TOUCH HIS CHAIN.

Doesn't matter what part of it, just so you touch it. He would have a last, just good hatred for you and wouldn't sit in a game for ten days. In a game, if some one accidentally touches him, that settles it, he throws up the game and quits. There's another one that comes in here, who, when playing poker, never allows his chips to get out of order, as it is a sign of bad luck. That is, he piles the whites together, the reds by themselves and the blues also separate. The pile must not be crooked, but just as even as a stone column or pillar. He may accidentally disarrange them when betting or putting up his ante, but just as sure as the ace comes that hand to even them up again.

SHE TOLD A SAD STORY.

Kate Risdon Given a Divorce—A Strange Delusion—Notes. A day or so ago Kate Risdon filed a petition in the district court for divorce from her husband, Samuel Risdon. She is thirty years old and he is nine years older. Her case came up in the special term before Judge Brill yesterday.

from her husband, Samuel Risdon. She is thirty years old and he is nine years older. Her case came up in the special term before Judge Brill yesterday. Her's is a pitiful story. She said she had been once keeping a hotel opposite the St. Paul hotel, on West Seventh street. Her husband, she says, took to squandering the money and gambling. He got away with about every cent he could lay his hands upon. He abused her, according to her story, and in the end she was obliged to live with him any longer, and went out and found employment in a laundry. The court concluded to allow a divorce. A suit for divorce was commenced yesterday by Mary Jane Douglas from Norval A. Douglas. She is thirty-seven years old, he forty, and they were married in New Orleans Nov. 14, 1885. She charges against him cruel and inhuman treatment, habitual drunkenness and adultery, and that it is unsafe to live with him. She photographs between the years of 1879 and 1880 at her home in Henderson he committed adultery with Mrs. E. A. Webster, and that in this regard he was guilty of a crime. She also committed adultery with a woman whose identity is unknown to Mrs. Douglas. They have two children, aged seventeen and fifteen respectively.

FLOODED HIS KITCHEN. Judge Wilkin occupied Judge Simons' seat in the district court yesterday, and the jury trial of the damage suit of Thorold Wilson against the Manitoba road was before him all day. John W. Willis appearing for Wilson. Wilson asked for $20,000 damages. His case, according to his statement, that he had a lease of the property on Broadway, between Third and Fourth streets, for ten years, from David Sandford, and that the case did not expire until April. Sandford had leased the property from the Manitoba company. The building upon which he occupied as a boarding house and saloon. He alleges that during last winter the Manitoba company, after it had necessary to commence driving piles for the new bridge, caused the water to be run across his lot, disconnecting several sewer pipes, and causing an inundation into Wilson's kitchen to the depth of three feet.

UNDER A DELUSION. A rather odd man, with a peculiar tendency to jerk his head upward at very short intervals, was examined yesterday by Judge Gorman and Drs. Ancker and Markoe yesterday. He says his name is John Mitchell, that he is forty-two years of age, a native of Scotland, and was born in Aberdeen, Scotland. He seems to be afflicted with a kind of paralysis, and he has been in the hospital for some time. He says he has been following him, and that he killed his wife and two children near the court house last week. Not long ago a son of his, a weak-minded boy, was sent to the Fairbank institution. The old man was committed to the county jail to give him an opportunity to cool his head. He was taken to the family before being sent to the asylum.

NEWSBOYS' ATTENTION.

