The Inwardness of the Movement for a Citizens' Ticket for the City.

A Republican Scheme to Save Defeat on Their Own County Ticket.

Republican Legislative Blunders Coming Home to Them With a Vengeance.

Some Good Reading With Regard to the Little Scheme

A citizens' ticket for Minneapolis. Does the city want it? From every quarter and from every comes the answer, no. Three months ago the talk of a citizens' ticket, to be chosen without regard to politics, was begun, and the GLOBE made then an exhaustive review of public sentiment, and showed the people were decidedly against such a plan. The Democracy to a man was against it, and nine-tenths of the Republicans opposed it. It was at that time regarded purely as a Republican scheme and the reason was forthcoming. There has been, since then, no reason for a change of sentiment. At that time the Republican thinkers had ust arrived at the conclusion that a grand mistake had been made by the Republican tinkers at the legislature in fixing the municipal election at the same time with the county election. "The Democrats," they said, "are hard fighters in a city election, but easy in a county election, and this easy in a county election, and this thing of mixing up the two will endanger our county ticket." This was their scheme. If a complete citizens' ticket could be put in the field and the city fight eliminated from the contest the great struggle would be taken out of the county caucus. The Democratic incentive to action would be gone and the Republicans would have a walkover. Such was their reasoning at that time.

The present outlook is that the party of cold water and prayer will pull away from the effete party of God and moralfrom the effete party of God and morality sufficient votes to allow the Democrats a walkover. The free whisky plank in the national Republican platform is viewed askance by many straightlaced Republicans and openly repudiated by more. They are not yet equal to voting the Democratic ticket, but they will go over in droves to the Prohibitionists. The old rounders know it. They know that the recent cold water county convention had more regularly elected delegates than the last Republican county convention, and showed a hundred per cent more zeal and enthusiasm. Their party is on the upward way. Its career is viewed by the retrograde Republican party with every emotion of alarm. If the onward growth of the white rose party is unchecked, it will complete the discrete party with straight of the free. party is unchecked, it will complete the dismemberment of the free whisky party before the next presidential elec-

There is more than this.

Hugh Harrison, the Prohibition nomi-Hugh Harrison, the Prohibition nominee for governor, is personally very popular. He is known as a progressive young man of business ability and personal integrity. His character and record are beyond reproach. He will go into the campaign with all the ardor and enthusiasm of youth and hope, backed up by a good-sized barrel. Beyond the disgusted Republicans who will flock to his support, he will draw heavily from the Methodists and elsewhere. A. J. Dean, one of the electors, is also personally popular, and has a barrel. Harrison and Dean will draw out many new votes, and the total in out many new votes, and the total in Hennepin county will fall very little short of 5,000, upon which the ardent short of 5,000, upon which the ardent Prohibitionests count. The Republicans know it, hence this non-partisan movement A country official company was movement. Party feeling will run high, and it will be an absolute impossibility to agree upon candidates satisfactorily on all sides. Another ticket will spring up and the true will become simply a patterns. the two will become simply a matter of barter and trade through the campaign. There will be no party interest or re-sponsibility at stake, and votes for the city ticket will be in the market for the

It is the opinion of leading thinkers of both political parties, that a citizens' ticket is impracticable, at this time, at least. A Republican legislature has committed the blunder of combining three elections a scheme which we committed the blunder of combining three elections—a scheme which was accomplished with the hope that the partisan interest in a presidential election would carry the Republican ticket through. It had no other object, no other excuse. It was a piece of political skulduggery, the fruits of which are already apparent. The blunder is coming home to its Republican authors. They will be read a lesson on legislation at the polls in November.

What is the object of a citizens' ticket? It is publicly stated that something

It is publicly stated that something must be done to save the city from ruin; that the present extravagant and corrupt council, has made it absolutely rupt council, has made it absolutely necessary for new and true hands to assume the reins of municipal government. The specious plea has enlisted good men in the citizens' ticket movement, and lent to it an air of solidity and respectability that it would not otherwise have had. But these men may be deceived. There is a more sinister motive behind the movement. In the first place the city is in no danger the first place the city is in no danger and there is an absolute ignorance of the facts in charging the present coun-cil with extravagance. Most of the the facts in charging the present coun-cil with extravagance. Most of the large expenditures of the current year and last year—when they were heavier —were ordered by the last council and the money merely expended by direc-tion of the present council. rens' ticket should be made of men out of politics, selected by representatives of the people. There may by such a ticket, and there may be a different citizens' ticket, with perfect right, just as there may be a labor ticket or single-tax ticket, but it is not at all likely that the Utopian scheme of certain apparently well-meaning gentlemen will ever be carried to a successful issue. It is doubtful if it could be and doubtful if it should be. There is no reason to believe a mass meeting could choose better men than would be chosen by the two parties by the usual methods. If business men would interest themselves in the primary elecinterest themselves in the primary elec-tions and see that good and responsible men are the party nominees, they would

A STAR CHAMBER MEETING. Business Men Secretly Discuss a

Citizens' Ticket. It was afterward learned that the meeting referred to was held in the board of trade rooms, with President Wyman presiding. I he affair was very quietly and secretly conducted, and none were aware of it except those expected to be present. It was impressed on the minds of those present that this was a gathering of business men, who held business above politics, and who had the interests or the city at heart. It was then represented that the city was going to the demnition bowwows as fast as a corrupt and extravagant council could urge it, and something must be done. A citizens' ticket, made up with-out regard to politics, was the only reasonable way out of it, and that was what the meeting was to consider. No definite action was taken, but every one present was urged to agitate this matter and work up sentiment. The meeting adjourned with the understanding that a second would be held at the call of the chairman.

