The Hunt-Rumney and Bronson-Sherman Nuptials Duly Celebrated Yesterday.

Summary of the Doings of One Day Gathered From All Sources.

WHAT WILL IT DO?

The Columbia Association Discusses the High License.

What wi'l the Columbia association do about the high license question? The association held a meeting in Lauer's hall vesterday afternoon until 4 p. m., and when it adjourned it was as much in doubt as to what course to pursue as when it came together. Vice President John F, Smith occupied the chair. Fitteen new members were taken into the association, and the ex-president, H. F. Notbohm, delivered a rather radical address in opposition to high license. He looked forward, with some satire, to the day when, instead of saloons, there would be churches, and it would be necessary for the city government to impose a license upon each church, or rather upon the contribution box and subscription list, to meet the financial ueeds of the city, and, at the same time, check the evil of legitimitizing begging. Between talking high license and other matters the association divided its in doubt as to what course to pursue as matters the association divided its time. The officers presented W. F. Bremer, the doorkeeper, with a goldheaded cane, H. H. Miller making a little presentation speech. Aldermen Hamm and Conley were conspicuous in Ittle presentation speech. Aldermen Hamm and Conley were conspicuous in the meeting.

There is some talk of carrying the high license question into the courts, but how? Even the counsel for the association, John Iyes, can't tell. It's hard to find a saloonkeeper who is willing to stand the expense and notoriety of a defense against a prosecution under the state law. If a restraining order against the city and state is applied for IN THE STATE COURTS, a Republican judiciary confronts the would-be applicants. And how can they carry the matter into the United States courts? Upon the ground that a saloonkeeper is authorized by the United States to sell by virtue of the government license, and then invoke the federal jurisdiction against the state's constitutional police power?

License Commissioner Nugent says, with a very grave face, that there are 490 applications filed for the $1,000 license. But what is the joint committee on licenses and ordinances doing? These applications won't count for much unless they are backed with $1,000 each and are published two weeks before the license is issued.

In the meantime the joint committee

before the license is issued.

In the meantime the joint committee has the $1,000 ordinance in its possesssion. The saloonkeepers are consoling themselves with the fact that if they themselves with the fact that if they have to pay $1,000 they can raise the price of liquor and cigars, and get back their money out of the pockets of the man who votes. There has been some talk about the brewers and big liquor men putting up their money for the poorer class of saloonkeepers, but the question upon the streets Is, "Are they able to?" In January the city government will need every cent it can collect in the way of licenses. The saloonkeepers are kicking about this, too. They say it's hardly fair to compel them to pay for the public improvements of the city.

CARLOADS OF FIREWORKS To Be Burned During the Carnival Season—A Minneapolis Man for Fire King. Arranging the details of the programme for the winter carnival was the principal subject discussed by the directors of the Carnival association at their meeting yesterday afternoon, and siderable progress was made in that direction. Matters were not put in shape, however, to justify their publica-tion at this time, though the secret con-clave lasted upwards of three hours. Chairman Robertson, of the committee Chairman Robertson, of the committee on fireworks, reported that five carloads of pyrotechnics had been secured and would start for St. Paul the 20th of January. All the cars will be handsomely decorated and upon their sides will be displayed large banners in scribed "St. Paul Carnival and Ice Palace, 1888." A number of special features had been contracted for, but probably the most striking and brilliant ace, 1888." A number of special features had been contracted for, but probably the most striking and brilliant would be the representation of a mirage, something entirely new in the matter of pyrotechnic displays. There need be no danger apprehended from falling sticks of rockets and cases of Roman candles, as the maker has invented something original in the way of destroying the sticks and cases while the flights are in progress.

Two hundred Indians were being negotiated for off the various reservations contiguous to Minnesota, and war dances and other tribal observances would be given by them during the carnival season, while forty tepees for their accommodation and comfort would be placed in position near the ice palace. There was considerable discussion of a proposition to appropriate money for the entertainment of visiting organizations, but it was deemed inexpedient to contract such an outlay as would be necessary and the directors vetoed the idea. Minneapolis was awarded the honor of having the fire king, but no one was agreed upon for the position while the ice king will be awarded the honor of having the fire king, but no one was agreed upon for the position, while the ice king will be chosen from amongst the citizens of stillwater. Both patentates will probably be announced at the next meeting of the directors, and meanwhile the proper committees will consult with the future rulers as to their wishes and ideas of the celebration.