An Opportunity Is Offered You to Clothe Yourselves Splendidly for the Winter. The newsboys have been important factors in making the GLOBE the grand success it is. The newsboy is one of the most active agents in the interest of a great newspaper. It is their stout lungs that keep the paper fresh in the minds of the people from day to day, rain or shine, year in and year out. It is their cheery voices that cry out the principal features of news that the paper presents to the public, and it is their push and energy that places it in the hands of the citizens. The GLOBE has always recognized the importance of the good will of the newsboys, and has labored to make its relations with them as pleasant as possible. It gave them a day's outing at Lake Minnetonka last summer for the purpose of showing its good will and letting them know that it was walking arm in arm with them, and the boys seem to have caught the impression that it was intended to convey, for they have worked nobly early and late, and make its success an assured thing; and now the GLOBE has another offer to make, and one that will interest every newsboy in the city. The management of the paper has purchased twenty-five splendid suits of winter clothes, ten heavy overcoats and five sealskin caps. These articles will be given to the newsboys, who, beginning to-day, sell the DAILY GLOBE every day till Christmas. This offers an opportunity to active boys to easily earn a fine suit of clothes, a good overcoat or a sealskin cap, besides keeping them in pin money. Boys who want to try this should report at the GLOBE counting room this morning and get a number. They will never get a suit of clothes easier. "Let 'er go, Gallagher!"

Adams and James Bale, of Duluth.

IN THE LOBBIES.

A General Lounging Place Where the After Dinner Cigars Are Smoked. After a good dinner there is no place so attractive to the average man as the lobby of a hotel, when he can smoke a cigar and discuss the news of the day with old friends and create new acquaintances. The lobby of the Windsor hotels any evening in the week, say about 7 o'clock, and the scene presented is an animated and always interesting one. In one spot a little group of politicians is making up slates which may be smashed the following day; around the cigar stands the men are holding their cigars and talking over the news of the day, and the remainder of the rest of the lobby is filled with a miscellaneous group of young men about town, in evening dress, preparing to go to the theater or some dancing reception, and the hotel lobby is a convenient rendezvous. Some of the regular habitués of the hotels are pretty prompt in their attendance. EVENING AFTER EVENING. The majority of the assemblage is kaleidoscopic, and are here to-day and gone to-morrow. The Ryan is probably the best illustration of this last feature. He is a man of the faces, and some familiar ones. At the Merchants and political and state elements predominate, and the Windsor is not so much a temporary abiding place of families.

It is ten to one if an assignment is made for the evening it will be for a meeting at one of these three places, and the accommodating clerks usually made the medium of communication between the parties as to their whereabouts at a certain time. It is much more congenial to the man sent to be in a crowd after business is over for the day, and now that the cold weather has prevented sitting out of doors in the morning, the appearance of the lobbies attracts them in droves, and it is hard to leave such pleasant and interesting scenes. Millions of dollars are represented in these gatherings, and the wealthy lumberman, miller, manufacturer or successful merchant is not averse to being seen in the same lobby with his employer. There is a certain amount of bluff and humor and good fellowship are the prevailing traits of character, and he is in a miserable specimen of humanity who cannot content himself in the lobby and have an evening enjoyable.

At the Olympic. The Olympic did a heavy business last week with the Female Haymakers as the principal attraction. The Haymakers will be followed this week with the circus, who are said to be fourteen in number and "beautiful young ladies." The olio will introduce numerous well known specialties. A comedy troupe called "The Wanderers" will be a part of the entertainment.

GLOBULES. Four births and six deaths were bulletined at the health office yesterday. A regular meeting of the board of education will be held to-day at 10 o'clock. The park commissioners adjourned for lack of a quorum yesterday afternoon.

There will be a meeting of the ladies inter-club association at 3 o'clock to-day at the fair at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Crusaders' hall. Joseph Parker, of London, Eng., who is now making a lecturing tour in this country on glassmaking, will be in St. Paul and lecture at the Lyceum at 7:30 p. m. to-day.

The board of administration of the Farmers' institute held a short session in St. Paul yesterday afternoon. The meeting was held at the Lyceum at 7:30 p. m. The drawing for the fancy quilt at the Lyceum yesterday afternoon resulted in the following: George W. Fritzsche, proved the lucky number.

The case against John Sveek, the boy who stabbed a girl, was held for trial at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and continued to-day at 10 o'clock. The result of the trial will be more serious than was anticipated.

Mrs. C. O. Van Cleve, state superintendent of the White Cross movement, will address a meeting for men only at the rooms of the Temperance union, 58 East Seventh street, to-day at 4 p. m.

