nurses and house help are of all proportion to the wages earned by women in other vocations. At least it is so in St. Paul. They get from $10 to $20 a month, including board and lodging. They get the best table fare and as a rule are provided with rooms so comfortably furnished as to be the envy of nine-tenths of the women who clerk in stores and work in factories. This is the case with the young women who seek employment as domestics instead of wearing out their lives in other service. There can be but one answer to this question. It is because they look upon domestic labor as a degrading occupation. This is a false and pernicious idea, which is doing more than anything else combined to ruin young women who are dependent on self-education for their maintenance. There is an old saying that pride and poverty are inseparable companions. It is a false pride, however, which prevents a man or a woman from earning a respectable living by honest methods. The stores and the factories are overcrowded with female laborers. There is a great demand for domestic help. Why, then, cannot the young women who are dependent on their own resources for their maintenance, under the favorable conditions do something toward relieving themselves by abandoning the shop and the factory and taking situations as domestics? The badge of respectability can be as easily worn in one place as in another. The cook or the nurse or the second girl can be just as much of a lady as the woman who measures off muslin, or sews leather in a shoe factory. This is the only way in which a girl is sensitive to the necessity for bettering the condition of working women, at the same time any movement in that direction will receive a greater impetus if the working women manifest a disposition to help themselves by smothering all feeling that originates from false pride, and to assert an independence of character in keeping with the nobility of their womanhood.

TO-DAY'S WEATHER. WASHINGTON, July 19, 11 a.m.—Indications: For central and eastern Dakota, southerly winds, generally fair, warmer weather. For Wisconsin and Michigan, variable winds, fair weather and slightly warmer. For Minnesota, fair weather and winds, becoming southerly.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS. ST. PAUL, July 18.—The following observations were made at 8:18 p.m., local time:

Table with 4 columns: BAR, THERM, WIND, MOON. Rows for Duluth, Superior, La Crosse, Huron, Moon, Bismarck, Fort Buford, Helena, Fort Snelly.

Place of Observation.

OMAHA AND PARKS. Omaha just now is wrestling with the park question. She has reached a point where her permanency as a city is assured, and her people have at last taken a little relaxation from the mad rush and all absorbing passion of dollar getting. They are beginning to regard their city as a place in which to live, as well as a place in which money may be readily made, and for the first time it occurs to them that they may as well beautify the city as not. To this end the establishment of a park commission is being considered, and a commissioner has been sent to St. Paul and Minneapolis to see what has been accomplished here in order that the people of Omaha should take as much as possible of the benefit of the experience of the Twin Cities. The park commission is being considered, and a commissioner has been sent to St. Paul and Minneapolis to see what has been accomplished here in order that the people of Omaha should take as much as possible of the benefit of the experience of the Twin Cities.

THE NEW HOSPITAL. Some time since the GLOBE editorially advocated the establishment of a new city and county hospital which should be designated with a view to future as well as present needs, and which should be commodious enough to offer accommodation to those able to pay for skilled nursing and treatment as well as provide for those unfortunate for whom the city must care.

THE TROUBLESOME SURPLUS. The financial cranks are again on the march, and are endeavoring to distribute the surplus revenue in the national treasury. The most enticing one is to distribute the $100,000,000 now on hand among the several states. A New York financier thinks that he has discovered in this proposition a scheme whereby the states can be lured into the paths of honesty. In a letter recently addressed to the secretary of the treasury he advocates the plan of distributing the surplus among the states, and urges that official to press the proposition upon the attention of congress, with special reference, however, to reservations to be made as against the states that have defaulted in the payment of their bonds. It is expected that by attaching such a condition to the revenue distribution scheme the various states of the Union will be induced to tread the paths of honesty and to pay their debts. Independent of the ridiculousness of the idea of bribing the states into honesty, the scheme is doubly ridiculous in the sense that the federal government, which is up to its ears in debt, should be giving away its revenue to the various states, which are burdened with billions of outstanding indebtedness, no business with a surplus in its treasury. Every dollar over and above the actual necessities for defraying the current expenses of the government should be promptly applied to a liquidation of its indebtedness. The accumulation of a surplus revenue is only an expedient for the payment of the high taxes. Inasmuch as the disposition of the surplus continues to be such a bone of contention among the financiers, the shortest way to dispose of the whole matter is to reduce the taxes so that there will be no surplus.

