loston's Record Broken--Results of the Races and Other Sports.

Special to the Globe. St. Louis, Mo., May 1—The second game between the St. Louis Whites and Milwaukee was played to-day in the presence of a very small crowd and cold weather. The St. Louis boys showed themselves to be the superior of the Northerners, but they were given a tussel. Horner, the Milwaukee pitcher, pitched a fine game up to and including the eleventh inning, when he dropped suddenly and was knocked around at will, twelve hits, three singles, a triple, a home run and five runs being made off his delivery in the twelfth inning. off his delivery in the twelfth inning. Sproat, the St. Louis pitcher played a fine game, and was well supported by the entire club, except Crooks, who made one error. In the eighth inning Cantz knocked a stunner into the left field seats and came home on it. Both which made a run in the pitch and earned slubs made a run in the ninth and earned it. Snarp work was done in the tenth and eleventh innings, and the game would have gone over to the thirteenth or fourteenth inning had not Horner let down in the twelfth. Two pretty Jouble plays were made between Pettee and Foster, and between Cantz and Buckley. Score:

Fessenden. A GOOD GAME,

Some Hard Hitting and Fine Fielding

Special to the Globe. KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 1.-The Chicago Maroons defeated the Kansas City Blues in a well-contested game here this afternoon. The weather was cold and raw and the attendance was only 200. The game was character-lzed by hard hitting and fine fielding of both nines. McCarthy, the much-talked-of twirler, pitched for the Blues, and his delivery was easily solved by the Maroons, who made eleven hits and earned seven runs. Dwyer pitched for earned seven runs. Dwyer pitched for the Maroons, and was hit freely, but the Blues failed to bunch their hits. The features of the game were Lange's home-run hit and the difficult running catches of Lange and Crosan. DAILEY'S WILD WORK.

Philadelphia Wins in a Canter from Washington. PHILADELPHIA, May 1.—Philadelphia had an easy time in defeating Washington to-day, owing to Dailey's wild and ineffective pitching. In the eighth inning, with two men out, he seemed to lose all his cunning, and permitted the Phillies to knock out seven base hits in succession, which yielded four earned runs. In the sixth he gave two basses on balls, hit Bastian and made two wild pitches. Bastian was compelled to retire in favor of Childs on account of the pain caused by heing, hit with one of pain caused by being hit with one of Dailey's wild balls. Score.

VERY TAME GAME.

New York Breaks the Bostons'

Gait. New York, May 1.—Boston's per-centage of 1,000 has been broken by the New York's, and that, too, in as tame and uninteresting a game as ever took place on the polo grounds. Keefe pitched for the first time, and though out of practice, succeeded in holding the visitors down well. Little Madeen pitched three innings for Boston, and pitched three innings for Boston, and then, while at the bat, was disabled by a ball from Keefe which hit him on the elbow. Sowders took his place. In the fifth inning Sutton split his finger in catching a fly and retired. Burdock played second base, while Nash went to third in place of Sutton. On account of the threatening weather very few people were present, the turnstiles registering 1,927. Score:

Won By Butler. CHICAGO, May 1.-The collar and elbow wrestling match for the lightelbow wrestling match for the light-weight championship of America and $500 between Adon Butler, of Chicago, and J. F. Lorner, of Shamokin, Pa., was won last night by Butler. The winner stripped at 135 pounds, while Lorner had the advantage of three pounds. Butler won in two straight falls. In the first Lorner was downed five times before Butler scored the four points demanded by the Ed James rules. Time, 7:25. In the second fall Lorner broke his hold and the judge declared the match won by Butler. Time of second fall, 7:12.

Macalester Wins.

The first regular game of the college league between the Hamline and Macalester college clubs was played yes-terday afternoon on the grounds of the latter. The score was 7 to 30 in favor of of the Macalester boys. Kirkwood, pitcher of the successful club, struck out thirteen men of the Hamline team, while the latter only gave the Macalester four shut-outs. Poor outfielding was a feature of the game.