TO BANQUET ITSELF, Discussed by the County Superintendents of Schools in Their Convention.

First Session of the Annual Convention of the State School Teachers.

Addresses by Gov. McGill. President Kerr of the Council and Others.

"It is hard to combat the prejudices of certain localities against the temperance instruction," said Supt. Braley, of Winona county, yesterday, "When Blaine says tobacco is a pecessity—." "Blaine says so!" fairly shrieked Gen. The Chamber of Commerce, After Entertaining Handreds of Visiting Organizations, Will Cele-Beadle. "He says nothing of the kind." Supt. Braley produced a paper and was about to give his authority for the statement, when President Sperry ruled the discussion out of order and everything moved as calmly as before. Arrangements were perfected at the

the discussion out of order and everything moved as calmly as before.

The county superintendents' convention had been called to order at 9 o'clock in the morning, with a largely increased attendance over that of the Monday evening session. The first hour was devoted to what was called an experience meeting, and all who wished were given abundant opportunity to air their views in the true old country debating society style. Gen. Beadle, Dakota's ex-superintendent of public instruction, was then introduced. The general took for his subject, "The Township School System in Preference to the District System," and delivered a carefully prepared address, advocating the claims of the former with great earnestness. In the hiring of teachers, especially, the township system is far preferable, he said. The township system gives equal terms of school and regularly employed teachers. The hiring of teachers then becomes a matter of public importance and not a question of family preference or personal preference. The school district is too small to bind together the township in the way it should be. the organization of that body, to be held at the Ryan the evening of Jan. 10, 1888. A reception committee was appointed consisting of Messrs. Thomas Cochran, Jr., J. W. McClung, W. H. Morton, A. S. Tallmadge, D. H. Moon and Lane K. Stone, and the programme agreed upon was a reception by President Blakeley and the ex-presidents at 8 o'clock, and an hour later a banquet, to be spread exclusively for members. Since Russell Blakeley, now president of the chamber of commerce, drew up the articles of incorporation, twenty-one years ago, the presiding officers have been Messrs. J. C. Burbank and H. M. Rice, Gens. H. H. Sibley, R. W. Johnson and J. B. Sanborn, in the order named, and several of them for long terms or until they voluntarily resigned. During its existence the chamber has on various occasions entertained hundreds of guests, but has never indulged in a reunion exclusively f r its own members, such as the entertainment now under consideration will be, and hence the tickets have been limited to 300, which can only be obtained by members of the chamber.

Some of the subjects which will be touched upon during the reception and banquet will be the history of the chamber of commerce since its organization; St. Paul of to-day, especially with regard to its commercial advantages, railroads and banking, and in a general way a resume of the history of the advancement of Minnesota since it was first settled.

For the New Jail Site. district is too small to bind together the township in the way it should be. Public sentiment may be established in a township or county as it cannot be done in a district. Build a school house in the center of the township with two rooms. In one room put an advanced teacher: in the other have the younger pupils. "At the next session of the legislature," he said, "a uniform township system will be put in force in Dakota."

Supt. Kiehle then introduced a force in Dakota."

Supt. Kiehle then introduced a resolution providing for a committee to look into the matter of the district and township systems and place the matter before the legislature in the proper light to secure some good results. This resolution provoked considerable opposition, and was discussed by nearly all present. The discussion lasted until far in the afternoon session.

AFTERNOON SESSION Another meeting was held by the jail site committee yesterday, but an adjournment was taken until next Tuesday at 2 p. m., owing to the absence of Messrs. Kain and O'Connor. Six bids were received. Smith & Taylor's, Warner & Smith's, W. F. Bicker's and R. D. Czeikowitz's bids are the nearest to the new court house. Mr. Bickel's property is on Cedar street, opposite the jail, and adjoining Abbey & Alexander's livery stable, and Czeikowitz's is on Fifth street, just opposite the jail. Following were the bids: W. F. Bickel, north 37½ feet of middle one-third of lots 5 and 6, block 19, St. Paul proper, $30,000; R. D. Czeikowitz, let 16, block 9, St. Paul proper, $37,000; W. E. Burton, lots 1, 4 and north half lot 5, block 16, West St. Paul proper, $15,000; Smith The discussion lasted until far in the afternoon session.

