

SAINT PAUL.

Additional City News on Pages 3 and 4.

IN DAYS-GONE-BY.

A. R. Caphart presided over the Postmaster Lee sold dry goods. John B. Baker ran a milk wagon. Mike Kain was a roasting printer. Joe Spill kept a big grocery store. Capt. Wood was a newspaper reporter. C. Tyson Butcher sold crackers on the coast. James J. Hill was a dock laborer at $1.50 a day. Baz Armstrong edited a newspaper in Ohio. County Assessor Harroun set type for a living. Ed Hilton was a performer on the vaudeville stage. Dennis Ryan handled a pick-axe in Colorado mines. George Thompson solicited "bals" for a St. Paul weekly. Pat Kavanaugh peddled notions from house to house. Marshall Campbell sold agricultural implements for a living. F. D. W. Neussel put in his time behind a dry goods counter. Simons, the jeweler, managed a variety theater on seventh street. Capt. George Hays was a roustabout in the merchant marine service. Deputy Sheriff Giberson was a wholesale wine merchant in Montreal. Manager Scott was ticket agent for the St. Louis & St. Paul Packet company.

THE HATS IN A WEAR.

Charles Petch always wears a plaid. John Ives wears every style of hats. Ald. Cullen always wears a black derby. Tom Prosenstater wears a big slouch hat. Judge Brill wears a black derby invariably. John Scott is never without his sleek silk top. Postmaster Lee seldom wears but a silk plaid. Dick Murnane shows a partiality for Federal. Henry Johns never wears anything but a shiny top. John O'Connor has an assorted collection of derbies. John S. Davidson wears a white plug the year round. Josiah Wilkin covers his long gray hair with a derby. C. J. Monfort hides his baldness under a shiny silk drier. Col. Weitz never thinks of wearing anything but a shiny plug. Dr. Day's cream colored beaver is a familiar object of the town. William Pitt's ruffled silk drier is familiar to everybody. Mayor Smith always wears a broad-brimmed slouch hat. Marshal Campbell never wears anything but a broad-brimmed slouch hat. Dick O'Connor would look natural wearing anything except a black derby, but on state occasions he flashes a silk plug. Justice Egan has a weakness for crush hats; but he wears a silk when he dresses up.

JUST FROM KAW TOWN.

A Long-Headed Kansas Cityite Finding Up the Twining Word for a Prominent Minneapolis Concern.

A middle-aged, shrewd-looking man of the world sat in the lobby of the Merchants' yesterday, quietly smoking an after-dinner cigar. He looked like he might have something interesting to say; so a reporter drifted gracefully up alongside and inserted one of the large-sized interrogation points which daily papers keep in stock into the stranger's left ear. The owner of said ear proved to be E. A. Hildebrand, a former banker of Kansas, but now a heavy real estate holder and associate of Kansas City. Mr. Hildebrand is giving the Twining Cities a thorough sizing up, with a possible investment in view. "I have been over to Menominee looking into the affairs of the American Building and Loan association," said he, in the course of the conversation. "Until a short time ago I was president of a local board in a Kansas town, and am still interested to some extent. Hearing of the numerous 'troups' of the other side, the officers were very courteous and obliging, and gave me all the information I sought and much more that was useful, and I do not hesitate now to say that the Association's affairs are conducted in a square, business-like manner. And its business is enormous. My own interest is not heavy, but quite a number of my Kansas friends have invested, and they will give me assurance that everything is all right, and all we want is a good ticket, nominated by the next convention. Either of the Wilsons will satisfy us, and I think most Democrats of the Fifth district."