A Brute's Foul Deed.

CHICAGO, May 1.—William Wilner, who for some time has been out of work and drinking heavily, on the refusal last night of his wife to furnish him more money to use in buying liquor, crept up to her bedside where she was sleeping and dealt her a blow on the head with a hammer. Her screams at-tracted the neighbors. Before help arrived he threw her to the floor and inarrived he threw her to the floor and in-flicted several more blows. He then ran into a back room and slashed him-self across the abdomen with a razor and fell to the floor. When the officers arrived both husband and wife were apparently near death. They were re-moved to the county hospital. It is be-lieved that the injuries to both will be fatal.

He Got the Kiss.

St. John Telegraph. A young man well known about town made an eventful call on a lady a few evenings ago, and it is said that he is evenings ago, and it is said that he is not very likely to "call again" for some time to come. It appears that he was very well acquainted with the pretty servant girl who generally answers the door bell, though he wouldn't have his friends know it for the world. On the evening in question he rang the bell and then stepped behind the door that remains stationary and waited. Presently a head appeared around the door and the young man leaned forward and impressed a kiss leaned forward and impressed a kiss upon the fair one's lips. A shriek fol-lowed. The young man thought he had kissed the hired girl. But it was not;

More Water for Red Wing.

Special to the Globe. RED WING, May 1.—The city council has ordered the water mains on Potter and East avenue connected by a main on Seventh street, at a cost of $2,100. This connection will increase the efficiency of the works materially by increasing the circulation, and also placing the works in condition for use, even should an accident occur at the pump house.

Hastings Orange Blossoms.

HASTINGS, Minn., May 1.—This morning at 8 o'clock S. A. Riches and Miss Tillie S. Schmith were married at St. Luke's (Episcopal) church, Rev. Edward Moyses officiating. A number of the immediate friends were present to wit-ness the ceremony. Both contracting parties are well known in this commun-ity and highly esteemed by a large cirHOW HE WOOED HER.

Mrs. Cox was in a very excited condition. Her son Dudley was not expected to live, and in his delirium he kept calling one name over and over again. It happened, however, that Mrs. Cox knew the young lady's father, so she went over to consult with him. There could certainly be nothing wrong in asking Miss Bud to call on Dudley, as the chances were he had not long to live. chances were he had not long to live.

This was easy to arrange as the young lady at once consented, and for a week called daily on the poor invalid. He soon began to mend rapidly, and when he was able to sit up he wrote Miss Bud a letter. In it he told her he had heard of the arrangement that had brought her to his bedside, and that he could not think of her sacrificing herself any more, since he had fully recovered. He thanked her heartily for what she had done.

Bud read this over two or three times, Bud read this over two or three times, with the blood fading out of her cheeks and the light dying from her eyes. She did not faint or cry, but sat with it in her hands, staring before her in a kind of stunned maze. It was all over. He had cut the thread that bound them with his own hand. He had no further need of her then. That was all she could realize for the moment and she felt crushed to the ground. If he had only asked her if she cared for him! But no. He simply dismissed the matter, asking for no answer, nor even promising to see her again.

The doctor had gone to Mrs. Cox's for the second time that day, but this time the visit was to the mother, not to the son. He had made up his mind, having extricated Bud from her difficulty, to arrange his own affairs without further delay.

They were not difficult to arrange. He took the widow's hand and looked at her, and somehow that arranged them, and they went together to announce the news to Dudley, who had maps on the table and was making plans as to a tour abroad.

The young man received the information very quietly. He could not sympathize in their happiness in his present frame of mind, and was no unresponsive that the doctor felt chilled. However, he was not too much chilled to stay to dinner and spend the evening.

At about 90'clock Dudley escaped and wandered out into the night. His steps naturally turned in one particular direction. naturally turned in one particular direction, and he was soon standing at the doctor's gate, looking at the drawn-down

"Good-by, my one love," he said in a whisper. "It was sweet while it lasted. Good-by."

