

MINNEAPOLIS EVENTS

The Exposition Booming Along in a Satisfactory Sort of Manner.

A Police Outrage That Has Excited a Good Deal of Indignation.

An Addition, Mich., Man Named Frank A. Thamer Arrested for Forgery.

The Plans for Pillsbury Hall—Editor Blethen in Hot Water Again.

A peculiarity about the crowds that visit the Exposition daily is they seem to move around in an aimless hop and a scatter, and thereby miss seeing many things they would otherwise observe if a little system were adopted. The main floors are, of course, given up to factory and store exhibits. The ground floor is devoted to machinery and all the ponderous articles. The annexes contain the managerial and press headquarters. On the next floor the government exhibit is placed and on the third floor the dining hall is located. The restaurant. Then, of course, there is the art department, with two prominent entrances, and yet it is quite common to find the visitor, well-wondering how you get into the art gallery. Passing into the building from the entrance facing the river one finds he is on the second floor, and turning to the right, he must without any mistake come to the official department, where also is situated the press headquarters and the hands-on-the-ship of the man-ship from the Archibald collection.

On the main part of the second floor is an entrance to the art gallery, and the people should be careful in going there, they must deliver up their tickets and umbrellas, and they receive a check for their safe keeping. A lynx-eyed policeman is kept busy all day watching that people observe strictly this rule. The government exhibit is on this floor in the ante-room, just off the stairs, and the people should be careful in going about the most instructive place in the whole show. On this floor there is also placed the tobacco exhibit, the factor of which attracts attention; the handsome exhibit of the Darrow company, the carriage people, where the pony track delights all those who are enamored of the interesting exhibit from the state school at Fairbault, Minn., for people of feeble mind where some handsome work is exhibited done by these imbecile people in the line of brushes, woodwork and ornamental work in silks and various clothes. Here on this floor is sold the oldest paper in the country by a lady and gentleman dressed in the costume of 100 years ago. The splendid collection of prints from the United States Patent office is deserving of more attention than is paid it, as they are beautifully engraved, handsomely mounted and very interesting, showing the wonderful strides that have been taken within late years in every art and device of humanity. These and a thousand and one different exhibits are here shown, but the most interesting interest increases, as here is situated the Music hall, where "Liberator" discourses sweet music every afternoon and evening. One of the most striking-looking things on this floor is the dazzling glass roof over the booth of McCall and Bros. The effect of its elegant and appearance is very fine, especially at night. Here, too, is the diorama, which is such a favorite with the children; the striking-looking fruit exhibit of the Fruit company, which California, and many more highly interesting exhibits and booths, the majority of which have been already described in the GLOBE.

THE MANITOBA RAILWAY EXHIBIT. It is doubtful whether a single person of the tens of thousands who have visited the Exposition has yet seen the exhibit of the Manitoba railway, which has not personally inspected the unique and strikingly attractive exhibit of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway company, and the exhibit is one of the most interesting of the exposition. When one stops to consider that less than a decade ago nearly the entire country through which the railway runs was a virgin and undeveloped, a surprise that is almost incredible, becomes manifest that such mammoth vegetables, right up to the most extraordinary heads of wheat, oats, barley, flax and rye, and such splendid, nutritious grasses that constitute the display, could possibly be from the same country. Hundreds of aged patriarchs from New England stand around this company's display with wonder and amazement, depicting on their countenances as though just awakened from a kip Van Winkle sleep, without the power of comprehending what has occurred in the interval. The exhibit is in the form of an arcade, built entirely with sheaves of golden wheat, oats, barley, rye and blue-joint grass, which are decorated with small bunches of wheat and other grain stalks tied with bands of bright colored ribbon, and the corner pillars are surrounded by corn stalks and amber cane, whose lofty tassels touch the ceiling. In one corner of the room is a fan-shaped canopy of grain, the center of the display is ornamented by a representation of an old-fashioned church-steeple from whose apex hangs a large bell, the entire piece being made of grain sheaves and variegated grasses. On one side, arranged in a semi-circle, is an engine and two cars, constructed wholly of grain heads and grasses, even the wheels, cylinders and piston rods are of the same material, making a novelty of the same beauty and exhibiting a rare mechanical taste in its construction. The train represents the special one used by the general officers of the Manitoba road when they are on their tours of inspection. The above is but a brief description of the exterior of this most extraordinary exhibit, while a personal inspection is necessary to realize the fullness of its beauty and mechanism. The interior and along the sides of the arcade are displayed in great quantities of specimens from the various grain and animal kingdoms that constitute what is known everywhere as the famous Red river valley, which the Manitoba road has so thoroughly developed that it only requires a tickling of the ground with a hoe to produce a harvest. Here are vines bearing luscious grapes from the Concord, Catawba and Delaware grapes from the vineyard of George A. Camp at Minnetonka Beach, with huge yellow pumpkins, beets and corn to represent the richness of his garden spot. There is an extensive collection from the vegetable world by A. M. Fridley of Anson county, N. C., who mentions that tip the scales at fifty-seven pounds, pumpkins, carrots, squashes, corn, etc. Then all observe with surprise the unusual collection of grains and grasses grown in Douglas, Kittson and Marshall counties in the Red river valley, while the eye is dazzled by the specimens of wheat, oats, barley, rye and blue joint, red top and Hungarian grasses that occupy glass jars and sacks and hang in festoons around.

