About Fourteen Hundred Converts from the Munnhall Revival Work.

Two Hostile Crow Indians to Be Sent to the Agency.

Water Is Still Rising in the Mississippi--Nelson's District.

Summary of the Doings of One Day Gathered From All Sources.

ALMOST PERSUADED.

The Good Work Goes on at the Munnhall Meetings.

The sermon of Dr. Munnhall last evening was in the nature of a personal appeal to those who realize the beauty of the Christian life, but who, from various reasons, do not embrace the truth of Christianity.

"I have thought it must have been a privilege to have lived in those days when it cost something to be a Christian."

"Men are attracted by tragedy, but no tragedy was ever enacted, that equaled in result the present meaning of the sublime tragedy on calvary."

"The spirit of each and every one of us is almost persuaded to be a Christian. But there is a last opportunity to come to Him, and we know not when that will come."

FOURTEEN HUNDRED CONVERTS. At the close of the exercises a goodly number came forward and made profession of faith.

TO-MORROW'S MEETING WILL BE FOR THE CHILDREN, at the House of Hope chapel at 3:30 p. m.

ONE OF THE PLEASANTEST FEATURES of the meetings and one which is largely instrumental in filling the hall with its usual crowds, is the singing of Prof. and Mrs. Towner.

TWO CROWS TO GO. President Cleveland Allows Two of the Indian Captives at Snelling to Go Home.

The boys in blue at Fort Snelling are pleased over an order recently received from the department commander, disposing of "The Bark" and "Sees-With-His-Ears."

REGULAR ARMY NOSES. An order from the department of the Missouri district, directs Second Lieut. T. W. Griffith, Eighteenth Infantry, to proceed from Fort Snelling to the post near Denver, Colo., and report to the commanding officer for temporary duty at that post.

He Would Only "Whoo." Somebody turned in a "whoo" on Prof. O. R. Gleason, the horse trainer, last night that puzzled the handler of vicious animals more than any horse he had seen in a long time.

MISS STEELE'S FUNERAL.

The Remains of Miss Mary A. Steele Buried From House of Hope Church.

At the House of Hope church yesterday afternoon funeral services were held for the remains of the late Miss Mary Steele were conducted in the presence of a small but notable gathering of friends and relatives of the deceased.

Miss Steele came to St. Paul in 1848 to live with her brother, Franklin Steele. She was married to the late Mr. Steele, and among those who loved before the bier yesterday were the gray-haired and venerable men and women who laid the foundations of the city two decades ago.

IT WAS COLD AND WET.

The Weather in April as Observed by Supt. Brandenburg.

In his report of the weather for April, E. C. Brandenburg, of the state weather service, says:

The month was characterized by an abnormally low temperature and an excess of precipitation in the Southern portion, and a slight deficiency in the Northern. Precipitation was not distributed throughout the month, the greatest amounts, however, having fallen during the latter portion.

During the month of April the weather was considerably colder than the average, ranging from a few tenths of a degree below the normal in the extreme Northwestern portion of the state, to over 5 deg. below in the vicinity of St. Paul.

STILL COMING UP.

The Mississippi Is Gradually Getting Higher--Heavy Rainfalls.

The river rose 4 of a foot yesterday and is now fourteen feet above low water mark and gradually rising. Seret, the signal office presert, states that there will be a rise of 4 of a foot again to-day, leaving it where it was at the time it reached the highest mark four weeks ago.

KNUTE NELSON'S DISTRICT.

Senator Comstock, One of the Aspirants for Congressional Honors, Talks on the Situation.

"Thus far the congressional campaign in the Fifth district has been conducted in the most amicable manner," said ex-Senator S. G. Comstock, of Moorhead, one of the aspirants to succeed Knute Nelson, "and this, too, despite the fact that there are five candidates in the field."

"It was pronounced that Senator Buckman was out of the race, but acting under the advice of his friends, he has re-entered the political arena, so that there are five gentlemen, all good fellows, whose names will be brought before the convention at St. Cloud, the 12th of next month. They are Messrs. Barto, Buckman, Corlies, Stearns and myself, and each will go into the convention with from a dozen to twenty delegates at his back."