SAMPLES OF SENTIMENT. What Men of Both Parties Thlnk of the Scheme.

A. N. Jordan, (Dem.)-A citizens ticket would be a big fraud, and would result, as it always does, in the Republicans catching a number of Democratic votes under false pretenses. It would be no more a citizens' ticket than the Democratic ticket would be.

I believe the present city council has conducted affairs with more economy than for some time past. When this council came into power there was not a ward in the city which was not in debt for public improgramments made to benefit for public improvements made to benefit speculators. Those debts have been paid to a large extent, which has left paid to a large extent, which has left some of the wards short of funds to pay for the necessary improvements required for the present year. and Eleventh Wards. The Tenth ward, up in the northern part of the city, has not been doing much shouting thus far during the campaign, but is now preparing to do its part at the coming election in making the Democratic ticket come out with colors flying. The ward has about 500 voters, and at the last election five of them voted the Prohibition ticket. This year there will be more votes than five cast for the temperance nominees in the Tenth ward. The ward has now one Democratic alderman, Oswald, and one Recratic alderman, Oswald, and one Republican, Reeves. The vote has always been very close in the ward, but there is little doubt that it will be changed this year, as the Tenth ward Democratic club, of which C. F. Baxter is president, is doing great missionary work. The club membership is already large and is steadily ground. large and is steadily growing.

There was a largely attended meeting of the club at the corner of Twenty-sixth avenue and Second street last evening, and a vast amount of enthusievening, and a vast amount of enthusiasm was manifested. C. F. Baxter called the meeting to order in a neat speech, and introduced D. B. Johnson, who made an eloquent addres, in which he dwelt upon the dead issues that are continually being brought up by the Republican orators. But in spite of all this talk, he said, Grover Cleveland has given the country the best administration it had ever had. Next the speaker took up the tariff and showed most conclusively how false and showed most conclusively now talse are the claims of the Republicans. John Byrnes followed with a speech, in which he outlines the policy of the Democratic party from its origin, and compared it with the g.o. p. The latter suffered by comparison. Mr. Byrnes made a number of telling points, which were well received. C. F. Baxter made the closing address, and it was a ringing one in every respect. ing one in every respect.

An enthusiastic meeting of enthusiastic Democrats was held at Tollefson's hall last night and an Eleventh Ward Cleveland and Thurman club organized with the following officers: President, Joseph Jepson; first vice president, Thomas Jones; second vice president, Ed Burke; secretary C. The next meeting will be held Aug. 3, when music and good tariff speeches will be the bill of fare.

Judges. SAN FRANCISCO, July 26 .- A mass meeting under the auspices of the various trades unions of this city was held in the Metropolitan temple last night, which was largely attended. Speeches were made attacking the course pursued by the United States judges in landing Chinese, and a me-morial was adopted declaring that every legal device was resorted to to evade the restriction law. The following was adopted:

CHICAGO, July 26 .- At 6:30 this morning, near the Sixteenth street crossing, Chicago & Eastern Illinois engine 28 ran into a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy freight train. Four cars of the were on the rear of the train, and that the accident was due entirely to carelessness of the "Q" men. A Grand Trunk passenger train on a parallel track to the Chicagh & Eastern Illinois came within a hair's breadth of being wreeked by the eventuaring action. wrecked by the overturning engine. The total damage is estimated at $10,000.

Wandered Away in Delirium. Special to the Globe.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26 .- The mysterious disappearance of Robert Roy, a prominent member of the French colony and teller in the Hibernia bank, caused a sensation yesterday. He injured the palm of his hand a fortnight ago and the wound gangrened. The pain made him delirious, and Tuesday night, while his attendant was dozing, he arrose from his bad, drossed himself he arose from his bed, dressed himself and wandered aimlessly about until found last night by his friends, who had been searching for him ever since his disappearance. He is clearly deranged, and will be closely watched hereafter. He seems to have suffered no injury from his average.

Special to the Globe. NEW YORK, July 26 .- Judge Van Brunt to-day granted Col. Ingersoll's motion for a permanent injunction against G. S. Fellows, restraining him from using the momorizing system invented by Prof. Loisette. This settles an important question of copyright law, and establishes the property of an inventor in his own ideas.

There may be a citizens' ticket, but there will be none representing the masses of both parties. Such tickets are not made in secret back office cabals, such as was held yesterday, nor have the people learned to look without suspicion on political schemes emanating from the board of trade. To command respect and win confidence, a citizens' ticket should be made of men out of politics, selected by representatives

The Committee Not Willing to

Tim and Pete Barrett, now at the county jail under sentence of death for murdering in cold blood Street Car Driver Tolefson, are still confident that their necks will never be encircled by the ropes, even if the supreme court does not grant the request for a new trial. Both men have been confident all along that something would turn up in their favor, and it would seem now that something has. A telegram to an evening paper, from Omaha, where Pete was captured, states that in an interview Mrs. Barrett, the mother of the boys, declared that the principal witness against the condemned boys was their brother Henry. She does not attempt to conceal her abhorrence of him and openly avows that he testified against them for some ulterior purpose of getting the reward offered by the state, and that he is a bad man. She states that since the states are states that since the states. She states that since the stay of execution an eye-witness to the murder, who fled the country just before the trial, has been found at New Orleans; that the Minneapolis authorities are ignorant of this fact; that he will be brought bels if a very trial is