Again we find vegetables and grain from the extensive farm of Dennis Ryan at Kennedy, Kittson county, and grain, grasses and vegetables from J. J. Hill's famous ranch in the Red river valley. We observe fine cheese from the Hancock factory in Kittson county, thus demonstrating the "practicability of fostering the dairy interests of the Northwest. Specimens of choice amber cane from Alexandria, and Douglas counties; timber of various varieties from Belknap and other counties; coal from the Milk river country, near Belknap, which lies in the open, nearable quantities upon the ice surface, and which the engineers of the railroad trains say is unexcelled for heating purposes. Then there are vegetables from far away Montana that are the peer of those grown a thousand miles further east and south.

We find a monument of elegant cream colored pressed brick from Morris Stevens company, that for finish, color and durability exceed the famous Milwaukee brick. There are samples of floor from the Benson, Moorhead, Crookston mills, as white and superfine as "Pillsbury's Best;" pressed brick from Evansville; elegant granite exhibit from the quarries at St. Cloud; samples of carded wool from the Benson woolen mill and woolen cloth from Litchfield. A loaf of bread made from wheat, rye and barley, and prepared by Joseph Bookwalter, of the Manitoba company, by the Grand hotel, at Crookston, is shown to exhibit the quickness of doing things up in this country. The animal kingdom is fully represented in the collection of Fred Barker, taxidermist of Otter Tail, consisting of grouse, quail, partridges, prairie chickens, geese, eagles and other birds, natives of our Northern latitude, the collection being supplemented by a large sand hill crane with its characteristic long neck. The immense heads of buffalo, elk and moose from George A. Brackett's collection are superb, while the extraordinary large number choice plaques, maps, showing views of the farm houses, stock and topography of the country along the main line of the Manitoba road, which have been collected at another cabinet of pretty pictures reveals the beauties of Alexandria beach and the splendid lake, around which are extensive sporting grounds, while William is generally photographed in another place, showing its public buildings and many private residences.

The exhibit of the Manitoba road was prepared wholly under the supervision of the land department of the road, of which Joseph Bookwalter is general agent, and a more thorough and capable man could not be found. The Manitoba folks know a good employee when they find one, and the old dog Tray, hold fast when once found. W. G. Sibben, with Mr. Bookwalter, is the artist and designer of the display, and he is a man of great mechanical skill, which has been previously displayed at New Orleans, Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville and St. Louis.

But just this while looking at such a vast, incomprehensible display of products of the soil, taken from a country that has only been developed about fifteen years, if the past be any criterion to judge by, the future for the territory spanned by this great thoroughfare.

THE COMMERCIAL MEN'S DAY. W. G. Byron, secretary of the Exposition, and W. M. Bushnell, of the State Fair, have extended a cordial invitation to the commercial men of Minneapolis to visit the two shows Thursday, Sept. 15. In response to these invitations Messrs. W. S. Stockdale, Joseph H. Reynolds and W. C. Corbett, as a committee representing the commercial men of the city, called a meeting at the West hotel Saturday evening to take action. The meeting was largely attended and enthusiastic. Joseph H. Reynolds was elected chairman and John F. Jordan, secretary. W. G. Byron being present extended the invitation to all traveling men in line on the day mentioned. The following committees were selected to prepare a programme for the day and evening: Committee on instrumental music, J. J. Jung, chairman; committee on selection of land, Frank Lothman; committee on badgers, F. H. Frear, Joseph McIntosh, A. G. Showers; Joseph H. Reynolds and W. S. Stockdale, assistant; committee on transportation to State Fair, F. H. Frear, W. H. Ritchie, W. C. Corbett.

