

THE DAILY GLOBE

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

LEWIS BAKER.

ST. PAUL, SATURDAY, DEC. 10, 1887.

The GLOBE Press Room is Open Every Night to all Advertisers who desire to Convince Themselves that the GLOBE has the Largest Circulation of any Newspaper Northwest of Chicago.

DAILY GLOBE SUBSCRIPTION RATES. One year in advance $8.00 3 mos. in adv. $2.50 6 mos. in adv. $4.00 1 week in adv. 1.00 One month 70c.

ADVERTISING RATES. One square 10 lines 10c per line per week. One square 10 lines 10c per line per week. One square 10 lines 10c per line per week.

RECEIVED COMMUNICATIONS cannot be preserved. Address all letters and telegrams to THE GLOBE, ST. PAUL, MINN.

TO-DAY'S WEATHER.

SIGNAL OFFICE, WAR DEPARTMENT, ST. PAUL, DEC. 10, 12:15 P. M.—Indications for the twenty-four hours commencing at 7 A. M. ST. PAUL, MINN., and vicinity: Local rain or snow, followed by colder, fair weather and fresh northerly winds, becoming light and variable.

Table with 4 columns: Place of Observation, Height of Barometer, Direction of Wind, Force of Wind. Rows include St. Vincent, Duluth, Chicago, etc.

UNJUST SUSPICIONS.

The New York Times is not particularly well pleased with Mr. VILAS' promotion to the interior department. It intimates that there is "a nigger in the woodpile" somewhere, and that Mr. CLEVELAND's administration will suffer in consequence of the recent cabinet changes.

FILING UP RAPIDLY.

How many people realize the rapidity with which the territory of Dakota is filling up? It is within the memory of those who were young in the Dakotas that it is the right of every American citizen to keep an eye on their public servants, and it is a right every one of us should exercise.

THE SLEIGH BELLS.

The chief of police is right in instructing his men to rigidly observe the ordinance which requires them to arrest the drivers of bell-less sleighs. The matter may seem a trivial one, but considered in its relation to possible accidents, it becomes of considerable importance.

STRAY SUNBEAMS.

They tell a story of a Western congressman who attended church in Washington last Sunday. He had been at the caucus the night before, and the effects of his exertions still told upon him.

THE BEAM FELL.

Whether the story is true or not, there is enough in it to suggest that the lower branch of congress ought to adopt some other system of appointing its subordinate officers. The disgraceful scene in the caucus, where two congressmen had a fistful encounter over the claims of their favorite candidates for the paltry office of doorkeeper, was a national scandal.

THE COUNTRY LANDLORD.

He will wear his linen duster. When the winds begin to bluster. And the mercury is getting very low. Last night's cold was not so severe. Despite the autumn's rigor. For he hates to have his guests prepare to go. Until they are asked whether. As they shiver all together. He doesn't think it looks like snow.

features of the Montreal festivals with those which American ingenuity can suggest, and the combination should result in an effect that will make the carnival as distinctively a St. Paul institution as the Velled Prophet's show is a characteristic of St. Louis, or the Mardi Gras of New Orleans. The time has now arrived when the only to be brought about by the hearty co-operation of the people generally.

BLAINE AND CLEVELAND.

The readiness with which Mr. BLAINE jerked off his coat and joined issue with Mr. CLEVELAND on the question of tariff reform simplifies the political outlook for next year. It is a virtual alignment of the opposing forces for battle in the coming year.

It is probably fortunate that these preliminary matters have been settled so long in advance of the actual time for their settlement. It gives the people that much longer time to study and reflect upon a question of more momentous national concern than any question that has been brought directly before them in the last quarter of a century.

One gratifying feature of the situation is that the next canvass will be an impersonal one. The dirt will be exhausted in the last contest, and there is no fresh material to start the party quarrel over again.

DRAMATIC NOTES.

"The Donagh" is JOE MURPHY'S greatest success. The announcement of its initial production in this city drew the largest audience of the engagement, and the performance was a triumph.

KEENAN TALKS.

James Keenan, Kilrain's former backer, arrived at St. Paul Thursday. He has backed Weir, the Belfast Spider, a number of times, and the purpose of his visit is to manage the celebrated feather-weight in his meeting with Warren at Minneapolis Monday night.

Not Frightened a Bit.

Girl (scrapping her ice cream dish)—"I'm clear, I'm tyrocinous in it, George?" George (earnestly)—"Yes, lots of it. Girl—What is tyrocinous?" George—"It is a drug. I wish you would stop at a drug store and get me some. It is delicious."

A Heartrending Scene.