"Who will be our nominee for congressman next year?" he asked. "Well, I shouldn't be surprised if Farmer Canning was selected. The Fifth district is composed of farmers and stock raisers, and they are getting very uneasy in our section and only want a chance to kick over the traces. Canning made a great campaign last year, and for it he has been the presidential election excitement would undoubtedly have defeated Constock. Take it in our county, for example, Canning ran over 1,100 ahead of Constock, and would have carried the county had it not been for the way in which the boss whipped their men into line. You may remember Halvor E. Boen, a prominent farmer's ally, who was nominated by the Republican farmers of the county for register of deeds. Up to the time that Boen received that Republican nomination he was for Canning, and like Gen. Barrett, Senator Hixon, R. J. Hall, and other representatives of that element of the Republican party, was pledged to stand by Charles Canning. This caused the Republican leaders to suspect his loyalty, and he was told to get out of the county, and he fled to the straight Republican ticket he would be defeated for register of deeds. The same operation was performed throughout the district, and that's how Canning was defeated."

A NEW BOARD OF TRADE.

Organized at the Transfer to Harmonize Various Interests. A well-attended meeting, in which the principal business establishments of the Midway district were amply represented, was held at the office of C. H. Pratt, in St. Anthony Park, last evening, for the purpose of organizing and harmonizing the industrial and commercial interests which surround the Minnesota Transfer. The superior advantages which the Minnesota Transfer should afford to all classes of shippers, as well as the few obstacles which at present exist, are the subject which occupied the attention of all present, and after a full discussion of the matter it was unanimously resolved that the time has come when the large and varied industrial interests of the Midway district should be organized and harmonized by a business and industrial association was unanimously adopted. A rough draft of articles of incorporation and by-laws was presented to the meeting, and was adopted as expressive of the object desired, but referred to a committee of five for revision. This committee was instructed to receive and present at the next meeting a complete set of articles of incorporation and by-laws, and to join the organization. Any business man, in either St. Paul or Minneapolis, is eligible to membership upon paying a fee of $10, and the organization will be known as the Minnesota Transfer Board of Trade. The committee to revise the articles of incorporation and by-laws consists of C. H. Pratt, president of the St. Anthony Park company; G. W. Crane, of St. Anthony Park; H. O. Hall, of the

THE PAIR OF WILSONS.

Both Eugene and Tom Are Prime Favorites With Democrats.

In Case the Winona Statesman Runs for Congress Next Year,

Senator Tom Bowen Favors the Renomination of the Minneapolisian.

Some Fifth District Expressions Caught on the Fly, as It Were.

"Who will be the Democratic nominee for governor next year?" the question I propounded to Senator Tom Bowen, the fire-eating editor from Brown county, when I accidentally ran across him in the lobby of the Merchants' yesterday.

"I would like to see Wilson, of Winona, nominated," he replied; "but it seems as though his services would be required in the contest against Dunnell next year in the First district. There seems to be an opinion quite general among the people of this district that he can defeat Dunnell next year, and if he can do so he ought to be renominated."

"In that event whom would you suggest and favor?" I asked with considerable interest, aroused no doubt by the enthusiastic way Senator Tom has of talking politics to a fellow Democrat. "Eugene Wilson," he replied. "Mr. Wilson made a splendid campaign last year ago, and in any other year would undoubtedly have been elected. He is a splendid man and makes a fine figure in the midst of the stump. We had the best managed campaign I have ever known. There were a number of fine managers on that side of the committee, and they were all successful. I think they will be successful in their successors will do as well next year."

"To change the subject," continued Editor Bowen, "I want to say that I like the way that man Gov. Toole, of Montana, takes hold of the reins of the would steal that state. He certainly has plenty of nerve, and I think that the senators from Montana will be Democrats without a doubt. President Harrison and his administration have about all they can carry now, and will be chary of assuming any heavier load."

The Fifth district Republicans, too, are now growling over Gov. Merriam's course, and it will require considerable ready cash to secure many Merriam delegates from that section next year. Yesterday, as I was lounging in the lobby of the Merchants', I happened to meet one of the most influential of the Scandinavian Republican leaders of the Northwest and central portions of the district, whose name is withheld for obvious reasons, and to say that he was feeling "sooty" is to put it mildly, indeed.