Afternoon session.

At the afternoon session the discussion of the resolution introduced by Supt. Kiehle was continued and it was finally adopted. An interesting address on "Common School Architecture" was then delivered by Assistant Supt. Pendergast. "The old log school house has gone," he said. "It served a purpose in its time, and filled a want that nothing else could fill. The question is now. what shall be the modern school house?" Charts and diagrams of school buildings of different sizes and cost were then shown and explained somewhat at length by the speaker.

A resolution was passed authorizing the appointment of a committee from the convention to confer with a similar committee from the State Educational association, looking toward a consolidation of the two organizations. "The Promotion of Temperance Instruction" was the subject next discussed. Superintendent Agnes E. Safley, of Cottonwood county, opened the discussion with an exceedingly well written paper, filled with suggestions looking towards the promotion of temperance instruction. Sunt. Braley, of ton, lots 1, 4 and north half lot 5, block 16, West St. Paul proper, $15,600; Smith & Taylor, fifty feet on Cedar by 100 feet on Fifth street, $40,000, livery stable property; Lucien Warner and Louis B. Smith, the northeast corner of Cedar and Fifth streets, 100x100, $309,000; John F. Eisenmenger, lot 6, block 23, Rice & Irvine's addition, $7,000; lots 1, 2 and 3 and east half of lot 4, block 1. Ewing & Chute's addition, $35,000. with an exceedingly well written paper, filled with suggestions looking towards the promotion of temperance instruction. Supt. Braley, of Winona county, then followed with a detailed statement of the success of the work in his county. He made the point that physiology and hygiene should be given the greater part of the time, and temperance instruction should play a sscondary part. "The circular sent out by the superintendent instructing the temperance instruction should play a sesondary part. "The circular sent out by the superintendent instructing the teachers how to prepare for teaching," he said, "seemed to have but one thing in view, and that temperance." After passing a resolution providing for an annual assessment to be applied for the expenses of the annual meetings, the election of officers was announced and resulted as follows: President, A. E. Engstrom, of Goodhue county; vice president, Miss A. E. Safeley, of Cottonwood; secretary, C. L. Greenough, of Dakota; treasurer, L. A. Gregy, of Lyon; and superintendents Braley, of Winona, and Rice, of Wadena, were elected members of the executive committee. Superintendents Warren, of Hennepin, Lammers, of Jackson, Elliot, of Polk, and Lee, of Pope, were appointed a committee to confer with a committee of the State Educational association. The meeting then adjourned until 1:30 to-day. erect a two-story frame house and shed on Martin, between Kent and Dale, 82,400.

The first session of the annual convention of the State Educational asso-ciation was held in the High school building last evening. The hall was well filled, a large number of teachers well filled, a large number of teachers from all portions of the state being in attendance. The meeting was called to order by President W. M. West, of Faribautt, who introduced Gov. McGill. He welcomed the teachers in behalf of the state. "I am glad, said the governor, "to welcome you this, the capital city on behalf of the state of Minnesota. I am sorry that I have been unable to prepare an address fitted for such an occasion. I had thought to get up some kind of a speech, but I want to tell you that the man who is governor of the state has less time than any one else. If you wish to cammand a thought, to have a moment of your own, I advise you never to bo elected governor of Minnesota. In looking over the history of Minnesota, of which I have a general knowledge, I am quite surprised at the wonderful growth of the public school system of this state. We have just reason to be proud of our state in this respect. She is second to none in her zeal for the progress of the public school system. She now has over $,000 teachers engaged in the work of instruction in our public schools. Who can tell how great their influence far good? The position of the public school teachers hardly appreciated as it should be. Again it gives me great pleasure to welcome you to this city."

BY SUPT. HOWLAND.

