

MINNEAPOLIS.

Additional City News on Page 5.

ALL SORTS.

The board of trade is just the same old huster that it was a year ago. The Minnesota bridge matter has been twice postponed and yesterday morning it was put off two weeks longer, and in the meantime an attorney will ascertain whether there is anything to make a fuss about. The bridge will be finished in three weeks.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

The board of trade is just the same old huster that it was a year ago. The Minnesota bridge matter has been twice postponed and yesterday morning it was put off two weeks longer, and in the meantime an attorney will ascertain whether there is anything to make a fuss about. The bridge will be finished in three weeks.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

The board of trade is just the same old huster that it was a year ago. The Minnesota bridge matter has been twice postponed and yesterday morning it was put off two weeks longer, and in the meantime an attorney will ascertain whether there is anything to make a fuss about. The bridge will be finished in three weeks.

HIT AND MISS.

The New York bankers are to give Secretary Windom a banquet next month. Joel P. Heatwole says he does not expect an invitation.

THE CHICAGO HERALD.

The Chicago Herald says the work which elected the Democratic ticket in Iowa was done by the candidate who shouldn't do it when their candidate for governor was one of the Boies?

A RISING YOUNG JOURNALIST.

A rising young journalist created a scene at breakfast yesterday morning in a fashionable Minneapolis boarding house. Having occasion to use his handkerchief, he undertook to pull it out of his pocket. When it came to light it proved to be a white socking about a yard long.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD.

It is understood that there is about to be placed upon the shelves of a new book, entitled "Gibbons' Room." While the title sounds familiar, a glance at the preface shows that instead of dealing with the grand old historic empire, it pictures most forcibly a vivid prospect of the rise and fall of "Leland Gibbons," the coming winter, and denounces in loudest terms Salt Lake City as a health resort and urges the necessity of people staying longer.

THE "MERRY GRIP."

Among other things this introduction says: "That 'dial' whose only recognition is a breath of life is to be regarded as the fact that it once carried the 'merry grip' and dosed spices and peppers with Lyndale avenue sand in preference to being sent to the workhouse. It doesn't try to gain a standing among 'my people' with his 'petrified foot,' why, then, after being subjected to a criminal act of writing this book, I will be desperate enough to do any thing. He may therefore expect to see his lie's countenance appear in a Turkish bath sweat suit 'a marker.'"

THE AUTHOR'S NAME.

The author's name reads "Leland Gibbons," but the name of the original author, who wrote the original of the above-named publication, according to Charles Parker, of the Grand opera house.

STRANGE THINGS HAPPEN.

Some time ago a young married man who likes to see his name mentioned in the society columns of the newspapers, and whose aim in life is to be regarded as the leader of swiftdom, gave a theater party. Of course, the society editors were duly apprised of the fact, and the next morning the newspapers chronicled the event. After the show the party were taken to the home of the swell and sat down to a sumptuous repast. Every body was talking and talking something about I had decided him my property, I referred to the surplus of the proceeds of the notes were paid. I wanted something to show that the balance would be coming to me.

"I PAID IN CASH."

"I paid in cash about $7.00 on the Merriam Park note, and Jan cannot tell from my schedule how many of the notes were original ones and how many were renewals. I have no means of knowing the late date of the Chamberlain paper is out except by this schedule. I received a great many notices of protest prior to the commencement of the trial but they always fitted the schedule. The note dated April 9 and due Aug. 9, which is not on the schedule, may be one of the notes of the Dean boys, but I am not sure of it.

"I WENT TO THE OFFICE OF EUSTIS BROTHERS."

"I went to the office of Eustis Brothers to avoid publicity, and I stayed that night at Mr. Deane's. I do not recollect that I told Detective Rice at Davis & Farnham's office or at Rupert's that some were dated on a grave, and that I was talking to much. Aug. 1 was again at the office of Eustis Brothers, in charge of the Detective, and on the occasion I told Mr. Chamberlain that I was talking to much."

"THIS ENDED THE CROSS-EXAMINATION."

"This ended the cross-examination for the time being, and on the redress examination the witness said that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

"I AM NOT SURE OF IT."

"I am not sure of it. The witness testified that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

"THE COURT THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL 2 P. M."

The court then adjourned until 2 p. m. The witness testified that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

"THE COURT THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL 2 P. M."

The court then adjourned until 2 p. m. The witness testified that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

"THE COURT THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL 2 P. M."

The court then adjourned until 2 p. m. The witness testified that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

"THE COURT THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL 2 P. M."

The court then adjourned until 2 p. m. The witness testified that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

"THE COURT THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL 2 P. M."

The court then adjourned until 2 p. m. The witness testified that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

"THE COURT THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL 2 P. M."

The court then adjourned until 2 p. m. The witness testified that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

"THE COURT THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL 2 P. M."

The court then adjourned until 2 p. m. The witness testified that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

"THE COURT THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL 2 P. M."

The court then adjourned until 2 p. m. The witness testified that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

"THE COURT THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL 2 P. M."

The court then adjourned until 2 p. m. The witness testified that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

"THE COURT THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL 2 P. M."