"Starting from St. Cloud and going north one can count all the Merriam papers, he can find on the fingers of one hand," he remarked. "The governor's appointments have not been satisfactory at all," he continued, "and the people are not exactly bubbling over with enthusiasm for the present state administration."

"How does Kne Nelson feel, and what will he do next year?" was the question I took occasion to ask. "Nelson says that he is out of politics, and I am sometimes inclined to believe that he means what he says," was the reply.

James F. Cowie, a prominent and rising young Democratic lawyer of Perusse Falls, was an authority on the other side of the fence from the Republican side. Mr. Cowie was the chairman of the Democratic county committee of Otter Tail county last year, and has since been elected to the office of county clerk. He is a former local Democratic lights, succeeded in running Eugene Wilson about 1,300 votes ahead of the ticket.

"Had the balance of the state done as well as we did in old Otter Tail it would be Gov. Wilson now instead of Gov. Merriam," remarked Mr. Cowie, with a reminiscent sort of look upon his countenance. "But few though we are, we are the least bit disgruntled, and all we want is a good ticket, nominated by the next convention. Either of the Wilsons will satisfy us, and I think most Democrats of the Fifth district."

"Who will be our nominee for congressman next year?" he asked. "Well, I shouldn't be surprised if Farmer Canning was selected. The Fifth district is composed of farmers and stock raisers, and they are getting very uneasy in our section and only want a chance to kick over the traces. Canning made a great campaign last year, and for it he has been the presidential election excitement would undoubtedly have defeated Constock. Up to the time that Boen received that Republican nomination he was for Canning, and like Gen. Barrett, Senator Hixon, R. J. St. Anthony Park Furniture company; D. F. Brooks, of the firm of Brooks Bros., lumbermen, Merriam Park, and Ed A. Faradis, of the Midway News. The committee will hold a meeting at Mr. Pratt's office Monday at 3:45 o'clock, and the Minnesota Transfer Board of Trade will complete its organization with a large and influential membership, at the office of the St. Anthony Park Furniture company on Friday evening, Nov. 28, at which all parties interested are invited. The membership now pledged assures the success of the organization.

DEAN'S LITTLE ROMANCE.

In Negotiating for a Bill Board He Secured a Bride.

Walter B. Dean, the popular manager of the Harris theater, was married Thursday morning last to Miss Anna Fink, daughter of the late Max Fink, at the Assumption church in Minneapolis. Rev. Father McGorick officiated, and celebrated mass at 8:30 in the morning. The ceremony was quiet, and witnessed only by a few friends of the contracting parties, among them Thomas J. Brady and Robert Fraser, who did the honors as best men. After the ceremony Mr.

WALTER B. DEAN.

and Mrs. Dean were escorted to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Koch, 601 Nineteenth avenue south, where a wedding breakfast was indulged in and the scene enacted which makes of Mr. Dean's episode, a palatable romance. Mr. Dean came here from Baltimore last August, when Mr. Harris assumed control of the People's theater. A social and popular young man in the East, he soon elevated himself with the esteem and respect of prominent people here. One day while directing his help to look for good available advertising space, he was attracted to an inviting space on a house situated across the street from the theater. Anxious to secure it, he ventured upon the premises, and, meeting an aged lady, inquired if she would grant the privilege. The lady referred him to her eldest daughter.

MISS DEAN.

The deal, before it was consummated, necessitated a daily call by Mr. Dean for a period of a week, after which all was settled, and the site secured. A natural affinity, Miss Fink's wonderful beauty and accomplishments, and the gallantry of the charming young opera house manager soon created a mutual interest, soon ripening into an incandescent love. Mrs. Fink thought it well to relate a number of incidents for the present state administration.

WITNESSES WANTED.

And Ten Days Given the Montreal Bank to Produce Them.

