

A PIONEER'S WEALTH.

How the Late Commodore Kittson Disposed of His Vast Estate.

A Number of Small Legacies Aggregating $53,000 Provided For.

Remainder of the Property Equally Divided Between Eleven Children.

Most Careful Provision Made Against a Contest of the Will.

Below is a synopsis of all the provisions of the last will and testament of the late Norman W. Kittson. This covers all of the bequests, legacies, bequests and directions contained in the will, and is sufficiently full and complete to indicate clearly the intention of the testator regarding his estate.

The will of the late Norman W. Kittson bears date Aug. 4, 1886, and the codicil Dec. 7, 1887, the former covering twenty-eight pages and thirty-two sections, and the latter consisting of four sections, both witnessed by Dr. Samuel D. Flagg, I. V. D. Heard and Daniel Murphy. The sections of the will, of which an abstract only is here given, provide as follows:

Sec. 1. That all the testator's just debts and funeral expenses shall be paid. Sec. 2. Appoints the St. Paul Trust company sole trustee and executor and testamentary guardian of the minor children hereinafter named, and of the minor children of the testator's deceased son, Alexander Kittson.

Sec. 3. Provides that Midway Park and certain lands opposite thereto shall not be encumbered, diminished or sold, but remain a part of the testator's undivided, or residuary, estate during the minority of his youngest son, now about fifteen years old, and until the year 1898, except as otherwise stated in the will.

LIST OF THE LEGATEES. Sec. 4. States the names of the testator's children to be Norman Kittson, Henry Kittson, Louis Kittson, James Edward Kittson, Alexander Kittson, Mary Elizabeth Kittson, Hercules L. Kittson, L. Coyle Kittson, Louisa L. Kittson, Mary E. Kittson and Alfred Kittson.

Sec. 5. Gives to the testator's brother Robert and his daughter Juliette E. Kittson, of Sorel, Canada, for life, the use of all claims and demands held against the property of Margaret E. Kittson, the deceased wife of Robert Kittson, in Sorel.

Sec. 6. Gives to Georgiana Demary, daughter of the deceased sister, the property, Anna Morrison, of Berthier-en-Coteau, Can., $5,000. Sec. 7. To Mary Morrison and Elizabeth Morrison, both daughters of said Anna Morrison, of Montreal, $2,000 each.

Sec. 8. To Anna Paul, daughter of the testator's deceased sister, Julia Paul, of Sorel aforesaid, $2,000. Sec. 9. To Alexandrina Kittson, daughter of the testator's deceased brother, Alexander Kittson, $2,000.

Sec. 10. To the St. Paul Trust company, to be placed at interest, in trust for the testator's three grandchildren, the children of the testator's deceased son, Alexander Kittson, $200, $100 and $100, each, interest to legatees, payable annually until majority, when principal is payable. In case of death before majority, principal to revert to testator's undivided estate.

Sec. 11. To the St. Paul Masonic Building association, to purchase a lot in St. Paul for Masonic purposes, or to erect or toward the erection of a building for the like purpose in St. Paul, $10,000. Sec. 12. Directs executor to sell immediately, at public auction or private sale, all the stock and personal property at Midway Park, to meet expenses, taxes, etc.

Sec. 13. Directs to his son Norman Kittson, the Astoria block on Wabasha street, St. Paul, and one-eighth of all the testator's undivided estate which shall remain after the payment and fulfillment of all the other legacies, devisees, conditions and provisions of the will.

Sec. 14. To the testator's son Rev. Henry Kittson, certain real estate in St. Paul, and certain bonds, mortgages and stock, and one-eighth of the undivided estate as in section 13.

Sec. 15. To the testator's son Louis Kittson, one undivided half of all the real and personal property at Erdenheim, near Philadelphia, Pa., subject to one-half of its liabilities, which he is to pay; also lot 7, block 52, in Rice & Irvine's addition to St. Paul, and one-eighth of testator's undivided estate as in section 13.

Sec. 16. To his son James E. Kittson, one-half of the foregoing property at Erdenheim, subject to one-half of its liabilities; also a certain note, and stock, and one undivided eleventh of the undivided estate, as in section 13.

Sec. 17. To the St. Paul Trust company, in trust for his son Hercules L. Kittson, lots 3 and 4 in block 1, Randall's addition; the east half of lot 2, in section 23, St. Paul proper, and other real estate in St. Paul and elsewhere in Minnesota, together with certain mortgages and stock; also, one-fifth of all property inherited by testator from his late wife, Mary A. Kittson, and one-eleventh of the testator's undivided estate as in section 13. Out of said devise and bequest the trustee is to pay the beneficiary a certain sum per year until he arrives at the age of twenty-five years, when he shall receive one-half of the foregoing remainder; rents, issues and profits being the means of such payment to him.

