MEN OF MINNEAPOLIS.

The towering frame of Dave Blakely was seen upon the avenue yesterday, and by the way, there is a music festival in town.

Harry Payne is quoted as saying: "I have seen some strange sights in the course of my travels. In Mexico I traveled with a fellow who ate sheep with spices."

Judge Emery says that he will see a saloonkeeper convicted of keeping his place open on Sunday, and revoke his license.

The Boston Budget drops into verse concerning Louis L. Rosser as governor.

A dangerous man was he this Rosser? Col. Frank J. Mead, the latest candidate for literary honors, is reported to be writing a play by Marguerite de la Roche.

Manager Conklin says that with the more professional and successful theater managers in Minneapolis, the more he will advertise.

One by one our proud military idols are being forgotten. Captain Hartman, who served through the war as a member of Company D, First Minnesota Regiment, is no longer remembered.

There is something wrong about the month that does not see Judge Keen at the bar.

PHASES OF LIFE.

The force of habit was aptly illustrated in the criminal court Wednesday.

The commercial instinct among the younger fry is making itself manifest nowadays in the creation of amateur lemonade stands.

Probably no one who has not tried it understands the labor of preparing a speech.

Of all the gentlemen who have consented of late years to identify themselves with this organization, no one has done more than a conscientious job of amalgamation than Frank M. Nye.

The section on gynecology had before it a number of papers, the mere naming of which would bring an acute backache to the heads of the audience.

Other papers on surgical topics, "Benign Neoplasms in the Larynx," by Dr. W. S. Loring, "A Case of the Larynx," by Dr. J. W. McDonald, "A Case of Amputation Below the Knee," by Dr. Mary S. Whitstone.

MNESOTA MEDICS.

The Regular Annual Meeting of the State Medical Association.

Brief Review of the Society's Work for Twenty Years by Dr. Wheaton.

Forty-Third Annual of the American Institute of Homeopathy.

A Monument Site on the Field of Gettysburg Chosen by Judge Lochren.

The State aggregation of sawbones, a wise, bewickered and spectacled set of men, in its annual session at the West hotel.

The State Medical Association is the legal name of the society. It comprises nearly all the representative physicians of the old school in the state.

It is a good-looking body, the session began yesterday morning with prayer by Rev. C. F. Thwing, followed by an address of welcome by Bishop Fitzgerald.

The bishop made some humorous allusion to his long residence here and his fitness and incidentally called upon the speaker of the proverbial modesty of the city that prevented her praising herself.

But for the doctors, they could not be so proud. Mixing in a happy manner wit and wisdom, the bishop succeeded in making the medics feel quite at home, and though none of them offered to cut up the physician.

It was not until the evening that a warm feeling for him. The reading of the minutes, roll call, and the appointment of committees occupied a few minutes, and then Dr. Wheaton, the state president, read his annual address.

He reviewed briefly the work of the society in its twenty years of existence, and incidentally called upon the society to awake from its lethargy.

No less than nine bills to cripple the present medical board set were introduced at the last session of the legislature, from which he judged that the society would do well to watch the legislature, especially the bills to amend the medical board.

Dr. H. A. Jones, of the Nationalities, E. J. Abbott, J. Ohage, J. W. McDonald, W. A. Jones, G. Marcellus, R. L. Moore, C. Dampier, Dr. Dodge, W. S. Loring, and other members, Dr. Sweeney, Dr. J. H. Dunn and Dr. Blackman.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION was devoted to the chairman of department of sections; that on surgery in the ladies' ordinary was presided over by Dr. W. J. Mayo of Rochester; that on gynecology in the club room being presided over by Dr. E. Jones.

The surgery section discussed such subjects as "Prostatitis Hypertrophy," "Surgical Treatment of Inflammatory Stenosis of the Uterus," "Gastric Cancer," "The Foot," "Pneumonia of the Lung," and others equally interesting.

The doctors talked well, and did not agree to amend the medical board. The discussion, the more spicy, and weird applause occasionally greeted a brother who had floored an opponent with a good lecture.

