SAINLY CITY CHATTER.

Topics Discussed in Hotel Carloaders and Elsewhere. "The admission of Dakota," said Oliver Dalrymple, the bonanza farmer, "is now a forgone conclusion, and I am delighted at the prospect of seeing the territory accorded the rights of statehood. It will increase the value of property in the territory, insure a home rule government, and will give it a direct voice in the affairs of the nation. Admission as a division should be the policy of the United States as well as the policy of the territory, and I would favor changing the name of one of the new states. It has been suggested that the name of Lincoln should be given one part of the territory, whether the northern or southern division remains to be determined by congress. Such action would doubtless gratify not only the people of Dakota, but the United States as well, and would be a fitting tribute to one of the greatest characters in our history as a nation."

Deputy Coroner Gurney received the congratulations of his many friends yesterday upon the attainment of his thirty-fifth birthday. Dr. Gurney does not look to be over twenty-five years of age, and like good wine improves with time. When asked by a friend yesterday if he had not discovered the elixir of life, and participated therein, he resolutely admitted that such was the case. "I made it a rule since boyhood never to worry over anything," said he, "and I think I have been successful in staying off the ravages of time. In the thirty-five years of my life I have crowded a good half century of innocent and godly pleasures and joys of friends at joy over the simple blessing of a healthy, active life."

The most unexpected result observable in the wake of the election is the change produced in the appearance of the Clifton. Politicians no longer swarm about the corridors like bees in a clover field. The athletes in the gymnasiums have the breathe and think it all over. On the second floor the silent corridors bear mute witness to the changes which relentless time effects in all things earthly. The state secrets are now safely locked within the breasts of the Republican politicians who linger but in memory upon the field of their late triumphs, and in quiet solitude which now reigns supreme are nuttily contrasted to the bustle and confusion of a short while ago.

It seems to be an unwritten law of trade that when a man departs from his legitimate lines and encroaches on the field of others, he must meet his reward by finding slow sales for his transplanted wares. A well-known Third street druggist admitted yesterday that he had little demand for the cut glass bottles, manure, and other goods, which he carried; "but," said he, "I am obliged to keep them in stock, for there are but two drug houses in the country who continue to buy strictly to the sale of medicines. It is not legitimate for a druggist to keep fancy articles, but if a customer came in and asked for anything in that line, and he did not find it he would say that my stock was low, and would vow as he made a bee line for the establishment of a hated rival that he would never patronize me again."

Liberty Hall, an ex-Minnesotan, home now claiming Kansas City for his home, was at the Metropolitan last evening and talked over old times with Attorney General M. E. Clapp. Mr. Hall was a staunch bulwark of Republicanism in the lower house several years ago, and was a power in his district. As editor of the Glencoe Register he kept the boys well in line and made them walk in the straight and narrow path.

EXPERIMENTAL COMPANIES.

Insurance Commissioner Shandrew's Opinions on Doubtful Corporations.

State Insurance Commissioner Shandrew is taking a most decided stand against the operations of doubtful companies in the state. There is operating in this city a corporation entitled the Central Mutual Aid association at St. Paul. The object of this company is to provide medical attendance and a fixed weekly sum for members during sickness. It was granted a license to operate in January last. In August Mr. Shandrew requested an examination of the accounts of the association, and preferred charges with the attorney general for closing it out. In the language of the insurance commissioner, "they pleaded for time to straighten out matters. Instead of things improving, they have got worse, so today I have requested the attorney general to finally close it up. I am of the opinion that it is entirely unable to pay its liabilities or curiously expenses, and in the interests of the public I take this stand. The association is of the same character as the one I recently refused to license, and in consequence mandamus proceedings were commenced against the corporation. The decision in that action will be given in a few days, but if I am compelled to license it, I have no reason to expect it will do any more than to keep the same new closing out. All such schemes are nothing but experiments, and up to the present have invariably proved failures."

ANXIOUS PRISONERS.

Petitions for Pardons Inundate the Governor's Office.

With the gradual closing of his tenure of office, Gov. McGill is being almost inundated with applications for pardons to prisoners in the state penitentiary. All these applications must be carefully considered by the governor, and the work entailed is of the most laborious and tedious nature. In the first place, his excellency must consider the views of the judge, prosecuting counsel and of the jury in the case, and then the merits of the prisoner when he was convicted. If they agree to any degree the intervention of the governor's prerogative in the restoration of the convict's liberties, the governor has to inquire into the man's conduct while incarcerated, probably making a visit to the penitentiary for its purpose. Thus, at any time, the duty of granting a pardon is quite irksome, but is made doubly so when the applications come in by the score. It is a human nature ever again, to cling to the opinion that, at the close of the official year, a greater amount of leniency likely to be expected, while, furthermore, often happens that an outgoing official is more likely to understand the merits of the individual applicants than can be secured by his successor for many months. Hence, the anxiously penned epistles, which are just now constantly pouring into the executive department of the state.

