A QUESTION OF VERACITY.

The Charges of Crooked Work in the East Tunnel.

Yesterday afternoon the council committee on sewers continued the investigation of the charges against B. F. Sykes, the foreman of the northeast sewers, who is charged with selling material without authority from the city. The members of the committee present were Ald. McArde, Kerr, Vogt and Johnson. City Engineer Rinker said he had telegraphed to Sykes, who is now on his way out here, but he did not appear at the meeting, nor was he represented, although Mr. Rinker said he had since learned that Sykes was in the city. Myers said he was not the first to prefer the charges and thought Messrs. Sleeper and Sherborn should be called on to testify, but C. B. Sleeper was accordingly called, but their evidence was just a repetition of what they gave at a previous meeting.

Myers then testified that 533 loads of sand were taken to the university and 132 to other points, the total value being $25,800. About 100 worth of stone was taken to New Boston. Myers admitted collecting over $12 of this money and handed it to Sykes.

Van Duzee, who is engineering department said that he had only received $10 from Sykes.

J. Bryant testified that he knew of Sykes being in the city on Fifteenth avenue, also that there was one man sent out from the sewer job for three days to build a cistern for somebody, but that he did not know all the facts for those three days. The dirt was used in filling up a stable and was paid for and there was the city receipt to show for it. A man by the name of Driscoll said he had carted away seventy-five loads of black dirt on his own team, not those of Sykes. He did not know, and he believed there was any crookedness intended. Myers repeated his old story, and the whole business seemed to amount to this: Verdict between the city and the city, and those who testified. The hearing was adjourned till 10 o'clock Friday.

DISTRICT COURT NEWS.

A Number of Interesting Suits That Were Heard Yesterday.

An accident that occurred nearly seven years ago, near the Pillsbury mill, on the East side, was recalled by a suit tried in the district court. It was the action of Charles Lathers against the St. Anthony Water Power company, to recover $10,000 damages for injuries received by the falling of a ledge of rocks. Verdict for the plaintiff, $10,000. The defendants claim that $16 has already been paid Lathers, as compensation for all damages sustained.

Albert Eastburn, a young man, was tried on a charge of assault in the third degree on Geo. L. Phillips with a bottle, was found guilty, but recommended to the mercy of the court. Judge Young gave the young man a lecture and sentenced him to sixty days in the county jail.

Remiah Willey, C. E. Henrich and John P. Willey filed an application in the district court yesterday asking for the bounty of $300 for the arrest of William Aldred, a horse thief. A. L. Slump and A. J. Mollen are made defendants in an action begun by Charles Byersdorf, who seeks to recover $100 for a horse stolen from him. The defendants claim that Byersdorf returned when the writ of attachment was dissolved.

Philip Switzer has made application for a writ of habeas corpus for arresting Frank Nelson, a horse thief.

The cases against Charles Shebe, M. D. Willing, Mary Ludwig, H. Thompson and Augustus Johnson, who were selling liquor without a license, were called yesterday morning, and a nolle prosequi was entered at the instance of the prosecuting attorney.

Harold D. Quigg was admitted to the bar from Virginia.

Louis Day and Morris Malone, charged with highway robbery, pleaded guilty to petit larceny and took sentences of three months each in the county jail.

The Wagner divorce suit, on trial in the district court, was concluded yesterday and the case taken under advisement.

NEARLY A MURDER.

A Highwayman Shoots O. L. Wells, a Travelling Man.

The city is not entirely rid of highwaymen and burglars yet, the august police commission to the contrary notwithstanding. The latest victim is O. L. Wells, a traveling man from Cincinnati, and he was handled in a pretty rough manner. Tuesday evening, a few minutes before 9 o'clock, he was walking along Second street, south. When at the corner of Eleventh street he was approached by a heavy-set man, who ordered him to halt. Wells did so, and at the same time the highwayman fired at him. Wells saw the flash, and throwing up his left arm, the bullet struck him in the wrist, passing clear through and coming out on the other side. As Wells dropped his arm the assassin struck him on the head with his sandbag. Wells fell to the ground unconscious, and when he recovered he found his pockets turned inside out and his money gone. He ran south on two or three blocks without meeting a policeman, and when meeting James Worrell told him of the occurrence. The police were at once notified and Inspectors Brown and Kinney were sent out, but failed to find anything. The matter was suppressed at police headquarters and all questions put to the reporters were answered in the negative that there was nothing in it. Wells is visiting a friend at 620 Nicollet avenue.

PRICES HOLD UP.

But the Demand for Flour Falling Off—The Output.

