HEAVY IMMIGRATION.

Agent Cederburg Says People Have Been Flooding to the Northwest This Year.

Get out of there, now, or go where you belong! Here, show your ticket before you go through that gate! Take that train on the left for Duluth. Yes, ma'am; it leaves in just half an hour, etc., etc. Thus the GLOBE man found Mr. Cederburg, the pleasant emigrant agent at the miller depot, who was doing duty as gatekeeper in connection with his own position.

"Many emigrants this year? he asked. "Why, there have been more than in the last five years. As to nationality, there have been more Norwegians than any other kind, though, to be sure, there has been a great many Swedes. There has been less Germans than in the last five years. I don't know how to account for the falling off of German emigration, unless it be that those who came this way before have written discouraging letters to their brethren. The ones that do come, however, are male, hearty fellows, able to do any thing."

Lately there have been a good many Hessians, or rather Poles. They are undoubtedly the dirtiest people on earth, and their children actually revel in filth. They're plenty of good soil to grow in. Perhaps I should not say that because who could help being dirty after so much travel. These Poles, or Polaks, as they are called, are the fiercest people in America almost.

"Your land is full of them, they all go," continued Mr. Cederburg. "Many go to Duluth, and a great many go further west, in fact the majority of them go west."

"I'll tell you what's a fact. In all my experience I have never handled such a healthy lot of people. There has not been a single death this year, and every year before I have had anywhere from five to twelve deaths in the emigrant house."

TRAVEL IN EUROPE.

What Charles A. Gillig Has to Say of Americans in Europe.

Charles A. Gillig, first vice president and general manager Charles A. Gillig's United States exchange, London, England, registered at the Hotel Ryan last evening. To a representative of the GLOBE he gave some information on European travel.

"I sailed from Liverpool on the steamer Adriatic, of the White Star Line, Oct. 21, after quite a rough trip. "How many people do you estimate cross the Atlantic every year—that is on the average?"

"Of course, the exact figure is obtainable, but, during the six months of summer travel, I should say that, exclusive of emigrant and intermediate passengers, during the six months of the season proper, it would amount to about 50,000, and 25,000 for the other six months, and the grand total will be not far from 80,000. I am satisfied that I am within the mark. I have given the Union line an average of 200, while the Alaska and Arizona usually carry double that number. In regard to the City of Rome she has only made monthly trips during the past season, but I understand that the owners propose to add another fast steamer to their service next season, which will run in connection with the City of Rome and insure them a much larger average than have allowed. While a few people make the round trip on $500 and a few expend five times as many thousands, I think $1,000 expense would be a fair average, so that the 80,000 would expend $80,000,000."

"Then you mean to say a man can 'do' Europe for $800?" "No, not all of it, but that is the amount Bayard Taylor expended when he wrote 'Views Afloat,' and he did a good deal of it; anyhow he produced a 500-page volume as the result of his travels on that amount. A man who is economical and knows what he is about can go over and see as much of Great Britain and France and a little of the contiguous country for $500, but he will have a more satisfactory time if he goes with twice that amount."

"Don't you anticipate cholera will interfere with travel next year?" "I don't see why it should so far as Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Northern Italy are concerned. It is true that Spain and some of the Mediterranean ports have suffered to an extraordinary degree, but in a great measure it is the fault of the people, though the hot and dry atmosphere which pervades those countries, and the intolerable breezes which sweep across the Mediterranean contribute somewhat to render the locality liable to such visitations. The people are indolent and uncleanly, and sanitary precautions are things unknown among them. France is somewhat better off in these respects, while in England, and especially in London, the sanitary conditions are unsurpassed. Again, the people there submit to the most stringent regulations, and all rather than relax them for the interests of the health officers. There was one case, that of a sailor hailing from a Spanish port, reported somewhere in Wales, but it was proved to be only one of these sporadic cases liable to occur anywhere. No, there need be no fear of cholera."

