

ST. PAUL MATTERS.

A Pretty New York Girl Is Accused of Swindling Merchants.

An Unsophisticated Scotchman Badly Bitten by a St. Paul Sharper.

The Northern Pacific Railroad Appeals From the Commissioners' Fiat.

Bits of Interesting Conversation Picked Up in the Capital Offices.

A Clever Woman Does Up Several St. Paul Merchants.

A Cab Drove to Police Headquarters about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and Chief of Detectives O'Connor alighted with a handsome and richly-dressed young woman in charge.

She was taken into the private office of the chief of police, and the only information which was given to reporters was that she was wanted for swindling certain wholesale houses in the city out of sums aggregating about $500, by means of forged telegrams.

Everybody who was supposed to know anything of the case, is said to say that the proverbial clan, shortly after her arrival, a member of a large wholesale boot and shoe house got out of a carriage and entered the chief's office. The conference between the young woman and the merchant lasted half an hour, and when it was concluded they both took a carriage and rode away down the street.

The young woman was apparently twenty-three years of age, of medium build and graceful carriage and had a very pretty face.

She was fashionably attired and wore a sea-king sash and diamonds. There was nothing in her manner or appearance to indicate that she was guilty of a crime.

"I cannot tell her name," said the officer, who was more communicative than most, "but she is the daughter of a wealthy and respectable parent in New York city. She has been visiting in St. Paul for some time, and she is not right in her head and call it a mania, but I must say there's method in her madness. She has a confederate, also a very pretty woman, who has not been apprehended, to whom she sent telegrams signing the firm name of a St. Paul house, authorizing her friend to draw upon the house."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

the right to fix milk rates between Fairbank and St. Paul, they also have the right to regulate passenger rates and prescribe certain other regulations to be obeyed by the railroads.

A Denizen of the Deep a Long Way From Headquarters.

There is at present an exhibition at the foot of Fourth street, joining the Northern Pacific general offices, one of the largest whales ever captured. Few people have ever seen a whale, but each one has his own idea of the magnitude of these great monsters.

A breach-loading whaling gun, weighing twenty-five pounds, was the instrument of annihilation. The bomb lance entered the right side and passing through the heart, lodged under the left shoulder blade, where it exploded.

The monster lived twenty minutes after it was wounded. Capt. West, who has been a whaler ever since he was sixteen years of age, accompanies the show, and in his lectures relates his thrilling adventures while he was engaged in the hazardous business of whale hunting.

A BREACH-LOADING WHALING GUN, weighing twenty-five pounds, was the instrument of annihilation.

The monster lived twenty minutes after it was wounded. Capt. West, who has been a whaler ever since he was sixteen years of age, accompanies the show, and in his lectures relates his thrilling adventures while he was engaged in the hazardous business of whale hunting.

Gov. McGill Bound to Get Brown's Valley Relief.

"It was informed that the Manitoba would be opened through to Brown's Valley to-day," said Gov. McGill yesterday. "I am just going down to see about it. I learn there is another storm raging in that region, but I trust they will be able to get through. This has been a dreadfully winter, and that line has not been open clear through since the 20th of December, nearly a month now. Something, however, must and will be done to relieve the people."

And the governor, buttoned up his coat and walked down toward the railroad offices, looking as though he would like nothing better than to pick up a shovel and help open the blockaded road.

"I think," said Col. Boleter, "that Blaine is the strongest man in the party, although Sherman and Lincoln are both possessed of certain elements of popular strength. I am decidedly in favor of tariff reform, and think that the tariff should be reduced. The trouble is that most people do not understand the tariff question, and so do not know just what to do, or what position to take in regard to it."

"Say, Eli," said A. K. Teisberg, of the railway commission yesterday, "what's the matter with our sleeping car order?"

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

"I don't know," said the wily secretary. "It looks very much as though it were a matter of some sleeping car order."

C. C. Lyford, Minneapolis; J. J. Bradley, Minneapolis; Mr. Dufresne, Minneapolis; M. J. Pierce, Duluth; Burnham, Stillwater. At 10 o'clock the gentlemen sat down to a sumptuous banquet, and at its conclusion the following toasts were read by Toastmaster Dr. Price, and responded to as follows: "The President," T. W. Hopkins; "The Veterinary Profession," George Scammon; "Our Visitors," C. C. Lyford; "The Press," Mr. Dufresne; "The Ladies," A. Trudel.

DISTRICT COURT.

The Northern Pacific railroad yesterday filed an appeal in the district court from the order of the railroad commissioners regarding sleeping car berths, whereby it is required that each upper berth shall remain closed whenever the lower berth is occupied and until such upper berth is needed for actual occupancy.

The appeal claims that the commissioners have no jurisdiction to make such order; that it is a regulation on interstate commerce, and is in violation of the constitution of Minnesota and the United States. James McNaught and John O. Bullett, Jr., appear for the Northern Pacific.

Brazier, the man indicted for grand larceny, came into the court yesterday and pleaded guilty to petty larceny. He was sentenced by Judge Kelly to thirty days in the workhouse. The clerk has laid in jail for about eight months.

In the case of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway company vs. David J. Hennessy, Judge Wilkin has laid in the case of the agreement entered into between the parties cannot be enforced.

In the matter of the assignment of John McInay, Judge Simons has issued an order discharging the assignee, Charles F. Diether.

In the case of Prentiss L. Clarke vs. James L. Lovering, et al., Judge Simons denied defendants motion for a new trial.