WORKING WOMEN. The question of ameliorating the condition of working women is the most important of the practical problems confronting the philanthropic world to-day, not even excepting the GLOBE's McGLYNN agitation for the prevention of poverty. The anti-poverty movement is right in the abstract, but it will be a long time before the world gets around to it. Mr. McGLYNN tells the story of an old-father in St. Paul, whom he found on the street late one night after a season of convalescing. When he asked him he didn't go home he replied that he had no home, as the world was revolving, and as soon as his home got around to him he would step right into the front door. When the world gets around to a condition that poverty can be abolished Dr. McGLYNN and Mr. GEORGE can step right into the front door with the anti-poverty movement. In the meantime the people of a more practical, philanthropic view will find it difficult to pity themselves in devising ways and means to ameliorate the conditions of the suffering classes. The female bread-winners are the ones just now attracting most attention. The women who work in shops and factories are deserving of most sympathy. There is one class of female laborers who seem abundantly able to care for themselves, and that is the servant girls. There is no occasion for grumbling on account of low wages among the females who do domestic work. The salaries paid to domestic and washerwomen, and enforce the church discipline in his congregation. "If I die," he said, "I will drive out some of my useful members. A dear old sister, who is the leading light of my congregation, and our most solid financial prop, is going to leave me a cancer. There was a party at her house the other night and she led off in the dance. She tells me that she has to play poker, and a 25 cent ante at that, with her husband every night in order to keep him at home. With the liberal practices as that prevailing among my congregation, how can I expect to enforce the church discipline. And the poor preacher ground in the shaft as he reflected upon his situation. The church and the boundary lines between the church and the world.

Meets With Approval. The site for the Soldiers' home has been located at Minnetonka Falls. We believe that the action of the commissioners in locating the "home" at this historic and romantic spot will meet with the approval of every old soldier in the state. There is not a Minnesota man who does not cherish such a pleasant recollection of his famous locality so near to Fort Snelling, where all Minnesota volunteers received their first lessons in the school of the soldier.

La Crosse Dudes. La Crosse has among other things a couple of who for check and self-appreciation suit to take the cake. As the steamer St. Paul was lying at the wharf on her up trip the passengers divided themselves into squads of half a dozen or more and concluded to improve the time by a game of cards. The only game in vogue was that of the ordinary characteristics of male assemblages it will not be long until some member gets the floor and will be referring to the presiding officer as "sorel torped" old hog that sits up aloft."

It Is Well. Fairchild said it would not be right for him to speak about the president's letter because it would be inconsistent with his position as grand commander. It is well. If he had kept his mouth shut a month ago, thousands of soldiers would not have been killed. The letter from the president, on such an occasion; nor would they have to contemplate the breaking up of the G. A. R. on account of the damaged ravine of the department commander and other officials of the G. A. R.

No Noplements Allowed. Col. Donan's party will comprise twenty young ladies from the South, every one of whom is said to be beautiful. Several married ladies are in the party as chaperones, but Col. Donan is not to be present. The party will do Minnetonka and the Northwest, but the colonel says no noplements will be allowed, not even engagements.

Litchfield Complains. Litchfield does not get the soldiers' home. The Litchfield, which is within such distance of the launching waterfall that the charm of its name is given as the principal attraction of the chosen site. Litchfield would have no complaints to make if the home had gone to the Litchfield, but it did not want to see it located there it is.

Bigger Than the State. We have it on pretty good authority that the Minneapolis council is considerably bigger than the state of Minnesota. It recently passed an ordinance allowing saloons to keep open all night long. The city of Minneapolis is larger than the state of Minnesota, and is the only city in the world that is larger than the state it is in.

Winnipeg Didn't Want 'Em. The only reason why the St. Paul and Minneapolis crews did not capture more prizes at the Winnipeg regatta Friday was because there was no more to capture. The Winnipeggers might have made a few more prizes, but somehow they didn't seem to want 'em.

A Source of Fun. The soldiers' home was finally located at Minnetonka falls. St. Paul and Minneapolis are well satisfied with the result, therefore it makes little difference how other portions of the state feel about it. The commissioners had lots of fun for awhile, however, in locating the people with the idea that it might be located at some other point.

Sabbath Base Bawling. We are told that the Salvation army makes Sunday in the Flour City some what hideous with their brass band and wild weird thumps. To be consistent we must have such base bawling on the Sabbath day.

The Momentary Question. The question that now agitates the people of St. Paul and Minneapolis is how to connect the grounds of the proposed soldiers' home at Minnetonka with the park system of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Another Author Wanted. Donnelly's book, which is to prove that Bacon wrote Shakespeare's plays, will soon appear. It will be in order for some one to get out a work proving that J. J. Hill wrote Donnelly's book.

Half So Pretty. St. Peter Tribune. As a self-advertiser Ignatius Donnelly is almost as great a success as Lily Langtry, but he isn't half so pretty.

Too Late in the Season. Ignatius Donnelly's new book on "The Bacon Cipher" will be out too late in the season to corner pork.

Asks to Be Divorced. HASTINGS, July 18.—Thomas H. Rooney has filed an action for divorce in the district court against his wife, Eliza Rooney, upon the ground of willful desertion. They were married in Northfield, Minn., April 4, 1883, and are aged forty-eight and thirty-eight years respectively.

The Wausau Storm. MILWAUKEE, July 18.—Further reports from Wausau, Wis., state that the great damage to the vicinity was wrought by the wind storm of Saturday last. A barn in the town of Angels was blown to pieces, and a number of cattle injured. Hundreds of shreds were broken down.