"Why purpose in visiting America was to promote American travel to Europe, as in London, I endeavor to make known the resources and attractions of America."

MANY DIVORCES.

A Half Dozen Unhappy Families Whose Cases Were Considered—Court Notes.

A large number of city assessment cases on board of public works reports were disposed of by Judge Simons in the special term yesterday in favor of the city, no objections being entered. The divorce case of Ellen Fitzsimmons against Charles T. Fitzsimmons was heard and granted, that of Sarah E. Davis against Charles M. Davis was submitted; those of Frank Burkstrom against Jerome L. Burkstrom and Anna T. Bowen against Frank J. Bowen were stricken off the calendar, and in that of J. Kaufman against C. W. Kaufman, judgment was made for the plaintiff.

LITTLE MISTERS. The jury awarded Christian Rehman in his suit against the Minnesota & Northwestern a verdict of $2,406.25 damages, and as to the special questions, found that the company's carelessness was wholly responsible for the accident. Judge Kelly has postponed all civil cases commencing to-morrow for one week, to avoid the unnecessary attendance of attorneys at court, and to enable the court to get through with the cases now behind. The case of J. P. Gilbert against the J. P. Gilbert Lumber company in trespass upon his land, is on trial before Judge Wilkin. In the case of Austin S. Fields against George W. Maceo for $600 on a note, before Judge Kelly, the jury came in at 10 o'clock last night with a verdict for the defendant.

The case of the Village of White Bear against Atharine S. Stewart, concerning the taking of Kelly's White Bear property for a public park, is on trial before Judge Brill.

C. B. Thurston was appointed receiver of the estate of Patrick H. Down in place of Ald. O. O. Cullen, who resigned. In the damage case of Herman Seiver against the city of St. Paul the plaintiff got a verdict for $85,000. Kennedy & Chittenden sue T. Bixby for $151.65 on a bill of goods.

IN GOD'S TEMPLES.

Services in the Churches of St. Paul This Morning.

At the Plymouth Congregational church this morning, Dr. Dana will preach a sermon to young men. In the evening Rev. Mr. Braeg, an accomplished French speaker and minister, will give an address on the "McCall Missions of Paris and Their Methods." Mr. Braeg is fully conversant with the condition, secular and religious, of France, and he is a scholarly and finished speaker. The union service for Thanksgiving day of the Plymouth Congregational and First M. E. churches will be held in the latter church, Dr. Dana to preach the sermon.

At Christ church to-day the communion will be celebrated at 7:30 a. m. and morning prayer, litany and sermon at 11 a. m. The evening prayer and sermon will be at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Sydney W. Foster will administer the communion and preach in St. Mary's church, Merriam Park, at 10:30 a. m. He will officiate in St. John's church at White Bear at 3 p. m., and at St. Stephen's church, corner Randolph and View streets, at 7:30 p. m.

At the Oxford M. E. church Rev. H. C. Smith, the pastor, will hold services morning and evening. At the Park Congregational church Rev. Norman Seaver will preach this morning on the text, "The Kingdom of God," and the evening on the "Desirableness of Religion."

At the New Jerusalem church Rev. Edward G. Mitchell will discourse on "Spiritual Growth" in the morning and "Who Was Swedenborg, and What Did He Do?" in the evening. At the Unity church Rev. L. M. Crothers will speak on the "Spiritual Resources of Jesus" at the 11 a. m. services.

At the Philadelphia Baptist church, corner Reaney and Cypress streets, it will be Bible day, and Rev. E. P. Savage, the new pastor, will discourse upon the subject of "The Bible."

At the Academy street chapel, the subject to be selected by Rev. W. S. Vail will be "Eternal Goodness" at 11:30 this forenoon.

At the Temperance union, No. 55 East Seventh street, the meeting for deaf mutes will be held at 10:30. The ladies of the several W. C. T. unions will connect a temperance meeting in the interest of the World's Women's Christian Temperance union this afternoon. The topics suggested at the meeting are, "The duties of emigrant service will be taken up at the Gospel temperance meeting this evening."