A CHILD IN DISPUTE.

Mother and Grandmother Desire to Be Its Guardian.

Louisa Bowler, who, assisted by her husband, forcibly took possession of her child last Thursday, which was legally in the custody of her mother, Mrs. Ochs, is likely to be called upon to answer a charge of assault. No definite action has been decided upon by the supreme court, but the majority of the law will be vindicated as follows: Testimony will be taken by the clerk of the district court, often happens that an outgoing official is more likely to understand the merits of the individual applicants than can be secured by his successor for many months. Hence, the anxiously penned epistles, which are just now constantly pouring into the executive department of the state.

CARP BY THE CARLOAD

Brain Food Which Will Be Distributed Throughout the Northwest.

Annual Visitation of the U. S. Fish Commission's Representatives.

West St. Paul Chosen for the Location of the Ice Palace.

A Proposition Before Council to Heat the City With Steam.

Car I of the United States fish commission, loaded with a cargo of the finny tribe in embryo, reached the city yesterday morning and will remain until Monday. St. Paul is the distributing point for three states, and the car is loaded with carp, which will be sent to all appointments who have made their ways known through their congressional representatives in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Dakota. The party is under the supervision of Newton Simmons and C. E. Bowen, F. P. Hagaman and J. P. Baur, all experts, able assist in the labors of the chief, while the wants of the inner man are substantially looked after by J. P. Bowen.

A GLOBE reporter was cheerfully welcomed last evening, and the impromptu reception committee vied with each other to do the honors. "This is the season of the year," said Mr. Hogan as he lifted a cover off a tin pal and showed a dozen diminutive fish, "during which we make our distribution of carp, and we have on board the loveliest and seal varieties. On our next trip we will bring trout, then whitefish, and in the early spring shad. The whitefish, of course, are exclusively for the lakes, so we will not bring them into this territory. We send out twenty fish to each applicant, and in the course of two or three years they will multiply and increase abundantly. We have about 10,000 carp and a few goldfish on board now," said C. E. Lewis, "but when we started out we carried fully 30,000 carp. We have had abundant opportunity to get rid of them, however, having visited Columbus, O., Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City and Des Moines, and at each stopping place we disposed of a large quantity of our wares. Carp, though distinctly southern fish, live in this cold northern climate, and thrive amazingly, though it takes a longer time to attain their growth than it would in their native waters. They are, moreover, a river fish, and we place a few of them in the streams, beside supplying individual applicants."

"We have a consignment of 500 carp for the mayor of Mandan, Dak.," said J. P. Baur, as he took up the thread of conversation, "and he will see that they are distributed in the Knife, Cannon Ball and Big and Little Heart rivers. It takes time, of course, to successfully propagate and cultivate one of the staple varieties which we carry, but our efforts have thus far been covered with success, and we are happy accordingly."

THE SITE SELECTED.

Carnival Directors Will Outdo Previous Efforts.

The directors of the Carnival association selected a site for the ice palace yesterday, and decided to locate it on the West side on the right of the Washburn street bridge. The palace will be of the Norman style of architecture, and will cover a surface 300x250 feet, while the tower will be 130 feet above the ground. The maze will be 100 feet in diameter and the vista thirty feet wide and 200 long. A feature of this year's palace will be a ball room 80x150 feet. Artistic scenes will be realistically depicted, and will be toned off and have a heightened artistic effect by the methods employed in large panoramas. The entire palace will be built of Pickering granite, and the base of river ice, between 7,000 and 8,000 tons of ice will be used in the construction. The palace will be illuminated by thousands of lights, and in connection with the festivities, Paul will have the contract for fireworks incidental to the storming, and the pyrotechnic display will surpass all previous efforts.

DUMPING GARBAGE.

Matters Discussed by the Council Committee on Streets.

At the meeting of the council committee on streets last evening, the St. Paul Sanitation company, represented by Secretary Young, petitioned the council to amend, during the coming winter, that portion of their contract with the city which compels them to dump all offal and garbage one mile from the city limits. This garbage, during the past summer, has been hauled in barges down the Mississippi and dumped, a means of transportation which will soon be cut off. The company also asked the privilege of dumping in the river and on the ice at the old grounds in West St. Paul. The matter was referred to the council without recommendations.

