

for all these years to that extent has been thwarted. There seems to be no evidence presented showing how much if any of this vast tract is necessary for the fulfillment of the grant to the railroad company, nor does there appear to be any limitation of the time within which this fact should be made known, and the corporation obliged to make its selection. After a lapse of fifteen years this large body of the public domain is still held in reserve, to the exclusion of settlers, for the convenience of a corporate beneficiary of the government, and, awaiting its selection, though it is entirely certain that much of this reserved land can never be honestly claimed by said corporation. Such a condition of the public lands should no longer continue. So far as it is the result of executive rules and methods these should be abandoned, and so far as it is because of improvident laws these should be repealed or amended. Our public domain is our natural wealth, the source of our growth and the heritage of the people. It should promise limitless development and riches, relief to a crowding population and homes for the landless. These inestimable advantages should be jealously guarded, and a careful and enlightened policy on the part of the government should be given to them to the end that under consideration I assume that there is abundance of land within the area which has been reserved for judgment in which no citizen or settler has a legal interest for all purposes of such identification to this railroad company. If its grant has not already been satisfied, I understand, too, that the necessity for such corporations are not complete and effectual until the same have been approved by the secretary of the interior, or unless they are approved in the way of the statute under his direction. You have thus far taken no action in this matter and it seems to me that you are in a condition to deal with the subject in a manner as to protect the public ownership. I transmit herewith the papers and documents relating to the case, which were submitted to me by the attorney general, and in case you find this corporation is entitled to select any more of these lands than has been already acquired, that you direct it to select in lieu of the land which has been selected any other land within the limits of this indemnity reservation on which neither he nor any other citizen has a good faith settlement or made any improvement. I have also directed attention to sections 245 and 241 of the revised statutes as pointing out a mode of procedure which may be resorted to if necessary for the purpose of reaching a just and equitable disposition of the case. The suggestions herein contained, I believe, are adopted without disparagement or injury to the attorney general upon the purely legal propositions which were submitted to him. Yours truly, GROVER CLEVELAND, To the Secretary of the Interior, Washington.

Talk of a Special Session.
SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.
BUTTE, Mont., April 27.—County commissioners throughout Montana are petitioning Gov. Leslie to call an extra session of the legislature for the purpose of amending the revenue bill.