"My dear," said a lady to her millionaire husband, "I have some dreadful news to break to you. You must summon all your fortitude for the sake of wife and little ones."

Hanged Himself in Jail.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Dec. 9.—At Rock Hill, Bucks county, in August last, Augustus Leister committed suicide by hanging himself to a towel.

THE BEAM FELL.

Whether the story is true or not, there is enough in it to suggest that the lower branch of congress ought to adopt some other system of appointing its subordinate officers.

FOUGHT FOR NOTHING.

Siddons and Connors, the Light Weighs, Have a Set-To at Duluth.

The international millennium has dawned. The Prince of Wales and JOHN L. SULLIVAN have met and embraced. The American eagle can now be seen to rest and the British lion may seek his lair. It is not the first time, though, that British royalty has been inspired with respect and admiration for American muscle.

Ring Contests Elsewhere—The American Association—Sporting Notes.

Special to the Globe. DULUTH, Minn., Dec. 9.—A packed house witnessed the best drawn fight ever seen in Duluth, between George Siddons, of Chicago, and John Connors, of New York, both light weights.

First Round—Connors with his left and Siddons with his right. Connors landed heavily with his right on Siddons' mug and clobbered him with left-handers.

Second Round—Connors gave a hard right-hander on Siddons' neck and followed lightly with his left on the body. Siddons landed heavily with his right on Connors' mug and clobbered him with left-handers.

Third Round—There was considerable sparring at first when Siddons got in a few light punches, but he was followed with a heavy left hander, a trifle short, on Siddons' mouth and the round closed with open fighting.

Fourth Round—Here ensued the hardest and most exciting of the match. The two men got together and fought a round which hit him only once, and that lightly at the close.

Fifth Round—Siddons got in a good right-hander at the start, but Connors landed several times with both hands at will on Siddons, who ran from him. The referee at the close of the round, Connors' left hand was injured in the fourth round, but he had much the best of the fight, which was for $50 and the mill men and showmen suffered the receipts were retained by the house.

KEENAN TALKS.

Weir's Backer Confident the "Spider" Will Win. James Keenan, Kilrain's former backer, arrived at St. Paul Thursday. He has backed Weir, the Belfast Spider, a number of times, and the purpose of his visit is to manage the celebrated feather-weight in his meeting with Warren at Minneapolis Monday night.

A False Report.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—Chief of Detectives Wood today, when shown the dispatch stating that J. A. McIntosh had been arrested in Dakota for the murder of a woman, said there must be some mistake in the statement contained in the dispatch.

A Wreck at Sea.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Capt. Vaneman, of the coasting schooner Nellie S. Jerrell, reports: At 10:30 last evening the Jerrell was struck by the steamer Algiers, from New York for Galveston, and sunk immediately.

Disaffected Knights.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—The members of the provisional committee of Philadelphia Knights of Labor, who issued the anti-administration circular a week ago, are in a minority of the order.

Chamberlain Dined.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Secretary and Mrs. Whitney gave a handsome dinner this evening to Joseph Chamberlain. Covers were laid for twenty.

THE FIGHT PUT OFF.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The Dempsey-Regan fight has been postponed until next week.

RIOTOUS CHINAMEN.

A Gatling Gun Ready for Use by California Police. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—Lee Way, the Chinaman killed in a factional quarrel between the Bo Sin Seer and Gie Sin Seer societies, was buried yesterday. The faction to which he belonged made a great demonstration and invited an attack from the enemy, but the police were out in force and had a Gatling gun in readiness to meet a riot.

Robinson's Trial.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 9.—In the trial of James Robinson, at Ravenna, to-day, strong testimony against the prisoner was introduced by the state, Carl Grimm, a Cleveland saloonkeeper, swore that Robinson was in his place the night of the robbery of Benedict & Knedy's clerks testified that Robinson was in the store the day before the burglary.

The Bavise Earthquake.

NOGALES, Ariz., Dec. 9.—A gentle rain, writing from the scene of the recent earthquakes at Bavise, says the entire town has been destroyed and many persons killed. The earthquakes have been occurring at intervals of two weeks, during which time the people built temporary shanties of refuge on the hill.

Pine Land Roads.

DULUTH, Dec. 9.—It is stated here that preparations are being made by a number of leading capitalists of this city to build a road to thoroughly grade the immense tract of pine-bearing territory north of Croquet with a system of railroads, one or more lines of which will be constructed and equipped with heavy rails, to be used also as a general freight and passenger road, leading to points on the lower Vermilion range.

THE NEW YORK PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—A friend of the Globe says that the ex-Hon. Frank Hatton says that he will soon arrive in Washington, and either select some active and ardent Republican correspondent, or else, possibly, remain in this city and represent his own paper, the New York Press.