Judge Simons has denied plaintiff's motion for a new trial in the case of Charles H. Burhill vs. Ferdinand Witt.

Judge Wilkin has denied the motion for a new trial in the case of Erik P. Miehley vs. the Omaha road.

The Home Insurance company sues Owen McMan for $200, promissory notes.

IN THE CASE OF E. J. Smith vs. the Milwaukee road, the defendant's motion for a new trial was argued before Judge Nelson and denied.

Wanted—A Quorum.

The board of regents of the State university made another attempt to hold a meeting yesterday, but owing to the absence of Ex-Gov. Pillsbury, again failed to have a quorum. Another endeavor to hold a meeting will be made Friday morning in the absence of Representative Nelson and Dr. Diether at Washington, it is almost impossible to hold these meetings, and the meeting called for Friday morning will be the third trial made recently.

Condensed Milk.

The chemist of the dairy commissioner's department has lately been making some interesting analyses of the two leading brands of condensed milk, the American Eagle and the Anglo-Swiss. The latter brand seems to stand a little higher than the American Eagle, as the following figures will show:

Table with 2 columns: Brand, Fat, Milk and cane sugar, Ash, Caseine, etc.

Board of Public Works.

The board of public works heard the testimony of William Lindeke, P. T. Kavanagh, Matthias Cook, Ansel Oppenheim and S. Lee Davis yesterday relating to the value of land to be taken for widening L'Oratoire street, between Mt. Airy and Gloucester streets.

Another Storm.

The old blizzard was revived yesterday and extended all over Northern Minnesota, Dakota and Montana, and also over the roads running between St. Paul and Chicago. There was no snow except in spots, but the wind lifted up the old snow and blew it everywhere, filling up the streets and trains were stopped on the Northern Pacific and Manitoba roads. On the Omaha there was a blockade near Worthington, and the street was filled up, and trains were all laid up.

GLOBULES.

Bank clearances yesterday, $478,076.

Two births and nine deaths was the score at the health office.

Scarlet fever is bulletined at No. 455 Carroll street, and diphtheria at No. 1133 Beech street.

Jay McNamara has sold his club house on the Fort Snelling road to R. J. Dimco, of Minneapolis.

Carnival plumes and chimes at Mast, Burford and Burwell company, corner Third street and Broadway.

Three boxes of patent ornamental harness buckles, supposed to have been stolen recently, were found by the police yesterday in the yard of the cathedral.

The first four liquor licenses were issued by City Clerk Thomas Fremont yesterday.

Evening at the People's church, Mackubin street, baptism will be administered and members received on church vows. Rev. Dr. Smith will deliver a short address. The public are invited.

The Netherlands American Land Company, of Amsterdam, Holland, yesterday filed notice with the secretary of state that "service process" on the company could be made on J. C. Tolles at St. Paul.

The clerks of the county offices have mutually agreed to attend in a body at the meeting of Charles W. Speed at the St. Paul Lutheran church, when Rev. Dr. Paucis will perform the ceremony.

The January 7th of the supreme court opens at 10 o'clock this morning with a large list of cases of more than ordinary importance. The O'Connell habeas corpus and the milk cases are set down for argument to-day.

participate in the Carnival festivities. A. M. J. Mitchell, of Winona, registered at the Grand yesterday.

A Wife of John Wilkin Brings Action for Absolute Divorce From Him.

She alleges that He is at Present the Husband of Six Wives.

A Gay Deceiver Who Came From a Wealthy and Respectable Family.

An Interview With the Father of the Much-Married.

A very extraordinary and highly sensational suit for divorce was yesterday filed in the district court. The story is a revolting one, and the details, if true, are all of a most disgusting sound of bauchery and crime. Boldly in a case of this magnitude filed in the courts, and it looked upon as something remarkable. It has been in the "wind" for some time, but was not disclosed until yesterday.

The case is this: Lillie B. Wilkins is the complainant against her husband, John Wilkins. She claims that she is thirty-two years of age, and her husband thirty-six, and that they were married the 27th day of October, 1870, at Fagnodus, Pa., by Rev. P. P. Finney, of the Methodist church. She says that she has never since that time had any other husband, and she has ever conducted herself as a dutiful wife, and that the many and divers wrongs and grievances by him committed against her, and her children, and her property, without cause or provocation on her part. Plaintiff claims that from and after the marriage, defendant and herself lived as cohabitants together as husband and wife, up to and inclusive of the time at which defendant abandoned her. She alleges that May 7, A. D. 1887, in St. Paul, he wilfully contracted a second marriage with one Emma Stetson and committed the crime of adultery. For a further, separate and distinct cause of action, she claims that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887, he abandoned her and has ever since lived and cohabited in adultery with, at the city of St. Paul, Minn., with a woman named Emma Stetson, and that they are now living and cohabiting together as man and wife at the place aforesaid. She alleges that she is the mother of six children, and that she has ever since that time pretendedly married another woman in St. Paul by the name of Kate Fox. She is a little patient, for this is not the first time she has been so deceived. Plaintiff says that between the time last aforesaid and the 27th day of October, 1887, the said defendant wilfully and fraudulently concealed from her a pretended marriage with a woman, whose surname is "French."

She claims a separate cause of action, and says that during the summer of 1887, he wilfully contracted and had solemnized another pretended marriage with a woman named Mattie Biele. She claims that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1887