-ernor could hardly make an appointment that would be more satisfactory to representative Democrats and the people of the terri-tory at large than John D. Lawler. He is a brother of W. D. Lawler, assistant United States district attorney of St. Paul, and a son-in-law of Gen. Sturgis, now retired from City Attorney Dodge, of Jamestown, Dak. has been in the city several days, quartered at the Clarendon, accompanied by Mrs. Dodge and the babies. Mr. Dodge was one of the most active members of the territorial council and got mixed up in several hard battles with much older heads than his, but he never failed to come out on the top of the heap. He failed to come out on the top of the heap. He won the title of Adonis by his gentlemanly manners and Apollo Belvidere figure. Dodge went there to guard the interests of the Jamestown insane asylum, and he came away with his hair full of plumes and honors heaped high upon him. He secured the biggest appropriations made and had the sugest appropriations made and had the su-preme satisfaction of getting every cent he asked for. This disgruntled some of the less successful petitioners for territorial funds, and they charged Dodge with getting a foot-hold in the favor of the governor by promis-ing him that he would stand by him through thick and thin if he would give him what money he asked for for the Jamestown asylum. However this may be, Dodge got there, and came away from Bismarck with brighter colors than any other member of the council. On the night that Dr. Stewart tried to pass his soldiers' home bill over the gov-ernor's veto, Dodge was fast asleep in his chair when the clerk called for his vote. The clerk yelled his name twice but Dodge refused to wake up and the bill was lost. As soon as the vote was counted and the governor's veto declared sustained, Dodge lifted his head, rubbed his eyes and said to the councilmen near him: "Boys, let's have a bottle of win on the Jimtown appropriation." They had the winc. Mr. Dodge and his family left for home last night.

Cashier MacDonald, of the Ryan, is bome from Chicago where he has been for the past few days whetting his appetite on the lake breezes. Mac now wears long hair of raven hue, that covers his head in a thick, curly crop. Last summer he had a habit of wear-ing his hair closely clipped and a large round spot of baldness was noticeable on the top of his head. This spot gave the daper cashier considerable uneasiness especially when he was obliged to prouse around in from Chicago where he has been for the past was obliged to prouse around in the presence of ladies. Hair invigorators and coaxers he used in unlimited quantities, without the desired effect, and he was about to give up in despair, when one day a guest advised him to use gin and salt. Anxious to get a growth of hair, he tried it, and when two months later the guest asked him if he had tried the gin and salt, he said yes, but it was the d—st stuff he ever drank.

At this the guest fell down on a settee and laughed till he perspired.

"What's the matter with you?" inquired Mac.
"Why you don't want to drink it," said the great between gasps, "bathe your head in it, ruo it into your scaip. Did you think drinking gin and salt would make hair grow on the top of your head?"

Still ambitious Mac applied the gin and salt to his bleak and barren scalp, and as a result be now has a wonderfully fine crop of ilken hair.

So says the unphilosophical youth in the foreground, and then pays dearly for his foolishness and wishes he had used mora judgment. Some men will rush into a Tailor's and pay an exorbitant price for a Spring Overcoat "made to order," only to find that it looks no better, wears no better and costs twice as much as one bought ready made at THE BOSTON. The large majority of well-dressed, sensible men are buying their clothing here simply from the fact that they have proved by experience that Our Fine Tailor-Made Clothing fits perfectly, wears satisfactorily, and costs about half what clothing Made to Order Costs.