The court then adjourned until 2 p. m. The witness testified that he had heard that he was accused of forgery before he made his confession, but that he had no attempt to hide the fact. The court then adjourned until 2 p. m.

WHERE WAS BLAISDELL BETWEEN 11 AND 12 A. M. ON FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1899?

That is the question on which the Fate of J. Frank Colman Hangs.

THE DEFENSE SAYS THAT IS THE TIME WHEN BLAISDELL INDORES EXHIBIT A.

Sensational Evidence in Rebuttal Promised by the Prosecution.

The third week of the Colman trial opened yesterday to a crowded house. The issues are narrowing down to a simple question. The note in dispute, the defendant says, was made on June 28, 1899, and dated June 29, to be used in taking up a note due on the last named date. After the defendant was dismissed from the stand his counsel desired nearly all of the remainder of the day to an effort to prove that Mr. Blaisdell was in the office of the defendant on Friday, June 28, 1899, at which time he indorsed some notes, among which is the one in dispute.

In all probability the defense will rest its case to-day, and the state will enter upon the rebuttal.

It is likely to be a day of sensational developments, and those who want front seats should go early.

MORE OF COLLOM.

The Defendant on the Stand Again Yesterday.

As soon as the court opened Colman again took the stand, and his cross-examination by Mr. Wellington was resumed. The witness said:

"I left the city on July 4 and returned about July 21. As near as I can recollect Mr. Blaisdell indorsed twelve notes on July 3, the day before I went away. I do not remember whether he indorsed them on July 4 or on July 3, and which I did not use for renewals. I gave to Mr. Schutte, except one, which I left with Mr. W. Clark, investment company. The Dean boys held some of these notes. I do not remember whether any were made payable to John Schutte or not. The notes included in his assignment, and pointed out those which he thought were signed on July 3. He undertook to explain why one note, which, he said, was held by the Dean boys, was dated July 5, and which was not indorsed by Mr. Blaisdell. He said that he had written to stop him after Mr. Wellington had objected.

Judge Hooker said: "Mr. Colman, I now wish to ask you a number of questions which will confine your answers to the questions which are asked you in the future. The witness begged the pardon of the court and proceeded. He said:

"The schedule which I made on my assignment including the notes indorsed for by Mr. Blaisdell from April 3 to July 3, 1899. The difference between the dates given in the schedule and the actual dates of the notes is partially due to the days of grace, and also to the intervention of Sundays. I cannot remember the names of the security bank were all payable to F. A. Chamberlain, the cashier."

Being asked whether or not one note for $2,000, dated July 3, payable to Julius Schutte, on which he had received notice of protest on Sunday, he said he didn't know as he had not seen the statement which I gave Mr. Farnham on Aug. 6 and this schedule."

"Neither Blaisdell nor Anderson made any report to me as to the result of my confession on the creditors. When Blaisdell asked me what the matter was, I supposed he knew I was suffering and wanted the money. I don't know if I told him that I had sacrificed my honor, my wife and my family to save his credit, but I know that I did so. I know that Schutte got no satisfaction out of Chamberlain on Monday morning.

"After the trial of Anderson of wanting something back after I had decided him my property, I referred to the surplus of the proceeds of the notes were paid. I wanted something to show that the balance would be coming to me.

"I paid in cash about $7.00 on the Merriam Park note, and Jan cannot tell from my schedule how many of the notes were original ones and how many were renewals. I have no means of knowing the late date of the Chamberlain paper is out except by this schedule. I received a great many notices of protest prior to the commencement of the trial but they always fitted the schedule. The note dated April 9 and due Aug. 9, which is not on the schedule, may be one of the notes of the Dean boys, but I am not sure of it.

IT WAS AN ERROR.

John E. Mullaney Did Not Turn His Father Into the Street.

The statement made in the GLOBE on Sunday morning that John E. Mullaney had turned his father, John Mullaney, and turned him into the street, was based on erroneous information. The suit, which was commenced by the father to set aside the deed which gave his son the home of the late Mullaney, was a violation of the contract which the son made to take care of his father, but on the ground that the old man's second wife had died, and Mrs. J. E. Mullaney occupied the house when her father-in-law died, and gave him every necessary attention. It was the intention of the court to set aside the deed which placed him in a false light before the public.

WILL ADOPT A STANDARD.

Knights of the Razor Meet and Form a Union.

About seventy-five tonsorial artists met in Frya hall last evening to formulate some plan by which the standard of prices would be kept up. W. P. Lohamer was chosen chairman of the meeting, and H. B. Chapman was appointed secretary. Mr. Lohamer stated that the object of the meeting was to form a union for self-protection. In all large cities there were barbers who were these organizations fixed the standard of prices. In Minneapolis prices have been slaughtered by some of the shops and many incompetent men employed. It was the intention of the union to include every barber in Minneapolis in the union, and the speaker said if all the barbers in the city would join it and live up to the standard agreed upon, the wages of the men as well as the income of the bosses would be increased.

TESTIMONY THAT BLAISDELL WAS IN COLLOM'S OFFICE JUNE 28.