Sec. 18. To the St. Paul Trust company, in trust for his son L. C. Kittson, a number of lots in St. Paul, certain mortgages and bonds, and one undivided fifth and one undivided eleventh, as in section 17; the trust to be carried out in same manner as the one in section 17.

Sec. 19. To same trustee, for his minor son, Alfred Kittson, a number of lots in St. Paul and other real estate in Minnesota, certain bonds, mortgages and stock, and one undivided fifth and one-eleventh, as in section 17; trust to be carried out in same manner as in section 17, except that trustee is to pay for education and support during minority.

Sec. 20. To same trustee $400,000 in United States registered bonds, in trust for testator's four daughters, before named, $100,000 for each; interest payable to legatees during life; at death principal to revert to the undivided estate, unless marriage and issue, when principal vests in children.

Sec. 21. To the same testator, for the same daughters, four-elevenths of the testator's undivided estate on the same terms as in section 20.

Sec. 22. To the same trustee, for Louise Lorette Kittson and Mary Kittson, two of the said four daughters, two-fifths of the estate inherited by the testator from their mother, his late wife, Mary A. Kittson, on same terms as in section 20.

MAINTENANCE OF THE MANSON. Sec. 23. Directs that $15,000 per annum be set aside for the expenses of his late residence at the corner of Dayton and Summit avenues, as long as certain specified ones of his children shall reside there, and requests his son Norman to reside there if he will, and that he have charge of the household and disbursement of the expenses. Certain funds are specified from which the necessary income is to be derived.

Sec. 24. Provides that if any child shall die unmarried and without issue of such marriage, all property of such child which has not been sold or devised shall be divided among the surviving brothers and sisters or their children, if any, except where property has heretofore been given in trust for any children of the testator, such trust shall, as to such children, apply to this bequest.

Sec. 25. That none of the property inherited from his late wife shall be used for any of the legacies, nor considered as a part of testator's estate, but such inherited property shall belong exclusively to the children of his late wife, Mary A. Kittson, who are the last five named in section 4, except as otherwise provided in section 24.

Sec. 26. Provides for the disposition of testator's stock in the Globe Publishing company. Sec. 27. Authorizes the executor and trustee in either or both capacities, to sell all his undivided estate and all property conveyed to said company in trust, except $400,000 in United States bonds bequeathed for the use of his daughters, and subject to the conditions as to Midway Park, provided that the proceeds of the sale of trust property shall be held in the same trust.

Sec. 28. Provides that loans may be made by the trust company on proper security. Sec. 29. Refers to an old investment in a limited partnership.

Section 30 is as follows: "In case it should turn out that there is any of my estate that has not been disposed of by the preceding sections of this will, I hereby bequeath and devise the same to and for the use of my said children, share and share alike, or their issue, on the same conditions that have been given bequests and devisees of a similar nature in the foregoing portions of this will."

A CONTEST GUARDED AGAINST. The thirty-first section is as follows: "Being fully convinced that I have in all the provisions of this my will, made just and equitable provision for all of my children and all persons having any just claim on my estate, I hereby declare and direct that in case any of my children hereinafter named or any legatee under this, my will, shall commence any suit or suits in any court of law or equity, or in any court whatsoever, or in any way or means seek to set aside this, my will, or to disturb or cause to be sued or disturbed my executor herein named, or my successor, or any person to whom anything given in this, my will, from the receiving and quietly enjoying and possessing of anything herein given by me as aforesaid, then my will is, that all and every the bequests, legacies, devisees and other provisions herein by me given or made, to or for such person or persons, who shall so sue and disturb, or proceed as aforesaid, shall cease and determine and become utterly void, and then and thereafter the legacies, bequests and devisees and other provisions of this my will given to or for such person or persons so suing or disturbing, or proceeding, shall be divided among such of my children above named as shall not have participated in such action, or their issue on the basis hereinbefore given, in case of the death of one or more of my children, share and share alike."

Sec. 32.—Repeals all former wills. THE CODICIL. The first section of the codicil ratifies the former will, except as revoked or altered by the codicil.

Section 2 recites that having since the will disposed of some of the property specifically devised and bequeathed, the same is to be made good out of his undivided estate to the extent of the consideration received for such property, 75 per cent from the time of its disposition.

Section 3 provides that the one-eleventh share in his undivided estate given by the will to each of his five children by his last will shall be diminished by deducting therefrom the value of the property inherited by such children from the mother, and devised hereafter in the will to such child, such value to be regulated by the appraisement thereof heretofore filed in the probate court of Ramsey county, in the matter of the estate of Norman W. Kittson.

Section 4 defines more fully what is meant by the testator's undivided estate. The will was drawn by I. V. D. Heard. No reliable estimate of the amount of the estate can be formed from the will, nor until an inventory is made out.

A RARE OLD ATLAS, Which Shows Up Connecticut As Given Over to Rabbits.

One of the most valuable and interesting accessions of the Minnesota Historical society is an ancient work on geography in three volumes, which has just been received from Hon. C. D. Gilliland. The work, which is printed in Latin and bound in parchment, is entitled "Theatrum Orbis Terrarum, sive Atlas Noras," a literal translation of which may be given as "a view of the lands of the globe, or map of the world." It was printed at Amsterdam in 1645, and is the work of a famous geographer of that time, Joannes Blaeuw.

The "Atlas Noras" abounds in maps, all beautifully colored by hand and frequently surrounded by emblematic devices, scenes in the history of the country represented, etc. Unknown regions of the globe are populated by horrid monsters of the map-maker's vivid imagination. On many of the maps also are represented in colors the animals of the region. For example, on the plate representing "New England," what is now Connecticut is occupied by two sleekly rabbits.

Western New York is given up to deer, and on the St. Lawrence river, or "Magnum Fluvium Novi Belgae," as the atlas calls it, a couple of pelicans stand in the water, in mute admiration. "North America," says the geographer, "is divided into New France, New Spain, Virginia, Florida, New Granada and California, which are inhabited by copper-colored barbarians of horrid mien." One can get little idea of the amount of labor required for the production of the work. Besides the historical value of the work, it has a considerable intrinsic worth, having cost Senator Gilliland the sum of 300 marks in Dresden, Ger.

SOLDIERS IN PEACE. Movements of Men and Troops in the Department of Dakota. Acting Inspector General Edwin C. Mason, of the department of Dakota, yesterday received from the war office his commission as colonel of the Third infantry, which will soon be followed by an order transferring him to the command of his regiment and post at Fort Snelling. Col. Mason is highly esteemed at department headquarters and the circumstances which demand this change universally and earnestly regretted.

Lieut. Samuel W. Miller, Fifth infantry; A. V. Knatz, brevet major, regular, United States army; Capt. E. B. Savage, Eighth infantry, and W. I. Sanborn, captain Twenty-fifth infantry, are registered at department headquarters.

The department commander has ordered Acting Assistant Surgeon W. E. Sablin, United States army, to go to Fort Mission, Mont., and from that post accompany the battalion of the Third infantry, destined for Fort Meade, Dak., until it shall have met the portion of the Twenty-fifth infantry en route from that post. He will then accompany the latter command, continuing from Garrison, Mont., with the companies destined for Fort Custer. Conformity to war department authority, Gen. Ruger has assigned the incoming Eighth regiment of cavalry to the following named posts: Fort Meade, Dak., headquarters, lieutenant-colonel, third major and troops A, B, C, D, I and M; Fort Keogh, first major and Troops H and L; Fort Buford, Troops E and K; Fort Yates, Troops "F" and "G."

The lieutenant colonel, two majors, and Troops A, B, E, F, H, I, K, and L, Seventh cavalry, will on June 1 next stand relieved from duty in this department and proceed to Fort Keogh, Kan., Troops E and H, Fort Yates, and A, Fort Keogh, were started yesterday to join the other troops at Fort Meade. Capt. George McCreery, assistant surgeon, will accompany the command.

ELKS FRATERNIZE. St. Paul Lodge Gives an Enjoyable Session. Social sessions are the oases in the lives of Elks—not the antlered variety, but those whose charity has brought the order to which they belong into greater prominence and distinction than any of its numerous and honorable features. St. Paul lodge held a social session last night, after having initiated E. W. Evans, Edward Scott and A. Fitzer into the mysteries of the craft. J. P. Noe was chairman of the session and the guests present were Dr. Chamberlain, Paul Martin, Major William Coader, W. W. Davis, H. Gullies, James Wheelock, J. W. Kennedy, G. Franklin, E. W. Leonard and B. W. Martindale. Larry Wheat was appointed constable, and succeeded in keeping the gathering within the bounds of order. J. T. Hazzard opened the ball with a speech, the brevity of which was enhanced by the fund of witticisms it included, and he was followed by Mr. McCullough in a song. L. F. Martin gave an admirable representation of a distressing case of "snakes," and Chairman Noe entertained the company with some pithy remarks. A political address was given by H. W. Davis, after which Maj. William Leader plunged into vocalism and rendered several ballads in a manner that evoked hearty applause. Taken as a whole, the entertainment eclipsed anything of the kind ever given under the auspices of St. Paul lodge B. P. O. Elks.

DULUTH DOINGS.

Happenings of a Day in the Zenith City. Special to the Globe.

DULUTH, Minn., May 19.—Information has been received that Duluth men have closed with Minneapolis men to build a 5,000-barrel flour mill in Duluth this season. The particulars are not yet ready for the public, but from the character of the local partner interested, it will probably go through.

The officers of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad say there is no truth at all in the story that they were about to shut down the train between Duluth and Tower and Ely. They say as the run takes but four and one-half hours there is little need of a sleeper on any of the trains.