AN ARTISTIC INSTINCT NEVER BEFORE SO WIDELY DIFFUSED.

An artistic instinct has probably never so widely diffused through our literary class as it has been through the ranks of the modern writers of fiction in France; never has the average novelist attained so high a level of pictorial power and linguistic skill.

A BRUTAL CRIME.

PALESTINE, Dec. 9.—At day-break yesterday morning Warner Lockett and Lewis Swanson, farmers, living five miles east of the town, quarreled over a garden, and at the former's returned armed with an ax. He later locked Lockett in his house, and cutting a deep wound in his side, Swanson then robbed his victim of $10 and escaped. Lockett is still alive, but there is no hope of his recovery.

THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 9.—It was noon before the American Base Ball association began work to-day. The filling of the vacancy caused by the retirement of the Metropolitan was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Von der Ahe, Robinson and Abell, to report to-morrow.

THE BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.

One of the best games played thus far in the cushion caroms tournament at the Standard was the contest last evening between Steve Mallett and Alvin Johnson, concluding at 60 to 60. Thirty-six innings were necessary Mallett scoring 70 while his opponent was making 45, the highest run being made by Johnson, who scored 25.

THE STAKES DRAWN.

BOSTON, Dec. 9.—The stakes in the Carney-McAuliffe fight were drawn down to-day and the fight is now entirely off.

AN ELEGANT AFFAIR.

A Notable Society Event at Duluth Last Night.

Special to the Globe. DULUTH, Minn., Dec. 9.—The splendid rooms of the Kitchie (Gammie club) were ablaze with light and thronged with fashionably attired ladies and gentlemen in full dress. About 800 people were in attendance and among them were numerous visitors from St. Paul and Minneapolis, Chicago and elsewhere.

FAIR WOMEN AND BRAVE MEN.

Special to the Globe. DULUTH, Minn., Dec. 9.—The splendid rooms of the Kitchie (Gammie club) were ablaze with light and thronged with fashionably attired ladies and gentlemen in full dress. About 800 people were in attendance and among them were numerous visitors from St. Paul and Minneapolis, Chicago and elsewhere.

HOW JUSTICE IS DISPENSED BY A JUDGE WHO PRESIDES OVER A DISTRICT COURT.

How Justice is Dispensed by a District Judge who Presides over a District Court. To the Editor of the Globe. A scene in a Dakota court room which your correspondent witnessed: Judge—Next is the case of Jerry O. Quasi against E. R. Winrow. Gentlemen, what is the status of this case?

AN UNGRACIOUS ANSWER.

Gen. Butler Objects to Extending a Courtesy to a French Ally. NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Daniel Butterfield recently wrote Gen. Butler asking if he would approve of the selection of the Comte de Paris to deliver the address on the occasion of the reunion of the Army of the James, to be held next July at Gettysburg, Gen. Butler replied as follows:

A PRIVATE MATTER.

Medical and Surgical Reporter. A circular has recently been issued by Pinkerton's National Detective Agency, asking its clients to give information in case a suspicious person should come to him for treatment of a gunshot wound of the jaw. It seems that on the 28th of September, Sept. 28, 1887, burglars entered the residence of the cashier of the Farmers' bank, of Newcastle, Del., where the bank is also located, and stole a large sum of money, and the cashier shot and wounded one of the burglars. The ball is supposed to have entered the jawbone of the burglar, shattering the jawbone and carrying away with it a portion of the bone—a piece of which has been preserved and is now in the hands of the medical and surgical reporter.

POKER CHIPS.

A good calling suit—a royal flush.—Boston Transcript. The ante-room must be where they keep the "chips."—Lowell Courier. The "four-in-hand" scarf ought to be popular with poker players.—Boston Herald. Health may be wealth, but a "flush" doesn't always indicate the possession of either.—Texas Siftings. Cards are intimately connected with cards, whether they are the cards of the New Haven News. The Country Club advertises "four races; admission $1." It generally costs more than a dollar to come in where there are four races.—Boston Herald. They say it takes an hour for two women to bid each other good-by. Well, it takes two hours for a couple of men to get away from each other who are related that she did it to keep people awake.—Burlington Free Press. A Philadelphia father was so rejoiced when he became a father that he ordered a carriage and a man who was to drive it. Intrant colors, we suppose.—New Haven News. New England babies are to have a special name and a name that says nothing remarkable in this, however, for babies always have more show than the rest of the family.—New Haven News. East Bernadina, Col. Dec. 9.—Last night masked men dragged Mrs. Kingston Brown and her thirteen-year-old daughter to a man's house, where they were held in cold blood. Several suspected persons are under arrest.