J. A. Pool, of the real estate firm of Pool & Francis, of Minneapolis, was called and sworn. He testified that he was in ColloM's office Friday, June 28, between 11 and 12 o'clock m., closing up a deal with the defendant for twenty-seven acres of land at Merriam Park; that P. T. Jackson, of St. Paul, was there; that he knew ColloM and had known Blaisdell for two years. He said that he was in ColloM's office when Blaisdell came to the office; that ColloM told Blaisdell to step into the other room, took some notes and a pen from his desk, went into the room where Blaisdell was; returned in a few minutes with some promissory notes, and handed them back with Mr. Blaisdell's name and threw them down on the desk. He said he knew it was June 28, because on June 27 he had made a contract with ColloM and had agreed to meet him and Jackson at ColloM's office on the following day. He said that he was in ColloM's office with Jackson on the next day, which was Saturday, and also on the following Monday.

AMUSEMENTS.

Victoria Vokes, "The Old Homestead" and "McCarthy's Mishaps."

It has been a long time since theatergoers of this city have enjoyed so rich treat as was given them at the Grand opera house. While the attendance did not reach the house was very good, considering the weather, but not better than the attraction warranted.

The Vokes family has long been recognized as among the better class of comedians, and the Grand opera last evening, compared most favorably with her imitable and charming partner, Richard, James Jacy and Arma J. Westcott, Chase E. Bennett and Jennie M. Matthews. Andrew M. Hanson and Ellen O. Pearson, Olga Johnson and Elizabeth L. Jewett, John A. Robinson and Anna Anderson, George E. Morrison and Edith Munson.

Ed. Gov. Pillsbury confirms about all that has been printed in a former issue of the Globe. He says that the consideration of the flour mills. The consideration is over $8,000,000. The details of the matter are yet to be arranged.

Mr. Pillsbury thinks it will be in charge before the first payment on it. He also says that the company will undoubtedly make improvements in the water power, and that the company will be beneficial to the city.

The shipments of Montana cattle to the Minnesota stock yards at Minneapolis, and then the apply will be received from the southwest. Hog shipments will also be increased. The business during the winter of 1900 has been better than for some time. There are 250 cattle, hogs and sheep a day, and these have been used in the Twin Cities. Herring-catchers will be busy soon, and then other side shipments will begin.

LOCAL MENTION.

Get Ready for a Cold Winter. Here's your chance to save time and money. Grand discount dry goods sale at retail. For one week only, at the Blue Front store, 427 Washington avenue south. It is honest and fair, no cheating, no bogus bargains, no stock of fire sales of shoddy trash, but a reliable bargain sale for the people of $25,000 worth of seasonal goods.

A well-to-do citizen greeted the first production of "The Old Homestead" at the Minneapolis Harris theater last night, and he told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

workhouse from $30 to $40 per month. An extra month's pay was awarded to the elevator men at the city hall.

Expert Tailor, who testified for the state in the ColloM case, returned yesterday from Chicago. He was on the prosecution on Saturday in the Cronin case, and swore that the stains found on chips taken from the floor of the Carlson cottage were those of a human blood.

The parish of the Immaculate Conception is to be developed a number of weeks. A new church will be built near the Holy Rosary church building on Fifth street south, and will cost $150,000.

Marriage licenses were granted yesterday to Truman W. Herrick and Mary Marzola, Robert H. Hawley and Ida J. Arto, Victor Jacobson and Emma Baril, James Jacy and Jennie M. Matthews, Andrew M. Hanson and Ellen O. Pearson, Olga Johnson and Elizabeth L. Jewett, John A. Robinson and Anna Anderson, George E. Morrison and Edith Munson.

Ed. Gov. Pillsbury confirms about all that has been printed in a former issue of the Globe. He says that the consideration of the flour mills. The consideration is over $8,000,000. The details of the matter are yet to be arranged.

Mr. Pillsbury thinks it will be in charge before the first payment on it. He also says that the company will undoubtedly make improvements in the water power, and that the company will be beneficial to the city.

The shipments of Montana cattle to the Minnesota stock yards at Minneapolis, and then the apply will be received from the southwest. Hog shipments will also be increased. The business during the winter of 1900 has been better than for some time. There are 250 cattle, hogs and sheep a day, and these have been used in the Twin Cities. Herring-catchers will be busy soon, and then other side shipments will begin.

LOCAL MENTION.

Get Ready for a Cold Winter. Here's your chance to save time and money. Grand discount dry goods sale at retail. For one week only, at the Blue Front store, 427 Washington avenue south. It is honest and fair, no cheating, no bogus bargains, no stock of fire sales of shoddy trash, but a reliable bargain sale for the people of $25,000 worth of seasonal goods.

A well-to-do citizen greeted the first production of "The Old Homestead" at the Minneapolis Harris theater last night, and he told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is the best thing he has ever seen. The play is similar to Denham Thompson's other great success, "Joshua Whitcomb," and is a masterpiece of the dramatic art.

The witness said he did not think that he had told John S. Mullaney, who is the author of the play, that it is