The annual meeting of the Carnival association will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Lyceum. The attendance of all whose names are on the list of stockholders is requested.

John Hinkley was arrested last night for stealing a vest containing two watches and a $10 bill, belonging to a fellow lodger named John Hansen, in a cheap lodging house on Robert street, near Fifth.

There will be a meeting of the Summit mail association at the chamber of commerce, at 3 p. m., for the transaction of important business. All interested in the interest of aggressive work are requested to be present.

A German laborer named Charles Wetzel fell to his death from the third story of a new building on Fourteenth and Jackson streets yesterday afternoon, escaping with only a few bruises and a broken leg.

The meeting of the board of managers of the State reform school, which was announced for meeting yesterday at 2:30, when the question of removing the school to Duluth, Minn., was discussed, will be definitely settled.

Paul Sprengle and August Piper, city milk dealers, arranged in the police court yesterday, on complaint of Deputy Ducker, of the state dairy commissioner's office, for selling adulterated milk. Sprengle had a hearing and was fined $25, and Piper's case was continued.

Another Sheriff John Lunkenheimer has another sorrow added to his already great misfortune. He lost another child Friday afternoon—a little girl, Lena A. Lunkenheimer, aged four years and four months. The funeral took place at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. This is the second child that has died in one week.

The high school board yesterday granted a diploma in the scientific course to Theodore M. Knappen, of Montevideo. Mr. Knappen has his diploma in his pocket, and has been granted in the state, Miss Pendergast, daughter of Assistant Superintendent Pendergast, being the first one.

Birdie Taylor, keeper of a house of ill-fame on the corner of Pearl and Temperance streets, was fined $25. Ling Mavis and R. Jones, found occupying apartments in the house were fined $10 each. Nellie Williams, who kept a "red light" on Klondike street near Robert, was fined $25. Mollie Anderson, one of the inmates, was fined $15. Charles Thompson was sent out for ninety days for the same offense.

What a Multitude of Sins The word "catarrh" covers. It is this climate catarrh is quite prevalent; many are troubled with it; some have not got it but are liable to get it. The first thing they do is to get a nasal douche or a lot of snuff, and commence to treat themselves, oftentimes exciting catarrh, which perhaps never cures. You had better have it cured by one of these scientific methods. The cheaper and better way is, first, be sure you have got the disease, and then procure a spraying instrument, so constructed that it will throw a fine medicated spray into the nasal cavity anterior to the opening of the middle meatus, thereby medicating all parts affected. Use for spraying first some good antiseptic wash, after this an inhalant or spray for curing the disease, and stimulating the little glands and follicles in the mucous membrane to renewed action, and you soon overcome the disease. Dr. E. C. JANIGON.

ELKS' SOCIAL SESSION.

The Second Opening Up of the St. Paul Lodge Rooms. THEY HAD A ROUSING TIME. Something of the Growth of St. Paul Lodge—Officers Elected Last Night. A delightful entertainment and banquet was given by the St. Paul lodge of Elks last evening in honor of the male members of the Emma Abbott Opera company. It was also the second social session of the lodge held since its organization, and a large number of guests were present, besides the members of the lodge. The social session began at a little after 10 o'clock in a pleasant informal way, with Mr. Bliss, of Dayton, O., as presiding officer. He opened the meeting by saying that the banquet was entirely unexpected, and supposed the first thing to be done was to raise a row. Mr. Swazy rendered a beautiful piano solo, and at his conclusion the Elks sang a song. Mr. Wilkes as policeman appointed Mr. Lou Turner as policeman to keep order. He accepted the office by reading and showing his shape to the audience, and such an exhibition would be all that was necessary to preserve order, if not he would find a way.

Mr. Brock, of the opera troupe, a handsome, pleasing gentleman, was called upon by the chair for a song, and gave an Italian selection in his rich, powerful, clear voice, that called forth great applause. The chair arose at the end of Mr. Broderick's song and announced that he had received a message from Mr. W. C. Nelson, of the Elks lodge, in Minneapolis. He appreciated the honor shown him by sending a committee of two to invite him to the meeting, and desired to express his sincere thanks.