W. M. Duffy, contracting freight agent of the St. Paul & Kansas City, James J. Moines, and W. G. Baker, soliciting freight agent of the St. Louis, Northern & Des Moines, are in St. Paul, on their way to the Pacific coast. D. C. Willoughby, of Paris, who is now in St. Paul visiting friends, comes with the idea of that country by the British Association of Scientists. The decoration in the shape of a medal, which was awarded for the discovery of a universal law of celestial mechanics by means of which it is possible to weigh celestial bodies, it is also shown by his last report that the Academie Française makes an honor of which it is possible to weigh celestial bodies.

A ROSEBUD COTILLION.

Barnard School Pupils Participate in a German.

An impromptu German given by the "High school boys" and some of their friends to the young ladies in their set at Barnard school last evening, was a pleasant affair, enjoyable as only the youth and high spirits of the participants in it could make such an event. The party was championed by Messrs. Alexander J. Stone and Drake, Misses Bunker, Katherine Dean, Newport and Fanny Smythe. The dance was led by Shepard Stone, who bids fair to rival even the young Newport as a leader of cotillions. The young ladies were all in pretty evening dress, and their girlish charms never showed to better advantage. The guests of the evening heroes, as displayed last night, is threatening to the popularity of the men who have grown up before them. The young people who were present at the German were Misses Minna Wanzel, L. Horn, Griggs, M. Smyth, Mabel Horn, Ruth Stickney, L. Day, A. Day, Vilas, Julia McClellan, Daisy Blaker, Ames, Charles H. Hall, F. Hoyt, M. Winslow, E. Cochran, Josie Kalman and George Dean; Messrs. Shepard, Stone, Bert Bigelow, C. Nichols, Hodge, Charles Pfandru.

TOO MUCH MONEY.

Proposed Return of Funds to the State.

An increased surplus! Such is the condition of the funds of the eleven correctional and charitable institutions of Minnesota. Taking the close of the biennial year in 1886, July 31, the surplus of funds appropriated for current expenses was $61,625.99. July 31 of this year the sum had increased to $92,216.35, or an actual gain of $30,590.36. Owing to the growing magnitude of the surplus, the state board of corrections and charities has decided upon recommending the legislature to alter the law governing these funds. If this is done, all unexpended appropriations after two years will revert back to the state treasury. Secretary Hart cordially recommends this action, believing it will be an economical step, as, with a large surplus to their credit, temptation is placed in the way of the various boards of managers to use it indiscriminately.

PASSED PLEASANT HOURS.

The Bethany Club Entertains Visitors Royal. Members of the Bethany club entertained, at their room in the Forepaugh block last evening, the young ladies of the People's church. The object, aside from a social time, was to organize a literary club composed of some of the members of the Bethany club and the young ladies of the church. The pretty club rooms were well filled. Cards, chess and other games were indulged in until a late hour. The new club will use the Bethany club rooms for their entertainments and the club officers present were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Helm, Miss J. D. Hess, O. D. Brown, Miss Bank, A. J. Briggs, Miss Torrence, Miss E. G. Hildreth, C. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Johnson, B. L. Byrton, E. E. Steidlon and George A. Williams.

Steam-Heated Passenger Trains on the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad.

The story as a means of heating cars on the New York Central & Hudson River railroad will be entirely accomplished.

During the past year the officials of the New York Central in charge of its passenger equipment have been actively employed in testing various devices for heating cars by means of steam, and direct heat from the locomotive, and have adopted a system combining the simplicity of construction and management with the most satisfactory results. A two-inch iron steam pipe runs under each of the cars, and is connected to the cars being made with a metallic joint and a sleeve. This main pipe connects with a system of pipes inside each car, one running in the shape of a car, with branch pipes extending under the seats. At the center of each of the interior pipes is a key by which the steam from the main pipes can be cut off, thus reducing the temperature of a single car without interfering with that of cars more distant from the locomotive, which is the source of the steam supply.

Since the advent of cold weather all the cars composing the trains known as the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Vestibule Limited, and the New York, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis Fast Express, besides a large number of the local trains running on the various parts of the road, have been successfully heated by this means.

All the drawing-room, sleeping and dining cars, passenger coaches, and the baggage, mail, express and postal cars in service on the line will be fully equipped with the steam-heating apparatus.