The uniformed rank of the Knights of Pythias, of Duluth, had an out-door drill last evening and had their pictures taken by Carl Thiel. Bank clearances for last week were $2,283,302.24.

The steam road roller has been moved from Minnesota Point to Third street and is ready for business. Poles for the extension of the electric light circuit have been received. The Duluths and Athletics will play ball on the old East End ground Sunday afternoon.

Barnum's circus will pitch its tent at the West end of the city as they start for Duluth. Ten feet of land on East Superior street was sold yesterday for $10,000.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success. The popular railroad line of day is the one whose trains arrive at their destination as promptly as they start for it. In short, the line that lives up to its published promises.

Such a line is "The Northwestern Line"—C., St. P., M. & O. Railway. It is not a matter for wonder that it carries the great majority of the travelers between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago. It is ably managed. Its train service is reliable. Its equipment is not excelled in the world. With palatial sleepers, dining cars and splendid day coaches and smooth track, the acme of luxury, comfort and security in rail travel, "The Northwestern Line," and its motto is, "Always on time."

The vestibuled train service on this line, carrying all classes of passengers and without any extra fare, is better than any similar train service between the older cities of the Atlantic coast, and "The Northwestern Line" is the only line with the Pullman and Wagner famous vestibuled train service between the Twin Cities and Chicago.

Accidents and Incidents of Every-Day Life—Things That Are Hard to Believe, Yet They Are True, Nevertheless. A citizen of Auburn, Me., has a dog which he sends regularly to a news agent for the evening paper. The dog knows exactly what time the paper is due, and is on hand promptly at 5:30 each afternoon without orders from any one.

A Charlotte Harbor, Fla., lady has a small green frog with his home in the calyx of a lily in her room. The little fellow is quite a pet, and perches high on the stem of the lily to receive his dinner, consisting of flies tied to him on the point of a pin.

Peter Stoner is an employe in a planing mill at Alton, and he never knew that he was a somnambulist until the other morning, when he got out of bed, went to the mill, began doing his customary work, and woke up to find that it was not yet daylight.

A California tramp has a novel way of getting money. He fixes up his arm with castile soap and caustic to represent a sore, and begs for aid on the ground that he just met with an accident. He is said to have worked this game successfully for four years in various parts of the state.

A big tree was felled recently on the land of John McCloskey, on Moccasin river, Clinton county, Pennsylvania. There were cut from it five sixteen-foot logs and three twelve-foot logs, and still there remained twenty-five feet of the butt, which measured four feet. The end of the smallest log cut measured thirteen feet.

Farmer Griffith smelled something burning and heard the crackle of flames as he drove home from Whitewater Wis. the other day, and, turning around, saw that the straw in the trunk of his sleigh was all on fire. He thinks that the rays of the sun were focused by a bright new tin milk can that he was taking home and set the straw a-burning.

A monster toad, weighing sixty-six pounds and measuring nearly three feet around the body, is said to have been found at Juliet, France, and sold for $350 to a manufacturer at St. Etienne. Its croaking bears a close resemblance to the barking of a dog. The inhabitants of all the country round have been pouring into Juliet to see the phenomenal animal.

Twenty years ago George W. Chadwick left New Bedford on a whaling ship bound for the Pacific ocean. Off Tahiti, one of the Society islands, he deserted, swimming ashore from the ship. He by and by got into the woods and the hunt for him was given up, and then began life on the island. He prospered, and the other day returned to his native city with a large little property, where he hopes to end his day.

A little boy, a cripple, was being wheeled past a Center avenue store, in Bay City, when a gentleman who noticed the unfortunate child said: "That little boy's misfortune is the result of a kiss. When he was a baby his mother, in coming to a log, was up behind the high chair in which he was seated and, catching his head suddenly, gave it a turn and kissed him." The shock in his spine, and he is going through the world a cripple for life.

W. W. Winont, an old man who appeared on the streets of Montgomery, Ala. a few days ago begging for enough money to buy a railroad ticket to Mobile, has had a romantic history. Many years ago he invented a machine for strapping shoes and soon acquired a fortune. In 1876 he lost a wager of $75,000 that he had on Tilden's election to the presidency, and since then one misfortune has crowded closely on the heels of another until he has lost his entire fortune and his health as well.

Harry Gibson, of Pennsylvania, had been wanting a pet fox for a long time, because, he said, they are so cute. He got one, finally, took it home and placed it in comfortable quarters. Some time during the night it managed to get out when it straightway proceeded to see how much havoc it could create in a given time. It destroyed all the house plants within reach, killed all the chickens he could find, and was looking around for a new field of labor when arrested in his career of desolation. The fox is now for sale, and there need not be any particular higgling about the price. The owner is not in a mercenary frame of mind.