"Up to date, however, not more than a dozen or so delegates have been chosen and these are from the smallest districts, so that it is almost impossible to forecast the strength of the candidates will be convention day. Among those who profess to be cognizant of the situation the impression prevails that the action of Senator Buckman will cut into the strength of Messrs. Barto and Stearns, for the senator is a very popular man in the Fifth district."

"In the case of Mr. Nelson, it is dispelled as to Mr. Nelson's determination not to allow his name to be used in connection with a congressional nomination, for while no one questions that he could be sent to congress during his life if he so desired, he emphatically declines to run again, and principally because of his desire to work for his family awhile."

"I do not think that he wants to go to the senate of the United States, for the expense of living at Washington is very great and Mr. Nelson only has a moderate competence, and this he wants to improve it is too late. It is gratifying, however, that those concerned in the pending caucus note the absence of personal bitterness in conducting the campaign, and on every hand it is manifest that the people are ready for the best man to win the nomination, which insures an election."

FROM CORY'S COURT.

Kitty O'Brien and James Dugan were arrested in the Blakemore block in a compromising situation. James paid $10 and Kitty $20 in the municipal court yesterday.

R. E. Morris, Henry Wilson and George Whitney were captured by the police in the act of taking a coat from Charles Scherff's room on Third street, near Third. The parties were put under bonds for $500 to appear May 11.

MANTELL IN "MONBARS."

A Play Especially Suited to This Actor of Romantic Parts.

"Monbars," an adaptation of Louis Nathal's "La Dame de St. Tropez," produced in Paris nearly half a century ago, with Frederic Lemaire in the title role, and Robert Planard in the title part, was given at the Grand last evening by Robert Mantell and his excellent company. The play is ultra-romantic, especially suited to the style of Mr. Mantell, and his impersonation of the character of the ex-prisoner is much better than any other actor has his Lorin in "Fetora." The time of the action is 1810, and the hero is Robert Monbars, which part Mr. Mantell assumes with a boldness and vigor that England Monbars acquired immense wealth and returning to his native town, where he embarks in enterprises which have employed him in his fellow countrymen. Visiting the house of a rich nobleman of France he saves the nobleman's daughter Diane from being married in her own father's hand. She loves or thinks she loves Louis De Meran, but through gratitude to Monbars for saving her life and relieving her father of heavy obligations, she discards Meran and becomes Monbars' wife. Subsequently Monbars learns of the earlier preference of his wife, and resolving to satisfy his own desire, he trusted friend of Monbars, seeks to poison him and fasten the crime upon Diane. The discovery of Laurent's guilt, his death, and the reconciliation of Monbars and Diane are the chief features of the play in which Mr. Mantell is such a fact, as told in her own complaint, that Haupt fraudulently procured the execution of the deed, specifically that Haupt fraudulently represented himself as the owner of the land, having acquired a tax title thereon, so that to save her property it was necessary for her to execute a certain written agreement, the contents of which were explained to her, and which she was led to believe provided for its terms the immediate payment to her of $5,000; and that intending to execute the deed, she was deceived by Haupt, as she has since discovered, the deed in question, conveying the land to Haupt. She is unable to read or write the English language, and speak or understand it. The court found the allegations true, except that Haupt did believe he was the owner of the property by virtue of certain proceedings. It is further found that there was no consideration for the deed. The syllabus follows:

THOUGHT HE OWNED IT.

The Supreme Court Grants a New Trial in the Schram-Haupt Real Estate Case.

The case of Margaret Schram against Herman Haupt was decided in the supreme court yesterday. Mrs. Schram prosecuted the action for the purpose of having a deed cancelled which she made to Haupt in March, 1856. The trial was held in her complaint, and Haupt fraudulently procured the execution of the deed, specifically that Haupt fraudulently represented himself as the owner of the land, having acquired a tax title thereon, so that to save her property it was necessary for her to execute a certain written agreement, the contents of which were explained to her, and which she was led to believe provided for its terms the immediate payment to her of $5,000; and that intending to execute the deed, she was deceived by Haupt, as she has since discovered, the deed in question, conveying the land to Haupt. She is unable to read or write the English language, and speak or understand it. The court found the allegations true, except that Haupt did believe he was the owner of the property by virtue of certain proceedings. It is further found that there was no consideration for the deed. The syllabus follows:

A STAB AT SCHEFFER.