Rev. Dr. Joseph Parker, of London, England, who is now making a lecture tour of this country, will lecture at Gladstone, and who recently paid the late Henry Ward Beecher a high eulogy at Plymouth church in Brooklyn, will be in St. Paul and lecture at Market hall on the 21st inst. He will also preach in the House of Hope church next Sunday. Dr. Parker is regarded as one of the staunchest exponents of home rule, and an admirer of American institutions. Wherever he has been he has received many complimentary press notices.

THE UNIONS HARMONIOUS.

Resolutions Passed By the Trades Assembly on the Late Mass Meeting. Thomas H. McKone, of Typographical Union No. 30, presided at the largely attended meeting of the Trades and Labor assembly held on Friday evening, F. J. O'Connell, of the Molders' union was admitted as delegate from that organization. William Jones, of the Cigar-makers' union was elected a member of the executive board and Julius Adams, of the same organization, was elected treasurer. The cigar-makers' delegates reported the excellent success of their ball. A complaint against a certain boarding house keeper for selling cigars bearing the bogus union label was referred to the Cigar-makers' union, who will probably prosecute any such action. The following resolution was passed by the assembly:

Whereas, Several recent publications may have given impressions of unfair statements and discord between the organizations represented in this Trades assembly, therefore be it resolved, That all statements published in the daily papers of Sunday, Oct. 16, concerning the mass meeting at Turner hall on the night before were correct, as were the official declarations of the chairman of the said meeting, and be it further:

Resolved, That only the most cordial and harmonious friendship exists between the Independent Socialist Labor union and every other organization represented in the assembly.

WORK ON THE PARKS.

The park commission held a regular meeting yesterday afternoon. There were present Messrs. Ludden, Clark, Schiffmann and VanSlyke. After allowing bills to the amount of $1,639.40, and transacting some routine business, the commission adjourned. The principal work of the board during the year has been in connection with the park. Of the five miles of parkway reserved for this use, about one-half will be completed for travel this fall. Convict labor was employed during the first few weeks, but in order that the work might be forwarded as much as possible before the cold weather set in, sixty men and sixteen teams have been hired. The board has also during the year condemned the grounds and accepted plans for the following parks: West St. Paul, Norman, Hiawatha and Carpenter. There will be expended in all on Comok park about $8,000.

New Corporations.

The Colville Mining company, of St. Paul, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state yesterday. The capital is $100,000, and the incorporators are: W. D. Stevens, W. S. Munroe and H. E. Goodrich, all of St. Paul. Articles incorporating the Earle Manufacturing company, of Minneapolis, were filed yesterday. The capital is $200,000, and the incorporators are: George D. Emery, C. E. Pendleton and R. E. Dalton are the incorporators. The Simmons Refrigerator and Cold Storage company, of St. Paul, has been incorporated with $200,000 capital stock, and James Simmons, president; John W. O'Connell, secretary; E. W. Leonard, treasurer, and John H. Schulze, the incorporators.

J. M. Hanna's Prostrated.

On Friday evening, soon after reaching home for dinner, Mr. J. M. Hanna, general traffic manager of the Northern Pacific road, complained of not feeling well. Soon after his physician was sent for, who found on examination that Mr. Hanna had a severe attack of paralysis, which affected one side of his body. Yesterday his condition was somewhat improved, and while he is prostrated, his condition is not considered at all dangerous. The trouble is thought to be the result of overwork.

Concert To-Night.

To-night Mr. Seibert opens the ninth season of his superb concerts at Turner hall. His orchestra has been augmented to thirty instruments, and will render a very carefully selected programme this evening at its opening concert. One of the attractions will be a cello solo by Louis Mitchell, the new cellist, who recently arrived in St. Paul from Germany. There will also be two more solos, a vocal one by Mme. Francis E. Letty and a violin solo by Mr. Muench. The orchestral numbers will consist of selections from Schubert, Mendelssohn, Bruch, Weiss, Beethoven, Kerssen and Wagner. The programme is an unusually attractive one and full of pleasing music.