At the hearing of Frank X. Quesnel before Commissioner Spencer yesterday the prisoner was represented by Henry Johns and A. E. Hawes, while Cyrus Wellington appeared in behalf of La Banque Jacques Cartier. The appearance of counsel on behalf of Quesnel, it is understood, had been determined to fight extradition proceedings, and Mr. Wellington therefore asked for a continuance of ten days so as to give the Canadian bank time in which to send to St. Paul the witnesses necessary to secure the extradition of Quesnel. Commissioner Spencer granted the continuance and admitted the prisoner to bail in the sum of $2,000. M. de Martigny has sent for the man whose name Quesnel is charged with forging, and also for the bank clerk with whom the notes were negotiated. The banker expects, by these two witnesses, to identify Quesnel as the forger and secure his extradition.

YOUNG IRISH-AMERICANS.

Hold Their Annual Meeting and Discuss New Quarters.

The second annual meeting of the Irish American club was held last evening at the club house corner of Ninth and Minnesota streets, there being a large attendance of members. President C. L. McCarthy occupied the chair. The reports of the retiring officers, which were read and adopted, showed the club to be in splendid condition, both financially and in point of numbers. The receipts for the past year have been $7,496.02; disbursements, $8,810.32; balance in treasury, $1,667.27. Sixty-six new members have been admitted during the year, swelling the club to its splendid present condition of 125 members, and two deaths have been recorded.

Four names were proposed for the presidency of the club, viz: C. J. McCarthy, P. T. Kavanaugh, P. H. Kelly and Patrick Keigher. All other names were withdrawn. Mr. Kavanaugh was unanimously elected. The other officers elected were, Vice President, C. D. O'Brien; Treasurer, Thos. Grace; Recording Secretary, Cornelius Crowley; Financial Secretary, Daniel Twoby; Executive Committee, P. H. Kelly, P. T. Dwyer, Matt Breen, Patrick Keigher, J. G. Lonnelly. Under the head of new business Mr. Donnelly stated that it seemed to be the sense of the majority of the club that new and more desirable quarters should be selected than at present occupied, and that the majority of the club were in adequate to the growing demands of the club. He moved that the chair appoint a committee of five whose business it should be to make inquiries regarding club quarters and to have full power in the matter. The following committee was appointed: Ben Cox, James King, P. J. Bowlin, John Cantfield, Thomas Prendergast. The chair was added to the committee. Trade will complete its organization with a large and influential membership, at the office of the St. Anthony Park Furniture company on Friday evening, Nov. 28, at which all parties interested are invited. The membership now pledged assures the success of the organization.

FIRST CAME A WEDDING.

And Then the Police Magistrate Made Out Her Terms.

The police magistrate did a "hand office business" yesterday morning, the crimes and criminals demanding his attention being many and varied. To begin with they had a wedding. The contracting parties were John Seagrave and Sarah Maria Peters. When the bride made her appearance before the court he was a culprit charged with battery, but a wedding was speedily agreed upon and the bride and groom were dispensed with. John is twenty-two years of age and Sarah twenty-seven.

Thomas Kennedy, alias John Duffy, was landed in the dock by Detective Horn under a charge of larceny. The complaining witness was Christine Peters, who accused Kennedy of stealing a gold watch from him while he was in a drunken stupor in a saloon on Third and Robert streets. Kennedy was remanded for trial to-morrow morning. L. J. Dolan and H. J. Deen answered as complainants against Frank Sederstrom, a seventh street barkeeper, who is charged with the assault upon August Johnson on the 25th of October. Johnson was so badly injured, three of his ribs being broken, that he is unable to get about. The case was continued until next Wednesday.

The early morning janitor of a block at Seventh and Cedar streets, was held for trial Monday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. He is accused of addressing a note to a little girl named Bessie Dredell, who lives at the corner of Ninth and Temperance streets. The child promptly gave the letter to her mother, who accused the janitor of molesting her. He was recently released from the workhouse.

THE TWILIGHT CLUB.

Spends Its Inaugural Meeting Socially—Bellamy's Views Discussed.