Merriam Men Fighting for the Ramsey Delegation to the May 16 Convention.

A Red-Hot Fight Between the Ames and Doran Factions at Fergus Falls.

Too Many Statesmen in the Fourth District Anxious to Go to St. Louis.

Lienau Says Ames May Be Sorry for His Remark Regarding Foreigners.

Two or three days ago Albert Scheffer said that it was not the intention of himself or friends to make any fight over the complexion of the Ramsey county delegation to the May 16th convention. At that time he probably calculated that Merriam did not intend to interfere. Yesterday the Scheffer and Merriam factions announced a surprise of goodly proportions, and have each set out to capture Monday's county convention. The explanation of what caused this sudden row is that Merriam desires to have a new county committee appointed. The present committee is headed by F. Stevens, who is said to be a Merriam ally. The balance of the committee is all Merriam men, divided between Merriam and Scheffer. The Merriam faction's desire to have the committee changed is that it will give him absolute control of the county machine. He will then be in a position to dictate the time for holding the county convention which is to elect delegates to the gubernatorial caucus. He would have Scheffer carry the caucus Saturday night, will have the selection of that chairman on Monday, and win. Hence the lack of harmony. The Scheffer men desire to have the county convention for either Blaine or Gresham. The Merriam men are Greshamites, and if they get hold of the county convention, will be able to give the Blaine a black eye. Report puts the Scheffer men in the Blaine column.

FUN AT FERGUS.

The Delegation From Otter Tail Liable to Be a Half Breed.

In Democratic circles much interest is felt over the result of Saturday's convention in Fergus Falls, which will elect delegates to the Democratic state convention. It is an open question whether the delegation will be for Doran or Ames, with odds in favor of the latter.

What the district is entitled to by precedent is one delegate-at-large and two district delegates. But if these six representatives are elected, the district will have all of the delegates-at-large and two district delegates. Such a result would put Mr. Doran and all the country leaders in one box marked "Forward via Salt Creek." The cut-and-dried Doran programme arranged several days ago was as follows: District Delegates--R. A. Smith, J. N. Castle. Mr. Castle will have none of this, and Mr. O'Brien does pretty strong backing. To a man up a stump it looks as though St. Paul might capture one district delegate and one at large, and that the other district delegates would go to Duluth. The Ames-Doran fight promises to be so ugly that the change of any Minneapolisian going to St. Louis seems slim. Ames or Doran, if elected, would be cleaned out. If Ames wins, Winston or he might go. If Doran wins, it will be Winston or nobody.

GERMAN TALK.

Mr. Lienau Editorially Addresses a Few Words to Dr. Ames.

The St. Paul Volk-Zeitung editorially produces the following comments on the Ames manifesto:

"Mr. Ames has expressed himself lately to the effect that foreigners who do not become citizens of this country for the purpose of becoming American citizens should pack their trunks and return to their own homes. According to our experience, every foreigner who has something to do in this country has declared his intention to become an American citizen--therefore, the above remark could only mean that those foreigners who do not intend to vote for Albert Scheffer for governor would do well in the doctor's opinion to return to Europe. The doctor, well, perhaps, may be a little sorry to have made such a remark."

Live Stock Shipments.

CHICAGO, May 10.--A meeting of the general managers representing roads centering in Chicago was held to-day for the purpose of considering the question of weighing live stock for shipment. There has been a movement on foot for some time to abolish the present practice of transporting cattle, hogs, sheep and swine, and to make the weight the basis of shipping charges. Experiments have proved the plan feasible, and the managers are generally in favor of it. To-day's meeting, however, decided to take no action, but to wait until a larger representation could be secured. General Manager St. John, chairman of the executive committee, was authorized to call a general meeting of the lines interested in the subject for May 31.

Taking Testimony.

ASHLAND, Wis., May 10.--Inspector Marchant of the police department here and began taking testimony of the Bad River Indians to-day, in relation to logging and other reservation matters. This is a continuation of the investigation begun at Washington by Chandler a few weeks ago. No important information was developed to-day.