The motion by Mr. Corbett prevailed unanimously: That as representatives of Minneapolis traveling men we extend a cordial invitation to the traveling men to meet us at the Fair grounds at 10 o'clock a. m. Thursday, Sept. 15, and to again join us at 7:30 p. m., at the West hotel in Minneapolis, and march in a body to the exposition. The secretary was instructed to ask for a platoon of police to escort the procession.

The committee on finance was selected composed of the following gentlemen: F. J. Jung, W. S. Stockdale and W. C. Corbett. The secretary was instructed to communicate the proceedings of the meeting to the commercial men of St. Paul through the Executive Committee of the Exposition, D. B. Finch, E. A. Dorsey, William Eagan, Charles Gordon and J. F. Jordan, and to request publication in the daily papers of the two cities.

Resolutions of thanks for the courteous invitation of Messrs. Byron & Bushnell were passed and the secretary instructed to reply to them.

Minneapolis commercial men are requested to meet at the West hotel at 10 o'clock a. m. Thursday morning, Sept. 15, for the purpose of taking part in the procession to the State Fair. It is hoped every available man will turn out.

THE FIREWORKS NOTE. The fireworks that arranged to have come off last night will occur to-night and tomorrow night, and the celebration will be a grand one, with a grand finale of fireworks and will include a great fireworks novelty, namely, the eruption of Mount Vesuvius, a perfectly new design and a magnificent display in every respect. The weather was the unavoidable reason for the change in the programme.

Mr. Warner received a telegram from that gallant old soldier, Col. Corville, popularly known as the "Hero of Gettysburg," that he was here for military purposes, and the card to give the colonel a glorious reception.

A POLICE OUTRAGE. A Needless Attack Upon a Well-Known Young Business Man. When the patrol wagon swung into lock-up alley Saturday night, loaded to the gunwales with "chippies," John N. Gannon, a prominent young business man, out of curiosity followed the patrol wagon, and was surprised to find that he had been taken to the police station, where he was held for a night.

Clarence Johnson Severely Cut by Peter Peterson. Peter Peterson, a resident of South Minneapolis, is under arrest on a charge of assaulting Clarence Johnson with a knife and stabbing him in the right buttock. Peterson is now at his home, 3516 Thirtieth avenue south.

A Little Sensation. Frank A. Thamer, of Addison, Mich., Charged With Forgery. "Is your name Frank A. Thamer?" asked Deputy Sheriff Lou Shepley last evening as he stepped up to a well-dressed young man in the West hotel. "It is," replied the person addressed, drawing back a step, "but you have the advantage of me, sir, for I never saw you before in my life." At these words the deputy sheriff placed his hand on Thamer's shoulder, saying, "You are a prisoner." This attracted a small crowd, and the sheriff stated that he was arrested on a telegram from John W. Crandall, the constable of Addison, Mich., charging him with forgery. Thamer pleaded that he was innocent, that the arrest would result in his discharge from his present position, collecting for the Wagner, Hushon & Co., of Chicago, and that he was justified by them in his exonerated. Mr. Wagner says if Mr. Pratt can get in a good word for himself on the side he is justified in doing so, and that if Mr. Paris is not satisfied with the arrangement he may withdraw.

THE BOARD OF TAX LEVY. Several members of the board of tax levy were absent at the meeting yesterday and it was decided to take an adjournment to Monday at 10 a. m., by which time the state board of equalization will be through its work.

County Auditor Condit has presented the following estimates of the outside limit of taxation for 1897: State, 1.7 mills; city, 1.0 mill; county revenue, 1.4; city, current expenses, 6; for interest, 2.3; sinking fund, 1; permanent improvement fund, 2; board of education, 1.0 mill; park board, 1.1; street fund, 2.5. Following is the total valuation of the taxable property for 1897: Towns, $13,648,674; city, $109,104,12. The figures for 1896 were: Towns, $13,565,814; city, $99,591,762.