His sincere thanks to the members, with the regret that he was unable to attend. He then turned the honor over to one until finally R. T. Flournoy was reached. He pleaded that he was not in condition, and desired to be excused. The chair then shifted the honor one by one until finally R. T. Flournoy was reached. He pleaded that he was not in condition, and desired to be excused. The chair then shifted the honor one by one until finally R. T. Flournoy was reached. He pleaded that he was not in condition, and desired to be excused.

The St. Paul lodge, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, was instituted Dec. 5, 1863, and has since that time been taking in new members. The lodge is composed of leading men of St. Paul, such as doctors, lawyers, journalists and railroad men. At present the lodge numbers sixty-two members, among whom are numbered several gentlemen residing in Duluth, Stillwater and Fairbank. At present there are under consideration about twenty new applications for membership, with more in view. Here it is seen that the lodge is growing, and that it is certainly a credit to the K. of P. rooms, but there is a movement on foot to secure permanent and elegant lodge rooms. When this final object is attained, the lodge will undoubtedly be changed from Saturday night, as it is highly inconvenient to many members. Hereafter the lodge will meet in the Knights of Pythias rooms any other Saturday evening. The idea is to have a social session, like the one of last evening, once every month. In the past this has not been done owing to the fact that it was hard to get the members together. Radical changes will be made in regard to the meetings, and the members will boom the lodge of the "Best People on Earth" for all it is worth. If the meeting last evening was evidence of this, it is certainly a good omen.

The following new officers were elected at the business meeting held in the early part of the evening: Exalted Ruler—E. Stone, Foreman. Esteemed Leading Knight—John T. Black. Esteemed Local Knight—Eli Allen. Esteemed Lecturing Knight—J. S. McCullough. Tyler—C. E. Robb. Secretary—S. H. Keenan. Trustees—E. G. Long, C. M. Schultz, P. A. Rockwell.

IRVING TO CHILDS. A Touching Letter to the Philadelphia Philanthropist. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—Following is a copy of a letter received by George W. Childs from Henry Irving, who represented Mr. Childs at Stratford-on-Avon, on the occasion of the presentation of the Shakespeare fountain to that city: "Brunswick Hotel, New York, Oct. 31.—My dear Mr. Childs, I have the honor and the kindest: I am back in your land again, amongst many dear friends, and with a welcome from your countrymen. You makes my heart beat with love and gratitude, and I must say, with pride, God bless them, when at Stratford, you were so kind to deliver to you some "Honest War" from the Shakespeare fountain. It is a beautiful and a beautiful monument which the people of that town owe to you. The ceremony of dedication is not likely to be forgotten by those who had the privilege of taking part in it. I wish you had been there, and I regret to think that it has been regarded both at home and here—in England and America—as one of the most beautiful history of peace and good will. May you long live to enjoy a distinction of which any citizen of a free country should be proud, and your brain is every day busy with generosity and good deeds. For myself I trust you may find time to give me a visit on your return to a position of such trust, and in thinking you I thank "the kindest man, the best conditioned and unworried spirit, in doing courtesies that this great world has never known." Believe me, my dear Mr. Childs, sincerely and faithfully yours, HENRY IRVING.

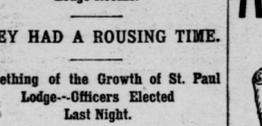

May Have Succeeded. New York, Nov. 5.—The friends of David Scott, of Vernon Bros. & Co., who disappeared Tuesday last, leaving behind him an overdrawn account and $70,000 in improperly endorsed notes, have formed the opinion that he has committed suicide. He was heard from last on Thursday at Niagara, where he purchased a ticket for the other side. He has not been heard from since, and the Canadian side, and he left his watch and wallet at the hotel at Niagara.
