MEN AND THINGS.

Joseph P. Costigan, of the Ryan, received official notification from Washington yesterday that his patent fishing reel was not a violation of the law from infringement, and in the future he may be regarded as a full-fledged inventor. Mr. Costigan has invented an automatic attachment winding the line in the drum of the reel by a shuttle movement. "I am enthusiastic about the future of my reel," said the emery Fulton last evening, "and every mail brings me offers from Eastern manufacturers who are anxious to buy my patent right."

W. M. Jones, assistant to the president of the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City, has a theory which, though possibly Utopian, may still be the entering wedge to the solution of the rate-cutting problem. "I am heartily in favor of legalizing pools," he said, "and think congress should pass an act which will give us a Western, Southwestern and Northwestern pool. Each of these three pools, however, should be separate, as the needs of one section of the country do not embody the desires of another. Let the interstate commerce commission be the high tribunal, and refer rate troubles to that body. All the roads lying within the territory of a certain pool could agree to a schedule of rates, and if they desired to raise or lower the existing tariff it would be necessary to give ninety days' notice to the interstate commerce commission. That would make the interstate commerce commission the center of the case, decide upon it favorably or adversely."

John S. Barnes has in his possession the banner cane which has shot athwart the St. Paul horizon for the purpose of agitating local swindlers. The stick is as thick and fully as heavy as the ordinary cane, and is made of black iron. Mr. Barnes intends presenting it to Aaron Popensey as a token of esteem, as well as to give him substantial evidence of the merits of the cane, as Mr. Barnes' Irish heritage, as the cane was grown on his farm near Belfast.

CAUGHT IN THE CORRIDORS.

There will be a civil service examination for carriers, clerks and stampers in the city postoffice before the local board of civil service examiners Feb. 5, 1889.

Adj. Gen. Mullen took charge of his department at the state capitol yesterday.

Capt. M. M. Trowbridge, Company G, Second regiment, has resigned his commission consequent upon his removal to Portland, Or. The resignation was accepted yesterday, it being the last official act of Adj. Gen. Seelye.

The railroad and warehouse commissioners will hold a meeting to-morrow, and will appoint their secretary. C. K. Teisberg, the present clerk, and T. M. Bixby, of Red Wing, are candidates. The appointment is subject to Gov. Merriam's approval. Judge Williams, the newly appointed commissioner, has not yet made his appearance at the state house.

Secretary Hart, of the charities and corrections board, was at Stillwater yesterday.

Gov. Merriam will complete the list of his appointments Wednesday.

SATURDAY SAYINGS.

Mayor Smith—I think the terms upon which Market hall has been rented for a theater are fair and equitable for all parties.

A. D. Warner—I have gone out of politics, and am devoting my time to the practice of law.

S. V. Harris—Business is picking up, for the traveling men are with us once again.

James Shea—I am still open for a championship match at pool, and will bar none.

James Rush—During the next two months the spring trade will keep us very employed.

George O. Somers—This bracing weather makes me sigh for an ice palace, and yearn for the sight of a carnival hostess.

James Kennedy—The citizens of this city should take steps towards the immediate building of a new theater. This is a large and growing city, and we need a place of amusement to replace the Grand.

C. T. Butler—I was astonished at the language which was bandied about the district court room Friday night, and seemed to me that it was an undignified way of transacting serious business.

A Pioneer Gone. Mrs. Mary Rose Stokes died at the residence of W. E. Cullen, in Alpena, Mont., on the 12th inst. She was the victim of an unfortunate accident during the holidays, having fallen down stairs and sustained serious injuries, and being advanced in years, was unable to recover from the shock and its effects.

She leaves many warm friends who will grieve to hear of her death. Mrs. Stokes was one of the early settlers of Alpena, and came from Franklin, Pa., in 1849. She left St. Paul for Alpena in 1867, and since that time has resided in that city.

NOTICE.

A Test of Circulation of the St. Paul Daily Papers.

I have made up my mind to test the benefits of the newspapers of St. Paul to my own satisfaction by means of the attached coupon, as each paper claims to have more readers and a wider circulation than its neighbor:

A COUPON. ST. PAUL, Jan. 28. I will accept this coupon as part payment to the amount of $8 on a lot of Men's $8 French Calf, Hand-Sewed Shoes, or as part payment to the amount of $1.50 on a line of Ladies' $5 Hand-Turned French Kid Boots. Good only on Jan. 28 and 29. [Signed] THE SHOE MAN, GLOBE, 386 and 388 Wabasha St.

This coupon may either be brought in person or sent by mail, with the same results. Every reader should cut out and bring it to Lovering's.

There was a typographical error in last night's Dispatch in not mentioning the price of the shoes the $8 coupon applied on, which will be corrected by them Monday next.

Mrs. T. H. Lyles Has removed her hair parlors to Grand opera house block, room 206, second floor. She is now prepared for dressing, cutting and shampooing. Take elevator.

The American Building and Loan Association of Minneapolis On Jan. 1 removed to its elegant quarters in the Bank of Commerce building.

The Northwest Implement Dealers Association will meet in convention at the Grand opera house, at St. Paul, Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 29 and 30. All retail implement dealers are earnestly requested to be present, as matters of much interest and great importance will come before the convention. Manufacturers and jobbers are cordially invited to be present on Wednesday, Jan. 30. There will be two sessions on each day, one at 10 o'clock a. m. and at 2 p. m. A very large attendance is expected.

A TEMPLE OF THE SPIS.

Negotiations Completed and Ground Purchased by a Wealthy Syndicate.

Destruction of the Grand Opera House a Blessing in Disguise.

Half a Million Dollars to Be Invested in a New Enterprise.

The City Council Comes to the Rescue of Amusement Lovers.

There has been considerable agitation in reference to a new opera house since the Grand was destroyed, and negotiations have been pending to secure a suitable site on which to erect a house commensurate with the needs of this city. These negotiations culminated last evening in securing a location and ample grounds for the erection of a opera house and arcade building on block 21, St. Paul Proper. The street railway company owns the westerly fifty feet of that block, extending from Fourth to Fifth streets, and now occupied by the Dickinson block. The street railway company owns 50x150 feet on Fourth street, and recently contracted for the purchase of 50x150 feet on Fifth street lying behind that which he already owned. The estate of W. F. Davidson owned 100 feet on Fourth street extending through to Fifth street, being lots 3 and 4 and 9 and 10, block 21, and also 25 feet fronting on Wabasha street and extending back 100 feet. All this property, comprising the Dickinson block, lots 3, 4, 5, 8, 9 and 10, and the 25 feet fronting on Wabasha, has been acquired by the syndicate, as shown by the following diagram:
