Des Moines Takes a Game From Duluth---Detroit Laid Out by

It has been hinted around pretty freely of late that St. Paul could not bat when hits were needed. This is not always true. It was not true yesterday. The hits of the home team were sufficiently numerous and "sequential" to suit the most exacting base ball crank. In the first inning five singles, a double and three bases on balls, well interlarded with errors, yielded ten runs, and in the ninth the heaviest single inning slugging ever seen in this city was done. After Roche had got first on a muff at center field, and been thrown out trying to steal second, Pickett, Crooks, Murphy, Cleveland, Wilmot and Stockwell each hit for two bases and Sowders for a single, and six men trotted over the plate. Two other runs were made by St. Paul during the game. In the fourth inning Wilmot was presented with a base, stole second and third, and scored on Roche's hit to left field. In the fifth Crooks made his second hid for the Green home run pedal field. In the fifth Crooks made his second bid for the Glebe home run medal by landing the ball squarely outside the right field fence. La Crosse scored two in the third inning on three hits and errors by Murphy and Pickett. Four were added in the seventh on doubles by Jeyne and Pyle, a base on balls to Miller and a triple by Rooks. In the eighth the last two were made on singles by Nagle and Jeyne and a double by Scott. Pickett made most of the errors for the home team, but only one of them had any effect on the score, The visitors' errors were numerous, but they would not have won against such terrific batting had their error column been entirely clear of evidences of blunders. The features of the field play were fine catches by Burch and Scott and a pretty double play by the field play were fine catches by Burch and Scott and a pretty double play by Crooks and Roche. There was not a member of the St. Paul team who did not get a genuine hit. Cleveland really led with the willow, all his hits being the real article, while two of those by Wilmot were phantoms. Burch's stick work was again much admired. He hit safe twice, got a base on balls and drove three long flies to the outfield. He always hits the ball a quick, clean, sharp whack which sends it through the air at a dangerously rapid pace. Nagle made his first appearance with La Crosse, and, besides catching a fine game, did and, besides catching a fine game, did good execution with the willow. The

EASY FOR MINNEAPOLIS.

The Match Makers Given a Bad Drubbing.

Minneapolis ended the week by winning the second game from Oshkosh yesterday, pounding Burdick for fif- New York Makes a Good Race teen singles, a triple and two home runs. The game was really won in the first inning, when four singles and Patton's home run, with a wildipitch, gave five runs. If this were not enough, five runs. If this were not enough, four hits and two errors gave three more runs in the second. With this lead Minneapolis played lazily and added five more during the game, while Oshkosh made a total of six altogether. It was rather a listless game, though relieved by several brilliant plays. The best of these was in the sixth, when Meister, with one hand, caught a red-hot liner from McCarthy's bat and made an unassisted double play. Burns made a unassisted double play. Burns made a fine catch of Klopf's fly-against the left-field fence and covered his field in fine style. Foster caught seven flies in his garden, two of them being exceedingly difficult running catches. Oshkosh hit difficult running catches. Oshkosh hit Klopf about as hard as he has been hit this season, but Minneapolis hammered the game out of Burdick. Murphy, a subst tute umpire, went in to umpire and was badly off on balls and strikes. The score is as follows:

Boston Captures a Ten-Inning Game From Detroit.

DETROIT, Aug. 6.-Abominable umpiring made an extra inning necessary to-day, and a wild throw by Brouthers gave Boston the winning run in the tenth inning. In the ninth after fairly striking out Nash made a home run, tieing the score. A triple by Getzein and Brouthers' single in the tenth gave Detroit a lead. A base on balls and singles and an out placed the Bostonians on second and third. Then Daly knocked on second and third. Then Daly knocked a grounder towards first, which Brou-thers threw wild to the plate, letting in two runs. In this inning Johnston pre-vented Richardson making a double play, but the umpire saw it not. In the seventh Nash knocked Ganzel down when the latter tried to put him out at the plate but Mr. Sullivan said (safe). the plate, but Mr. Sullivan said "safe."

CHICAGO BEATEN.

For Victory.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6 .- New York took a good game from Chicago very handily this afternoon, beating the champions after every one of the 7,000 spectators supposed the contest was decided their way. The score was tied in the fifth, when New York made six runs, three of which were earned by two doubles and one single, but Van Haltren contributed materially to the result by giving two men bases on balls, and errors by Sunday and Pfeffer did the rest. After that it was easy sailing for the visitors. The feature of the game was Sunday's remarkable catch of Tiernan's long fly, capturing the ball as he jumped a low bench for spectators placed so far out that it was supposed no ball would ever reach it. Had it not been caught it would have been a home run. CHICAGO. AB R B SB PO A E

The magnificent struggle in the National league goes on. During the fortnight just ended no club in the organization has won more than eight games nor lost less than four. Detroit retains the lead, but is unable to materially ingresse its advantage. Belidelishing retains the lead, but is unable to materially increase its advantage. Philadelphia is still in the race, too, the Quakers being but nine games behind the Wolverines. It would be a great surprise, however, if the Philadelphia aggregation should go to the front. The general impression is that the team will hold its present position. It is said President Spalding, of the Chicago team, believes the fight will be between New York and Chicago, Detroit and Boston dropping to third and fourth place, respectively. New York, Aug. 6.—The Brooklyns got onto Knouff in the opening inning to-day and batted him for four earned runs. The Baltimores made five errors in that inning. Burns and Davis equally divided four between them, but they did not affect the final result of the game and to the slippery condition of the grounds they were largely due. The home team did not hit far, but they did in good season. Knouff struck out only one man, and he never reached first base. In the fifth inning Baltimore had two men on bases and none out. Danbase. In the fifth inning Baltimore had two men on bases and none out. Daniels attempted a sacrifice hit into Toole's hands, and the latter touched first base before Purcell could return. Then Tucker popped up a fly to Pinckney, and a goose egg resulted. Clark's work behind the bat was the best of the day, and he batted well too. Griffin led the batting for his side. Davis played poorly. Manager Barnie is looking for Esterbrook to play third for him. Greer, McTammany and Smith did the best for Brooklyn. CAN PITCH AND PREACH. An Iowa Minister Who is Also a Crack Twirler.

Special to the Globe. DES MOINES, Io., Aug. 6 .- A gentleman who came up from Albion this morning tells of a great game of ball in that town yesterday. Albion, a town north of Marshalltown, has a good amateur club, and their crack pitcher is the minister of the Little Country church. He is a great pitcher, and plays at home with the boys for exercise. Grinnell also has a good club, and was recently challenged by Albion to play a match game. They accepted, provided they would be allowed to bring their own umpire. This was agreed to, and the game occurred yesterday. The pitcher, who, it appears, is the captain of the team, would not allow any kicking or loud coaching. The reverend pitcher took his position in the box after a short prayer, and the game was called. The umpire was very rank, but the good man would allow no kicking. Finally the umpire called a man safe and the decision was too much for the preacher. He stopped amateur club, and their crack pitcher is too much for the preacher. He stopped a minute and studied; then with a steady step and a solemn look in his face he advanced toward the umpire face he advanced toward the umpire and in a very polite manner remarked: "Mr. Umpire, I see it is necessary for Albion to beat the Grinnell Ball club and the umpire, and we will do it. Now you just watch us, dear sir. Then there will be no kicking; all good playing." After this little speech he retired to his position, and for five innings the opposing team got but one hit off him and his team won the game by a score of 9 to 6. He is an expert pitcher and the pride of the base ball people of the city.

Gloriously Full.

Yesterday morning at 2:25 two reporters of the News stepped into the Ideal coffee house to get a lunch Ideal coffee house to get a lunch before going home. As they entered, Ingraham, Duluth's first baseman, attracted their attention by his loud and boisterous talk. His friends calmed him, however, before he had said very much and he settled down to eating! Reddy McMillan was at the left of them all and as usual, was gathering in everything that came within his reach. He was eating as he never ate before. Morkin, the pitcher to whom Duluth's citizens have often pointed with pride as being the coolest man in club, was seated nearest the door and had a very composed position. He leaned despairingly on his left hand, while with a fork in his right he alternately ate beans and brushed flies from his face. The look on his countenance was one of woe, although he was nearly asleep, and he undoubtedly felt rather uncertain. In undoubtedly felt rather uncertain. In a word the gentlemen were gloriously full of that which incbriates and were in need of the nospitalities offered by a

THE TALK OF TWO TOWNS. Comments on Friday Night's Cardiff-Killen Mill.

The meeting between Killen and Cardiff at the Washington rink, Minneapolis, was the chief topic of conversation yesterday morning among the sporting men, and the rival establishsporting men, and the rival establishments of the two sluggers were thronged all day. Cardiff and his friends seemed to think they were entitled to what little glory there was and were in high spirits. Killen is evidently disappointed and surprised at the outcome of the fight. He expected that he could "do" Cardiff, despite his rushing, and ducking tactics. He now says he wants to have it out to a finish for any amount, and Hank Seeley agrees to back him. Cardiff, as usual, says he is not anxious to fight, and wants to be let alone. He came out of the battle without a scratch, and the statement in yesterday's Globe that he got a black eye was erroneous. Killen's hand did not seem to have been much injured, although his left bothers him somewhat. The receipts are much smaller than anticipated. Messrs. Bresslauer and Wallace, who had the management of the affair, say there were considerably less than 5,000 people present. The receipts were about $6,000. and the management took 23½ per cent., leaving about $4,500 to be divided evenly between Killen and Cardiff. The opinion of the public is still divided as to the merits of the men, although Cardiff stock has risen somewhat because of his good staying qualities. An incident in connection with the affair was an encounter yesterday afternoon between John Donaldson, Cardiff's backer, and Sparrow Golden, the Philadelphia boxer. Golden says Donaldson ments of the two sluggers were thronged backer, and Sparrow Golden, the Phila-delphia boxer. Golden says Donaldson insulted him, and it looked as though the two were going to have it out on the spot. Golden says he means to challenge Donaldson as a result of the unpleasant-

Lewis Won With Ease.

cial to the Globe. EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Aug. 6.-A big crowd gathered at the opera house tonight to see the match between Charles Moth and Evan Lewis, the strangler. At 9 o'clock Parson Davis, of Chicago, announced the affair as a catch-as-catch-can, three falls, with ten minutes' rest between falls. Alexander Montgomery, of Eau Claire, was referee. The first fall Lewis won in two minutes. The second fall Moth won in ten minutes. The third fall Lewis won in two minutes and was given the match. In the first fall Lewis remained apparently passive from the start, allowing Moth to take any hold he chose. The second fall was preceded by a long struggle, but no strikingly scientific features. Lewis rolled around on the floor with Moth for several minutes and finally went over on his back and the fall was given to Moth. The third fall was accomplished by Lewis with the same ease and rapidity with which he had won the first. It looked as though Moth had gained the second fall by what announced the affair as a catch-as-catchhad gained the second fall by what might be called courtesy, and it seemed apparent that Lewis might easily have won the second as well as the other two.

pose everywhere in Central America, by base imitations. Iron machetes are substituted for those of steel as manu-factured in Connecticut and New York. The trade marks of American artisans are stamped or imprinted on the worthless German implements. I am told that 50,000 machetes are sold annually in San Salvador at an average price of $3.50 each. American osnobergs, sheetings, muslins and calicos are driven out of Central American markets by goods bearing the brands and trade marks of the best American mills. These worthless American mills. These worthless German goods are made of East India and Egyptian cheap short staple cotton, and are utterly valueless. Perhaps the poorest beverage I ever imbibed was German claret, sold here and bearing the trademark of the best wine grower of California. Beautiful bottles, bearing on their exteriors pretty labels of the great beer distilleries of St. Louis, Philadelphia and Milwaukee, are full of the foul decoction brewed in Germany. Perhaps the vilest of all these beverages is the Kentucky whisky, so labelled, but distilled in Germany. I have seen Colt's and Remington's repeaters sold here that were never in the United States. I was told that these were the products of that forgotten 'Birmingham' of England, but these illiterate, untroubled natives demand the cheapest goods. HE MEANS BUSINESS.

Secretary Whitney Will Not Indorse the Repair of Old Hulks.
Washington, Aug. 6.—A board of repairs recommended that the ironhulled steamer Palos, now on the Asiatic station, be repaired, and estimated the cost at $5,000 on the hull and $4,000 for new boilers and machinery. One of the arguments in favor of the recom-mendation was that no other vessel now mendation was that no other vessel now in the navy would serve the same purpose, she being able, on account of light draft, to enter all the ports on the station. The secretary indorsed the recommendation as follows:

Aug. 1, 1887.—This indorsement suggests the expenditure of the sum of about $5,000 upon the Palos. The Palos is a tug of 230 tons, twenty-two years old and in uo respect a war vessel as now understood. She cost originally, in 1865, $75,000, when iron was twice its present price, and could probably be Sullivan's Golden Belt.

Boston, Aug. 6.—The gold, diamond-studded belt that is to be presented to John L. Sullivan next Monday evening, on the occasion of the testimonial to be given him at the Boston theater, has reached this city, and has been placed on exhibition. It is beyond doubt the richest and most elegant prize ring symbol ever designed in this or any other country, and is almost bewildering in its elaborate detail and princely rich ness. The brilliant corruscation of its diamond-studded surface, the delicate tracery of its golden links, the soft tints of its heavy enamels, excite the liveliest admiration of the beholder, and, aside from its intrinsic worth, it is valuable as a work of art. Two big policemen stand guard over the shining bauble. It lies upon a bed of purple plush, which offers a pleasing contrast to its golden luster, and will remain in its presentation to Champion Sullivan.

A TREASURYSCANDAL. Involving the Payment of Money to Swindlers. Washington, Aug. 6.—Information from a source which appears to be trustworthy indicates that a serious scandal is impending in the treasury department. Several months ago a letter from one of its officers, the surveyor general of California, fell like a veyor general of California, fell like a thunderbolt within the walls of the generrl land office. It is asserted that the letter in question contained certain United States treasury drafts which the surveyor general had received direct from the treasury department with a number of others to deliver to certain persons, whose addresses he was to ascertain. These drafts were, in fact,

for payment or satisfaction of claims which the persons in whose names they were drawn had against the government

The offi-cial, in returning these treasury drafts, stated that, when he had delivered all the others or caused them to be delivered to the pe rsons for whose benefit they were issued, he had FAILED TO FIND THE PAYEES

of the drafts inclosed in his letter, as some were dead and others had moved to parts unknown. The irregularity of the proceedings was apparent to Sparks, and it is ascertained that he was then and has been ever since the most indignant man in Washington, for upon a careful comparison of the plates and accounts, in satisfaction of which these treasury drafts had been issued,
it was found that in many cases they had been so paid long years before,
some of them as long ago as 1872 or 1873.

It is said that a good many persons are interested in these irregular and fraudulent cases, and that among them are several exmembers of congress, who were told by one of the special agents that they were running a terrible risk. They explained, as might well be, that they were merely acting as attorneys for others, and had believed the claims were all "straight." "Well," requested the agent, "all I can say is, that you have drifted accidently into very strange company—the company of thieves and scoundrels."