Monday's Victims. As a result of the rigid (?) enforcement of the Sunday closing law by the police commission, there were only twenty-five arrangements for drunkenness in the municipal court yesterday. Eight men and nine women pleaded guilty to being found in houses of prostitution. Sarah Weeks, Mattie Smith and Michael Murray pleaded not guilty to the same charge. The former was fined $10 and the trial of the latter was set for Friday. The women were set for Friday. The women were set for Friday. The women were set for Friday.

THE NEW CENTRAL STATION. The police commissioners spent yesterday afternoon in examining the plans for the new central station proposed by the Chicago & North Western Railway Co., which provides for a three-story brick building having four hundred and thirty-two cells, a stable for horses, etc. H. H. Hart, secretary of the state board of corrections and charities, was also present. The plans were virtually agreed upon, and bids for the construction of the building will be advertised for to-day. A building adjoining the lock-up, but not yet started, and will be fitted up for temporary use.

War With China. Three or four badly excited Chinamen rushed into the lockup last night, surrounded Jailer Kennedy and clamored loud and loud for the arrest of a seven-year-old boy, clad somewhat after the fashion of a cowboy, who had followed them into the city offices. The boy, who had been taken to the lockup, was released, and the police were left to deal with the matter.

A Small Blaze. About 7:30 last evening an alarm from the box on the corner of Nicollet avenue and Sixth street called the department to Gallagher's tea store, 617 Nicollet avenue. But the chemicals alone were called into use. W. P. Howe, of Gallagher's, had almost extinguished the flames, and the fire was out. The store, owned by one Mr. Baker, over the store, and did probably $200 damage. It is not known how the fire originated, as there was no light or fire in the room.

THE BOOTH-BARRETT SALE. The advance sale for the great Booth-Barrett engagement at the Hennepin Avenue theatre, which opens to-day, at 10 a. m., at the West hotel, the scale of prices will be, parquette $2.50, balcony circle $2.50, gallery $1.50. Boxes will be placed at $15 to $20. This is the same scale which Mr. Booth played last season at the Grand. The two stars will not visit St. Paul.

"The Devil's Auction." Minneapolis can appreciate the combination of the spectacular, the burlesque and the melodramatic that are presented in the "Devil's Auction." It was greeted by a large audience at the Grand and was declared an improvement over that of last season. The auctioneer, who came all week and is sure of a good business.

COURT JOTTLERS. Ring & Tobin, the contractors, have secured a judgment of $4,249.50 against the Minneapolis and St. Paul Railway Co. The judgment was obtained by the contractors, who were ordered to pay the same to the railway company. The railway company, however, refused to pay, and the contractors brought suit against them.

MISCELLANEOUS. Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Andrew Anderson and Antonia Alsdorf; Albert H. Powers and Hannah Hogan; Gregor Tracey and Mary Dryer; Charles H. Hubbard and Edna Quander; Otto Paulson and Annie Fredericksen.

THE SEPTEMBER TERM. The September term of the district court opens to-day, but no business except placing cases on the calendar and getting things in shape for handling will be done. There are a large number of cases to be disposed of, and the term will be a long one. Considerable interest is being manifested on all sides as to what the grand jury will do. In addition to the usual business it is expected that the "roomer" and "boarding house" cases will have a full airing, although some of the owners of the blocks in which there are large numbers of lewd women are endeavoring to evade the law.

LOCAL MENTION. Every visitor to Minneapolis ought to see the great war picture, Battle of Atlanta, which is on exhibition continuously every day and evening, and Sundays between 2 and 10 p. m. in First street, near Nicollet avenue.

FASTER TRAINS. To Chicago and Milwaukee via the Wisconsin Central. The fast trains of the Wisconsin Central leave Minneapolis at 1:40 p. m. and 6:40 p. m., and St. Paul at 2:25 p. m. and 7:15 p. m., arriving in Chicago and Milwaukee the next morning. These trains carry the finest equipment in the West, consisting of Pullman palace drawing sleeping cars, elegant day coaches and unequaled dining cars, and are run through solid without change from Minneapolis and St. Paul to Chicago.

MINNEAPOLIS GLOBULES. The dime museum played to the capacity of the house last night. The cowboy pianist is the feature.

THE HEAVENLY ORPHAN. A regular meeting of the Catholic Orphan board will be held at Father McGolrick's residence this evening.

THE HEBREW ORTHODOX CONGREGATION. Adath Jeshurun, at 4th and Hennepin, will hold a service at 8 p. m. on Sunday, Sept. 13, at the Hebrew Orphan board.