In response to a circular issued a few days ago, a number of gentlemen assembled at the Hotel Metropolitan last evening for the purpose of organizing the Twilight club, on the plan of the celebrated organization of that name in New York city. Those in attendance were: Rev. S. G. Smith, D. D.; Hon. C. D. O'Brien, John W. White, Hon. H. F. Stevens, Capt. George H. Moffett, H. H. Hall, E. J. Hodges, P. G. G. Gilbert, Dr. Van Slyck, O. G. Clay, Col. W. P. Locke, M. E. Vinton, E. W. Peet, Amirco, T. E. E. V. Smealley, G. Pyle, Prof. Arrowsmith, Russell R. Dorr, Capt. H. A. Castle, H. C. Wood, Dr. Riggs, H. B. Farwell, Rev. S. M. Carothers, H. R. Boyesen, Rev. S. M. Carothers, A. S. Talmadge and H. P. Robinson. After a sumptuous dinner, served in the main dining room, the interesting exercises were conducted by Rev. Dr. Smith, who stated the object of the gathering and then announced for discussion the reform theories of the age. The speeches were limited to five minutes, and a general interchange of able talk was indulged in. Short addresses were made by Messrs. Smith, Smealley, Vail, Pyle, Robinson, Gilbert, Locke, Hodgson, Moffett, Amirco, Pyle, Farwell, Carothers, Stevens, O'Brien, Dr. Riggs and others, and it was remarked that a general unanimity of sentiment prevailed as to the general line of development that would be pursued in coming years. Edward Bellamy's theories came in for a full share of discussion, and it was developed that they had taken a strong hold upon the thinking and cultured classes of this city.

Mr. Smith presided at the meeting, and it was decided that the members should preside in rotation. Mr. Smith was elected president, and the meeting adjourned for two weeks hence, and will suggest the topic for discussion. It was decided to limit the membership to 100.

National Educational Association.

The National Educational Association, which has its headquarters at the presidents of the different colleges in Minnesota to have a very beautifully engraved lithographed vignette on the cover of the Official Bulletin of the National Educational Association. Several of the leading colleges have sanctioned their willingness to contribute to the fund, and it is successful, and give a very representative list of the educational institutions of our state.

A letter from President Canfield, of the National Educational Association, announces that he has appointed a manager in each state to be in charge of the work of the association. The manager of the state of Minnesota is Mr. J. H. Hall, of St. Paul. The manager of the state of Wisconsin is Mr. J. H. Hall, of St. Paul. The manager of the state of Illinois is Mr. J. H. Red Rock Park Association.

The directors of Red Rock Park association met yesterday at the Nicollet house, Minneapolis. President Henry was in the chair. There was a full attendance of the directors. A great deal of interest was manifested in regard to the future and large plans instituted to make the meeting of 1890 even more successful than the meeting of 1889. Mr. Marshall, D. D., resigned as director, in view of the fact that he was out of harbor on the morning of the meeting. His resignation was promptly accepted, and Rev. R. N. McKelzie, D. D., was elected director to fill the vacancy.

Grain Cars scattered.

Chief Grain Inspector Chapman encountered considerable difficulty in the inspection of grain at Minneapolis, and a large force of inspectors is required owing to the large number of grain cars. A complaint was laid against the Milwaukee road, and yesterday Messrs. Boyden, assistant grain inspector, and Cox, superintendent, appeared before the warehouse commission to report on the matter. The evil as far as lies in their power. The "scattering" of the grain cars is largely attributed to the fact that the cars are not in view of the fact that he was out of harbor on the morning of the meeting. His resignation was promptly accepted, and Rev. R. N. McKelzie, D. D., was elected director to fill the vacancy.

Fatherford was a Surprise.

Secretary Hart, of the state board of corrections and charities, returned yesterday from Nashville, Tenn., where he has been attending the national prison congress. He reports that the Southern states are far behind the north in the matter of prison reform. The prison of Tennessee as an institution was a disgrace to civilization. Ex-President Hayes was elected president of the congress, and the enthusiasm which his presence created at Nashville was quite a surprise. "It created a popularity," remarked Mr. Hart, "that is altogether opposed to the newspaper criticisms of these proceedings."