STYRIA'S BARBARIAN SLAVES.

The Ardous and Barbaric Duties of the Wives of the Bible Lands.

There are grand women in Arabia; women of ability, keen in insight and wonderful capabilities. The duties of the wife of a Syrian to-day are as follows: She brings all the water for family use from a distant well. This is accomplished by means of a bucket, she brings them upon her head. She rises early and goes to the handmill of the village, carrying corn, enough of which for the day's needs of approval, by a slow, laborious process. This she carries home and cooks in an oven, which is made in the earth. It is a round hole, the front of which is open, and is heated by a fire built in it. When the bread is mixed with water and a little salt, she removes the ashes and plasters the front of the oven with mud, and cooks. Could anything be more rude?

IN A DAKOTA COURT.

How Justice is Dispensed by a District Judge who Presides over a District Court. To the Editor of the Globe. A scene in a Dakota court room which your correspondent witnessed: Judge—Next is the case of Jerry O. Quasi against E. R. Winrow. Gentlemen, what is the status of this case?

AN UNGRACIOUS ANSWER.

Gen. Butler Objects to Extending a Courtesy to a French Ally. NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Daniel Butterfield recently wrote Gen. Butler asking if he would approve of the selection of the Comte de Paris to deliver the address on the occasion of the reunion of the Army of the James, to be held next July at Gettysburg, Gen. Butler replied as follows:

A PRIVATE MATTER.

Medical and Surgical Reporter. A circular has recently been issued by Pinkerton's National Detective Agency, asking its clients to give information in case a suspicious person should come to him for treatment of a gunshot wound of the jaw. It seems that on the 28th of September, Sept. 28, 1887, burglars entered the residence of the cashier of the Farmers' bank, of Newcastle, Del., where the bank is also located, and stole a large sum of money, and the cashier shot and wounded one of the burglars. The ball is supposed to have entered the jawbone of the burglar, shattering the jawbone and carrying away with it a portion of the bone—a piece of which has been preserved and is now in the hands of the medical and surgical reporter.

POKER CHIPS.

A good calling suit—a royal flush.—Boston Transcript. The ante-room must be where they keep the "chips."—Lowell Courier. The "four-in-hand" scarf ought to be popular with poker players.—Boston Herald. Health may be wealth, but a "flush" doesn't always indicate the possession of either.—Texas Siftings. Cards are intimately connected with cards, whether they are the cards of the New Haven News. The Country Club advertises "four races; admission $1." It generally costs more than a dollar to come in where there are four races.—Boston Herald. They say it takes an hour for two women to bid each other good-by. Well, it takes two hours for a couple of men to get away from each other who are related that she did it to keep people awake.—Burlington Free Press. A Philadelphia father was so rejoiced when he became a father that he ordered a carriage and a man who was to drive it. Intrant colors, we suppose.—New Haven News. New England babies are to have a special name and a name that says nothing remarkable in this, however, for babies always have more show than the rest of the family.—New Haven News. East Bernadina, Col. Dec. 9.—Last night masked men dragged Mrs. Kingston Brown and her thirteen-year-old daughter to a man's house, where they were held in cold blood. Several suspected persons are under arrest.

STEAMSHIP ARRIVALS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The steamer Bremen, from Liverpool, arrived at Rotterdam.

THE DAKOTA JACK RABBIT.

The Jack rabbit is a prairie institution that gives the settler's dogs plenty of exercise. When the settler sees a jack rabbit for the first time—starts him up suddenly on the prairie—he imagines that by a quick movement he can lay his hands on him. The rabbit is awfully tame, appears to be lame in every joint, holds up one foot as though it pained him, and altogether creates the belief that he is a disabled wreck of an ungainly, animate thing. The settler is surprised that he cannot "grab" him. The settler's dog, also, is confident that he can quickly make an end of the rabbit. He bristles, runs leisurely toward the rabbit, doubles his speed, doubles it again, triples that, quadruples the whole, when lo! the rabbit disappears. There is some flying grass, a vanishing streak of light, a twinkling of two eyelids, and the settler and his dog are gone. The dog sits on his haunches and concludes that it is a dream, and that he did not see a rabbit at all.

STEAMSHIP ARRIVALS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The steamer Bremen, from Liverpool, arrived at Rotterdam.

THE DAKOTA JACK RABBIT.

