

MINNESOTA COOK BOOK.

Original Recipes From Western Ladies.

[Every Contributor Entitled to a Copy.]

To the Ladies of the Northwest. There are many good housewives in Minnesota, and, indeed, throughout the Northwest, who have gained rich stores of practical knowledge in the conduct of their domestic duties. To each one of these ladies this request is personally addressed; that is to say, we desire each lady under whose eye this may fall, to consider herself as being personally addressed—not housewives alone, but the practical daughters as well. You are, each and every one of you, respectfully requested and cordially invited to contribute at least one recipe to a collection to be printed in the Globe on the 23d day of May. These recipes may cover the widest possible range of domestic practice or duty, embracing everything that gives substance to the stomach or tickles the palate; care of the sick; dressing children, or training and educating them; arranging the table or decorating the home.

Original recipes solicited; but well tested and approved recipes, whether original or not, will be welcome.

Each lady contributor will receive a copy of the entire collection as soon as printed, for the interest she takes in the enterprise.

Lady, please take the first ten minutes you have, and write out and mail to the Globe your contribution. Send along your name that we may send you the collection when completed. Address EDITOR GLOBE, St. Paul, Minn.

DRESS UP.

If we were asked what lesson nature teaches more than any other we should say that it teaches us to dress up. How beautifully the trees dress themselves in the vernal season—put on their spring suits, as it were. Wherever you turn the landscape wears its mantle of green, and the distant mountain tops are robed in fleecy clouds dashed into sunlight. Even the ocean depths, like a ghost, cover themselves with a sheet—of water. Everything tries to dress up except a raw recruit. Sheep sport all wool overcoats, and the timid hat pants.

Wild animals go about dressed in their skins, and even the birds have coats—in their stomachs. A swallow-tail coat is not affected by the society young man alone, for the anaconda will swallow tail, coat and all. Then get thyself a suit. Don't be like the man who knew no north, no south, no east, no west, but get vest, coat and pantaloons together, and be sure you buy them of