THE CRY OF E. AND R. That or Something Else Helps Sell Bonds. Acting City Comptroller Rogers, with Deputy Treasurer Modisette and members of the council committee on ways and means, opened bids yesterday for the $100,000 worth of bonds to be sold for the benefit of the city.

There were nine bids, ranging from 1/4 to 2/3 per cent premium. The highest bid was that of Brewster, Cobb & Eastor, $102,830 and interest on the $100,000. The committee decided to recommend the acceptance of that bid.

This is the highest point on the market for municipal bonds. The best reached at the last year 1 1/2 per cent higher than the nearly 1 1/2 a few weeks ago.

AGAINST FINNEGAN. Judge Smith Gives a Decision in One of Fourteen Cases—Court Cuttings. Judge Smith rendered a decision for C. J. Bolrogen in his action against Andrew J. Finnegan, and the case of Cummings against Finnegan was continued ten days.

The other thirteen plaintiffs feel quite confident that this decision virtually gives them clear title to the land, which Finnegan will probably contest them.

DISTRICT COURT BRIEFS. Action Magee is the fifteenth plaintiff in action against Andrew J. Finnegan, and the case of Cummings against Finnegan was continued ten days.

A CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

To Bring the Christian Endeavor Convention Here.

George L. Hughes, president of the Minneapolis Christian Endeavor Union, writes to the GLOBE urging the necessity of a large attendance at a mass meeting to be held Monday evening, July 2, at Philadelphia, Minnesota, and St. Louis to be held from 8 to 10 and a grand ball to be held from 10 to 12.

The number of delegates is limited only by the amount of money raised to pay their expenses. The Christian Endeavor societies of the Quaker City, and would like to get enough outside aid to enable them to have a representation of seventy-five or even one hundred delegates.

Another notable event will be the regatta by the Minnetonka Yacht club on Wednesday.

On Friday a large delegation will start an excursion to Yellowstone park.

A SMALL ATTENDANCE

At the Board of Trade Meeting, So It Adjourns Without Indorsing the New Cable Scheme.

The special meeting of the board of trade yesterday morning, to consider the report of its committee indorsing the granting of a franchise to Anderson, Douglass & Co. for their cable line system, was for some reason very poorly attended.

President Wyman even was not present, and after a considerable waiting H. G. O. Morrison was called to the chair. Mr. Stoeckl immediately moved that the board adjourn, subject to the call of the president, as he thought the matter under consideration was too important to be voted on after midnight.

Mixing in a happy manner wit and wisdom, the bishop succeeded in making the medics feel quite at home, and though none of them offered to cut up the physician.

CHEERFUL GIFTS.

The Methodists Give Largely for a Mission House.

At yesterday's meeting of the M. E. Social Union at the Hennepin Avenue M. E. church, Rev. R. N. McKaig announced that H. J. Harrison had offered to give $5,000 toward the purchase of a site for the proposed central mission, provided others would make up the full amount needed.

Joseph Dean immediately made it an even $10,000, and Rev. David Tice subscribed $1,000 in property. J. H. Nelson put in $1,000 in cash, and several others guaranteed sums varying from $200 to $50, and making nearly $15,000 in all.

After the committee was appointed to look after details to be done and select the site, which is expected to be in the central or lower part of the city. The building will cost about $75,000. The committee met Tuesday at the Security bank.

TO HONOR THE BRAVE. A Monument Site Chosen by Judge Lochren on the Field of Gettysburg.

Judge Lochren returned yesterday from Gettysburg, where he has been in company with Maj. Jeff Maginnis, of Minneapolis, and Maj. Maginnis, of Helena, Mont., to choose the spot on which should stand the monument to mark the principal point of engagement at the battle of Gettysburg.

After three days of visiting the old ground of struggle the committee chose a point on Hancock avenue near the place where the first retreat occurred on the second day. There will probably also be a marker erected on the location of the third day's charge, where are about twenty-five of the First Minnesota buried on this latter field.