"The Recitation" was the subject of a somewhat lengthy but valuable lecture by Supt. George Howland, of Chicago. The speaker sharply criticised many of the methods of instruction in common use in the public schools today. "The recitation," said he, "is that about which all the productions of school life center. In it the pupil finds the rewards of well-doing or the condemnation of negligence. The recitation shows whether the school is a place of development or of ignorance. The intelligent teacher soon discovers differences of character and changes his methods to suit these differences. The power of memory is a great one, but the pupil who gets up and repeats a page of history has done nothing. True thought is more than compiled facts." The speaker closed with an emphatic protest against the system of "keeping_in" pupils so prevalent in some localities. "Never," he said, "have I known a pupil to be reformed or bettered in any way by being kept in after school. If a man of that kind ever accomplishes anything it will be after the schoolmarm and her methods have complishes anything it will be after the schoolmarm and her methods have

About fifty children, their parents and friends were present, and indulged in an informal old-fashioned romp and merrymaking. Refreshments were served and little candied things distributed to each child. It was quite a pleasant affair.

"King Christmas receiving the other celebrated days of the year," was the title of an entertainment given at the Jackson Street Methodist church last evening, the participants in costume acquitting themselves in a very creditable manner. Fred Miller enacted the role of king, being attended by Misses Bell, Lucas and Kuhl as ladies of the court, Mr. Meeker as herald, Messrs. Derby, Shepherd and Swift as gentlemen-atarms, while the pages of the distinguished group were the tots, Misses Rainey and Foster and Masters Forbes and Rainey. Miss Anderson, to whose efforts the uccess of the entertainment was largely due, received the most flatiering commendation for the rovelty and pleasure afforded by this celebration of Christmas.

A Christmas celebration for the children of the Sunday school of the First Baptist church was given in the lecture room last evening, a Christmas tree loaded with gifts being the center of attraction. There was enough for all, teachers and pupils, and in addition to the toys distributed an immense consignment of confectionery was transferred from the tree to the capacious pockets of the delighted little spectators.

Flandrau and Mrs. J. E. Bates acting as Flandrau and Mrs. J. E. Bates acting as chaperones. The figures were twenty in number, of which ten were favor figures. W. F. Newell, in the costume of a harlequin, was the leader, and performed his arduous duties most acceptably. The ladies were uniformly attired in cream white cheesecloth, with white masks, and the gentlemen appeared in a variety of costumes, the customary black dominoes predominating. The favors were selected more with an idea of furnishing amusement than of giving artistic effects, among them being mock chariots, gaily adorned wheels, tin frumpets and other toys. Seibert's orchestra discoursed sweet music, and an elegant collation was served at 11:30, at which time the masks were discarded. In addition to the were discarded. Rev. Sam Smith's Path Strewn With Roses About This Time of Year.

His Followers Take Steps to Organize a Church and Pay His Salary.

He Will Get About $5,000 as a Starter as an Independent Pastor.

Committee Appointed to Settle on Some Basis of Organization.

Rev. Sam Smith evidently knew what he was about when he tendered his reschurch, and the resignation was written with a "large and influential" object in view instead of on the impulse and heat of the moment, as some seem to think. of the moment, as some seem to think. All the time the controversy was going on a silent current had been moving in the Rev. Sam's direction, known to him of course, and it finally came to a head yesterday afteruoon. About twenty-five well known citizens gathered in D. S. B. Johnston's office, in the Union block, for the purpose of organizing a People's church. The gentlemen were of various denominations. Some were members of the First M. E., and all were staunch friends of the Rev. Sam Smith, in whose interests this movement was inaugurated, and who was present himself to aid in the organization. Without loss of time a motion was carried to organize a People's church," and another motion to hire Rev. Sam Smith as pastor was carried unanimously and with a rush. No salary has been named as yet, though it is thought the reverend gentleman will receive between $3,000 and $5,000 per year. A subscription was taken up right there in the office yesterday to pay his salary for the coming year, and this netted $2,900. As there are thrice as many more people to hear from, who have signified their desire to link their fortunes with the People's church, and who must chip in a like amount, Rev. Sam will receive $5,000 or more for the first year at least. A committee was appointed at once, consisting of the fol-All the time the controversy was going first year at least.
