By Cable to the Globe.

Berlin, March 9.—General gloom prevails at Berlin, and the somberness is rendered more profound by the fact that it is raining in torrents.

The reichstag assembled at 12:30 p. m., amid unusual excitement in the lobbies. It had been agreed that the ringing of the bell, the customary signal for the assembling of the members, should be stopped and that the deputies should enter the hall quietly and without ceremony.

All the benches in the house were speedily filled, and the galleries were crowded.

Profound silence reigned. A large number of federal commissaries were in their places at the federal councillor's table from an early hour. Meanwhile the plenipotentiaries awaited Prince Bismarck in the lobby, and as soon as he arrived they went with him to the hall of the federal council.

At 12:30 the members of the council entered the reichstag and took positions to the left of the presidential chair. Immediately afterward the president was called away for an interview with Prince Bismarck.

The chancellor, after a pause, said: "The sad duty devolves upon me of making to you an official communication of what you know already, that since half-past 8 o'clock his majesty, Emperor William, has been at rest with his fathers."

In consequence of this event the Prussian throne, and with this, according to article 11 of the imperial constitution, the imperial dignity, has fallen upon his majesty, Frederick III., king of Prussia. The telegraphic intelligence received by me allows of the assumption that his majesty, the reigning emperor and king, will leave San Remo to-morrow, arriving in due course in able to force out a few words at a time. Sometimes he could hardly speak at all, and was obliged to make long pauses to suppress tears which he tried to hide by lifting his portfolio or a glass of water.

The crown prince became emperor without any formality beyond the ordinary. The new monarch will not perform any act of government until his predecessor is buried, and will have taken the oath to support the constitution.

The Funeral. BERLIN, March 9.—The arrangements for the funeral of the late emperor will not be made until the arrival of Frederick. The emperor directed that he be buried where his parents lie, at Charlottenburg.

FREDERICK III. He Asks the Assistance of All in the Charge Fallen Upon Him. BERLIN, March 9.—The Reichsanzeiger announces that the chancellor has received the following telegram from Emperor Frederick:

San Remo, March 9.—At this moment of deepest sorrow for the decease of the emperor and king, my beloved father, I must express my thanks to you and to the ministers of state for the devotion and loyalty with which you have assisted me in the arduous charge which has devolved upon me. I leave here to-morrow.

The emperor has also forwarded the following ordinance to the ministers of state on the subject of public mourning: "With regard to the national mourning, which has heretofore been customary, we will not order any provision, but will rather leave it to every German to determine how he will give expression to his grief."

SORROW AND SYMPATHY. Telegrams of Sympathy Sent From the Executive Department at Washington. WASHINGTON, March 9.—The official announcement of the death of Emperor William was received at the German legation early this morning.

The telegram was signed by Prince Bismarck and stated that the emperor passed peacefully away at 8:30 this morning. Baron von Segwitz, chargé d'affaires, immediately telegraphed to the emperor's secretary, saying that Crown Prince Frederick William became emperor of Germany and king of Prussia immediately after the death of his father, and that now as always, if the question of the incapacity of the sovereign is raised it will be decided by the two chambers of Prussia.

States in their line is at least $2,000,000,000, figuring on a population of 60,000,000 and an annual expenditure of $35 each. One per cent of this or $20,000,000 is to be deposited. This deposit is to be small in comparison with the new profits on sugar, meaning that the sugar consumers of the country would be compelled to pay an additional sum for their sugar, so large that $20,000,000 would be small in comparison. That will be the new trust means, as far as can be judged. It offers food for thought.

LEAP FROM THE FIRE.

The Methodist University at Mitchell, Dak., Destroyed by Fire.

Frightful Struggle of the Inmates to Escape From the Fiery Furnace.

Two Men Killed and Several Seriously and Probably Fatally Injured.

Manitoba Half-Breeds Again Uneasy—Another Storm in the Northwest.

Special to the Globe.

Mitchell, Dak., March 9.—The Dakota Methodist university at this place was consumed by fire this morning at 3:30. One of the students was killed in trying to escape from the burning building, two were fatally injured, and ten or more other persons were seriously injured. About forty students and several of the faculty occupied the building, which was a three-story stone structure with basement. The stairway leading from the second to the third floor was in flames when the fire was first discovered, thus cutting off the means of escape.

Five students jumped from the third story windows upon the frozen ground, and four young ladies, including Miss Hattie Taylor, teacher of elocution, jumped from the second floor with fearful results. The following is a list of the dead, dying and injured: Miss Hattie Taylor, Alexandria, teacher of elocution, fatally injured; H. Perkins, a young Englishman, ankle broken and badly injured; Wild Smith, Bridgewater, hand injured; A. J. Yates, Milwaukie, leg broken and badly injured; Miss Stanton, of Spencer, forehead cut and ankle sprained; E. A. Barcock, of Mt. Vernon, fractured arm; Miss Shano, of Mitchell, slightly injured in fall; Prof. Reno, ankle sprained; Messrs. Bell and Stillwell, of Mitchell, badly injured; Prof. Deacon, badly burned.