In its review of the milling market and output, the Northwestern Miller will say:

The amount of flour produced last week was a trifle less than it was the week before. The total product for the week was 163,600 barrels—averaging 27,267 barrels a day. The output for the preceding week and 125,260 barrels for the corresponding week in 1886. The short-crop water was not sufficient to impede operations, and considerable apprehension is felt about the supply of water when cold weather sets in. The former list of nineteen mills are running as strong as they can, seven of them being as strong as the time of steam. The mill spoken of last week will be got at work in a few days, or soon after. One more after, producing steam, and the proprietors inother are not unlikely to do so. The flour market is somewhat less active, and though there are a few orders found who claim to be taking orders equalling their output, there is not as free selling. Export trade is fair and domestic business moderate. The holding prices pretty firm, desiring to catch up somewhat before the advent of cold weather as they are quite uncertain about power after that. The direct exports of flour were again large last week, amounting to 66,200 barrels against 73,750 barrels the preceding week.

SINGULAR MANNERISMS

At an Otherwise Enjoyable Benefit Concert, Last Night.

About the most important event at the benefit concert tendered Miss Annie Wilson, the pianist, at Dyer's music hall, was the first appearance of Herr Carl Westrum, violinist, lately from Berlin, Germany, before a Minneapolis audience. Herr Westrum has been duly advertised and warmly received, but in justice to music and culture, it can not be truthfully said that he is a very remarkable player. He is, at the most, a competent, but the refined bearing of classic musical learning, and arduous patience in practice and study, but he does not possess the thrilling power of David Bispham, to sway an audience, nor can he be compared to that prince of violinists, Weinberg, of Milwaukee, at one time a resident of this city. The program was said, after his playing a solo next to the great master of the North, "Ladies and gentlemen, I am surprised," yet Carl Westrum, a cultured and refined player, as a teacher, it is certain he would be a great success. He behaved rather strangely on the stage, however, in the hands of the violinist, he stopped in the middle and retired to the ante-room. At first it was supposed he was ill, but he returned in a few minutes, and played the seventh number, Spanish, which he repeated the same behavior, this time speaking to his accompanist, and the music was continued, but he did not over the house. It may be added his efforts were warmly appreciated by the audience, but Carl Westrum must not think that he is a great success. He is a man of musical knowledge as a soloist from either of those brilliant sons of the Northwest—David Bispham or Emil Weinberg.

Miss Wilson played in a brilliant style the "Prelude" by Chopin, the "Lorelei" by Raff, and also the "Norwegian" by Grieg, but in the sixth number, ballade, Chopin, whether from weariness or from some cause, a little lady did not seem to reach out to her usual high artistic standard. The remaining artists, Miss Lillian Stoddard, Miss M. J. Porter, Miss M. J. Porter, and Prof. H. S. Woodruff, pianist, all distinguished themselves in their several parts. The audience was a large and seemingly cheerful one, and the conclusion a pleasant lunch was enjoyed by Miss Wilson's friends elegantly served at Dornier's cafe.

A SEASON OF COMEDY.

The Vokes Company at the Hennepin Avenue Theater.

Rosina Vokes opens her engagement at the Hennepin Avenue theater to-night in the triple bill, "In Honor Bound," "My Milliner's Bill," and "A Night at the Milliner's."

The comedy is supported by the best company of comedians ever put on the road, and the comedies are of the highest order. "In Honor Bound" is by Sidney Grundy. Sir George Carleton marries a lady much his junior, solely for the position her influence can gain for him. He attains the zenith of his aspirations and is elected to parliament. Around his ambition revolve his wife and home and does not learn, until it is nearly too late, to love the woman who has been so patient and faithful. "My Milliner's Bill" (in which Miss Vokes sings her famous song, "His Art Was True to Poll") is from the pen of G. W. Godfrey. Mr. Merrick (Miss Vokes) has run up a big milliner's bill unknown to her husband, and very amusing complications arise from her endeavors to keep the knowledge from him. He, however, ascertains the truth, and devises a scheme by which to teach his extravagant little wife a lesson, but the piece has a happy termination. "A Double Lesson," by C. Stephenson, is a charming one-act comedy, with an exceedingly good moral.

In "Miss Vokes plays the part of Miss St. Almond, a celebrated burlesque actress, who is invited by Lady Monicoffe to assist her in preparing for private theatricals, and while instructing her in the art of singing and dancing discovers her husband (Harry Field) is in love with my lady. Sir John (the husband of Lady Monicoffe) enters unobserved by Miss St. Almond, upbraiding her husband for his faithlessness, but her woman's wit saves the situation, and she will not be advanced during this engagement.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.

Oshkosh, Wis., Oct. 19.—A brilliant social event to-night was the marriage of M. E. Rounds, of Minneapolis, and Miss Elvora Morgan, of this city. Rev. The bride was attended by Miss Grace Morgan, her sister, Miss Minnie Gittens, of St. Paul, and Miss Mary Ward, of Menasha, and Miss Lillie Watts, of Oshkosh. The bride wore more than 200 grains of silk, and a duchess lace. The marriage was followed by a reception attended by several hundred society people of this city, and others from abroad. The decorations and presents were elaborate. The bride is the daughter of John R. Morgan, a wealthy lumberman, and the bridegroom is in the employ of E. C. Alkin & Co., of St. Paul.