The Jack rabbit is a prairie institution that gives the settler's dogs plenty of exercise. When the settler sees a jack rabbit for the first time—starts him up suddenly on the prairie—he imagines that by a quick movement he can lay his hands on him. The rabbit is awfully tame, appears to be lame in every joint, holds up one foot as though it pained him, and altogether creates the belief that he is a disabled wreck of an ungainly, animate thing. The settler is surprised that he cannot "grab" him. The settler's dog, also, is confident that he can quickly make an end of the rabbit. He bristles, runs leisurely toward the rabbit, doubles his speed, doubles it again, triples that, quadruples the whole, when lo! the rabbit disappears. There is some flying grass, a vanishing streak of light, a twinkling of two eyelids, and the settler and his dog are gone. The dog sits on his haunches and concludes that it is a dream, and that he did not see a rabbit at all.

STEAMSHIP ARRIVALS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The steamer Bremen, from Liverpool, arrived at Rotterdam.

THE DAKOTA JACK RABBIT.

The Jack rabbit is a prairie institution that gives the settler's dogs plenty of exercise. When the settler sees a jack rabbit for the first time—starts him up suddenly on the prairie—he imagines that by a quick movement he can lay his hands on him. The rabbit is awfully tame, appears to be lame in every joint, holds up one foot as though it pained him, and altogether creates the belief that he is a disabled wreck of an ungainly, animate thing. The settler is surprised that he cannot "grab" him. The settler's dog, also, is confident that he can quickly make an end of the rabbit. He bristles, runs leisurely toward the rabbit, doubles his speed, doubles it again, triples that, quadruples the whole, when lo! the rabbit disappears. There is some flying grass, a vanishing streak of light, a twinkling of two eyelids, and the settler and his dog are gone. The dog sits on his haunches and concludes that it is a dream, and that he did not see a rabbit at all.

STEAMSHIP ARRIVALS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The steamer Bremen, from Liverpool, arrived at Rotterdam.

THE DAKOTA JACK RABBIT.

The Jack rabbit is a prairie institution that gives the settler's dogs plenty of exercise. When the settler sees a jack rabbit for the first time—starts him up suddenly on the prairie—he imagines that by a quick movement he can lay his hands on him. The rabbit is awfully tame, appears to be lame in every joint, holds up one foot as though it pained him, and altogether creates the belief that he is a disabled wreck of an ungainly, animate thing. The settler is surprised that he cannot "grab" him. The settler's dog, also, is confident that he can quickly make an end of the rabbit. He bristles, runs leisurely toward the rabbit, doubles his speed, doubles it again, triples that, quadruples the whole, when lo! the rabbit disappears. There is some flying grass, a vanishing streak of light, a twinkling of two eyelids, and the settler and his dog are gone. The dog sits on his haunches and concludes that it is a dream, and that he did not see a rabbit at all.

STEAMSHIP ARRIVALS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The steamer Bremen, from Liverpool, arrived at Rotterdam.

THE DAKOTA JACK RABBIT.

The Jack rabbit is a prairie institution that gives the settler's dogs plenty of exercise. When the settler sees a jack rabbit for the first time—starts him up suddenly on the prairie—he imagines that by a quick movement he can lay his hands on him. The rabbit is awfully tame, appears to be lame in every joint, holds up one foot as though it pained him, and altogether creates the belief that he is a disabled wreck of an ungainly, animate thing. The settler is surprised that he cannot "grab" him. The settler's dog, also, is confident that he can quickly make an end of the rabbit. He bristles, runs leisurely toward the rabbit, doubles his speed, doubles it again, triples that, quadruples the whole, when lo! the rabbit disappears. There is some flying grass, a vanishing streak of light, a twinkling of two eyelids, and the settler and his dog are gone. The dog sits on his haunches and concludes that it is a dream, and that he did not see a rabbit at all.

STEAMSHIP ARRIVALS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The steamer Bremen, from Liverpool, arrived at Rotterdam.

THE DAKOTA JACK RABBIT.

The Jack rabbit is a prairie institution that gives the settler's dogs plenty of exercise. When the settler sees a jack rabbit for the first time—starts him up suddenly on the prairie—he imagines that by a quick movement he can lay his hands on him. The rabbit is awfully tame, appears to be lame in every joint, holds up one foot as though it pained him, and altogether creates the belief that he is a disabled wreck of an ungainly, animate thing. The settler is surprised that he cannot "grab" him. The settler's dog, also, is confident that he can quickly make an end of the rabbit. He bristles, runs leisurely toward the rabbit, doubles his speed, doubles it again, triples that, quadruples the whole, when lo! the rabbit disappears. There is some flying grass, a vanishing streak of light, a twinkling of two eyelids, and the settler and his dog are gone. The dog sits on his haunches and concludes that it is a dream, and that he did not see a rabbit at all.