MANY ARE THERE.

The Orphan's Fair is Booming Along Right Merrily. Market hall was filled to overflowing at the orphan's fair last evening, and pleasure and excitement went hand in hand. One thing is certain, the fair in point of attendance has been undoubtedly a grand success, but whether the financial result will loom up in proportion to the numbers remains to be seen.

The polls were opened early, and every one desiring to attest his fealty to a candidate friend had unlimited opportunity of doing so at the rate of 10 cents a vote. The principal interest manifested itself in the voting for the most popular police captain, the most popular hotel man, the most popular doctor and the most popular young man. The skirmish for the beaver coat resulted as follows: Bessette, 578; Hanft, 265; Lowell, 212; Walsh, 520. The vote for the elegant cutter stood: M. Foley, 361; Baugh, 47; McCloskey, 28; Welz, 39; Monfort, 27.

The vote for the fur coat for the most popular dog was: Dr. Wood, 70; Van Slyke, 92; Williams, 100; Chamberlain, 96; Stewart 138. For the gold-headed cane for the most popular young man the vote stood: W. Kemp 57, James Forrester 53, Will Birmingham 50, Dan Malloy 40.

For the silver carter for the most popular little girl, the vote stood: Jennie Kelly 45, Jane Ryan 27.

A Queen Thief.

A strange man walked deliberately into the fur store of Ryder & Merrill, on Jackson street, yesterday afternoon, grabbed a mink overcoat valued at $150, belonging to Peter Berkey, and ran out. A clerk gave the alarm. Capt. Bresset chased the thief, catching him on Robert street after a long run. His name he gave as B. A. Johnson. He is well-dressed, and is a native of Minneapolis, where he has a family. He would give no reason for the theft.

For Selling Impure Milk.

The prosecution of city milk dealers for selling adulterated milk is being vigorously continued. At the instance of the state dairy commission five more persons were indicted yesterday and arraigned in the municipal court. Gust Schmidt pleaded not guilty and deposited $25 for his appearance Nov. 16; C. Stewart, W. C. Slesinger, pleaded not guilty and were fined $20 each; John Kernan was fined $2 and costs, and Albert Peiper was discharged.

GLOBULES.

Three births and six deaths were bulletined at the health office yesterday. Bank clearances yesterday, $804,184; for the week, $1,059,147; for the corresponding week last year, $4,325,935.

The collection office will be shut off to-day between the hours of 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. on account of the cleaning of the Lake Superior building.

Mr. P. Dougherty, late of the St. James hotel, has bought the lease and furniture of the International hotel, which will at once be placed in first-class condition.

The St. Andrew society will give a banquet at the Merchants hotel on the evening of Nov. 30. Prominent Scotchmen will be present and some interesting papers are expected.

A letter was received by Mayor Smith yesterday from Dr. J. S. Jump, of Kansas, making inquiry as to the status of W. J. Church, who is supposed to have recently settled in St. Paul.

In the police court yesterday J. D. Martin, alias "Two-fingered Mike," was held to the grand jury in $1,500 bail, charged with the burglary of Legala's barber shop at seven corners, two weeks ago. Morgan, Martin's accomplice, is also held.

The State Teachers' association will meet in the capitol on the 26th of December. Reduced rates have been secured on all the railroads, the Manitoba and Northern Pacific granting a rate of one and one-fifth times the single fare, while all the other lines will charge one and one-third times the single fare.