The origin of the fire is unknown, though it is thought to have been spontaneous combustion of material in the hall. The building was erected in 1884, of Sioux Falls Jasper stone, was a magnificent structure and the pride of Mitchell. The insurance amounts to only $7,500, while the loss is estimated at $55,000. Dakota university was situated on an eminence in the suburbs of this city, commanding a fine view in all directions. The building was a commodious structure of four stories with 115 feet front, of Venetian architecture, built of granite, with sandstone trimmings. Rev. William D. Brush, D. D., is president of the faculty. Owing to the commanding site of the college, the fire lighted up the surrounding country vividly. The scene was heartrending as the agonized spectators saw the victims gather at the front of the burning structure, and leap to the ground. Nothing is talked about to-day but the disaster and the injuries of the wounded.

LATER. G. Parkin, who jumped from the burning building this morning, died of his injuries this evening. The four-year-old child of Louis F. Barber, of Batouche, Northwest Territory, was fatally burned to-day by its mother catching fire while its mother was at the house of a neighbor. The child died to-night.

SOME UNEASINESS. Canadian Statesmen Feel Uneasy Over the Situation in the Northwest. OTTAWA, Ont., March 9.—There is considerable uneasiness felt over dispatches from Batouche, Northwest Territory, the scene of the rebellion of 1885, to the effect that Gabriel Dumont is stirring up trouble among the half-breeds. He has been writing letters from New York inciting to agitation, though he says he will only use political means. For some reason best known to the government, police stationed at Prince Albert was ordered to Batouche to be in readiness for any emergency. There is good reason to believe that the cause of the trouble, but Northwest members say the half-breeds at this period of the year, having nothing else to do, assemble to talk politics, and are looked upon as "dubs," although in close connection with the police service in St. Paul as well as Chicago. The men returned from Batouche this evening state that an individual answering Tasco's description was seen on a west-bound train about the date Tasco was supposed to have been in Winnipeg.

No Record Made. Special to the Globe. BRAINERD, Minn., March 9.—There was quite an exciting scene in the city council to-night when an attempt was made in canvassing the returns of the recent election to "go behind the returns" in the interest of defeated candidates, who had charged irregularities in the voting, and informality in the printing of the ballots. The council had actually commenced a recount of the votes when a formal protest was entered by an attorney, and after some parley the matter was reconsidered and the body returned to its regular function as a city council. There is a good deal of feeling over the matter upon both sides.

Burned in Logging Camp. MILWAUKEE, March 9.—A special from Oconto, Wis., says that J. H. Mugrey was burned to death in a lumber camp on Peshigo brook late last night. George McCartney, his partner, escaped from the shanty, and made his way through the snow to a camp three miles away. He is badly burned, and will die from exposure.

Died at Moorhead. Special to the Globe. MOORHEAD, Minn., March 9.—A man of gloom was thrown over the city to-day by the death of Mrs. D. F. McNab, wife of a prominent citizen, of typhoid fever. The remains, accompanied by the husband, leave to-night for Perth, Canada, to be interred.

Teachers' Examinations. Special to the Globe. KEOKUK, Ia., Minn., March 9.—The county superintendent will hold teachers' examinations as follows: Redwood Falls, March 20; Lambertson, April 3; Walnut Grove, April 4.

Residence Burned. Special to the Globe. DURAND, Wis., March 9.—The residence of Frank Goodrich, who resides two miles south of here, burned Wednesday night. Loss, $2,000; insured for $1,000.

Loggers Discouraged. Special to the Globe. CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., March 9.—A warm rain has been prevailing all day, and it looks like a breaking up. Loggers are discouraged, but most of them will stay in the woods as late as possible.

Excitement at Rapid City. Special to the Globe. RAPID CITY, Dak., March 9.—Considerable excitement was caused here this morning by the receipt of the news from Sioux City that a contract for grading 170 miles of road-bed west of Champlin, Minn., had been awarded to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company. This will bring the track within a few miles of Rapid City. The line is graded and staked to this place.

A Winning Ticket. Special to the Globe. ROCHESTER, Minn., March 9.—The Democratic ticket for to-day was nominated for mayor, A. Nelson; city attorney, W. Logan Brackeindick; marshal, E. D. Swartwood; treasurer, Ed. Walden; justice, L. L. Dudley; street commissioner, John Burfoot. Democratic sentiment is high, and the ticket will undoubtedly be elected.

Sued for Damages. Special to the Globe. SIOUX CITY, Ia., March 9.—Suit was begun to-day by Rosamond Nelson, the divorced wife of Chief of Police James Nelson, against the Daily Tribune for libel. The Tribune has published several derogatory statements just previous to the time her suit for divorce was brought up in court.

fell to a depth of eight inches here last night. A strong wind to-day drifted the snow badly. The country roads are blocked, but railroad trains are on time. The storm, however, but the night is clear and the cold wave has been displayed at the signal office.

AT FARGO. Special to the Globe. FARGO, Dak., March 9.—A fierce north wind, accompanied by a little snow, is still raging. Trains are from two to four hours late. The storm extends from the main line on the west to Brainerd. On the last with but little snow, except in Western Dakota.

WISCONSIN MILITIA. Officers' Annual Convention at Madison. MADISON, Wis., March 9.—The annual convention of the officers of the Wisconsin National guards closed to-day. Papers were read by Capt. C. R. Boardman, of Oshkosh, on "Two Needs of the Wisconsin National Guard," and on "Field Service." A general discussion was had on topics of primary interest. Gen. Lucius addressed the meeting on "English and American Soldiers." The first regiment will be named after the late Gen. Lucius, on notes on Field Service.