The Mercury Climbs Up to Above 102. WASHINGTON, July 18.—The thermometer to-day beat all previous records for the month of July since the establishment of the signal service by climbing up to a maximum of 102.8°, and the only day in any month since the weather bureau's establishment in which higher temperature than to-day was recorded. The mercury reached 104°. There were fifteen or more cases of prostration, and five of these are known to have resulted fatally. The mercury in the afternoon cooled the atmosphere considerably. One noticeable feature of the heat for the past few days has been the hot and dry winds from the west, which are known as the "Sioux winds" through the city in the middle of the day. Gen. Greely gave the following explanation of the occurrence to a reporter: "There is fair weather west of Washington, the Gulf of Mexico, and the Mississippi river, and the temperature all along the line was as high as at Washington. In some places it was higher; that is, at St. Louis at 104°."

Brutal Murder of a Well-Known Citizen, Henry Sallen. His Murderer, James Kuhn, Strung Up Until Dead. Special to the Globe. OMAHA, July 18.—A special from Nelson, Neb., reports the killing of Henry Sallen, a farmer, and the almost immediate lynching of his murderer, Henry Sallen, by a mob of about twenty men. Sallen was a well-known citizen, and his death was a great loss to the community. The murderer, James Kuhn, was a young man who had been in the army. He was captured by the sheriff and taken to the jail. A mob of about twenty men gathered outside the jail and demanded that Kuhn be hanged. The sheriff refused, and the mob threatened to burn the jail down. Kuhn was then taken to a tree and hanged. The body was found the next morning.

Notes From Huron. HURON, Dak., July 18.—President Davis, of the Press association, advises a special train on the Milwaukee and St. Paul routes, to be run for the benefit of the editors going to Big Stone City. It leaves Mitchell at 7.30 a.m. on Tuesday, July 19, and reaches Big Stone City at 11.30 a.m. The train will consist of a Pullman parlor car, a dining car, and a baggage car. The fare is $1.00 for the round trip. The train will stop at Mitchell, Big Stone City, and Huron.

The Knight Templars. WASEKA, Minn., July 18.—The Knight Templars' drill, participated in by Knight Templars from all parts of Southern Minnesota, took place at the assembly grounds at 4:45 p.m. to-day. The Schubert quartet appeared for the first time in the city. The drill was a very interesting one, and a large crowd was in attendance, and expressed themselves as highly pleased with the entertainment.

Boring for Oil or Gas. HASTINGS, July 18.—To-morrow evening a citizens' meeting will be held at the court house to devise ways and means for boring a well for oil or gas. The citizens of Hastings are very interested in the welfare of the city, and it is requested to be present.

A Statement by J. J. Hill. ST. CLOUD, July 18.—Capt. J. E. West, of this city, stated this morning at the chamber of commerce meeting that J. J. Hill had expressed his opinion to the effect that the proposed flouring mill will be built at Cloquet, and that the flouring mill will be built at Cloquet, and that the flouring mill will be built at Cloquet.

A Sportsmen's Club. FAIRGO, Dak., July 18.—The annual meeting of the Detroit Lake Shooting and Fishing club, successors of the old Detroit Lake Shooting and Fishing club, was held to-day, and B. S. Louis, of Jamestown, was elected president. The club is in first-class condition.

Still a Republican. SIOUX CITY, Ia., July 18.—Judge Lewis, of this city, has received formal notice of his nomination for supreme judge by the Prohibitionists, and has promptly declined. In a letter he says: "I am a Prohibitionist, but also a Republican. I believe the Republican party has done more for the people of Iowa than any other party, and I will continue to support it."

A Fire and Life Suit. OMAHA, Neb., July 18.—The Burlington supply depot at Lincoln, this date, was burned to-night. The damage is placed at $90,000, with partial insurance. Suit for $25,000 was filed against the Omaha fire and life insurance company, a second hand furniture dealer. The Herald said the other day that Brown was one of a gang in Omaha furnishing women for disreputable houses in Eastern cities.

An Approaching Marriage. HASTINGS, July 18.—Matthew Jones and Miss Nellie Chapron, of Iver Grove, are to be married.

A Chicago Invitation. CHICAGO, July 18.—Mr. Cleveland will be invited to visit this city.

One of the Prettiest of All Mountain Lakes in America. LAKE PEND D'OREILLE. Murray Sun. LAKE PEND D'OREILLE in Northern Idaho, named by the early French voyagers from its resemblance in shape to the pendulum of a clock. It is a beautiful lake, and is not surpassed for wild beauty by any lake on the American continent, and invites comparison of its natural features with such famous European lakes as Luzerne, Zurich, and Maggiore. It is a beautiful lake, and is not surpassed for wild beauty by any lake on the American continent, and invites comparison of its natural features with such famous European lakes as Luzerne, Zurich, and Maggiore.

THE SICKLE OF THE SUN.

It Cut a Wide Swath Yesterday Among the Inhabitants of Stricken Chicago.

Up to Noon About 135 Deaths Had Been Reported as Caused by Heat Prostration.

Washington Sees the Highest Temperature on Record in Its History.

Rightful Fatalities in All the Eastern Cities and in Those of the South.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The sickle of the sun cut a wide swath in the population of Chicago last week and yesterday. It had its victims in every grade of society and left them in every part of the city.

LA CROSSE Dudes. La Crosse has among other things a couple of who for check and self-appreciation suit to take the cake.