Under the cruelty to animals act, James Gibbons, a West side teamster, was fined $25. Gibbons hired a team of mules several weeks ago, and kept them in a barn at the rear of No. 120 Evans street, until April 28th, last evening. Judge Collins is considered very amiable in jury cases, and had a very large law practice. He is practical, common-sense kind of man, and has a sharp, incisive mind, well fitted and well qualified to grapple with the most difficult problems of the law. He is married and has a family, and says he will not leave St. Cloud and the beautiful home he has there, but will retain it as his residence, as justice Collins will return to the city early this week to prepare to enter upon his duties.

MR. SEARLE'S RECORD.

The late Justice of the Peace, D. B. Searle, of St. Cloud, was born in New York in 1847, and so is still a comparatively young man. He obtained a good common school education and graduated from the law school of the Columbian university, Washington, D. C. He came to Minnesota in 1861 and began the practice of law with Judge J. O. Hamlin, of St. Cloud. In the fall of 1873, when Judge Hamlin left the state, he continued the practice alone until 1882, when he was appointed United States district attorney by President Arthur. At this time he associated himself with his brother, F. E. Searle, now the president of the German-American National bank of St. Cloud. This partnership continued until the spring of 1886, when C. L. Lamb, formerly of St. Cloud, was admitted in his office, took the place of F. E. Searle in the firm. This firm was continued until Oct. 1 last, when George W. Stewart succeeded F. E. Searle as partner. The practice continued under the firm name of Searle & Stewart. Mr. Searle held the position of United States district attorney from 1882 to 1885, when he resigned. Mr. Searle has always been very popular in Stearns county and was elected county attorney by a large majority in 1884, when the county was overwhelmingly Democratic. Besides these offices he was city attorney of St. Cloud for six years, and is now the president of the Young Men's Republican club of Minnesota.

NEW JUDGES APPOINTED.

Judge Collins Named by Gov. McGill to Succeed Judge Berry

ON THE SUPREME BENCH.

D. B. Searle Succeeds Judge Collins as Judge in the Seventh Judicial District.

Two important judicial appointments were made by Gov. McGill last evening, one, that of Judge Collins, of St. Cloud, to fill the vacancy on the bench of the supreme court created by the death of Justice Berry, and the other, that of Hon. D. B. Searle, one of St. Cloud's most distinguished attorneys, to the judgeship of the Seventh judicial district, made vacant by the elevation of Judge Collins to the supreme bench.

The reason of the appointment being made so early was because there seemed to be a general sentiment throughout the state that such an appointment was a necessity. The causes which led to the selection of Judge Collins, rather than any one of the other candidates, were the fact that the sentiment of the state outside of the "Twin Cities" and of not a few of the leading attorneys of St. Paul and Minneapolis favored his appointment, on the ground that it would be more satisfactory to the state at large than would the appointment of any one of the St. Paul or Minneapolis candidates. Those prominently mentioned in this connection were Judges Wilkin and Flannery, of St. Paul; Young and Lochan, of Minneapolis; and Stearns and Duluth. Judge Stearns positively refused to be considered a candidate and heartily endorsed Judge Collins for the position. Besides this Judge Collins was unanimously endorsed by the bar of this district, by a large number of attorneys throughout the state, and by a portion of the "Twin City" bar.

All day yesterday the Merchants' lobby was filled with such political near-sights as Farmer C. A. Gilman, ex-United States Attorney, Searle and ex-Gov. Barto, all of the Fifth district, and when towards evening it was slyly intimated that JUDGE COLLINS WOULD ARRIVE at 6:30, it was known that the appointment was decided upon. On the arrival of the judge he, accompanied by Hon. W. B. Searle, proceeded to the governor's room, where a short conference was held. On being tendered the place on the supreme bench, Judge Collins at once resigned his position of the Seventh district, which was then tendered to Mr. Searle, without personal solicitation on his part and acceptance on the part of the governor. Both appointees are men of high character and ability, and a number of the prominent attorneys of the city expressed the opinion that the appointment was a most acceptable one. Indeed, popular; and that altogether the governor had gone way beyond his former record in making these appointments.