Good-by."

He was about to turn away, when it struck him that there was something unusually dejected in her attitude. Was she unhapty? And why?

The longer he looked the more convinced he was that something was wrong. At last, obeying a sudden impulse, he tapped with his knuckles on the pane, when she started and turned round, showing a face wet with tears.

He tapped again. Bud hastily dried her eyes, not knowing that she was visible, then approaching, drew up the blind and threw open the window.

"Who is there?" she asked, almost sharply. "Why, Dudley!"

"Yes, I. Is anything the matter?"

He clasped her hand, and, encouraged by its warm clasp, Bud acted on the promptings of her heart and laid her other hand also in his.

"Yes, "she said. "Yes are seeing."

other hand also in his.
"Yes," she said. "You are going away-and I love you, Dudley."
"Bud."

Her Silk Stockings.

We were much amused at watching a couple of eminently respectable old Moorish gentlemen, who stood in picturesque attitudes, as if waiting for some painter to commit them to canvas, at a busy corner near the archbishop's palace in Algiers. As they chatted and attitudinized a Mohammedan lady of the better class went tripping saucily by, clad at first sight to all outward seeming as the follower of the prophet made Lewis and Wannop.

New York, May 1.—Evan Lewis good old Moors, sniffing innovation in the good old Moors, sniff very sweep of her walk, gazed down with mingled amusement and contempt at the hussy's feet. My eyes followed heir glance instinctively, eyes followed heir glance instinctively, and in a moment I saw what had attracted their attention. That wretched innovator's nether extremities were positively incased in neat Parisian high-heeled bottines, above whose bronzed top, between the shoe itself and the baggy Turkish trousers that encased her limbs, one could just catch a glimpse of an exceedingly Frankish-looking crimson silk stocking! I don't understand colloquial Arabic, but I know exactly what those two good conservative old Moors were saying that moment. One of them looked up at the other and remarked: "Well, I declare, did you ever see anything like that in your life, now?" And his neighbor answered him, in very choice Arabic: "You may say so, indeed! with their heels and their hairpins! I wonder what on earth the women are coming to!"

Appointment Made. Several times the papers that know more about the business of the Manitoba road than the road itself does have had Mr. Shulz, of the Soo road, appointed to fill the position left vacant by the promotion of General Freight Agent Mohler to be general manager. It seems now, when the appointment of Mr. Mohler's successor is announced, that it is not Mr. Shulz at all, but is J. M. Sawyer, the gentleman who was appointed to fill Mr. Williams' place after the latter left the Manitoba.

Are Monkeys Actors?

New Orleans Times-Democrat. An interesting question has just been decided in the New York custom house. A troupe of educated monkeys are expected to arrive there in a day or so to act throughout the country. Collector Magone has decided that the monkeys magone has decided that the monkeys cannot enter the port free of duty. It was at first hinted that, being "actors," and coming to this country under contract to compete with native theatrical talent, the monkeys came under the provisions of the contract labor law and should not be admitted at all. Collector Magone declined to humiliate the troupe by describing them as "tools of trade," and has decided that they are dutiable under the provision of the tariff law covering animals, and they will be taxed at the rate of 20 per cent ad valorem.

How lonely she must be there by herself all this time! He noiselessly opened the gate, stepped across the little patch of turf and stood close to the window, trying to find a tiny portion of the glass uncovered, so that he could see in.

A very short search showed him one good chink through which he could obtain a view of the room. There was Bud, sitting by the table with her face hidden in her hands.

"Good-by, my one love," he said in a whisper. "It was sweet while it lasted. Good-by."

DISEASED BLOOD. Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors Cured by

Cuticura

Through the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your Cutticura Remedies, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with crysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your Cuticura Remedies a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870, Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreek. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No reliet or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the Cutroura Remedies, used them, and was perfectly cured."