Judge L. W. Collins was born in Lowell, Mass., in 1838, and is consequently in his fifth year. In 1854 his parents moved to the territory of Minnesota, settling in Hennepin county. Minneapolis at that time had but two or three log huts and did not look especially attractive to the industrious young lawyer. The present judge, early inclined toward the law and studied with the firm of Smith & Crosby; all his studies were completed in the law office of the district. "Mr. Searle was practically the unanimous choice of the district," said the governor to a GLOBE reporter. Both appointees are men of high character and ability, and a number of the prominent attorneys of the city expressed the opinion that the appointment was a most acceptable one. Indeed, popular; and that altogether the governor had gone way beyond his former record in making these appointments.

which position he held for eight years, being elected four times in spite of the fact that Stearns county was strongly Democratic, while Collins was an ardent Republican. He was a member of the house of representatives in 1881 and again in 1883, and would undoubtedly have been chosen speaker of the house in 1885 had he not accepted the appointment of judge in the Seventh district to succeed Judge McKelvey. This position he held from April 1885 to last evening. Judge Collins is considered very amiable in jury cases, and had a very large law practice. HESSITATE NOT!

OR YOU WILL ASSUREDLY GET LEFT.

If you are hesitating about the purchase of a Fall Suit, Overcoat, or any other necessities for winter's apparel, simply because we are enjoying a singularly protracted spell of fine weather, we would advise you to hesitate no longer. Undoubtedly the rush for heavy clothing has not been so great as it would have been had the weather been colder, but it cannot remain so much longer; the time to prepare for our severe winter is now at hand. Come and see how well we are prepared to meet your every requirements. In no one of our departments have we ever before offered you so large, so complete or so rich a stock of goods as the one that now awaits your coming, while never before were our facilities for its display so perfect. All the styles in all the grades, from plain to the finest, are now at their best, and you are certain of being fitted here in a sensible and fashionable manner. Every store in the city claims to have the finest and best fitting clothing. But have they? We urge inspection, solicit comparison and invite criticism, and if we fail to demonstrate to you that our claims are well founded, we neither ask nor expect your custom.

PARENTS!

Every one of you who contemplate buying for your boy or boys Winter Outfits, should see what a pleasant surprise we have in store for you; pleasant because the goods are elegant in every way, and pleasant because the prices are within the reach of everybody.

The man of toil, the man of riches, the pauper, the millionaire, everybody, in fact, is treated alike in our store. In every case do we guarantee our goods to be lower in price than same quality can be obtained elsewhere.

A FEW POINTERS

WHY THE CINCINNATI SHOE CO.,

173 EAST SEVENTH STREET,

Always Undersell Other Dealers on the Same Grade of Goods!

POINT 1—We have retail stores in all the principal cities of the United States. This means that we must buy immense quantities.

POINT 2—A person of average common sense knows that he who buys $25,000 worth to another's $1,000 is bound to be on the inside track every time. This is the relation that we bear to the other dealers in our line, and the people, by their big patronage, show that they realize this point.

POINT 3—All that we buy comes from first hands. No go-betweens or middlemen's profits for us to make up out of our customer. This is the reason why their prices are always up and ours always down.

POINT 4—We are in a position to take advantage of the discount for spot cash, thereby saving 6 cents on every dollar's worth bought, which gives us a big advantage over those small dealers who are obliged to buy on time.

POINT 5—We sell only for spot cash. We have no credit books in the house, therefore we lose nothing by bad debts, and save bookkeeper's and collector's salary.

POINT 6—We do not advertise to give you a $5 Shoe for $3, as a great many do, as no intelligent person will believe such talk, and the dealer that advertises that way is misrepresenting things to you, and if he will willingly deceive you one way he will another, so be careful.

POINT 7—If you will call at our store you will find as choice a line of Boots, Shoes and Slippers as you wish to see, and at prices 25 per cent lower than you will find anywhere in the city. Call and see for yourselves.
